History: Part XVII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

Interpretation Bulletins [Part XVII]: IT-268R4: Inter vivos transfer of farm property to child; IT-349R3: Intergenerational transfers of farm property on death.

Division I — Deductions Allowed

1700. (1) Rates — For the purposes of paragraph 20(1)(a) of the Act, there is hereby allowed to a taxpayer, in computing his income from farming or fishing, as the case may be, a deduction for each taxation year in respect of each property that was used for the purpose of gaining or producing income from farming or fishing equal to such amount as he may claim, not exceeding in the case of

(a) a building or other structure, not described elsewhere in this subsection, including component parts such as electric wiring, plumbing, sprinkler systems, air-conditioning equipment, heating equipment, lighting fixtures, elevators and escalators, 2½%

(b) a building or other structure of

(i) frame,

(ii) log,

(iii) stucco on frame,

(iv) galvanized iron, or

(v) corrugated iron construction, including component parts such as electric wiring, plumbing, sprinkler systems, air-conditioning equipment, heating equipment, lighting fixtures, elevators and escalators, 5%

(c) a fence, 5%

(d) a scow or a vessel, including furniture, fittings or equipment attached thereto, but not including radio communication equipment, 7½%

(e) nonautomotive equipment and machinery, 10%

(f) automotive equipment, a sleigh or a wagon, 15%

(g) radiocommunication equipment, 15%

(h) tile drainage acquired before the 1965 taxation year, 10%

(i) a water storage tank, 5%

(j) a gas well that is part of the equipment of a farm and from which the gas produced is not sold, 10%

(k) a tool costing less than $100, 100%

of the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property.

(2) Taxation years less than 12 months — Where the taxation year is less than 12 months, the amount allowed as a deduction under subsection (1) shall not exceed that proportion of the maximum amount otherwise allowable that the number of days in the taxation year is of 365.

(3) Property disposed of during year — Where a taxpayer has disposed of a property before the end of a taxation year, the amount allowed as a deduction under subsection (1) in respect of that property for the year shall not exceed that proportion of the maximum amount otherwise allowable that the number of months in the taxation year during which the property was owned by the taxpayer is of 12.

(4) Leasehold interests — Where a taxpayer has property that was used for the purpose of gaining or producing income from farming or fishing and that would be included in Class 13 in Schedule II if he had claimed an allowance under Part XI, he may deduct, in computing his income from farming or fishing for a taxation year, an amount not exceeding the amount he could have deducted in respect of that property for the year under paragraph 1100(1)(b).

History: Subsecs. 1700(3), (4) and (5) and headings substituted by subsecs. (3) and (4) of P.C. 1978-1315, s. 11, April 12, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 10, 1978.

Division II — Maximum Deductions

1701. (1) The amount allowed as a deduction under section 1700 in respect of a property shall not exceed the amount by which the capital cost of the property to the taxpayer exceeds the aggregate of the deductions from income allowed under this Part in respect of the property for previous taxation years.

(2) In respect of the 1972 and subsequent taxation years, where subsection 20(5) of the Income Tax Application Rules applies to a particular property, notwithstanding subsection (1), the amount allowed as a deduction under section 1700 in respect of the property shall not exceed the amount by which

(a) the amount determined to be the undepreciated capital cost of the property, under paragraph 20(5)(b) of the Income Tax Application Rules

exceeds

(b) the aggregate of the deductions from income allowed under this Part in respect of the property for previous taxation years ending after 1971.

History: The opening words of subsec. 1701(2) amended by P.C. 1994-1817, s. 48, November 1, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 30, 1994.

Division III — Property Not Included

1702. (1) Nothing in this Part shall be construed as allowing a deduction in respect of a property

(a) the cost of which is deductible in computing the taxpayer's income;

(b) that is described in the taxpayer's inventory;

(c) that was acquired by an expenditure in respect of which the taxpayer is allowed a deduction from income under section 37 of the Act;

(d) that has been constituted a prescribed class by subsection 24(2) of chapter 91, S.C. 1966-67;

(e) that is included in a separate prescribed class established under subsection 13(14) of the Act;

(f) that was not used in the business during the year;

(g) that is

(i) an animal, or

(ii) a tree, shrub, herb or similar growing thing;

(h) that was not acquired by the taxpayer for the purpose of gaining or producing income from farming or fishing;

(i) that has been included at any time by the taxpayer in a class prescribed under Part XI;

(j) that is a passenger automobile acquired after June 13, 1963, and before January 1, 1966, the cost to the taxpayer of which, minus the initial transportation charges and retail sales tax in respect thereof, exceeded $5,000, unless the automobile was acquired by a person before June 14, 1963 and has, by one or more transactions between persons not dealing at arm's length, become vested in the taxpayer; or

(k) that was acquired by the taxpayer after 1971.

(2) Where a taxpayer is a member of a partnership, the properties referred to in this Part shall be deemed not to include any property that is an interest of the taxpayer in depreciable property that is partnership property of the partnership.

(3) The properties referred to in section 1700 shall be deemed not to include the land upon which a property described therein was constructed or is situated.

(4) Where the taxpayer is a non-resident person, the properties referred to in section 1700 shall be deemed not to include property that is situated outside Canada.

(5) The provisions of subsections 1102(11), (12) and (13) are applicable mutatis mutandis to paragraph (1)(j).

Definitions [Reg. 1702]: "arm's length" — ITA 251(1); "automobile", "business" — ITA 248(1); "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "depreciable property" — ITA 13(21), 248(1); "farming", "fishing", "inventory", "non-resident" — ITA 248(1); "person", "prescribed", "property", "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1).

Division IV — Interpretation

1703. (1) Taxation years for individuals in business — Where a taxpayer is an individual and his income for the taxation year includes income from a business the fiscal period of which does not coincide with the calendar year, in respect of depreciable properties acquired for the purpose of gaining or producing income from the business, a reference in this Part to

(a) "the taxation year" shall be deemed to be a reference to the fiscal period of the business; and

(b) "the end of the taxation year" shall be deemed to be a reference to the end of the fiscal period of the business.

(2) Depreciable cost — In this Part, "depreciable cost" to a taxpayer of property means, except as otherwise provided, the actual cost of the property to the taxpayer or the amount at which he is deemed under subsection 13(7) of the Act to have acquired the property, as the case may be.

(3) Notwithstanding the other provisions of this section, in the case of property the cost of which to a partnership has been determined under paragraph 20(5)(a) of the Income Tax Application Rules, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part shall be deemed to be an amount equal to the cost to the partnership of the particular property as determined under that paragraph.

(4) Personal use of property — Where a taxpayer has, in a taxation year, regularly used a property in part for the purpose of gaining or producing income from farming or fishing and in part for a purpose other than gaining or producing income, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part is the proportion of the amount that would otherwise be the depreciable cost that the use regularly made of the property for the purpose of gaining or producing income from farming or fishing is of the whole use regularly made of the property.

(5) Grants, subsidies or other government assistance — Where a taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive a grant, subsidy or other assistance from a government, municipality or other public authority in respect of or for the acquisition of property, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part is the amount that would otherwise be the depreciable cost minus the amount of the grant, subsidy or other assistance.

(6) Transactions not at arm's length — Where property did belong to a person (in this subsection referred to as the "original owner") and has, by one or more transactions between persons not dealing at arm's length, become vested in a taxpayer, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part is the lesser of

(a) the actual capital cost of the property to the taxpayer; and

(b) the amount by which the actual capital cost of the property to the original owner exceeds the aggregate of

(i) the total amount of depreciation for the property that, since the commencement of 1917, has been or should have been taken into account in accordance with the practice of the Department of National Revenue in ascertaining the income of the original owner and all intervening owners for the purposes of the Income War Tax Act or in ascertaining a loss for a year where there was no income under that Act,

(ii) any accumulated depreciation reserves that the original owner or an intervening owner had for the property at the commencement of 1917 and that were recognized by the Minister for the purposes of the Income War Tax Act, and

(iii) the aggregate of the deductions, if any, allowed under this Part in respect of the property to the original owner and all intervening owners.

(7) Property acquired from a parent — Notwithstanding subsection (6), where depreciable property has been acquired by a taxpayer under such circumstances that the provisions of section 85H of the Act as it read in its application to the 1971 and prior taxation years are applicable for the determination of the capital cost of the property, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part is the capital cost as determined under that section.

(8) Property acquired by gift — Subsection (6) does not apply in respect of property which a taxpayer has acquired by gift.

History: Subsec. 1703(3) amended by P.C. 1994-1817, s. 48, November 1, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 30, 1994.

Definitions [Reg. 1703]: "amount" — ITA 248(1); "arm's length" — ITA 251(1); "business" — ITA 248(1); "commencement" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "depreciable cost" — Reg. 1703(2)–(8); "depreciable property" — ITA 13(21), 248(1); "farming" — ITA 248(1); "fiscal period" — ITA 249.1; "fishing", "individual", "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "original owner" — Reg. 1703(6); "person", "property" — ITA 248(1); "taxation year" — Reg. 1703(1)(a); "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1).

Division V — Application of this Part

1704. This Part shall apply only to a taxpayer who, in computing his income, has never claimed an allowance under Part XI in respect of a property at a time when an allowance could have been claimed under this Part in respect of that property, other than an allowance claimed by the taxpayer under Part XI that may be claimed in respect of a property described in

(a) paragraph 1100(1)(r) as enacted by Order in Council P.C. 1965-1118 of June 18, 1965 and as amended by Order in Council P.C. 1965-2320 of December 29, 1965;

(b) paragraph 1100(1)(sa) as enacted by Order in Council P.C. 1968-2261 of December 10, 1968;

(c) paragraph 1100(1)(v); or

(d) Class 20 in Schedule II.

History: S. 1704 substituted by P.C. 1978-1315, s. 12, April 20, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 10, 1978.

Definitions [Reg. 1704]: "property", "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1).

Interpretation Bulletins: See at beginning of Part XVII.

Part XVIII — Inventories

History: Part XVIII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

1800. Manner of keeping inventories — For the purposes of section 230 of the Act, an inventory shall show quantities and nature of the properties that should be included therein in such a manner and in sufficient detail that the property may be valued in accordance with this Part or section 10 of the Act.

Definitions [Reg. 1800]: "inventory", "property" — ITA 248(1).

1801. Valuation — Except as provided by section 1802, for the purpose of computing the income of a taxpayer from a business, all the property described in all the inventories of the business may be valued at its fair market value.

Related Provisions: ITA 10(1), (1.01) — Rules for valuing inventory.

History: S. 1801 substituted by P.C. 1989-1589, August 24, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, September 13, 1989, applicable after January 15, 1987.

Definitions [Reg. 1801]: "business", "inventory", "property", "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1).

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-98R2: Investment corporations (archived); IT-473R: Inventory valuation; IT-504R2: Visual artists and writers.

1802. Valuation of animals — (1) Except as provided in subsection (2), a taxpayer who is carrying on a business that includes the breeding and raising of animals may elect in prescribed form for a taxation year and subsequent taxation years to value each animal of a particular species (except a registered animal, an animal purchased for feedlot or similar operations, or an animal purchased by a drover or like person for resale) included in his inventory in respect of the business at a unit price determined in accordance with this section.

Forms: T2034: Election to establish inventory unit prices for animals.

(2) An election made in accordance with subsection (1) may be revoked in writing by the taxpayer, but where a taxpayer has made a revocation in accordance with this subsection a further election may not be made under subsection (1) except with the concurrence of the Minister.

(3) The unit price with respect to an animal of a particular class of animal shall be determined in accordance with the following rules:

(a) where animals of a particular class of animal were included in the inventory of a taxpayer at the end of the taxation year immediately preceding the first year in respect of which the taxpayer elected under subsection (1), the unit price of an animal of that class shall be computed by dividing the total value of all animals of the class in the inventory of the preceding year by the number of animals of the class described in that inventory, and

(b) in any other case, the unit price of an animal of a class shall be determined by the Minister, having regard, among other things, to the unit prices of animals of a comparable class of animal used in valuing the inventories of other taxpayers in the district.

(4) Notwithstanding subsection (1), where the aggregate value of the animals of a particular class determined in accordance with that subsection exceeds the market value of those animals, the animals of that class may be valued at fair market value.

(5) In this section

"class of animal" means a group of animals of a particular species segregated on the basis of age, breed or other recognized division, as determined by the taxpayer at the time of election under this section;

"district" means the territory served by a District Office of the Taxation Division of the Department of National Revenue;

"registered animal" means an animal for which a certificate of registration has been issued by the registrar of the breed to which the animal belongs or by the registrar of the Canadian National Livestock Records;

a reference to "taxation year" shall be deemed to be a reference to the fiscal period of a business.

Definitions [Reg. 1802]: "business" — ITA 248(1); "class of animal", "district" — Reg. 1802(5); "fiscal period" — ITA 249.1; "inventory", "Minister", "person", "prescribed" — ITA 248(1); "registered animal", "taxation year" — Reg. 1802(5); "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1); "territory" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "unit price" — Reg. 1802(3); "writing" — Interpretation Act 35(1).

PART XIX — INVESTMENT INCOME TAX

History: Part XIX (s. 1900) enacted by P.C. 1994-619, April 21, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 4, 1994, applicable to taxation years commencing after June 17, 1987 and before 1990 that end after 1987.

History [former Part XIX]: Part XIX revoked by P.C. 1988-390, s. 10, March 3, 1988, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 16, 1988, effective October 29, 1985.

Part XIX was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

1900. (1) Interpretation — In this Part,

"benefit" under a policy includes a policy dividend, an experience rating refund, a refund of premiums and any amount deemed by paragraph 138.1(1)(g) of the Act for the purposes of Part I of the Act to be a payment under the terms and conditions of the policy, but does not include a policy loan or interest on funds left on deposit with the insurer under the terms of the policy;

"excluded arrangement" of an insurer at any time means

(a) a life insurance policy in Canada issued by the insurer (or in respect of which the insurer has assumed the obligations of the issuer of the policy to the policyholder), which is at that time a registered life insurance policy, an annuity contract (including a settlement annuity), a group term life insurance policy or an existing guaranteed life insurance policy,

(b) a registered pension fund or plan in respect of which the insurer is at that time a plan sponsor, or a retirement compensation arrangement in respect of which the insurer is the custodian,

(c) a life insurance policy (other than a life insurance policy in Canada) issued by the insurer before that time (or in respect of which the insurer has before that time assumed the obligations of the issuer of the policy to the policyholder), and

(d) a reinsurance arrangement under which the insurer has before that time assumed, directly or indirectly, risks under life insurance policies (other than policies issued by the insurer or in respect of which the insurer has assumed the obligations of the issuer of the policy to the policyholder), to the extent that the arrangement relates to those risks;

"existing guaranteed life insurance policy" at any time means a non-participating life insurance policy in Canada in respect of which the amount of every premium that became payable before that time and after March 2, 1988 was fixed and determined on or before March 2, 1988, adjusted for any specified transaction or event that occurs after March 2, 1988 in respect of the policy;

"group term life insurance policy" is a group life insurance policy under which

(a) no amount (other than a policy dividend, an experience rating refund or a refund of premiums) may become payable to any person, except in the event of the death or disability of a person whose life was insured under the policy, and

(b) no amount may become payable to a person (other than the group policyholder) in respect of a policy dividend, an experience rating refund or a refund of premiums that has been funded by contributions made to or under the policy by another person;

"guaranteed interest" in respect of a life insurance policy for a taxation year means

(a) in respect of a life insurance policy (other than a pre-funded group life insurance policy), the total of all amounts each of which is the amount in respect of a guaranteed benefit in respect of which an amount is determined under paragraph 1401(1)(a), (c) or (d) for the year, where that benefit is provided under the terms and conditions of the policy as they existed on

March 2, 1988, determined by multiplying the greater of

(i) the rate of interest used by the issuer of the policy in respect of the year in determining the amount of the benefit, and

(ii) 4%

by ½ of the total of

(iii) the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(a), (c) or (d), as the case may be, in respect of the benefit in computing the insurer's income for the year, if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement, and

(iv) the maximum amount that would have been deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(a), (c) or (d), as the case may be, in respect of the benefit in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding taxation year, if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement, and

(b) in respect of a pre-funded group life insurance policy, 80 per cent of the amount that would be determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the policy for the year, if that paragraph were read without reference to the words "(other than a pre-funded group life insurance policy)";

"life insurance policy" does not include

(a) that part of a policy in respect of which the policyholder is deemed by paragraph 138.1(1)(e) of the Act to have an interest in a segregated fund trust, or

(b) a reinsurance arrangement;

"life insurance policy in Canada" does not include

(a) that part of a policy in respect of which the policyholder is deemed by paragraph 138.1(1)(e) of the Act to have an interest in a segregated fund trust, or

(b) a reinsurance arrangement;

"maximum tax actuarial reserve" has the meaning assigned by subsection 138(12) of the Act;

"mortality experience" of an insurer for a taxation year means the positive or negative amount, as the case may be, determined by the formula

$$1.2 (A - B - C)$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount that became payable in the year by the insurer under a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer as a consequence of the receipt of a claim in respect of the death of a person whose life was insured under the policy, determined without reference to any policy loan,

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a reserve that would be determined in accordance with paragraph 1401(1)(a), (c) or (d), if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement, in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer that would have been released in the year as a consequence of the receipt of a claim in respect of the death of a person whose life was insured under the policy, and

C is 90 per cent of the total of all amounts, each of which is the net cost of pure insurance determined in accordance with section 308 for the year in respect of an interest in a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer;

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

"mortality loss adjustment account" of an insurer at the end of a taxation year is the positive amount, if any, determined by the formula

$$A + B - C$$

where

A is the mortality loss adjustment account of the insurer for the immediately preceding taxation year,

B is

(a) where the mortality experience of the insurer for the year is a negative amount, the amount of the mortality experience of the insurer for the year, and

(b) in any other case, the amount, if any, by which the amount claimed by the insurer under the description of F in computing the amount determined under subsection (6) for the year exceeds the amount of the mortality loss adjustment account of the insurer for the immediately preceding taxation year, and

C is 1.2 times the amount, if any, by which

(a) the net cost of insurance of the insurer for the year

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the net cost of pure insurance determined in accordance with section 308 for the year in respect of an interest in a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer;

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

"net cost of insurance" of an insurer for a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount determined in the description of A in the definition "mortality experience" in respect of the insurer for the year

exceeds

(b) the amount determined in the description of B in the definition "mortality experience" in respect of the insurer for the year;

"net level premium" in respect of a particular premium under a policy (other than a prepaid premium that cannot be refunded except on termination or cancellation of the policy) means

(a) where benefits (other than policy dividends) and premiums (other than the frequency of payment thereof) in respect of the policy have been determined at the date of issue of the policy, the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

where

A is the amount of the particular premium,

B is the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of the amount of the benefits (other than policy dividends) to be provided under the terms of the policy after the issue of the policy, and

C is the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of the amount of the premiums payable under the terms of the policy on or after the issue of the policy, and

(b) where the amounts of the benefits or premiums in respect of the policy are not determined at the date of issue of the policy, the amount that would be determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the particular premium if the amount were adjusted in a manner that is reasonable in the circumstances and consistent with the manner of the adjustment referred to in the definition "modified net premium" in subsection 1404(2) in respect of the particular premium;

"net level premium reserve" in respect of a life insurance policy for a taxation year means the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(c) in respect of the policy in computing the insurer's income for the year, if any reference to "modified net premium" in sections 1401, 1403 and 1404 were a reference to "net level premium";

"non-participating life insurance policy" means a life insurance policy other than a participating life insurance policy within the meaning assigned by subsection 138(12) of the Act;

"policy loan" has the meaning assigned by subsection 138(12) of the Act;

"pre-funded group life insurance policy" means a group term life insurance policy, other than a policy under which each premium payable is in respect of coverage for a period, including the day on which the premium becomes payable, that does not exceed twelve months;

"premium" includes

(a) consideration received for settlement annuities,

(b) amounts received by an insurer in respect of employee contributions under registered pension funds or plans in respect of which the insurer is a plan sponsor or a retirement compensation arrangement in respect of which the insurer is the custodian, and

(c) any amount deemed by paragraph 138.1(1)(h) of the Act for the purposes of Part I of the Act to be a premium received by an insurer,

but does not include amounts received in respect of the repayment of a policy loan or in respect of interest on a policy loan and, for greater certainty, the amount of a premium is not reduced by the amount of a refund of premiums;

"registered life insurance policy" has the meaning assigned by section 211 of the Act;

"reinsurance arrangement" does not include an arrangement under which an insurer has assumed the obligations of the issuer of a life insurance policy to the policyholder;

"segregated fund" has the meaning assigned by subsection 138(12) of the Act;

"specified transaction or event" in respect of a life insurance policy means

(a) a change in underwriting class,

(b) a change in premium due to a change in frequency of premium payments within a year that does not alter the present value, at the beginning of the year, of the total premiums to be paid under the policy in the year,

(c) an addition under the terms of the policy as they existed on March 2, 1988, of accidental death, dismemberment, disability or guaranteed purchase option benefits,

(d) a deletion of a rider,

(e) redating lapsed policies within 60 days after the end of the calendar year in which the lapse occurred, or redating for policy loan indebtedness,

(f) a change in premium due to a correction of erroneous information,

(g) the payment of a premium after its due date, or no more than 30 days before its due date, as established on or before March 2, 1988, or

(h) the payment of an amount of interest described in subparagraph 148(9)(e.1)(i) of the Act; [and]

"taxable life insurance policy" of an insurer at any time means a life insurance policy in Canada issued by the insurer (or in respect of which the insurer has assumed the obligations of the issuer of the policy to the policyholder), other than a policy that is at that time an excluded arrangement.

(2) For the purposes of this Part,

(a) any rider added, at any time after March 2, 1988, to a life insurance policy shall be deemed to be a separate life insurance policy issued at that time; and

(b) in respect of an insurer's first taxation year that commences after June 17, 1987 and ends after 1987, the maximum amount that would have been deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i), (ii) or (iv) of the Act, as the case may be, in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding year shall be determined as though the provisions that apply in determining that maximum amount for that first taxation year were applicable in respect of that immediately preceding year.

(3) Prescribed provisions — For the purposes of paragraph (b) of the description of C in subsection 211.1(3) of the Act, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before 1990, the provisions of the Act that are prescribed are paragraphs 12(1)(i), (i.1), (n), (n.1), (n.2), (n.3), (o), (t), and (v), and subsections 13(1), 59(3.2) and (3.3), 138(4.4) and 140(2).

(4) Prescribed arrangements — For the purposes of the description of D in subsection 211.1(3) of the Act, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before 1990, prescribed arrangements in respect of an insurer are

(a) life insurance policies in Canada issued by the insurer (or in respect of which the insurer has assumed the obligations of the issuer of the policy to the policyholder) that are group term life insurance policies or existing guaranteed life insurance policies;

(b) life insurance policies (other than life insurance policies in Canada) issued by the insurer (or in respect of which the insurer has assumed the obligations of the issuer of the policy to the policyholder);

(c) retirement compensation arrangements in respect of which the insurer is the custodian; and

(d) reinsurance arrangements under which the insurer has assumed or ceded risks insured under life insurance policies (other than policies issued by the insurer or in respect of which the insurer has assumed the obligations of the issuer of the policy to the policyholder).

(5) Prescribed rules for determining amounts — The amount in the description of D in subsection 211.1(3) of the Act, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before 1990, in respect of a life insurer for a taxation year is determined by the formula

$$A - B + C - D - E - F$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i), (ii) or (iv) of the Act in respect of an excluded arrangement of the insurer in computing the insurer's income for the year, if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan;

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would have been deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i), (ii) or (iv) of the Act in respect of an excluded arrangement of the insurer in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding year, if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan;

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a benefit, determined on a net of reinsurance ceded basis, that has become payable by the insurer in the year in respect of an excluded arrangement of the insurer, to the extent that the benefit is deducted in computing the insurer's income for the year under Part I of the Act from carrying on a life insurance business in Canada;

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a premium, determined on a net of reinsurance ceded basis, that has become receivable by the insurer in the year in respect of an excluded arrangement of the insurer, to the extent that the premium is included in computing the insurer's income for the year under Part I of the Act from carrying on a life insurance business in Canada;

E is the positive or negative amount, as the case may be, in respect of the insurer for the year determined by the formula

$$(G - H) - (I - J) + (K - L) - (M - N)$$

where

G is the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i), (ii) or (iv) of the Act in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer in computing the insurer's income for the year, if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement,

H is the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i), (ii) or (iv) of the Act in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer in computing the insurer's income for the year, if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan,

I is the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would have been deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i), (ii) or (iv) of the Act in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding taxation year, if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement,

J is the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would have been deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i), (ii) or (iv) of the Act in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding taxation year, if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan,

K is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a benefit that has become payable in the year by the insurer under a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer,

L is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a benefit, determined on a net of reinsurance ceded basis, that has become payable by the insurer under a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer, to the extent that it is deducted in computing the insurer's income from carrying on a life insurance business in Canada for the year,

M is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a premium that has become receivable by the insurer in the year under a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer, and

N is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a premium determined on [a] net of reinsurance ceded basis, that has become receivable by the insurer in the year under a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer, to the extent that the premium is included in computing the insurer's income from carrying on a life insurance business in Canada for the year; and

F is the positive or negative amount, as the case may be, determined by the formula

where

O is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount in respect of a group term life insurance policy equal to the lesser of

(a) the amount of interest credited by the insurer in the year on account of the policy (other than interest payable in respect of the period ending on its first anniversary date after March 2, 1988), and

(b) the amount, if any, by which the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(c.1) in respect of the policy in computing the insurer's income for the year, if that amount were determined without reference to any reinsurance arrangement, exceeds the maximum amount that would have been so deductible in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding year,

P is 80 per cent of the total of all amounts each of which is the amount in respect of a liability of the insurer, a benefit, a risk or a guarantee, in respect of which an amount is determined under paragraph 1401(1)(a), (c) or (d) for the year, in respect of a pre-funded group life insurance policy of the insurer, determined by multiplying

(a) the rate of interest used in determining the amount under paragraph 1401(1)(a), (c) or (d), as the case may be, for the year in respect of the liability, benefit, risk or guarantee, as the case may be,

by ½ of the total of

(b) the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(a), (c) or (d), as the case may be, in respect of the liability, benefit, risk or guarantee, as the case may be, in computing the insurer's income for the year if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement, and

(c) the maximum amount that would have been deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(a), (c) or (d), as the case may be, in respect of the liability, benefit, risk or guarantee, as the case may be, in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding taxation year if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement,

Q is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined for the year in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer by multiplying

(a) the rate of interest used in determining the maximum amount deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(c) in respect of the policy in computing the insurer's income for the year,

by ½ of the total of

(b) the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act in respect of the policy in computing the insurer's income for the year, if that amount were determined without reference to any reinsurance arrangement, and

(c) the maximum amount that would have been deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act in respect of the policy in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding taxation year, if that amount were determined without reference to any reinsurance arrangement, and

R is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount in respect of a group term life insurance policy equal to the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts determined in respect of the insurer under the description of O in respect of the policy for taxation years ending before the year

exceeds the total of

(b) the total of all amounts determined in respect of the insurer under the description of R in respect of the policy for taxation years ending before the year, and

(c) the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(c.1) in respect of the policy in computing the insurer's income for the year, if that amount were determined without reference to any reinsurance arrangement.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(6) The amount of the term insurance component in the description of E in subsection 211.1(3) of the Act, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before 1990, in respect of a life insurer for a taxation year is determined by the formula

$$A + B + C - D + E - F + G + H$$

where

A is the amount determined by multiplying 0.0035 by the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of new insurance effected in the year (other than amounts rescinded in the year) under a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer;

B is the amount determined by multiplying 0.0002 by ½ of the total of

(a) all amounts of insurance in force at the end of the year under taxable life insurance policies of the insurer (other than paid-up policies), and

(b) all amounts of insurance in force at the end of the immediately preceding taxation year under taxable life insurance policies of the insurer (other than paid-up policies);

C is the amount determined by multiplying 0.20 by the net cost of insurance in respect of the insurer for the year;

D is the greater of

(a) the lesser of $2,500,000 and the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of the amounts determined under the descriptions of A, B, C and E in respect of the insurer for the year

exceeds

(ii) 50 per cent of the amount that would be determined under the description of N in subsection (5) in respect of the insurer for the year, if that amount were determined without reference to any reinsurance arrangement, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of the amounts determined under the descriptions of A, B, C and E in respect of the insurer for the year

exceeds

(ii) 75 per cent of the amount that would be determined under the description of N in subsection (5) in respect of the insurer for the year, if that amount were determined without reference to any reinsurance arrangement;

E is the amount determined under the description of D in respect of the insurer for the immediately preceding taxation year;

F is such amount as the insurer may claim, not exceeding the positive amount, if any, determined by adding

(a) the mortality experience of the insurer for the year, and

(b) the amount determined under the description of G in respect of the insurer for the year;

G is the mortality loss adjustment account of the insurer for the immediately preceding year; and

H is 1 per cent of the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of a premium that has become receivable by the insurer in the year under a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer in respect of which a positive amount of guaranteed interest is determined for the year under subsection (8).

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(7) The amount of the amortization adjustment amount in the description of E in subsection 211.1(3) of the Act, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before 1990, in respect of a life insurer for a taxation year is determined by the formula

$$(A - B) - (C - D)$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount that would be the net level premium reserve for the year in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer (other than a policy in respect of which a positive amount of guaranteed interest is determined for the year under subsection (8)), if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance agreement;

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount that would be the net level premium reserve for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer (other than a policy in respect of which a positive amount of guaranteed interest is determined for the year under subsection (8)), if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement;

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would be deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(c) in computing the insurer's income for the year, in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer (other than a policy in respect of which a positive amount of guaranteed interest is determined for the year under subsection (8)), if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement; and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would have been deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act pursuant to paragraph 1401(1)(c) in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding taxation year, in respect of a taxable life insurance policy of the insurer (other than a policy in respect of which a positive amount of guaranteed interest is determined for the year under subsection (8)), if that amount were determined without reference to any policy loan or reinsurance arrangement.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(8) The amount of guaranteed interest in the description of F in subsection 211.1(3) of the Act, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before 1990, in respect of a life insurer for a taxation year is the total of all amounts each of which is the guaranteed interest for the year in respect of

(a) a life insurance policy in Canada (other than a policy that was at any time an excluded arrangement), or

(b) a pre-funded group life insurance policy,

where the policy was issued by the insurer (or in respect of which the insurer has assumed the obligations of the issuer of the policy to the policyholder) and the terms and conditions of the policy relating to premiums and benefits were determined on or before March 2, 1988, except that where, at any time after March 2, 1988, the terms and conditions of the policy relating to premiums and benefits have been changed (other than to give effect to terms and conditions which were determined prior to March 3, 1988 or pursuant to a specified transaction or event), the amount of guaranteed interest in respect of the policy for the year in which the change is made and any subsequent taxation year is deemed to be nil.

(9) Prescribed portion — The prescribed portion of an amount referred to in the description of G in subsection 211.1(3) of the Act, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before 1990, for a taxation year is

(a) where the amount is in respect of a life insurance policy (other than a policy in respect of which a positive amount of guaranteed interest is determined for the year under subsection (8)), 100 per cent of the amount; and

(b) in any other case, nil.

(10) Prescribed arrangements — For the purposes of the description of G in subsection 211.1(3) of the Act, as it read in its application to taxation years beginning before 1990, prescribed arrangements of an insurer are life insurance policies in Canada issued by the insurer (or in respect of which the insurer has assumed the obligations of the issuer of the policy to the policyholder) that are group term life insurance policies or policies that, at any time, were existing guaranteed life insurance policies.

PART XX — POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS

History: Part XX was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

2000. Contents of receipts — (1) Every official receipt issued by a registered agent of a registered party shall contain a statement that it is an official receipt for income tax purposes and shall, in a manner that cannot readily be altered, show clearly

(a) the full name of the registered party;

(b) the serial number of the receipt;

(c) the name of the registered agent as recorded in the registry maintained by the Chief Electoral Officer pursuant to subsection 13.1(1) of the Canada Elections Act;

(d) the day on which the receipt was issued;

(e) where the person making the contribution is

(i) a person other than an individual, the day on which the contribution was received where that day differs from the day referred to in paragraph (d), or

(ii) an individual, the calendar year during which the contribution was received;

(f) the place or locality where the receipt was issued;

(g) the name and address of the person making the contribution including, in the case of an individual, his first name or initial;

(h) the amount of the contribution; and

(i) the signature of the registered agent.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 2000(1)

Technical Notes to ITA 127(3), December 20, 2002: It is proposed that subsections 2000(1) and (6) of the Regulations be amended to provide that every official receipt issued by a registered party in respect of a contribution contain, in addition to the information already prescribed, a description and the amount of the advantage, if any, in respect of the contribution, and the amount that is the excess of the contribution over the amount of the advantage [see ITA 248(30)–(33) — ed.].

The amendments to [...] subsections 2000(1) and (6) of the Regulations are to be effective in respect of contributions made after December 20, 2002.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), every official receipt issued by an official agent of an officially nominated candidate shall contain a statement that it is an official receipt for income tax purposes and shall, in a manner that cannot readily be altered, show clearly

(a) the name of the officially nominated candidate;

(b) the serial number of the receipt;

(c) the name of the official agent as recorded with the Minister;

(d) the day on which the receipt was issued;

(e) the day on which the contribution was received where that day differs from the day referred to in paragraph (d);

(f) the polling day;

(g) the name and address of the person making the contribution including, in the case of an individual, his first name or initial;

(h) the amount of the contribution; and

(i) the signature of the official agent.

(3) The information required by paragraph (2)(f) may be shown by use of a code on an official receipt form issued by the Chief Electoral Officer, provided that the Minister is advised of the meaning of the code used.

(4) For the purposes of subsections (1) and (2), an official receipt issued to replace an official receipt previously issued shall show clearly that it replaces the original receipt and, in addition to its own serial number, shall show the serial number of the receipt originally issued.

(5) A spoiled official receipt form shall be marked "cancelled" and such form, together with the duplicate thereof, shall be filed by the registered agent or the official agent, as the case may be, together with the duplicates of receipts required to be filed with the Minister pursuant to subsection 230.1(2) of the Act.

(6) Every official receipt form on which

(a) the day on which the contribution was received,

(b) the year during which the contribution was received, or

(c) the amount of the contribution was incorrectly or illegibly entered shall be regarded as spoiled.

Technical Notes to ITA 127(3), December 20, 2002: See under Reg. 2000(1).

Definitions [Reg. 2000]: "amount" — ITA 248(1); "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "contribution" — ITA 127(4.1), Reg. 2002(1); "individual", "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "official receipt" — Reg. 2000(4), 2002; "official receipt form" — Reg. 2002(1); "officially nominated candidate" — Reg. 2002(2); "person" — ITA 248(1); "polling day" — Reg. 2002(2); "registered agent", "registered party" — Reg. 2002(1).

PART XXII — SECURITY INTERESTS

History: The heading before s. 2200 amended by P.C. 1999-1341, s. 1, July 28, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 18, 1999, deemed to have come into force on June 15, 1994.

Part XXII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

2200. [Discharge of security] — Where under subsection 220(4) of the Act the Minister has accepted, as security for payment of taxes, a mortgage or other security or guarantee, he may, by a document in writing, discharge such mortgage or other security or guarantee.

History: S. 2200 amended by P.C. 1994-1817, para. 62(c), November 1, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 30, 1994.

Definitions [Reg. 2200]: "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "security", "writing" — Interpretation Act 35(1).

2201. (1) For the purpose of subsection 227(4.2) of the Act, "prescribed security interest", in relation to an amount deemed by subsection 227(4) of the Act to be held in trust by a person, means that part of a mortgage securing the performance of an obligation of the person, that encumbers land or a building, where the mortgage is registered pursuant to the appropriate land registration system before the time the amount is deemed to be held in trust by the person.

(2) For the purpose of subsection (1), where, at any time after 1999, the person referred to in subsection (1) fails to pay an amount deemed by subsection 227(4) of the Act to be held in trust by the person, as required under the Act, the amount of the prescribed security interest referred to in subsection (1) is deemed not to exceed the amount by which the amount, at that time, of the obligation outstanding secured by the mortgage exceeds the total of

(a) all amounts each of which is the value determined at the time of the failure, having regard to all the circumstances including the existence of any deemed trust for the benefit of Her Majesty pursuant to subsection 227(4) of the Act, of all the rights of the secured creditor securing the obligation, whether granted by the person or not, including guarantees or rights of set-off but not including the mortgage referred to in subsection (1), and

(b) all amounts applied after the time of the failure on account of the obligation, so long as any amount deemed under any enactment administered by the Minister, other than the Excise Tax Act, to be held in trust by the person, remains unpaid.

(3) For greater certainty, a prescribed security interest includes the amount of insurance or expropriation proceeds relating to land or a building that is the subject of a registered mortgage interest, adjusted after 1999 in accordance with subsection (2), but does not include a lien, a priority or any other security interest created by statute, an assignment or hypothec of rents or leases, or a mortgage interest in any equipment or fixtures that a mortgagee or any other person has the right absolutely or conditionally to remove or dispose of separately from the land or building.

History: S. 2201 added by P.C. 1999-1341, s. 2, July 28, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 18, 1999, deemed to have come into force on June 15, 1994.

PART XXIV — INSURERS

History: Part XXIV (ss. 2400–2409) was substituted by P.C. 1979-2483, September 13, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, September 26, 1979.

2400. (1) Definitions — The definitions in this subsection apply in this Part.

"attributed surplus" of a non-resident insurer for a taxation year is the total of

(a) the insurer's property and casualty surplus for the year, and

(b) either,

(i) if the insurer elects for the year in prescribed form and manner, 50% of the total of

(A) the amount that would have been determined at the end of the year in respect of the insurer under subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "Canadian investment fund", and

(B) the amount that would have been determined at the end of the preceding taxation year in respect of the insurer under subparagraph (a)(ii) of the definition "Canadian investment fund", each amount being calculated as if throughout the year and the preceding taxation year the insurer had been a life insurer resident in Canada and had not carried on any insurance business other than a life insurance business or an accident and sickness insurance business, or

(ii) if the insurer does not elect under subparagraph (i) for the year, 120% of the total of all amounts each of which is 50% of the amount determined in accordance with regulations or guidelines made under Part XIII of the Insurance Companies Act to be the margin of assets in Canada over liabilities in Canada required to be maintained by the insurer as at the end of the year or as at the end of the preceding taxation year in respect of an insurance business carried on in Canada (other than a property and casualty insurance business).

"Canadian business property" of an insurer for a taxation year in respect of an insurance business means

(a) if the insurer was resident in Canada throughout the year and did not carry on an insurance business outside Canada in the year, property used or held by it in the year in the course of carrying on the business in Canada; and

(b) in any other case, designated insurance property of the insurer for the year in respect of the business.

"Canadian equity property" of a person or partnership (in this definition referred to as the "taxpayer") at any time means property of the taxpayer that is

(2) Carrying value — For the purposes of this Part, the carrying value of a taxpayer's property for a taxation year, except as otherwise provided in this Part, means

(a) if the taxpayer is an insurer, the amounts reflected in the taxpayer's non-consolidated balance sheet as at the end of the taxation year accepted (or, if that non-consolidated balance sheet was not prepared, the taxpayer's non-consolidated balance sheet as at the end of the year that would have been accepted) by the Superintendent of Financial Institutions, in the case of an insurer that is required under the Insurance Companies Act to report to that Superintendent, or by the superintendent of insurance or other similar officer or authority of the province under the laws of which the insurer is incorporated or otherwise formed, in the case of an insurer that is required by law to report to that officer or authority; and

(b) in any other case, the amounts that would be reflected in the taxpayer's non-consolidated balance sheet as at the end of the taxation year if that balance sheet were prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

(3) Amount or item reported — A reference in this Part to an amount or item reported as an asset or a liability of a taxpayer as at the end of a taxation year means an amount or item that is reported as an asset or a liability in the taxpayer's non-consolidated balance sheet as at the end of the year accepted (or, if that non-consolidated balance sheet was not prepared, the taxpayer's non-consolidated balance sheet as at the end of the year that would have been accepted) by the Superintendent of Financial Institutions, in the case of an insurer that is required under the Insurance Companies Act to report to that Superintendent, or by the superintendent of insurance or other similar officer or authority of the province under the laws of which the insurer is incorporated or otherwise formed, in the case of an insurer that is required by law to report to that officer or authority.

(4) Application of certain definitions — For the purposes

(a) of subsection 138(14) of the Act, the expressions "Canadian investment fund for a taxation year", "specified Canadian assets" and "value for the taxation year" have the meanings prescribed for them by subsection 2404(1) as it read in its application to the 1977 taxation year; and

(b) of subsection 219(7) of the Act, the expressions "attributed surplus" and "Canadian investment fund" have the meaning prescribed for them by subsection (1).

(5) Deeming rules for certain assets — For the purposes of this Part, other than subsection 2401(6), an asset of an insurer is deemed not to have been used or held by the insurer in a taxation year in the course of carrying on an insurance business if the asset

(a) is owned by the insurer at the end of the year; and

(b) is a share of the capital stock of, or a debt owing to the insurer by, a financial institution affiliated with the insurer during each of the days in the year during which the insurer owned the asset.

(6) [Idem] — For the purposes of clause (a)(ii)(B) of the definition "Canadian investment fund" in subsection (1), an asset of an insurer is deemed not to have been used or held by the insurer in a taxation year in the course of carrying on an insurance business if the asset

(a) is owned by the insurer at the end of the year; and

(b) is

(i) goodwill which arose as a result of an amalgamation, a winding-up of an affiliated financial institution, or the assumption by the insurer of any obligation of another insurer with which the insurer deals at arm's length if a reserve in respect of the obligation

(A) may be claimed by the insurer under paragraph 20(7)(c) or subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) or (ii) of the Act, or

(B) could be claimed by the insurer under paragraph 20(7)(c) or subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) or (ii) of the Act if the obligations were insurance policies in Canada, or

(ii) real property (or the portion of real property) owned by the insurer and occupied by the insurer for the purposes of carrying on an insurance business.

(7) No double counting — For greater certainty, a particular property or a particular proportion of a property shall not, directly or indirectly, be used or included more than once in determining, for a particular taxation year, the Canadian equity property or the equity property of a person or partnership.

Subsecs. 2400(1) to (3) substituted and subsecs. 2400(4) to (7) substituted for (4) and (5) by P.C. 1990-2002, s. 6, September 20, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 10, 1990, applicable in respect of taxation years beginning after June 17, 1987 and ending after 1987 except that in applying subsecs. (5) and (6) to a taxpayer's first taxation year that begins after June 17, 1987 and that ends after 1987, they shall, where the taxpayer elects in the taxpayer's return of income under Part I of the Act for that year, be read as follows:

(5) Where a property was owned by the insurer throughout any period in a taxation year and throughout that period the property was used by the insurer in, or held by the insurer in the course of, carrying on an insurance business outside Canada, the property may not be designated by the insurer under subsection (1) for the period in respect of an insurance business in Canada of the insurer.

(6) For the purposes of subsection (1), investment property of the insurer shall, subject to subsection (5), be designated by the insurer in respect of a taxation year in respect of its insurance businesses in Canada in the following order, to the extent thereof and to the extent required:

(a) investment property owned by the insurer at any time in the year that was designated in respect of an insurance business in Canada of the insurer in the immediately preceding taxation year;

(b) investment property (other than an investment property referred to in paragraph (a)) owned by the insurer at any time in the year that was Canadian investment property, except that that investment property shall be designated in the following order, namely,

(i) land and depreciable property situated in Canada,

(ii) mortgages, hypothecs, agreements of sale and other forms of indebtedness in respect of property referred to in subparagraph (i), and

(iii) other property; and

(c) other investment property owned by the insurer at any time in the year.

Para. 2400(3)(b) substituted by P.C. 1988-1473, s. 4, July 21, 1988, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 3, 1988, applicable to taxation years commencing after 1984.

2401. (1) Designated insurance property — For the purposes of the definition "designated insurance property" in subsection 138(12) of the Act, "designated insurance property" of an insurer for a taxation year means property that is designated in accordance with subsections (2) to (7) for the year

(a) by the insurer in its return of income under Part I of the Act for the year; or

(b) if the Minister determines that the insurer has not made a designation that is in accordance with the prescribed rules found in this section, by the Minister.

(2) Designation rules — For the purposes of subsection (1), an insurer, or the Minister if paragraph (1)(b) applies,

(a) shall designate for a taxation year investment property of the insurer for the year with a total value for the year equal to the amount, if any, by which the insurer's mean Canadian reserve liabilities for the year in respect of its life insurance business in Canada exceeds the total of the insurer's mean Canadian outstanding premiums and mean policy loans for the year in respect of that business (to the extent that the amount of the mean policy loans was not otherwise deducted in computing the insurer's mean Canadian reserve liabilities for the year);

(b) shall designate for a taxation year investment property of the insurer for the year with a total value for the year equal to the amount, if any, by which the insurer's mean Canadian reserve liabilities for the year in respect of its accident and sickness insurance business in Canada exceeds the total of

(i) the insurer's mean Canadian outstanding premiums for the year in respect of that business, and

(ii) 50% of the total of all amounts, each of which is its total reinsurance recoverables, as at the end of the year or as at the end of the preceding taxation year, that are in respect of that business;

(c) shall designate for a taxation year in respect of the insurer's insurance business in Canada (other than a life insurance business or an accident and sickness insurance business) investment property of the insurer for the year with a total value for the year equal to the amount, if any, by which the insurer's mean Canadian reserve liabilities for the year in respect of that business exceeds the total of

(i) 50% of the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, as at the end of the year or as at the end of its preceding taxation year, of a premium receivable or a deferred acquisition expense (to the extent that it is included in the insurer's Canadian reserve liabilities as at the end of the year or preceding taxation year, as the case may be) of the insurer in respect of that business, and

(ii) 50% of the total of all amounts, each of which is its total reinsurance recoverables, as at the end of the year or as at the end of the preceding taxation year, that are in respect of that business;

(d) if

(i) the insurer's mean Canadian investment fund for a taxation year

exceeds

(ii) the total value for the year of all property required to be designated under paragraph (a), (b) or (c) for the year, shall designate for the year, in respect of a particular insurance business that the insurer carries on in Canada, investment property of the insurer for the year with a total value for the year equal to that excess;

(e) for greater certainty, under each of paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d), shall designate for the taxation year investment property with a total value for the year equal to the amount, if any, determined under each of those paragraphs, and no investment property, or portion of investment property, designated for the year under any of paragraphs (a) to (d) may be designated for the year under any other paragraph; and

(f) may designate for a taxation year a portion of a particular investment property if the designation of the entire property would result in a designation of property with a total value for the year exceeding that required to be designated under paragraphs (a) to (d) for the year.

(3) Order of designation of properties — For the purpose of subsection (2), investment property of an insurer for a taxation year shall be designated for the year in respect of the insurer's insurance businesses carried on by it in Canada in the following order:

(a) Canadian investment property of the insurer for the year owned by the insurer at the beginning of the year that was designated insurance property of the insurer for its preceding taxation year, except that such property shall be designated in the following order:

(i) real and depreciable property,

(ii) mortgages, hypothecs, agreements of sale and other forms of indebtedness in respect of real property situated in Canada or depreciable property situated in Canada or depreciable property leased to a person resident in Canada for use inside and outside of Canada, and

(iii) other property;

(b) investment property (other than Canadian investment property of the insurer for the year) owned by the insurer at the beginning of the year that was designated insurance property of the insurer for its preceding taxation year;

(c) Canadian investment property of the insurer for the year (other than property included in paragraph (a)) in the order set out in subparagraphs (a)(i) to (iii); and

(d) other investment property.

(4) Equity limit for the year — Notwithstanding subsections (2) and (3),

(a) the total value for the year of Canadian equity property of an insurer that may be designated in respect of the insurer's insurance businesses for a taxation year shall not exceed the insurer's equity limit for the year; and

(b) for a taxation year a portion of a particular Canadian equity property of an insurer may be designated if the designation of the entire property would result in a designation of Canadian equity property of the insurer for the year with a total value for the year exceeding the insurer's equity limit for the year.

(5) Exchanged property — For the purposes of subsection (3), property acquired by an insurer in a particular taxation year is deemed to be designated insurance property of the insurer in respect of a particular business of the insurer for its preceding taxation year and to have been owned by the insurer at the beginning of the particular taxation year if the property was acquired

(a) by reason of

(i) a transaction to which any of sections 51, 51.1, 85.1 and 86 of the Act applies,

(ii) a transaction in respect of which an election is made under subsection 85(1) or (2) of the Act,

(iii) an amalgamation (within the meaning assigned by subsection 87(1) of the Act), or

(iv) a winding-up of a corporation to which subsection 88(1) of the Act applies, and

(b) as consideration for or in exchange for property of the insurer that was designated insurance property of the insurer in respect of the particular insurance business for its preceding taxation year.

(6) Non-investment property — Non-segregated property owned by an insurer at any time in a taxation year (other than investment property of the insurer for the year) that is used or held by the insurer in the year in the course of carrying on an insurance business in Canada is deemed to be designated insurance property of the insurer for the year in respect of the business.

(7) Policy loan excluded from designated property — Notwithstanding any other provision in this Part, a policy loan payable to an insurer is not designated insurance property of the insurer.

History: S. 2401 substituted by P.C. 2000-1714, November 30, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 20, 2000, subsec. 2(2), applicable to 1999 et seq.

2402. Income from participating life insurance businesses — For the purposes of clause 138(3)(a)(iii)(B) of the Act and subparagraph 309(1)(e)(i), in computing a life insurer's income for a taxation year from its participating life insurance business carried on in Canada,

(a) there shall be included that proportion of the insurer's gross Canadian life investment income for the year that

(i) the aggregate of the insurer's mean maximum tax actuarial reserve for the year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada and the mean amount on deposit with the insurer for the year in respect of those policies

(ii) the aggregate of amounts, each of which is

(A) the insurer's mean maximum tax actuarial reserve for the year in respect of a class of life insurance policies in Canada, or

(B) the mean amount on deposit with the insurer for the year in respect of a class of policies described in clause (A);

Proposed Addition — Reg. 2402(a.1)

(a.1) there shall be included the amount determined by the formula

$$(A + B) \times \frac{C}{D}$$

where

A is the amount required by subsection 142.5(5) of the Act to be included in computing the insurer's income for the year,

B is the amount deemed by subsection 142.5(7) of the Act to be a taxable capital gain of the insurer for the year from the disposition of property,

C is the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) for the taxation year of the insurer that includes October 31, 1994, and

D is the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(ii) for the taxation year of the insurer that includes October 31, 1994;

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 2(1), will add para. 2402(a.1), applicable to taxation years that end after October 30, 1994.

Technical Notes: Section 2402 contains rules for determining a life insurer's income for a year from carrying on its participating life insurance business in Canada. This income is relevant for subparagraph 138(3)(a)(iii) of the Act, which permits an insurer to deduct policy dividends to the extent that the total amount of dividends paid after its 1968 taxation year does not exceed the total amount of its participating business income after that year. Section 2402 is amended to reflect the new rules in the Act for the tax treatment of securities held by financial institutions, and to delete provisions which are no longer applicable.

New paragraph 2402(a.1) includes in an insurer's income from its participating business for a taxation year an amount in respect of the transition adjustments for the mark-to-market requirement for shares. The amount included is equal to a proportion of the transition amount for non-capital gains included in the insurer's income for the year by subsection 142.5(5) of the Act, plus the same proportion of the insurer's deemed taxable capital gain for the year under subsection 142.5(7). The ratio used for this purpose is equal to the ratio used under paragraph 2402(a) in determining the proportion of the insurer's gross Canadian life investment income for its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994 that is included in its income from its participating business. Paragraph 2402(a.1) applies to taxation years ending after October 30, 1994.

(b) there shall be included

(i) the amount deducted by the insurer under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(iv) of the Act in computing its income for the immediately preceding taxation year,

(ii) the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada,

(iii) the maximum amount deductible by the insurer under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act in computing its income for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada, and

(iv) that proportion of the amount included in income by the insurer for the year under section 12.3 that

(A) the amount determined under clause (f)(iii)(A) for its first taxation year that commences after June 17, 1987 and ends after 1987

is of

(B) the amount determined under clause (f)(iii)(B) for its first taxation year that commences after June 17, 1987 and ends after 1987;

Proposed Repeal — Reg. 2402(b)(iv)

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 2(2), will repeal subpara. 2402(b)(iv), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1992.

Technical Notes: Subparagraph 2402(b)(iv) relates to a transitional provision introduced in conjunction with the 1987 tax reform measures. The transitional provision, and subparagraph 2402(b)(iv), last applied to taxation years that began in 1992. The subparagraph is repealed since it is no longer applicable.

(c) there shall not be included any amount in respect of the insurer's participating life insurance policies in Canada that was deducted under subparagraphs 138(3)(a)(i) or (ii) of the Act in computing its income for the immediately preceding taxation year;

(d) except as otherwise provided in paragraph (a), there shall not be included any amount as a reserve that was deducted under paragraph 20(1)(l) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding taxation year;

(e) except as otherwise provided in paragraph (a), there shall not be included

(i) any amount that was included in income for the year by the insurer pursuant to 138(4)(b) or (c) of the Act, or

(ii) any amount that was included in computing the insurer's gains or taxable capital gains for the year from the disposition of property;

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 2402(e)

(e) except as provided in paragraph (a), there shall not be included any amount that was included in determining the insurer's gross Canadian life investment income for the year;

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 2(3), will amend para. 2402(e) to read as above, applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994.

Technical Notes: Paragraph 2402(e) provides that certain amounts are not included in computing an insurer's income from its participating life insurance business, except as provided by paragraph 2402(a). Paragraph 2402(e) is amended so that it applies with respect to all amounts included in determining an insurer's gross Canadian life investment income. This amendment is made for purposes of clarification, and because of the introduction of the new rules for the taxation of securities held by financial institutions. In this latter regard, subparagraph 2402(e)(i) refers to paragraphs 138(4)(b) and (c) of the Act, which are being repealed.

(e.1) except as provided in paragraph (a.1), there shall not be included the amounts referred to in the descriptions of A and B in that paragraph;

(e.2) where the year includes October 31, 1994, there shall be deducted the amount determined by the formula

$$(A + B) \times \frac{C}{D}$$

where

A is the amount deducted under subsection 142.5(4) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the year,

B is the amount deemed by subsection 142.5(6) of the Act to be an allowable capital loss of the insurer for the year from the disposition of property,

C is the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) for the year, and

D is the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(ii) for the year;

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 2(4), will add paras. 2402(e.1) and (e.2), applicable to taxation years that end after October 30, 1994.

Technical Notes: New paragraph 2402(e.1) provides that the transition amounts associated with the introduction of the mark-to-market requirement for shares are not to be included in an insurer's income from its participating life insurance business, except as provided by new paragraph 2402(a.1).

New paragraph 2402(e.2) provides for a deduction in computing an insurer's income from its participating business in respect of the transition deductions associated with the introduction of the mark-to-market requirement for shares. This deduction applies for the insurer's taxation year that includes October 31, 1994. The deducted amount is equal to a proportion of the transition deduction for non-capital gains claimed by the insurer under subsection 142.5(4) of the Act, plus the same proportion of the allowable capital loss claimed by the insurer under subsection 142.5(6). The ratio used for this purpose is equal to the ratio used under paragraph 2402(a) in determining the proportion of the insurer's gross Canadian life investment income for its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994 that is included in its income from its participating business.

(f) there shall be deducted

(i) the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for the year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada,

(ii) the maximum amount deductible by the insurer under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act in computing its income for the year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada, and

(iii) that proportion of the amount deducted from income by the insurer for the year under subsection 20(26) that

(A) the amount determined in respect of the insurer for the year under subparagraph (a)(i),

is of

(B) the amount determined in respect of the insurer for the year under subparagraph (a)(ii);

Proposed Repeal — Reg. 2402(f)(iii)

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 2(5), will repeal subpara. 2402(f)(iii), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1992.

Technical Notes: Subparagraph 2402(f)(iii) relates to a transitional deduction provided in conjunction with the 1987 tax reform measures. The transitional deduction, and subparagraph 2402(f)(iii), applied to an insurer's first taxation year that began after June 17, 1987 and ended after 1987. The subparagraph is repealed since it is no longer applicable.

(g) no deduction shall be made in respect of any amount deductible under subparagraph 138(3) (a)(iii) or (iv) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the year;

(h) except as as otherwise provided in paragraph (a), no deduction shall be made in respect of

(i) any amount deductible under paragraph 138(3)(b) or (d) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the year,

(ii) any amount deductible as a reserve under paragraph 20(1)(l) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the year, or

(iii) any amount included in computing the insurer's losses or allowable capital losses for the year from the disposition of property;

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 2402(h)

(h) except as provided in paragraph (a), no deduction shall be made in respect of

(i) any amount taken into account in determining the insurer's gross Canadian life investment income for the year, or

(ii) any amount deductible under paragraph 20(1)(l) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the year;

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 2(6), will amend para. 2402(h) to read as above, applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994.

Technical Notes: Paragraph 2402(h) provides that certain amounts are not deducted in computing an insurer's income from its participating life insurance business, except as provided by paragraph 2402(a). Paragraph 2402(h) is amended so that it applies with respect to all amounts that are included in determining an insurer's gross Canadian life investment income. This amendment is made for purposes of clarification and because of the introduction of the new rules for the taxation of securities held by financial institutions. In this latter regard, subparagraph 2402(h)(i) refers to paragraphs 138(3)(b) and (d) of the Act, which are being repealed.

(h.1) except as provided in paragraph (e.2), no deduction shall be made in respect of the amounts referred to in the descriptions of A and B in paragraph (e.2);

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 2(7), will add para. 2402(h.1), applicable to taxation years that end after October 30, 1994.

Technical Notes: New paragraph 2402(h.1) provides that the transition amounts deducted by an insurer in connection with the introduction of the mark-to-market requirement for shares are not to be deducted in computing the insurer's income from its participating life insurance business, except as provided by new paragraph 2402(e.2).

(i) except as otherwise provided in paragraph (f), no deduction shall be made in respect of a reserve deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) or (ii) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the year; and

(j) except as otherwise provided in this section, the provisions of the Act relating to the computation of income from a source shall apply.

History: Subpara. 2402(b)(iii) added, and paras. (c) to (f), (h) and (i) substituted, by P.C. 1990-2002, s. 7, September 20, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 10, 1990, applicable in respect of taxation years beginning after June 17, 1987 and ending after 1987 except that in its application in respect of [an insurer's] first such taxation year,

(a) subpara. (b)(iii) shall be read as follows:

"(iii) the maximum amount of a reserve deductible by the insurer in computing its income for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of unpaid claims under participating life insurance policies in Canada received by the insurer before the end of that year, and";

(b) para. (c) shall be read as follows:

"(c) there shall not be included any amount in respect of the insurer's participating life insurance policies in Canada that was deducted in computing its income for the immediately preceding taxation year under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act or as a reserve in respect of unpaid claims received before the end of that year;" and

(c) para. (d) shall read as it read for [the insurer's] last taxation year ending before 1988.

All that portion of s. 2402 preceding para. (a) substituted by P.C. 1983-3530, s. 7, November 17, 1983, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 24, 1983, applicable to taxation years commencing after 1982.

2403. Branch tax elections — (1) An election referred to in subsection 219(4) of the Act shall be made by a non-resident insurer in respect of a taxation year by filing, with its return of income required by subsection 150(1) of the Act to be filed for the year, a letter in duplicate stating

(a) the insurer elects under subsection 219(4) of the Act; and

(b) the amount the insurer elects to deduct under subsection 219(4) of the Act.

(2) Where a joint election referred to in subsection 219(5.2) of the Act is made by a non-resident insurer and a qualified related corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection 219(8) of the Act) of the non-resident insurer in respect of a taxation year of the non-resident insurer, it shall be made by filing, with the non-resident insurer's return of income required by subsection 150(1) of the Act to be filed for the year in which the event to which the election relates occurred, a letter in duplicate signed by an authorized officer of the non-resident insurer and an authorized officer of the qualified related corporation stating

(a) whether paragraphs 219(5.2)(a) and (b) of the Act apply; and

(b) the amount elected under subsection 219(5.2) of the Act.

History: Para. 2403(2)(a) substituted by P.C. 2000-1714, November 30, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 20, 2000, s. 3, applicable to 1999 et seq.

Subsec. 2403(2) added by P.C. 1981-2121, s. 1, July 29, 1981, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 12, 1981, effective December 12, 1979.

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

(2) For the purposes of subsection 138(14) of the Act, the expressions "Canadian investment fund for a taxation year", "specified Canadian assets" and "value for the taxation year" have the meanings prescribed therefor by subsection 2404(1) as it read in its application to the 1977 taxation year.

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

(3) In this Part and for the purposes of paragraph 219(7)(a) [219(7)"attributed surplus for the year"] of the Act,

"attributed surplus for the year", for a taxation year in respect of a non-resident insurer, means the aggregate of

(a) its property and casualty surplus for the year, and

(b) an amount equal to the percentage (that is the life surplus factor for the year) of the amount for the year determined under clause (a)(i)(B) of the definition "life surplus factor" in this subsection;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 2405(3)"Canadian business property" [temporary]

"Canadian business property" of an insurer for a taxation year in respect of an insurance business means

(a) where the insurer was resident in Canada throughout the year and either did not carry on a life insurance business in the year or did not carry on an insurance business outside Canada in the year, the property used by it in the year in, or held by it in the year in the course of, carrying on the business in Canada, and

(b) in any other case, the property designated under subsection 2400(1) for the year by the insurer in respect of the business;

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 3(10), will add the definition "Canadian business property" to subsec. 2405(3), applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994. Reg. 2405 no longer applies as of 1999; see Reg. 2406.

Technical Notes: A definition of "Canadian business property" is added to subsection 2405(3). This expression is used in the definition of "gross Canadian life investment income", which is also in subsection 2405(3).

In the case of an insurer that is required to designate property under subsection 2400(1), the "Canadian business property" of the insurer for a taxation year in respect of an insurance business is the property designated for the year in respect of the business. (The designation rules apply to non-resident insurers, and to multinational resident life insurers.)

The "Canadian business property" of any other insurer for a taxation year in respect of an insurance business is the property that is factually determined to have been used by the insurer in the year in, or held by it in the year in the course of, carrying on the business in Canada.

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"Canadian equity property" means

(a) a share of the capital stock of, or an income bond, income debenture, small business development bond or a small business bond issued by, a person (other than a designated corporation) or partnership, as the case may be, resident in Canada, or

(b) that proportion of shares of the capital stock of a designated corporation or an interest in a partnership or trust that

(i) the aggregate value for the year of Canadian equity property owned by the designated corporation or the partnership or trust, as the case may be,

is of

(ii) the aggregate value for the year of all property owned by the designated corporation, or partnership or trust, as the case may be;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"Canadian investment fund", as at the end of a taxation year, in respect of

(a) a life insurer resident in Canada, means the positive amount determined by the formula

where

A is the amount of the insurer's Canadian reserve liabilities as at the end of the year,

B is the amount of the insurer's total reserve liabilities as at the end of the year,

C is the total of

(i) the aggregate amount of policy loans and foreign policy loans of the insurer as at the end of the year, and

(ii) the valuation of all property of the insurer as at the end of the year each of which is

(A) an investment property,

(B) money, or

(C) a balance (other than a property included under (A) or (B)) standing to the insurer's credit as or on account of amounts deposited with a corporation authorized to accept deposits or to carry on the business of offering to the public its services as a trustee,

D is the total of

(i) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount outstanding as at the end of the year in respect of a debt (other than a debt referred to in paragraph (h) of the definition "valuation" in this subsection or an amount referred to in subparagraph (ii)) owing by the insurer in respect of money borrowed by the insurer (other than money used by the insurer for the purpose of earning income from a source that is not an insurance business), and

(ii) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of a cheque outstanding at the end of the year drawn on an account of the insurer maintained with a corporation authorized to accept deposits or to carry on the business of offering to the public its services as a trustee, and

E is the aggregate amount of the policy loans of the insurer as at the end of the year, and

(b) a non-resident insurer, means the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of amounts each of which is

(i) a maximum tax actuarial reserve of the insurer for the year,

(i.1) the maximum amount that the insurer is entitled to claim under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act for the year,

(ii) the maximum amount that the insurer is entitled to deduct under paragraph 20(7)(c) of the Act in computing its income for the year determined on the assumption that it carried on no other than life insurance business other than an accident and sickness insurance business,

(iii) the amount of policy dividends, to the extent that such dividends were not included under subparagraph (i) or (ii), that will, according to the annual report of the insurer filed with the relevant authority for the year or, where the insurer was throughout the year subject to the supervision of the relevant authority but was not required to file an annual report with the relevant authority for the year, according to its financial statements for the year, as at the end of the year, become payable by the insurer in the immediately following year under its participating life insurance policies,

(iv) a liability (other than a debt referred to in paragraph (h) of the definition "valuation" in this subsection) or a reserve (other than the insurer's investment valuation reserve) as reported by the insurer in its annual report for the year to the relevant authority or, where the insurer was throughout the year subject to the supervision of the relevant authority but was not required to file an annual report with the relevant authority for the year, in its financial statements for the year, that was incurred or provided for in the course of carrying on the insurer's property and casualty insurance business in Canada except to the extent those amounts are already included under subparagraph (ii),

(v) a debt (other than a debt referred to in paragraph (h) of the definition "valuation" in this subsection) owing by the insurer at that time that was incurred in the course of carrying on an insurance business (other than a property and casualty insurance business) in Canada, except to the extent those amounts are already included under subparagraph (i), (i.1) or (iii), or

(vi) the amount that is the greater of

(A) the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of

(I) the insurer's surplus funds derived from operations computed as at the end of the immediately preceding taxation year, and

(II) the aggregate of amounts in respect of which the insurer has made an election under subsection 219(4) or (5.2) of the Act, each of which is an amount included in the aggregate determined in respect of the insurer under subparagraph 219(4)(a)(i.1) of the Act at the end of the immediately preceding taxation year

exceeds

(III) the aggregate of amounts determined in respect of the insurer under subparagraphs 219(4)(a)(ii), (iii), (iv) and (v) of the Act, as at the end of the taxation year, and

(B) the insurer's attributed surplus for the year,

exceeds the aggregate of

(vii) the aggregate valuation of all non-segregated property referred to in paragraph 2400(1)(e) at the end of the year in respect of all the insurer's insurance businesses carried on in Canada other than property that is

(A) money, or

(B) a balance standing to the insurer's credit as or on account of amounts deposited with a corporation authorized to accept deposits or to carry on the business of offering to the public its services as a trustee, and

(viii) the aggregate amount of the insurer's deferred acquisition expenses in respect of its property and casualty insurance business in Canada reported by the insurer in its annual report for the year to the relevant authority or, where the insurer was throughout the year subject to the supervision of the relevant authority but was not required to file an annual report with the relevant authority for the year, in its financial statements for the year;

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 2405(5) — Mark-to-market rule to be ignored; Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"Canadian investment fund for the year", for a taxation year in respect of a life insurer resident in Canada and a non-resident insurer, means the amount determined under section 2412;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"Canadian investment property" of an insurer for a taxation year means an investment property (unless the insurer is a non-resident insurer and it is established by the insurer that the investment property is not effectively connected with its Canadian insurance businesses) that is

(a) land or depreciable property situated in Canada and, for that purpose, depreciable property of an insurer leased by a person resident in Canada for use inside and outside of Canada shall be deemed to be depreciable property situated in Canada,

(b) a Canadian equity property,

(c) a Canadian resource property,

(d) a mortgage, an agreement of sale or any other form of indebtedness in respect of property referred to in paragraph (a),

(e) an amount in Canadian currency standing to the insurer's credit as or on account of amounts deposited with a corporation resident in Canada authorized to accept deposits or to carry on the business of offering to the public its services as a trustee,

(f) a bond, debenture or other form of indebtedness (other than a property described in paragraph (d) or (e)) in Canadian currency issued by

(i) a person resident in Canada, a Canadian partnership or a partnership an interest in which is an investment property described in paragraph (g),

(ii) the Government of Canada,

(iii) the government of a province of Canada, or

(iv) any other political subdivision of Canada or of any province of Canada, or

(g) a property (to the extent it is not a property described in paragraph (b)) that is

(i) a share of a designated corporation resident in Canada,

(ii) an interest in a partnership, or

(iii) an interest in a trust resident in Canada, where not less than 75 per cent of the aggregate value for the year of all property of the corporation, partnership or trust, as the case may be, is in respect of property each of which is property described in paragraphs (a) to (f);

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"Canadian reserve liabilities" of an insurer, as at the end of a taxation year, means the aggregate amount of the insurer's liabilities and reserves (other than liabilities and reserves in respect of amounts payable out of segregated funds) in respect of its insurance policies in Canada, as determined for the purposes of the relevant authority at the end of the year or as would be determined at that time if the relevant authority required such a determination;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"designated corporation", in respect of an insurer, at any time in a taxation year, means a corporation in respect of which the insurer or the insurer and persons or partnerships that do not deal at arm's length with the insurer held, at any time in the year, shares that represented 30 per cent or more of the common shares of the corporation outstanding at that time;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"equity limit for the year", for a taxation year, means

(a) in respect of a life insurer resident in Canada, the greater of

(i) that proportion of the aggregate value for the year of all the insurer's equity property that

(A) the amount, if any, by which the insurer's mean Canadian reserve liabilities exceed the aggregate of the insurer's mean policy loans for the year and 1/2 of the aggregate of outstanding premiums of the insurer in respect of its insurance businesses in Canada as determined for the purposes of the relevant authority at the end of the year and the immediately preceding taxation year,

is of

(B) the amount, if any, by which the insurer's mean total reserve liabilities exceed the aggregate of the insurer's mean policy loans and foreign policy loans for the year and 1/2 of the aggregate of outstanding premiums of the insurer in respect of its insurance businesses as determined for the purposes of the relevant authority at the end of the year and the immediately preceding taxation year, and

(ii) 8 per cent of the insurer's Canadian investment fund for the year,

(b) in respect of a non-resident insurer (other than a life insurer), 1/4 of the aggregate of

(i) the amount, if any, by which the insurer's mean Canadian reserve liabilities exceed 1/2 of the aggregate of the amounts of the insurer's deferred acquisition expenses and premiums receivable at the end of the year and the immediately preceding year to the extent that those amounts were included in the insurer's Canadian reserve liabilities for those years in respect of the insurer's business in Canada as determined for the purposes of the relevant authority, and

(ii) the insurer's property and casualty surplus for the year, and

(c) in respect of a non-resident life insurer, the aggregate of

(i) the insurer's life equity limit for the year, and

(ii) 1/4 of the aggregate of

(A) the amount, if any, by which the insurer's mean Canadian reserve liabilities for the year exceed 1/2 of the aggregate of the amounts of the insurer's deferred acquisition expenses and premiums receivable at the end of the year and the immediately preceding year in respect of the insurer's business in Canada as determined for the purposes of the relevant authority to the extent that those amounts were included in the insurer's Canadian reserve liabilities for those years (determined on the assumption that the only insurance business carried on in Canada by the insurer was a property and casualty insurance business), and

(B) the insurer's property and casualty surplus for the year;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"equity property" means

(d.1) and (e) applicable to dispositions of property that occur after February 22, 1994 except that in its application to property disposed of in a taxation year that ends on or before June 1, 1995, para. (e) shall be read as follows:

(e) the amount included in computing the insurer's gains for the year from the disposition of property (other than capital property or property in respect of which section 142.4 of the Act applies), para. (f) applicable to taxation years that end after October 30, 1994 except that in its application to property disposed of in a taxation year that ends on or before June 1, 1995, para. (f) shall be read as follows:

(f) the amount included in computing the insurer's taxable capital gains for the year from the disposition of property (other than an amount included because of subsection 142.5(7)) of the Act),

paras. (i.1) and (j) applicable to dispositions of property that occur after February 22, 1994 except that in its application to property disposed of in a taxation year that ends on or before June 1, 1995, para. (j) shall be read as follows:

(j) the amount included in computing the insurer's losses for the year from the disposition of property (other than capital property or property in respect of which section 142.4 of the Act applies), para. (k) applicable to taxation years that end after October 30, 1994 except that in its application to property disposed of in a taxation year that ends on or before June 1, 1995, para. (k) shall be read as follows:

(k) the amount included in computing the insurer's allowable capital losses for the year from the disposition of property (other than an amount included because of subsection 142.5(6)) of the Act);

Technical Notes: Subsection 2405(3) defines a number of expressions used in Part XXIV.

The expression "gross Canadian life investment income" is defined for the purpose of section 2402, which contains rules for determining an insurer's income for a year from carrying on its participating life insurance business in Canada. Several amendments are made to this definition:

- Paragraph (a) is amended to use the newly-defined term "Canadian business property", which is defined in subsection 2405(3). Gross investment revenue from such property held in respect of an insurer's life insurance business is included by paragraph (a) in determining the insurer's gross Canadian life investment income. This amendment applies to taxation years that end after June 1, 1995.
- Paragraph (c) is repealed. This paragraph includes, in determining an insurer's gross Canadian life investment income, the amounts included in the insurer's income by paragraphs 138(4)(b) and (c) of the Act (profit on disposition of a Canada security, and amortization of discount on such a security). This amendment is consequential on the repeal of paragraphs 138(4)(b) and (c).
- Paragraphs (d) and (i), which deal with doubtful debt reserves, are amended as a consequence of the repeal of the definition of "Canada security" in subsection 138(12) of the Act. The amended paragraphs refer to debt obligations that are "Canadian business property" of the insurer in respect of the insurer's life insurance business.
- New paragraph (d.1) includes in an insurer's gross Canadian life investment income the amounts that are included in the insurer's income by section 142.4 of the Act in respect of property disposed of by the insurer that was "Canadian business property" of the insurer in respect of its life insurance business. New paragraph (i.1) is a corresponding rule for deductions. New section 142.4 of the Act contains rules for the measurement and the timing of recognition of gains and losses from the disposition of specified debt obligations.
- Paragraph (e), which includes certain non-capital gains in an insurer's gross Canadian life investment income, is amended to exclude from its scope property in respect of which section 142.4 of the Act applies. Gains from the disposition of this property are taken into account by new paragraph (d.1). Paragraph (e) is also amended, for dispositions of property in taxation years ending after June 1, 1995, to clarify that it applies only to the property of an insurer's Canadian life insurance business. Similar changes are made to the rule in paragraph (j) for certain non-capital losses.
- Paragraph (f), which includes an insurer's taxable capital gains in its gross Canadian life investment income, is amended so that it does not include amounts deemed by subsection 142.5(7) of the Act to be taxable capital gains of the insurer. That subsection contains a transition rule relating to the introduction of the mark-to-market requirement. Paragraph (f) is also amended, for dispositions of property in taxation years ending after June 1, 1995, to clarify that it applies only to the property of an insurer's Canadian life insurance business. Similar changes are made to the rule in paragraph (k) for allowable capital losses.
- Paragraph (g) is repealed since the provision to which it refers — paragraph 138(3)(c) of the Act (investment reserve) — was repealed in the tax reform of 1987.
- Paragraph (h) is repealed. This paragraph deducts in determining an insurer's gross Canadian life investment income the amounts deducted under paragraphs 138(3)(b) and (d) of the Act (loss on disposition of a Canada security, and amortization of premium on such a security) in computing an insurer's income. This amendment is consequential on the repeal of paragraphs 138(3)(b) and (d).

(iv) the use made of the property in the year for the purpose of earning gross investment revenue therefrom

is of

(v) the whole use made of the property in the year,

(c) the portion, if any, of property of the insurer that is not used in the year for the purpose of earning gross investment revenue that is

(i) land,

(ii) depreciable property, or

(iii) property that would be depreciable property if it had been situated in Canada and used in the year in, or held in the year in the course of, carrying on an insurance business in Canada, to the extent that the property is held for resale or development or is expected to be used in a subsequent taxation year for the purpose of earning gross investment revenue, or

(d) property of the insurer that is

(i) a share of, or a debt owing to the insurer by a designated corporation other than a corporation that carries on a business of insurance, banking or offering its services to the public as a trustee or whose principal business is the making of loans,

(ii) an interest in a partnership, or

(iii) an interest in a trust,

(iv) the aggregate value for the year of all investment property of the corporation, partnership or trust, as the case may be, is not less than 75 per cent of the aggregate value for the year of all its property, and

(v) the gross investment revenue for the year from the investment property referred to in subparagraph (iv) (other than gross investment revenue from persons with whom the corporation, partnership or trust, as the case may be, did not deal at arm's length) is not less than 90 per cent of the gross revenue for the year of the corporation, partnership or trust, as the case may be, assuming for the purposes of subparagraphs (iv) and (v) that the definition "gross investment revenue" in paragraph 138(12)(e) [138(12)"gross investment revenue"] of the Act and this definition apply to a corporation, partnership or trust, referred to in those subparagraphs, as though the corporation, partnership or trust, as the case may be, were an insurer;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"life equity limit" of a non-resident life insurer for a taxation year means

(a) where the insurer makes an election in respect of its life surplus factor for the year in the manner described in subsection 2401(1), the amount that would have been the insurer's equity limit for the year if the insurer had been a life insurer resident in Canada registered under the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act to carry on an insurance business in Canada and it had carried on no other than life insurance business other than an accident and sickness insurance business,

(b) where the insurer does not make an election referred to in paragraph (a) in respect of the year, but

(i) has made such an election in respect of one of the four immediately preceding taxation years, and

(ii) the insurer's life surplus factor for the year is not determined pursuant to paragraph (c) of the definition "life surplus factor" in this subsection, the amount that would have been the insurer's equity limit for the year if the insurer had been a life insurer resident in Canada registered under the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act to carry on an insurance business in Canada and it had carried on no other than life insurance business other than an accident and sickness insurance business, using the amount, in respect of the most recent taxation year for which such an election was made, determined under subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition, in this subsection, "equity limit for the year",

(c) in any other case, 8 per cent of the amount of the insurer's Canadian investment fund for the year;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"life surplus factor" of a non-resident life insurer for a taxation year means

(a) subject to subsection 2401(2), where the insurer elects in respect of the year in the manner described in subsection 2401(1), the proportion (expressed as a percentage) that

(i) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the amount that would have been the insurer's Canadian investment fund for the year if the insurer had been a life insurer resident in Canada registered under the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act to carry on an insurance business in Canada and it had carried on no other than life insurance business other than an accident and sickness insurance business

exceeds

(B) the amount, if any, by which ½ of the aggregate of

(I) the aggregate of the amounts described in subparagraphs (b)(i), (i.1), (ii), (iii) and (v) of the definition "Canadian investment fund" in this subsection in respect of a non-resident insurer, as at the end of the year, and

(II) the aggregate of those amounts as at the end of the immediately preceding taxation year, exceeds the aggregate value for the year of all the insurer's non-segregated property referred to in paragraph 2400(1)(e) in respect of all the insurer's insurance businesses (other than its property and casualty insurance business) carried on in Canada, other than property that is

(III) money, or

(IV) a balance standing to the insurer's credit as or on account of amounts deposited with a corporation authorized to accept deposits or to carry on the business of offering to the public its services as a trustee

is of

(ii) the amount determined under clause (i)(B),

(b) where the insurer does not make an election referred to in paragraph (a) in respect of the year, but

(i) has made such an election in respect of one of the four immediately preceding taxation years, and

(ii) has not, since making the most recent election referred to in subparagraph (i), selected pursuant to this paragraph the percentage referred to in paragraph (c) as its life surplus factor for a year prior to the taxation year, the percentage, as shall be selected by the insurer, that is the percentage

(iii) determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the most recent taxation year for which the insurer made an election, or

(iv) referred to in paragraph (c), and

(c) in any other case, 10 per cent;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"total reserve liabilities" of an insurer, as at the end of a taxation year, means the aggregate amount of the insurer's liabilities and reserves (other than liabilities and reserves in respect of amounts payable out of segregated funds) in respect of all its insurance policies, as determined for the purposes of the relevant authority at the end of the year;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"valuation", in respect of a property of an insurer, designated corporation, partnership or trust (in this definition referred to as an "owner") at a particular time, means, in the case of

(a) land, the cost thereof to the owner,

(b) depreciable property of a prescribed class (other than a property referred to in paragraph (f)), the proportion of the owner's undepreciated capital cost at that time of property of the class that

(i) the owner's capital cost of the property

is of

(ii) the owner's capital cost of all property of the class,

(c) property that would have been depreciable property of a prescribed class if it had been situated in Canada and used in the year in, or held in the year in the course of, carrying on an insurance business in Canada, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the owner's capital cost of the property

exceeds

(ii) the amount that would have been the total depreciation allowed to the owner before the particular time in respect of the property if it had been the owner's only depreciable property of the class and the owner had claimed the maximum amount allowable under paragraph 20(1)(a) of the Act in respect of property of that class for each year in which the owner owned the property,

(d) a share of a corporation (other than a designated corporation), the cost thereof to the owner,

(e) a bond, debenture, mortgage, hypothec or agreement of sale (other than a property referred to in paragraph (f)), the book value thereof in the accounts of the owner as determined for the purposes of the relevant authority or that would have been so determined if the owner had been a life insurer resident in Canada and registered under the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act to carry on an insurance business in Canada,

(e.1) a balance standing to the owner's credit as or on account of amounts deposited with a corporation authorized to accept deposits or to carry on the business of offering to the public its services as a trustee, the amount thereof,

(f) a property acquired and disposed of in a taxation year, the cost thereof to the owner, and

(g) a property (other than a property referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (f)), the maximum value of the property as determined for the purposes of the relevant authority or that would have been so determined if the owner had been a life insurer resident in Canada and registered under the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act to carry on an insurance business in Canada,

minus

(h) in respect of a particular property referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (g), the amount of any debt that was incurred or assumed by the owner to acquire that particular property and that was owing by the owner at that time;

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

"value for the year", in respect of a property of an insurer, designated corporation, partnership or trust (in this definition referred to as an "owner") for a taxation year, means, in the case of

(a) a property that is a mortgage, a hypothec, an agreement of sale or an investment property that is a balance standing to the insurer's credit as or on account of amounts deposited with a corporation authorized to accept deposits or to carry on the business of offering to the public its services as a trustee, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount obtained when the gross investment revenue for the year from the property is divided by the average rate of interest earned by the owner (expressed as an annual rate) on the amortized cost of the property during the year if that rate of interest were expressed as a fraction

(ii) the amount obtained when the interest paid or payable for the year on a debt incurred for the purposes of acquiring the property is divided by the average rate of interest paid or payable by the owner (expressed as an annual rate) on the debt for the year if that rate of interest were expressed as a fraction,

(b) a property (other than a property referred to in paragraph (a)) that was not owned by the owner throughout the year, the proportion of

(i) the valuation of the property as at the end of the immediately preceding taxation year, where the property was owned by the owner at that time, and

(ii) the valuation of the property, where it was acquired by the owner during the year,

that

(iii) the number of days that the property may reasonably be considered to have been owned by the owner during the taxation year

is of

(iv) the number of days in the taxation year, and

(c) a property (other than a property referred to in paragraph (a) or (b)), ½ of the aggregate of

(i) the valuation of the property as at the end of the year, and

(ii) the valuation of the property as at the end of the immediately preceding taxation year.

(4) For the purposes of the definition in subsection (3), "Canadian investment fund" in respect of a life insurer resident in Canada, notwithstanding the definitions "Canadian reserve liabilities" and "total reserve liabilities" in that subsection, the insurer shall determine its liabilities and reserves in respect of its insurance policies outside Canada in a manner consistent with that used in determining its liabilities and reserves in respect of its insurance policies in Canada.

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 2405(5) [temporary]

(5) For the purposes of subsection (3), the cost of a property shall be determined without regard to subsection 142.5(2) of the Act.

Related Provisions: Reg. 2406 — Reg. 2405 does not apply as of 1999.

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 3(11), will add subsec. 2405(5), applicable to taxation years that end after October 30, 1994. Reg. 2405 no longer applies as of 1999; see Reg. 2406.

Technical Notes: New subsection 2405(5) contains a rule for the purposes of the definitions in subsection 2405(3). It provides that the cost of property is to be determined without regard to the mark-to-market requirement in subsection 142.5(2) of the Act. Thus, the cost of mark-to-market property will not change each year for the purpose of the definitions in subsection 2405(3). This rule is relevant for determining the "valuation" of shares, and hence the "value for the year" of shares. As a consequence of this rule, the original cost of shares to an insurer will generally be used in measuring the Canadian investment fund, designating property, and determining any additional investment revenue prescribed by section 2411.

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount determined under clause 138(3)(a)(iii)(A) of the Act for the insurer's 1977 taxation year (determined without reference to paragraph 138(3.1)(b) of the Act),

exceeds

(ii) the amount determined under clause 138(3)(a)(iii)(B) of the Act for the insurer's 1977 taxation year; and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for its participating life insurance policies in Canada for its 1977 taxation year,

exceeds the aggregate of

(ii) the amount that would have been the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for its participating life insurance policies in Canada for its 1977 taxation year if that reserve had been determined on the basis of the rules applicable to its 1978 taxation year,

(iii) the aggregate of all amounts payable to the insurer in respect of policy loans outstanding at the end of its 1977 taxation year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada, and

(iv) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for its participating life insurance policies in Canada for its 1968 taxation year,

exceeds the aggregate of

(B) the amount that would have been the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for its participating life insurance policies in Canada for its 1968 taxation year if that reserve had been determined on the basis of the rules applicable to its 1978 taxation year, and

2408. 1977 carryforward deduction — For the purposes of subparagraph 138(4.2)(a)(iv) of the Act, a life insurer's 1977 carryforward deduction is hereby prescribed to be the amount, if any, by which

(a) the aggregate of

(i) the aggregate of amounts, each of which is an amount determined under paragraph 13(23)(b) of the Act in respect of property of a prescribed class of the insurer,

(ii) the aggregate of amounts each of which is a non-capital loss of the insurer for a taxation year ending after 1972 and before 1978 that would have been deductible by the insurer in computing its taxable income for a taxation year ending after 1977 if the Act were read without reference to subsection 111(7.2) thereof,

(iii) the amount prescribed by section 2407 to be the insurer's 1977 excess policy dividend deduction,

(iv) the amount determined under subparagraph 138(4.2)(b)(ii) of the Act in respect of the insurer,

(v) the amount determined under subparagraph 138(4.2)(c)(ii) of the Act in respect of the insurer,

(vi) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the aggregate of the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserves for its 1977 taxation year,

exceeds

(B) the aggregate of the amounts deducted by the insurer for its 1977 taxation year under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i) of the Act, and

(vii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the maximum amount deductible by the insurer for its 1977 taxation year under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act,

exceeds

(B) the amount deducted by the insurer for its 1977 taxation year under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act,

exceeds

(b) the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of

(i) the lesser of

(A) the insurer's accumulated 1968 deficit, and

(B) the amount, if any, determined under subparagraph (vi),

(ii) the aggregate of the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserves for its 1977 taxation year, other than reserves or any portions thereof in respect of segregated fund policies, and

(iii) the maximum amount deductible by the insurer for its 1977 taxation year under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act,

exceeds the aggregate of

(iv) the aggregate of the amounts that would have been the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserves for its 1977 taxation year if those reserves had been determined on the basis of the rules applicable to its 1978 taxation year,

(v) the aggregate of all amounts payable to the insurer in respect of policy loans outstanding at the end of its 1977 taxation year, and

(vi) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the aggregate of the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserves for its 1968 taxation year, other than reserves or any portions thereof in respect of segregated fund policies,

exceeds the aggregate of

(B) the aggregate of the amounts that would have been the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserves for its 1968 taxation year if those reserves had been determined on the basis of the rules applicable to its 1978 taxation year, and

(C) the aggregate of all amounts payable to the insurer in respect of policy loans outstanding at the end of its 1968 taxation year.

(2) For the purposes of applying the provisions of paragraph 2400(1)(c) in respect of the 1978 taxation year of an insurer that was subject to the provisions of subsection

138(9) of the Act in respect of its 1977 taxation year, the following rules apply:

(a) this Part shall be read as though the definitions therein applied to the insurer's 1977 taxation year;

(b) such portion of the insurer's Canadian equity property owned by it at the end of its 1977 taxation year as is designated by the insurer in respect of a particular insurance business, in its return of income required by subsection 150(1) of the Act to be filed for the 1978 taxation year, shall be deemed to be investment property of the prior year in respect of the particular insurance business, but the aggregate valuation as at the end of the insurer's 1977 taxation year of the Canadian equity property so designated in respect of all its insurance businesses carried on in Canada shall not exceed

(i) in the case of a life insurer resident in Canada, or a non-resident life insurer that has made the election referred to in subsection 2401(1) in respect of its 1978 taxation year, that proportion of

(A) the insurer's Canadian investment fund as at the end of its 1977 taxation year (determined on the basis of the rules applicable to its 1978 taxation year),

that

(B) the aggregate valuation of the insurer's equity property as at the end of the insurer's 1977 taxation year

is of

(C) the aggregate valuation of the insurer's investment property as at the end of the insurer's 1977 taxation year,

(ii) in the case of a non-resident life insurer, other than an insurer referred to in subparagraph (i), eight per cent of its Canadian investment fund as at the end of its 1977 taxation year (determined on the basis of the rules applicable to its 1978 taxation year), and

(iii) in any other case, 25 per cent of the insurer's Canadian investment fund as at the end of its 1977 taxation year (determined on the basis of the rules applicable to its 1978 taxation year);

(c) where the insurer made an election under subsection 138(9) of the Act in respect of its 1977 taxation year, investment property (other than a Canadian equity property) owned by the insurer at the end of its 1977 taxation year that was designated in respect of a particular insurance business by the insurer in its return of income for the 1977 taxation year pursuant to paragraph 138(12)(l) of the Act as it read in its application to that year shall be deemed to be insurance property of the particular insurance business in the 1977 taxation year;

(d) where the insurer did not make the election referred to in paragraph (c) and carried on only one insurance business in Canada in its 1977 taxation year, investment property (other than a Canadian equity property) owned by the insurer at the end of its 1977 taxation year that is a specified Canadian asset of the insurer within the meaning of subsection 2405(1) as it read in its application to the 1977 taxation year shall be deemed to be insurance property of that insurance business in the 1977 taxation year; and

(e) where the insurer did not make the election referred to in paragraph (c) and carried on an other than life insurance business in Canada and a life insurance business in Canada in its 1977 taxation year, investment property (other than a Canadian equity property) owned by the insurer at the end of its 1977 taxation year each of which is a specified Canadian asset of the insurer, within the meaning of subsection 2405(1) as it read in its application to the 1977 taxation year, in respect of which the aggregate value for the year in respect of the insurer's 1978 taxation year is equal to the amount, if any, by which

(i) the insurer's mean Canadian reserve liabilities for its 1978 taxation year in respect of its other than life insurance business

exceeds

(ii) the aggregate value for the year in respect of the insurer's 1978 taxation year of its insurance property of its other than life insurance business as determined for the purposes of clause 2400(1)(c)(ii)(C), shall be deemed to be insurance property of the other than life insurance business in the 1977 taxation year and any other such investment property that is a specified Canadian asset of the insurer shall be deemed to be insurance property of the life insurance business in the 1977 taxation year.

History: Paras. 2409(2)(c) substituted, (d), (e) added, by P.C. 1980-1484, s. 5, June 5, 1980, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 25, 1980, effective for 1978.

(3) For the purposes of applying the provisions of section 2402 in respect of the 1978 taxation year of a life insurer, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of subparagraphs 2402(a)(i) and (b)(ii), the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for its 1977 taxation year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada shall be deemed to be the amount referred to in subparagraph 2407(b)(ii);

(b) for the purposes of clause 2402(a)(ii)(A), the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for its 1977 taxation year in respect of a class of life insurance policies in Canada shall be deemed to have been determined on the basis of the rules applicable to its 1978 taxation year; and

(c) for the purposes of subparagraph 2402(b)(i), the amount deducted by the insurer under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(iv) of the Act in computing its income for the 1977 taxation year shall be deemed to be the amount that is the aggregate determined under paragraph 138(4.2)(b) of the Act in respect of the insurer.

(4) Except as expressly otherwise provided in this Part, where the expression "immediately preceding taxation year" occurs in a provision of this Part (other than section 2402) and refers to the insurer's 1987 taxation year, the provision shall be read as though the definitions in this Part applied to the insurer's 1987 taxation year.

2410. Prescribed amount — For the purpose of subsection 138(4.4) of the Act, the amount prescribed in respect of an insurer's cost or capital cost, as the case may be, of a property for a period in a taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$[(A \times B) \times C/365] - D$$

where

A is the average annual rate of interest determined by reference to rates of interest prescribed in section 4301 for the months or portion thereof in the period;

B is the amount, if any, by which, the average cost or average capital cost, as the case may be, of the property for the period exceeds the average amount of debt relating to the acquisition of the property outstanding during the period that bears a fair market interest rate and, for this purpose,

(a) the average cost or average capital cost, as the case may be, of a property is the total of

(i) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the cost or capital cost, as the case may be, if any, immediately before the beginning of the period in respect of the property, and

(ii) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the proportion of any expenditure incurred on any day in the period in respect of the cost or capital cost, as the case may be, of the property that

(A) the number of days from that day to the end of the period

is of

(B) the number of days in the period, and

(b) the average amount of debt relating to the acquisition of a property is the amount, if any, by which the total of

(i) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an indebtedness relating to the acquisition that was outstanding at the beginning of the period, and

(ii) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the proportion of an indebtedness relating to the acquisition that was incurred on any day in the period that

(A) the number of days from that day to the end of the period

is of

(B) the number of days in the period,

exceeds

(iii) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the proportion of an amount that was paid in respect of any indebtedness referred to in subparagraph (i) or (ii) on any day in the period (other than a payment of interest in respect thereof) that

(A) the number of days from that day to the end of the period

is of

(B) the number of days in the period;

C is the number of days in the period; and

D is the income derived from the property in the period by the person or partnership that owned the property.

B is the total value for the year of Canadian investment property (other than Canadian equity property) owned by the insurer at any time in the year;

Proposed Amendment — 2411(3)B

B is the total value for the year of Canadian investment property (other than Canadian equity property and any property described in paragraph (i) of the definition "Canadian investment property" in subsection 2400(1)) owned by the insurer at any time in the year;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (insurers), subsec. 1(1), will amend the description of B in subsec. 2411(3) to read as above, applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2004.

Technical Notes: Subsection 138(9) of the Income Tax Act requires resident multinational life insurers and non-resident insurers to include in computing their income from an insurance business carried on in Canada their gross investment revenue for the year derived from their designated insurance property.

Section 2411 prescribes an amount for the purpose of subsection 138(9) of the Act, which ensures that an insurer's net investment revenue from its designated insurance property is not less than the net investment revenue that would be determined from that property if the average rate of return on its designated assets of each class were equal to the average rate of return on all its investment property of that class. This prevents an insurer from understating its Canadian business income by designating assets in respect of its Canadian insurance business that produce lower investment returns than its assets not so designated.

Regulation 2411(3) sets out the computation of the minimum amount of net investment revenue that must be reported by an insurer for a taxation year. In general terms, the minimum net investment revenue is determined by multiplying the net investment revenue earned on the insurer's designated property by the ratio that the insurer's net investment revenue on all its investment property is of the value for the year of all its investment property. That ratio represents the average yield on the insurer's investment property. Multiplying the ratio by the value of the designated insurance property produces the average yield imputed to that property.

The descriptions of B and E in the formula in subsection 2411(3) of the Regulations are amended so that the total value of property described therein is determined without reference to any property described in paragraph (i) of the definition "Canadian investment property" in subsection 2400(1) of the Regulations. The description of H in that formula is similarly amended to exclude any property described in paragraph (e) of the definition "investment property" in subsection 2400(1). As a result, due or accrued income that arises from designated insurance property and that was assumed in computing the Canadian reserve liabilities will not be taken into account in determining the average yield.

C is the total value for the year of the insurer's Canadian investment property for the year (other than Canadian equity property and any property described in paragraph (i) of the definition "Canadian investment property" in subsection 2400(1)) that is designated insurance property of the insurer for the year;

D is the positive or negative amount, as the case may be, determined in respect of the insurer for the year under subsection (4) in respect of Canadian investment property that is Canadian equity property owned by the insurer at any time in the year;

E is the total value for the year of Canadian investment property that is Canadian equity property owned by the insurer at any time in the year;

Proposed Amendment — 2411(3)E

E is the total value for the year of Canadian investment property that is Canadian equity property (other than any property described in paragraph (i) of the definition "Canadian investment property" in subsection 2400(1)) owned by the insurer at any time in the year;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (insurers), subsec. 1(2), will amend the description of E in subsec. 2411(3) to read as above, applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2004.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 2411(3)B above.

F is the total value for the year of the insurer's Canadian investment property (other than any property described in paragraph (i) of the definition "Canadian investment property" in subsection 2400(1)) for the year that is Canadian equity property that is designated insurance property of the insurer for the year;

G is the positive or negative amount, as the case may be, determined in respect of the insurer for the year under subsection (4) in respect of foreign investment property owned by the insurer at any time in the year;

G.1 is the positive or negative amount, as the case may be, determined in respect of the insurer for the year under subsection (4.1) in respect of foreign investment property disposed of by the insurer in the year or a preceding taxation year;

H is the total value for the year of foreign investment property owned by the insurer at any time in the year; and

H is the total value for the year of foreign investment property (other than any property described in paragraph (e) of the definition "investment property" in subsection 2400(1)) owned by the insurer at any time in the year; and

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (insurers), subsec. 1(3), will amend the description of H in subsec. 2411(3) to read as above, applicable to taxation years that end after February 27, 2004.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 2411(3)B above.

J is the total value for the year of the insurer's foreign investment property (other than any property described in paragraph (e) of the definition "investment property" in subsection 2400(1)) that is designated insurance property of the insurer for the year.

History: The portion of subsec. 2411(3) before the description of A amended, the descriptions of A.1 and G.1 added, by P.C. 2000-1714, November 30, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 20, 2000, subsecs. 6(5), (6.1), and (8.1), applicable to 1995 et seq.

The portion of para. 2411(3)(a) before the formula and the descriptions of C, F and J amended by the said P.C. 2000-1714, subsecs. 6(6)–(8) and (9), applicable to 1999 et seq.

where

A is the total of the following amounts determined in respect of the property for the year, or that would be determined in respect of the property for the year if the property were designated insurance property of the insurer in respect of an insurance business in Canada for each taxation year in which the property was held by the insurer:

(a) the insurer's gross investment revenue for the year (other than taxable dividends that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's taxable income for the year under subsection 138(6) of the Act) derived from the property,

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 2411(4)A(a)

Letter from Dept. of Finance, February 11, 2003:

Dear [xxx]

This is in reply to your letter dated January 8, 2003 concerning subsection 2411(4) of the Income Tax Regulations (the Regulations).

Subsection 138(9) of the Income Tax Act (the Act) requires a resident multinational life insurer or a non-resident insurer to include in its income from an insurance business carried on in Canada its gross investment revenue for the year derived from its designated insurance property. Section 2411 of the Regulations prescribes an amount for this purpose that ensures that the insurer's net investment revenue from its designated insurance property is not less than the net investment revenue that would be determined if the average rate of return on its designated investment property of each class were equal to the average rate of return on all its investment property of that class. This prevents an insurer from understating its Canadian business income by designating investment property in respect of its Canadian insurance business that produce lower investments returns than its investment property that has not been designated.

Subsection 2411(4) of the Regulations provides a formula to determine an insurer's net investment revenue from investment property of a particular class. In determining net investment revenue, the gross investment revenue from the property is included, but taxable dividends that would be deductible under 138(6) of the Act are excluded. Subsection 138(6) of the Act provides that, in computing the taxable income of a life insurer, taxable dividends received from taxable Canadian corporations can be deducted to the extent they are included in the insurer's income. That subsection does not apply to non-resident non-life insurers, who instead rely on section 112 of the Act to obtain a deduction from income in respect of certain taxable dividends received from taxable Canadian corporations in calculating their taxable income.

In your letter you have recommended that subsection 2411(4) of the Regulations be amended to exclude, from the insurer's gross investment revenue for the year, the taxable dividends that are deductible under section 112 of the Act as well as those taxable dividends that are deductible under subsection 138(6) of the Act from the insurer's income in computing the insurer's taxable income for the year. Without this amendment, gross investment revenue of non-resident non-life insurers would inappropriately include taxable dividends that are deductible under section 112 of the Act rather than subsection 138(6) of the Act from the insurer's income in computing the insurer's taxable income for the year.

We agree with your recommendation and, consequently, we propose to recommend to the Minister of Finance that paragraph 2411(4)A of the Regulations be amended to exclude from the insurer's gross investment revenue for the year the taxable dividends deductible under section 112 of the Act from the insurer's income in computing the insurer's taxable income for the year.

Further, we intend to recommend that the recommended amendments apply to taxation years that end after 2001.

If the recommendation is accepted we will begin the process of submitting the amendments to the Income Tax Regulations for approval and promulgation.

Thank you for bringing this matter to our attention.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein
Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

(b) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 138(4)(b) and (c) of the Act in respect of the property,

(c) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's taxable capital gains for the year from the disposition of the property,

(d) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's gains for the year from the disposition of the property (other than a Canada security or capital property),

(e) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year under subsection 13(1) of the Act in respect of the property,

(f) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 12(1)(d), (d.1) or (i) of the Act in respect of the property,

(g) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year under subsection 59(3.2) or (3.3) of the Act in respect of the property,

(h) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year under subsection 14(1) of the Act in respect of the property, and

(i) all other amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year in respect of the property; and

B is the aggregate of the following amounts determined in respect of the property for the year or that would be determined in respect of the property for the year if it were insurance property of the insurer for the year in respect of an insurance business in Canada:

(a) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's allowable capital losses for the year from the disposition of the property,

(b) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's losses for the year from the disposition of the property (other than a Canada security or capital property),

(c) all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 138(3)(b) and (d) of the Act in respect of the property,

(d) all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 20(1)(a) of the Act in respect of the capital cost of the property or under paragraphs 20(1)(c) and (d) of the Act in respect of interest paid or payable on borrowed money used to acquire the property,

(e) where any such property is rental property or leasing property (within the meaning assigned by subsections 1100(14) and (17), respectively), all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year in respect of expenses directly related to the earning of rental income derived from the property,

(f) all amounts that were or would be deductible by the insurer in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 20(1)(l), (l.1) or (p) of the Act as reserve or bad debt in respect of the property,

(g) all amounts that were deducted or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year under section 66, 66.1, 66.2 or 66.4 of the Act in respect of the property,

(h) all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 20(1)(b) of the Act in respect of the property, and

(i) all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year in respect of other expenses directly related to the earning of gross investment revenue derived from the property.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 2411(4)

(4) The positive or negative amount, as the case may be, determined under this subsection in respect of an insurer for a taxation year in respect of property shall be the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the total of the following amounts determined in respect of the property for the year, or that would be determined in respect of the property for the year if it were insurance property of the insurer for the year in respect of an insurance business in Canada and if it had been insurance property of the insurer in respect of an insurance business in Canada for each preceding taxation year in which it was held by the insurer:

(a) the insurer's gross investment revenue for the year (other than taxable dividends that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's taxable income for the year under subsection 138(6) of the Act) derived from the property,

(b) [Proposed repeal]

(c) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's taxable capital gains for the year from the disposition of the property,

(c.1) all amounts that were or would be included under paragraph 142.4(5)(e) of the Act in respect of the property in computing the insurer's income for the year,

(d) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year as gains from the disposition of such of the property as is not capital property or a specified debt obligation (as defined in subsection 142.2(1) of the Act),

(e) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year under subsection 13(1) of the Act in respect of the property,

(f) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 12(1)(d), (d.1) or (i) of the Act in respect of the property,

(g) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year under subsection 59(3.2) or (3.3) of the Act in respect of the property,

(h) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's income for the year under subsection 14(1) of the Act in respect of the property, and

B is the total of the following amounts determined in respect of the property for the year, or that would be determined in respect of the property for the year if it were insurance property of the insurer for the year in respect of an insurance business in Canada and if it had been insurance property of the insurer in respect of an insurance business in Canada for each preceding taxation year in which it was held by the insurer:

(a) all amounts that were or would be included in computing the insurer's allowable capital losses for the year from the disposition of the property,

(a.1) all amounts that were or would be deductible under paragraph 142.4(5)(f) of the Act in respect of the property in computing the insurer's income for the year,

(b) all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year as losses from the disposition of such of the property as is not capital property or a specified debt obligation (as defined in subsection 142.2(1) of the Act),

(c) [Proposed repeal]

(d) all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 20(1)(a) of the Act in respect of the capital cost of the property or under paragraphs 20(1)(c) and (d) of the Act in respect of interest paid or payable on borrowed money used to acquire the property,

(e) where any such property is rental property or leasing property (within the meaning assigned by subsections 1100(14) and (17), respectively), all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year in respect of expenses directly related to the earning of rental income derived from the property,

(f) all amounts that were or would be deductible by the insurer in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 20(1)(l), (l.1) or (p) of the Act as reserve or bad debt in respect of the property,

(g) all amounts that were deducted or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year under section 66, 66.1, 66.2 or 66.4 of the Act in respect of the property,

(h) all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year under paragraph 20(1)(b) of the Act in respect of the property, and

(i) all amounts that were or would be deductible in computing the insurer's income for the year in respect of other expenses directly related to the earning of gross investment revenue derived from the property.

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsecs. 4(7) to (13), will amend the opening words of the descriptions of A and B in subsec. 2411(4), will amend paras. (d) and (i) of the description of A and (b) of the description of B, will add paras. (c.1) to the description of A and (a.1) to the description of B, and will repeal paras. (b) of the description of A and (c) of the description of B; the opening words of the descriptions of A and B applicable to taxation years that end after June 1, 1995, paras. (b) and (i) of the description of A and para. (c) of the description of B applicable to taxation years that begin after February 22, 1994, paras. (d) and (c.1) to the description of A and paras. (a.1) and (b) to the description of B, applicable to dispositions of property that occur after February 22, 1994.

Technical Notes: Subsection 2411(4) provides that an insurer's net investment revenue from property of a particular class is determined by the formula "A - B", where A is the total of the gross investment revenue from the property, gains from the disposition of the property and other income inclusions in respect of the property, and B is losses from the property and other deductions in respect of the property. The amounts included in A and B in respect of property that has not been designated as property of an insurance business carried on by the insurer in Canada are determined as if the property had been so designated. Several changes are made to the determination of amounts A and B.

The descriptions of both A and B are amended to clarify that, in determining the amounts to be taken into account in respect of property that has not been designated, the property is to be treated as if it had been designated for each year from the time it was acquired.

The other changes to A are as follows:

- Paragraph (b) is repealed. This paragraph includes in A the amounts included in the insurer's income under paragraphs 138(4)(b) and (c) of the Act (profit on disposition of a Canada security, and amortization of discount on such a security). This amendment is consequential on the repeal of paragraphs 138(4)(b) and (c).
- New paragraph (c.1) includes in A the amounts that are included in the insurer's income by subsection 142.4(5) of the Act. That subsection includes in income the gain from the disposition of specified debt obligations after February 22, 1994 where the gain is not required to be amortized.
- Paragraph (d), which includes certain non-capital gains in A, is amended to replace the exclusion for gains from Canada securities by an exclusion for gains from specified debt obligations. Those gains are dealt with, in some cases, by new paragraph (c.1) and in other cases by new subsection 2411(4.1).
- Paragraph (i), which includes in A all amounts that are included in the insurer's income in respect of the property, but that are not specifically referred to in the preceding paragraphs, is amended so that it does not apply to amounts that are included in income by subsection 142.4(4) of the Act. New subsection 2411(4.1), in conjunction with amendments to subsections 2411(1) and (3), provides for subsection 142.4(4) amounts to be taken into account.

The changes to B, in addition to the change described [to A] above, are as follows:

- New paragraph (a.1) includes in B the amounts that are deductible under subsection 142.4(5) of the Act in computing the insurer's income. That subsection provides a deduction for the loss from the disposition of specified debt obligations after February 22, 1994 where the loss is not required to be amortized.
- Paragraph (b), which includes certain non-capital losses in B, is amended to replace the exclusion for losses from Canada securities by an exclusion for losses from specified debt obligations. Those losses are dealt with, in some cases, by new paragraph (a.1) and in other cases by new subsection 2411(4.1).
- Paragraph (c) is repealed. This paragraph includes in B the amounts that are deductible under paragraphs 138(3)(b) and (d) of the Act (loss on disposition of a Canada security, and amortization of premium on such a security). This amendment is consequential on the repeal of paragraphs 138(3)(b) and (d).

History: The opening words of the description of A in subsec. 2411(4) amended by P.C. 2000-1714, November 30, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 20, 2000, subsec. 6(11), applicable to 1999 et seq. By subsec. 6(10), for taxation years ending after June 1, 1995 to 1999, read:

> A is the total of the following amounts determined in respect of the property for the year, or that would be determined in respect of the property for the year if it were insurance property of the insurer for the year in respect of an insurance business in Canada and if it had been insurance property of the insurer in respect of an insurance business in Canada for each preceding taxation year in which it was held by the insurer:

(4.1) The positive or negative amount, as the case may be, determined under this subsection in respect of an insurer for a taxation year in respect of property disposed of by the insurer in the year or a preceding taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the total of the amounts included under paragraphs 142.4(4)(a) and (c) of the Act in the insurer's income for the year in respect of the property, or that would be so included if the property were designated insurance property of the insurer in respect of an insurance business in Canada for each taxation year in which it was held by the insurer; and

B is the total of the amounts deductible under paragraphs 142.4(4)(b) and (d) of the Act in respect of the property in computing the insurer's income for the year, or that would be so deductible if the property were designated insurance property of the insurer in respect of an insurance business in Canada for each taxation year in which it was held by the insurer.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

History: Subsec. 2411(4.1) added by P.C. 2000-1714, November 30, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 20, 2000, subsecs. 6(12), (13), the portion before the descriptions of A and B applicable to 1995 et seq., and the descriptions of A and B applicable to 1999 et seq. For the 1995 to 1998 taxation years read A and B as:

A is the total of the amounts included under paragraphs 142.4(4)(a) and (c) of the Act in the insurer's income for the year in respect of the property, or that would be so included if the property had been insurance property of the insurer in respect of an insurance business in Canada for each taxation year in which it was held by the insurer; and

B is the total of the amounts deductible under paragraphs 142.4(4)(b) and (d) of the Act in respect of the property in computing the insurer's income for the year, or that would be so deductible if the property had been insurance property of the insurer in respect of an insurance business in Canada for each taxation year in which it was held by the insurer.

(5) For the purposes of subsection (4), a property that has not been designated by the insurer for the year pursuant to subsection 2400(1) as investment property used by it in the year in, or held by it in the year in the course of, carrying on an insurance business in Canada shall be deemed to be a property used by it in the year in, or held by it in the year in the course of, carrying on that insurance business in respect of which the property has been reported by the insurer in its annual report for the year to the relevant authority or, where the insurer was throughout the year subject to the supervision of the relevant authority but was not required to file an annual report with the relevant authority for the year, that insurance business in respect of which the property would have been reported by the insurer in an annual report for the year if it had been so required by the relevant authority.

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 4(15), will repeal subsec. 2411(5), applicable to taxation years that begin after February 22, 1994.

Technical Notes: Where property has not been designated as property used or held in a Canadian insurance business, subsection 2411(4) applies on the assumption that the property had been so designated. Subsection 2411(5) contains an additional rule for this purpose. It provides that the property is to be considered property of the business in respect of which it is reported in the insurer's annual report. This rule was required because of the special rules for the tax treatment of debt obligations (referred to as Canada securities) that are property of a life insurance business. Subsection 2411(5) is repealed, for taxation years beginning after February 22, 1994, as a consequence of the repeal of the special rules for Canada securities.

(6) For the purposes of subsection (1), the balance of an insurer's cumulative excess account at the end of a taxation year shall be determined as the amount, if any, by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a positive amount, if any, determined in respect of each of such of its seven immediately preceding taxation years that began after June 17, 1987 and ended after 1987 by the formula where A and B are the amounts determined under subsection (1) in respect of the insurer for such immediately preceding taxation year,

exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount claimed by the insurer under subsection (1) in respect of its cumulative excess account for a preceding taxation year that can be attributed to a positive amount determined under paragraph (a) for that year and, for the purpose of this paragraph, a positive amount determined in respect of a taxation year shall be deemed to have been claimed before a positive amount determined in respect of any subsequent taxation year.

History: Subsec. 2411(7) repealed by P.C. 2000-1714, November 30, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 20, 2000, subsec. 6(14), applicable to 1999 et seq.

(8) For the purposes of this section, "foreign investment property" of an insurer means investment property of the insurer (unless the insurer is a non-resident insurer and it is established by the insurer that the investment property is not effectively connected with its Canadian insurance businesses) that is not Canadian investment property of the insurer.

2412. (1) Mean Canadian investment fund — For the purposes of this Part, the mean Canadian investment fund of an insurer for a particular taxation year is the total of

(a) 50% of the total of

(i) its Canadian investment fund at the end of the particular year, and

(ii) either,

(A) if the insurer is resident in Canada, its Canadian investment fund at the end of its preceding taxation year, or

(B) if the insurer is non-resident, its Canadian investment fund at the end of its preceding taxation year determined as if its attributed surplus for that preceding taxation year were its attributed surplus for the particular year, and

(b) the insurer's cash-flow adjustment for the particular year.

(2) Cash-flow adjustment — An insurer's cash-flow adjustment for a taxation year is the amount equal to

(a) if the year ended two months or more after it began, the positive or negative amount determined by the formula

$$50\% \times (A - B/C)$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined under subsection (3) in respect of a full month in the year (or in respect of the part of the month that ends after the last full month in the year, if that part is greater than 15 days),

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined in respect of a full month in the year (or in respect of the part of the month that ends after the last full month in the year, if that part is greater than 15 days) by the formula

$$D \times (1 + 2E)$$

where

D is the amount determined under subsection (3) in respect of the month or part of the month, and

E is the number of months in the year that ended before the beginning of the month or part of the month, and

C is the number of full months in the year (plus 1, if the year ends more than 15 days after the end of the last full month in the year); and

(b) if the year ended less than two months after it began, nil.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(3) Amounts paid and received — The amount determined in respect of an insurer for a particular month or part of a month (in this subsection referred to as a "month") in a taxation year is the positive or negative amount determined by the formula

$$G - H$$

where

G is the total of all amounts each of which is

(a) the amount of a premium or consideration received by the insurer in the month in respect of a contract of insurance (including a settlement annuity) entered into in the course of carrying on its insurance businesses in Canada,

(b) an amount received by the insurer in the month in respect of interest on or a repayment in respect of a policy loan made under a life insurance policy in Canada, or

(c) an amount received by the insurer in the month in respect of reinsurance (other than reinsurance undertaken to effect a transfer of a business in respect of which subsection 138(11.5), (11.92) or (11.94) of the Act applies) arising in the course of carrying on its insurance businesses in Canada; and

H is the total of all amounts each of which is

(a) the amount of a claim or benefit (including a payment under an annuity or settlement annuity, a payment of a policy dividend and an amount paid on a lapsed or terminated policy), a refund of premiums, a premium or a commission paid by the insurer in the month under a contract of insurance in the course of carrying on its insurance businesses in Canada,

(b) the amount of a policy loan made by the insurer in the month under a life insurance policy in Canada, or

(c) an amount paid by the insurer in the month in respect of reinsurance (other than reinsurance undertaken to effect a transfer of a business in respect of which subsection 138(11.5), (11.92) or (11.94) of the Act applies) in the course of carrying on its insurance businesses in Canada.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(4) [Meaning of "month"] — A reference to a "month" in this section means

(a) if an insurer's taxation year does not begin on the first day of a calendar month and the insurer elects to have this paragraph apply for the year, the period beginning on the day in a calendar month that has the same calendar number as the particular day on which the taxation year began and ending

(i) on the day immediately before the day in the next calendar month that has the same calendar number as the particular day, or

(ii) if the next calendar month does not have a day that has the same calendar number as the particular day, the last day of that next calendar month; and

(b) in any other case, a calendar month.

PART XXV — SPECIAL T1 TAX TABLE FOR INDIVIDUALS

History: Part XXV (ss. 2500, 2501) was added by P.C. 1981-1501, June 4, 1981, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 24, 1981, applicable to 1979 et seq. except that in its application to the 1979 taxation year all that portion of subsection 2500(2) following subparagraph (b)(ii) thereof does not apply and shall be read as follows:

minus the aggregate of

(iii) where applicable, an amount that is the aggregate of

(A) the deduction calculated under subsection 120(2) of the Act, and

(B) the amount by which the amount referred to in clause (A) is increased by virtue of section 30 of the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements and Established Programs Financing Act, 1977, and

(iv) a deduction from the tax under subparagraph (i), or that tax plus the additional tax under subparagraph (ii), as the case may be, as computed under subsection 120(3.1) of the Act, calculated as if the amount taxable is equal to the average of the highest and lowest amounts taxable in the range and, where the resulting tax payable is not a multiple of one dollar, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of one dollar or, if it is equidistant from two such multiples, to the higher thereof.

2500. (1) For the purposes of subsection 117(6) of the Act,

(a) $55,605, adjusted for each taxation year after 1989 in the manner set out in subsection 117.1(1) of the Act, is the prescribed amount; and

(b) an "individual of a prescribed class" for a taxation year is

(i) an estate or trust,

(ii) an individual who was a non-resident person throughout the year, other than an individual

(A) whose amount taxable for the year was from

(I) the duties of an office or employment performed in one province,

(II) the carrying on of a business in one province, or

(III) any combination of sources described in subclauses (I) and (II) if all of those sources are located in one province, and

(B) who was not subject to any other provision of this subsection,

(iii) an individual who, on the last day of the year, resided in a province and had income for the year from a business with a permanent establishment, as defined in subsection 2600(2), outside the province,

(iv) an individual whose tax otherwise payable for the year under Part I of the Act is reduced by virtue of any of the following provisions of the Act:

(A) subsection 117(7),

(B) section 121,

(C) section 122.3, or

(D) section 126,

(v) an individual who makes an election in respect of the year under subsection 119(1) of the Act,

(vi) an individual eligible to pay tax at a reduced rate pursuant to subsection 40(7) of the Income Tax Application Rules on a payment made to him in the year, or

(vii) an individual who makes an election in respect of the year under subsection 110.4(2) of the Act.

(2) For the purposes of subsection 117(6) of the Act, a table of the tax payable for a taxation year shall be prepared in accordance with the following rules:

(a) the table shall be divided into ranges of amounts taxable not exceeding $10 each and shall specify the tax payable in respect of each range;

(b) the tax payable on an amount taxable within any range referred to in paragraph (a) shall be equal to the tax payable thereon for the year computed under subsection 117(2) of the Act and, where applicable, adjusted annually pursuant to section 117.1 of the Act; and

(c) the tax payable referred to in paragraph (b) shall be calculated as if the amount taxable is equal to the average of the highest and lowest amounts taxable in the range and, where the resulting tax payable is not a multiple of one dollar, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of one dollar or, if it is equidistant from two such multiples, to the higher thereof.

(3) For the purposes of subsection 117(6) of the Act, a table of the additional tax for income not earned in a province, the individual surtax and the refundable Quebec abatement for a taxation year shall be prepared in accordance with the following rules:

(a) the table shall be divided into ranges of tax payable not exceeding $2 each and shall specify, in respect of each range,

(i) the individual surtax payable,

(ii) where applicable, the additional tax for income not earned in a province, and

(iii) where applicable, the refundable Quebec abatement, on every amount taxable within each such range;

(b) the tax payable referred to in paragraph (a) is the tax payable determined by the table prepared pursuant to subsection (2) less the allowable non-refundable credits under sections 118 to 118.9 of the Act;

(c) the individual surtax in respect of an amount of tax payable within any range referred to in paragraph (a) shall be the amount that is equal to the surtax thereon computed under subsection 180.1(1) of the Act;

(d) the additional tax for income not earned in a province in respect of an amount of tax payable within any range referred to in paragraph (a) shall be the amount that is equal to the tax determined thereon under subsection 120(1) of the Act;

(e) the refundable Quebec abatement in respect of an amount of tax payable within any range referred to in paragraph (a) shall be the amount that is equal to the abatement determined under subsection 120(2) of the Act and in accordance with section 27 of the Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act;

(f) the amount referred to in paragraph (c) or (d) shall be calculated as if the tax payable is equal to the average of the highest and lowest amounts in the range and, where the resulting amount is not a multiple of one dollar, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of one dollar or, if it is equidistant from two such multiples, to the higher thereof; and

(g) the amount referred to in paragraph (e) shall be calculated as if the tax payable is equal to the average of the highest and lowest amounts in the range and, where the resulting amount is not a multiple of one tenth of one dollar, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of one tenth of one dollar or, if it is equidistant from two such multiples, to the higher thereof.

PART XXVI — INCOME EARNED IN PROVINCE BY AN INDIVIDUAL

History: Part XXVI was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

2600. Interpretation — (1) For the purposes of paragraph 120(4)(a) [120(4)"income earned in the year in a province"] of the Act, "income earned in the year in a province" by an individual means the aggregate of his incomes earned in the taxation year in each province, as determined in accordance with this Part.

History: Subsec. 2600(1) substituted by P.C. 1981-808, subsec. 3(1), March 26, 1981, Canada Gazette, Part II, April 8, 1981, applicable to 1980 et seq.

Subsec. 2600(1) substituted by P.C. 1978-3101, subsec. 3(1), October 12, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 25, 1978, applicable to 1978 et seq.

(2) In this Part, "permanent establishment" means a fixed place of business of the individual including an office, a branch, a mine, an oil well, a farm, a timberland, a factory, a workshop or a warehouse, and

(a) where an individual carries on business through an employee or agent, established in a particular place, who has general authority to contract for his employer or principal or who has a stock of merchandise owned by his employer or principal from which he regularly fills orders which he receives, the individual shall be deemed to have a permanent establishment in that place;

(b) where an individual uses substantial machinery or equipment in a particular place at any time in a taxation year he shall be deemed to have a permanent establishment in that place; and

(c) the fact that an individual has business dealings through a commission agent, broker, or other independent agent or maintains an office solely for the purchase of merchandise, shall not of itself be held to mean that the individual has a permanent establishment.

Subsec. 2600(3) substituted by P.C. 1978-3101, subsec. 3(2), October 12, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 25, 1978, applicable to 1978 et seq.

Definitions [Reg. 2600]: "business", "employee", "employer", "individual", "office" — ITA 248(1); "permanent establishment" — Reg. 2600(2); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "taxation year" — ITA 249.

2601. Residents of Canada — (1) Where an individual resided in a particular province on the last day of a taxation year and had no income for the year from a business with a permanent establishment outside the province, his income earned in the taxation year in the province is his income for the year.

(2) Where an individual resided in a particular province on the last day of a taxation year and had income for the year from a business with a permanent establishment outside the province, his income earned in the taxation year in the province is the amount, if any, by which

(a) his income for the year

exceeds

(b) the aggregate of his income for the year from carrying on business earned in each other province and each country other than Canada determined as hereinafter set forth in this Part.

(3) Where an individual, who resided in Canada on the last day of a taxation year and who carried on business in a particular province at any time in the year, did not reside in the province on the last day of the year, his income earned in the taxation year in the province is his income for the year from carrying on business earned in the province, determined as hereinafter set forth in this Part.

(4) Where an individual resided in Canada on the last day of a taxation year and carried on business in another country at any time in the year, his income earned in the taxation year in that other country is his income for the year from carrying on business earned in the other country, determined as hereinafter set forth in this Part.

(5) In this section, a reference to the "last day of a taxation year" is deemed to be a reference to

(a) the "last day in the year on which the individual resided in Canada", in the case of an individual who resided in Canada at any time in the year but ceased to reside in Canada before the end of the year; and

(b) the "day in the year on which the individual would have ceased to reside in Canada, if the Act were read without reference to paragraphs 250(1)(d.1) to (f) of the Act,", in the case of a particular individual described in paragraph 250(1)(d.1) of the Act, or of another individual who is a spouse, common-law partner or child of the particular individual, who

(i) resided in Canada at any time in the year,

(ii) would have ceased to reside in Canada before the end of the year, if the Act were read without reference to paragraphs 250(1)(d.1) to (f) of the Act, and

(iii) is, pursuant to any of paragraphs 250(1)(d.1) to (f) of the Act, deemed to have been a resident of Canada throughout the year.

(2) Where the aggregate of the amounts of an individual's income as determined under subsection (1) for all provinces for a taxation year exceeds the aggregate of the amounts of his income described in subparagraphs 115(1)(a)(i) and (ii) of the Act, the amount of his income earned in the taxation year in a particular province shall be that proportion of his income so described that the amount of his income earned in the taxation year in the province as determined under subsection (1) is of the aggregate of all such amounts.

Definitions [Reg. 2602]: "amount", "business" — ITA 248(1); "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "employment", "individual", "office" — ITA 248(1); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "taxable income earned in Canada" — ITA 248(1); "taxation year" — ITA 249.

2603. Income from business — (1) Where, in a taxation year, an individual had a permanent establishment in a particular province or a country other than Canada and had no permanent establishment outside that province or country, the whole of his income from carrying on business for the year shall be deemed to have been earned therein.

(2) Where, in a taxation year, an individual had no permanent establishment in a particular province or country other than Canada, no part of his income for the year from carrying on business shall be deemed to have been earned therein.

(3) Except as otherwise provided, where, in a taxation year, an individual had a permanent establishment in a particular province or country other than Canada and a permanent establishment outside that province or country, the amount of his income for the year from carrying on business that shall be deemed to have been earned in the province or country is ½ the aggregate of

(a) that proportion of his income for the year from carrying on business that the gross revenue for the fiscal period ending in the year reasonably attributable to the permanent establishment in the province or country is of his total gross revenue for that period from the business; and

(b) that proportion of his income for the year from carrying on business that the aggregate of the salaries and wages paid in the fiscal period ending in the year to employees of the permanent establishment in the province or country is of the aggregate of all salaries and wages paid in that period to employees of the business.

(4) For the purpose of determining the gross revenue for the year reasonably attributable to the permanent establishment in a particular province or country other than Canada within the meaning of paragraph (3)(a), the following rules shall apply:

(a) where the destination of a shipment of merchandise to a customer to whom the merchandise is sold is in the particular province or country, the gross revenue derived therefrom shall be attributable to the permanent establishment in the province or country;

(b) except as provided in paragraph (c), where the destination of a shipment of merchandise to a customer to whom the merchandise is sold is in a province or country other than Canada in which the taxpayer has no permanent establishment, if the person negotiating the sale may reasonably be regarded as being attached to the permanent establishment in the particular province or country, the gross revenue derived therefrom shall be attributable to that permanent establishment;

(c) where the destination of a shipment of merchandise to a customer to whom the merchandise is sold is in a country other than Canada in which the taxpayer has no permanent establishment,

(i) if the merchandise was produced or manufactured, or produced and manufactured, entirely in the particular province by the taxpayer, the gross revenue derived therefrom shall be attributable to the permanent establishment in the province, or

(ii) if the merchandise was produced or manufactured, or produced and manufactured, partly in the particular province and partly in another place by the taxpayer, the gross revenue derived therefrom attributable to the permanent establishment in the province shall be that proportion thereof that the salaries and wages paid in the year to employees of the permanent establishment in the province where the merchandise was partly produced or manufactured (or partly produced and manufactured) is of the aggregate of the salaries and wages paid in the year to employees of the permanent establishments where the merchandise was produced or manufactured (or produced and manufactured);

(d) where a customer to whom merchandise is sold instructs that shipment be made to some other person and the customer's office with which the sale was negotiated is located in the particular province or country, the gross revenue derived therefrom shall be attributable to the permanent establishment in the province or country;

(e) except as provided in paragraph (f), where a customer to whom merchandise is sold instructs that shipment be made to some other person and the customer's office with which the sale was negotiated is located in a province or country other than Canada in which the taxpayer has no permanent establishment, if the person negotiating the sale may reasonably be regarded as being attached to the permanent establishment in the particular province or country, the gross revenue derived therefrom shall be attributable to that permanent establishment;

(f) where a customer to whom merchandise is sold instructs that shipment be made to some other person and the customer's office with which the sale was negotiated is located in a country other than Canada in which the taxpayer has no permanent establishment,

(i) if the merchandise was produced or manufactured, or produced and manufactured, entirely in the particular province by the taxpayer, the gross revenue derived therefrom shall be attributable to the permanent establishment in the province, or

(ii) if the merchandise was produced or manufactured, or produced and manufactured, partly in the particular province and partly in another place by the taxpayer, the gross revenue derived therefrom attributable to the permanent establishment in the province shall be that proportion thereof that the salaries and wages paid in the year to employees of the permanent establishment in the province where the merchandise was partly produced or manufactured (or partly produced and manufactured) is of the aggregate of the salaries and wages paid in the year to employees of the permanent establishments where the merchandise was produced or manufactured (or produced and manufactured);

(g) where gross revenue is derived from services rendered in the particular province or country, the gross revenue shall be attributable to the permanent establishment in the province or country;

(h) where gross revenue is derived from services rendered in a province or country other than Canada in which the taxpayer has no permanent establishment, if the person negotiating the contract may reasonably be regarded as being attached to the permanent establishment of the taxpayer in the particular province or country, the gross revenue shall be attributable to that permanent establishment;

(i) where standing timber or the right to cut standing timber is sold and the timber limit on which the timber is standing is in the particular province or country, the gross revenue from such sale shall be attributable to the permanent establishment of the taxpayer in the province or country; and

(j) where land is a permanent establishment of the taxpayer in the particular province, the gross revenue which arises from leasing the land shall be attributable to that permanent establishment.

(5) Where an individual pays a fee to another person under an agreement pursuant to which that other person or employees of that other person perform services for the individual that would normally be performed by employees of the individual, the fee so paid shall be deemed to be salary paid by the individual and that part of the fee that may reasonably be regarded as payment in respect of services rendered at a particular permanent establishment of the individual shall be deemed to be salary paid to an employee of that permanent establishment.

(6) For the purposes of subsection (5), a fee does not include a commission paid to a person who is not an employee of the individual.

2604. Bus and truck operators — Notwithstanding subsections 2603(3) and (4), the amount of income that shall be deemed to have been earned in a particular province or country other than Canada by an individual from carrying on the business of transportation of goods or passengers (other than by the operation of a railway, ships or an airline service) is ½ of the aggregate of

(a) that proportion of his income therefrom for the year that the number of miles travelled by his vehicles in the province or country in the fiscal period ending in the year is of the total number of miles travelled by his vehicles in that period; and

(b) that proportion of his income therefrom for the year that the aggregate of salaries and wages paid in the fiscal period ending in the year to employees of the permanent establishment in the province or country is of the aggregate of all salaries and wages paid in that period to employees of the business.

Definitions [Reg. 2604]: "amount" — ITA 248(1); "business" — Reg. 2606(3)(a); "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "employee" — ITA 248(1); "fiscal period" — ITA 249.1; "income for the year from carrying on business" — Reg. 2606(1), 2606(3)(b); "individual" — ITA 248(1); "permanent establishment" — Reg. 2600(2); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "salaries and wages paid in the year" — Reg. 2606(3)(c); "total gross revenue for the year" — Reg. 2606(3)(d).

2605. More than one business — Where an individual operates more than one business, the provisions of sections 2603 and 2604 shall be applied in respect of each business and the amount of income for the year from carrying on business earned in a particular province or country in the year is the aggregate of the amounts so determined.

Definitions [Reg. 2605]: "amount" — ITA 248(1); "business" — Reg. 2606(3)(a); "income for the year from carrying on business" — Reg. 2606(1), 2606(3)(b); "individual" — ITA 248(1); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "salaries and wages paid in the year" — Reg. 2606(3)(c); "total gross revenue for the year" — Reg. 2606(3)(d).

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-206R: Separate businesses.

2606. Limitations of business income — (1) Where, in the case of an individual to whom section 2601 applies, the aggregate of the amounts otherwise determined as his income for the taxation year from carrying on business earned in all provinces and countries other than Canada is greater than his income for the year, his income for the year from carrying on business earned in a particular province or country shall be deemed to be that proportion of his income for the year that

(a) his income for the year from carrying on business in the province or country as otherwise determined,

is of

(b) that aggregate.

(2) Where section 114 of the Act is applicable for the purpose of determining the taxable income of an individual for the taxation year, a reference in subsection (1) to "his income for the taxation year" shall be construed as a reference to the amount of his income as determined for the purposes of section 114 of the Act and, for the purpose of this Part, his income for the taxation year from carrying on a business in any place shall be computed by reference only to a business the income from which is included in computing his taxable income for the purposes of section 114 of the Act.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 2606(1), (2)

(1) Limitations of business income — If, in the case of an individual to whom section 2601, applies, the total of the amounts otherwise determined as the individual's income for a taxation year from carrying on business earned in all provinces and countries other than Canada is greater that the individual's income for the year, the individual's income for the year from carrying on business earned in a particular province or country is deemed to be that proportion of the individual's income for the year that

(a) the individual's income for the year from carrying on business in the province or country as otherwise determined,

is of

(b) that total.

(2) [Part-year residents] — If section 114 of the Act applies in respect of an individual for a taxation year, the reference in subsection (1) to "the individual's income for a taxation year" shall be read as a reference to the amount of the individual's taxable income for the year and, for the purpose of this Part, the individual's income for the year from carrying on a business in any place shall be computed by reference only to a business the income from which is included in computing the individual's taxable income for the year.

Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (taxpayer migration), s. 2, will amend the portion of Reg. 2606 before subsec. (3) to read as above, applicable to 1998 et seq.

Technical Notes: Part XXVI of the Income Tax Regulations sets out rules for computing an individual's income earned in a taxation year in a particular province.

Subsection 2606(1) of the Regulations provides for an adjustment to an individual's income earned in a particular province where the sum of the individual's incomes earned in each province and in countries other than Canada exceeds the individual's income for the year. Subsection 2606(2) of the Regulations provides a further adjustment for the purposes of subsection (1) where the individual is non-resident for part of a taxation year only.

Subsection 2606(2) of the Regulations is amended, with application to the 1998 and subsequent taxation years, to reflect amendments to section 114 of the Act (see the commentary on section 114 for further details). In addition, subsections 2606(1) and (2) are amended to update their language.

(3) For the purposes of sections 2603 to 2605, where an individual's taxable income for the taxation year is computed in accordance with section 115 of the Act

(a) a reference to a "business" shall be deemed to refer only to a business that was wholly or partly carried on in Canada;

(b) a reference to "income for the year from carrying on business" shall be deemed to refer only to income for the year from carrying on a business in Canada as determined for the purposes of section 115 of the Act;

(c) a reference to "salaries and wages paid in the year" shall be deemed to be a reference to salaries and wages paid to employees of his permanent establishments in Canada; and

(d) a reference to "total gross revenue for the year" from the business shall be deemed to be a reference to total gross revenue reasonably attributable to his permanent establishments in Canada.

Definitions [Reg. 2606]: "amount", "business" — ITA 248(1); "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "employee", "gross revenue" — ITA 248(1); "his income for the taxation year" — Reg. 2606(2); "individual" — ITA 248(1); "permanent establishment" — Reg. 2600(2); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "taxable income" — ITA 248(1); "taxation year" — ITA 249.

2607. Dual residence — Where an individual was resident in more than one province on the last day of the taxation year, for the purposes of this Part, he shall be deemed to have resided on that day only in that province which may reasonably be regarded as his principal place of residence.

Definitions: "individual" — ITA 248(1); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "resident" — ITA 250; "taxation year" — ITA 249.

PART XXVII — GROUP TERM LIFE INSURANCE BENEFITS

History: Part XXVII added by P.C. 1997-1623, s. 1, November 6, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 26, 1997, s. 2700 applicable to 1994 et seq. Ss. 2701 to 2704 applicable with respect to insurance provided in respect of periods that are after June 1994 except that, in their application with respect to insurance provided in respect of periods that are in 1994 and after June 1994,

(a) the opening words of para. 2701(1)(c) shall be read as follows:

(c) the total of all sales and excise taxes payable in respect of premiums paid under the policy in 1994 and after June 1994 for insurance on the life of the taxpayer, other than

(b) the part of subpara. 2702(1)(b)(i) before the formula shall be read as follows:

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is, for a day in the year 1994 that is after June 1994 on which term insurance is in effect under the policy on the taxpayer's life, the amount determined by the formula and

(c) subpara. 2702(1)(b)(ii) shall be read as follows:

(ii) the total amount paid by the taxpayer in respect of term insurance under the policy on the taxpayer's life in respect of the period in the year 1994 that is after June 1994.

and s. 2705 applicable with respect to insurance that is provided in respect of periods that are in 1994 and before July 1994.

Former Part XXVII revoked by P.C. 1991-2540, s. 5, December 16, 1991, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 15, 1992, applicable to taxation years commencing after 1990.

The heading to former Part XXVII amended by the said P.C. 1991-2540, s. 8, applicable after 1985.

Former Part XXVII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

2700. Interpretation — (1) Definitions — The definitions in this subsection apply in this Part.

"lump-sum premium" in relation to a group term life insurance policy means a premium for insurance under the policy on the life of an individual where all or part of the premium is for insurance that is (or would be if the individual survived) in respect of a period that ends more than 13 months after the earlier of the day on which the premium becomes payable and the day on which it is paid.

"paid-up premium" in relation to a group term life insurance policy means a premium for insurance under the policy on the life of an individual where the insurance is for the remainder of the lifetime of the individual and no further premiums will be payable for the insurance.

"premium category" in relation to term insurance provided under a group term life insurance policy means,

(a) where the premium rate applicable in respect of term insurance on the life of an individual depends on the group to which the individual belongs, any of the groups for which a premium rate is established, and

(b) in any other case, all individuals on whose lives term insurance is in effect under the policy, and, for the purpose of this definition, a single premium rate is deemed to apply for all term insurance under a policy in respect of periods in 1994, and where individuals are divided into separate groups solely on the basis of their age, sex, or both, the groups are deemed to be a single group for which a premium rate is established.

"term insurance" in relation to an individual and a group term life insurance policy means insurance under the policy on the life of the individual, other than insurance in respect of which a lump-sum premium has become payable or been paid.

(2) Accidental death insurance — For greater certainty, a premium for insurance on the life of an individual does not include an amount for accidental death insurance.

Definitions [Reg. 2700]: "amount", "group term life insurance policy", "individual" — ITA 248(1); "lump-sum premium" — Reg. 2700(1); "month" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "term insurance" — Reg. 2700(1).

2701. Prescribed benefit — (1) Subject to subsection (2), for the purpose of subsection 6(4) of the Act, the amount prescribed for a taxation year in respect of insurance under a group term life insurance policy on the life of a taxpayer is the total of

(a) the taxpayer's term insurance benefit under the policy for the calendar year in which the taxation year ends,

(b) the taxpayer's prepaid insurance benefit under the policy for that calendar year, and

(c) the total of all sales and excise taxes payable in respect of premiums paid under the policy in that calendar year for insurance on the life of the taxpayer, other than

(i) taxes paid, directly or by way of reimbursement, by the taxpayer, and

(ii) taxes in respect of premiums for term insurance that, if the taxpayer were to die, would be paid otherwise than

(A) to the taxpayer,

(B) for the benefit of the taxpayer,

(C) as a benefit that the taxpayer desired to have conferred on any person.

Related Provisions: ITA 139.1(15) — Effect of demutualization of insurance corporation.

(2) Bankrupt individual — Where a taxpayer who has become a bankrupt has two taxation years ending in a calendar year, for the purpose of subsection 6(4) of the Act, the amount prescribed for the first taxation year in respect of insurance under a group term life insurance policy on the life of the taxpayer is nil.

Definitions [Reg. 2701]: "amount", "bankrupt", "group term life insurance policy", "person" — ITA 248(1); "prepaid insurance benefit" — Reg. 2703(1); "prescribed" — ITA 248(1); "taxation year" — ITA 249; "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1); "term insurance" — Reg. 2700(1); "term insurance benefit" — Reg. 2702(1).

2702. Term insurance benefit — (1) Amount of benefit — Subject to section 2704, for the purpose of paragraph 2701(1)(a), a taxpayer's term insurance benefit under a group term life insurance policy for a calendar year is

(a) where

(i) the policyholder elects to determine, under this paragraph, the term insurance benefit for the year of each individual whose life is insured under the policy,

(ii) no premium rate that applies for term insurance provided under the policy on the life of an individual in respect of the year depends on the age or sex of the individual,

(iii) no amounts are payable under the policy for term insurance on the lives of individuals in respect of the year other than premiums payable on a regular basis that are based on the amount of term insurance in force in the year for each individual, and

(iv) the year is after 1995,

the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the total of the premiums payable for term insurance provided under the policy on the taxpayer's life in respect of periods in the year, to the extent that each such premium is in respect of term insurance that, if the taxpayer died in the year, would be paid to or for the benefit of the taxpayer or as a benefit that the taxpayer desired to have conferred on any person, and

B is the total amount paid by the taxpayer in respect of term insurance under the policy on the taxpayer's life in respect of the year; and

(b) in any other case, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is, for a day in the year on which term insurance is in effect under the policy on the taxpayer's life, the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the amount of term insurance in effect on that day under the policy on the taxpayer's life, except the portion, if any, of the amount that, if the taxpayer were to die on that day, would be paid otherwise than

(A) to the taxpayer,

(B) to benefit of the taxpayer, or

(C) as a benefit that the taxpayer desired to have conferred on any person, and

B is the average daily cost of insurance for the year for the premium category in which the taxpayer is included on that day

exceeds

(ii) the total amount paid by the taxpayer in respect of term insurance under the policy on the taxpayer's life in respect of the year.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(2) Average daily cost of insurance — The average daily cost of insurance under a group term life insurance policy for a calendar year for a premium category is

(a) subject to paragraph (b), the amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{(A + B - C)}{D}$$

where

A is the total of the premiums payable for term insurance provided under the policy on the lives of individuals in respect of periods in the year while they are in the premium category,

B is the total of the amounts paid in the year under the policy for term insurance in respect of periods in preceding years (other than amounts that have otherwise been taken into account for the purpose of subsection 6(4) of the Act), to the extent that the total can reasonably be considered to relate to term insurance provided on the lives of individuals in the premium category,

C is the total amount of policy dividends and experience rating refunds paid in the year under the policy and not distributed to individuals whose lives are insured under the policy, to the extent that the total can reasonably be considered to relate to term insurance provided on the lives of individuals in the premium category, and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of term insurance in force on a day in the year on the lives of individuals in the premium category on that day; or

(b) the amount that the policyholder determines using a reasonable method that is substantially similar to the method set out in paragraph (a).

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(3) Survivor income benefits — For the purposes of this section, where the proceeds of term insurance on the life of an individual are payable in the form of periodic payments, and the periodic payments are not an optional form of settlement of a lump-sum amount, the amount of term insurance in effect on the individual's life on any day is the present value, on that day, of the periodic payments that would be made if the individual were to die on that day.

(4) Determination of present value — For the purpose of subsection (3), the present value on a day in a calendar year

(a) shall be determined using assumptions that are reasonable at some time in the year; and

(b) may be determined assuming that an individual on whose life the present value depends is the same age on that day as on another day in the year.

2703. Prepaid insurance benefit — (1) Amount of benefit — Subject to section 2704, for the purpose of paragraph 2701(1)(b), a taxpayer's prepaid insurance benefit under a group term life insurance policy for a calendar year is

(a) where the taxpayer is alive at the end of the year, the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) a lump-sum premium (other than the taxpayer portion) paid in the year and after February 1994 in respect of insurance under the policy on the life of the taxpayer, other than a paid-up premium paid before 1997, or

(ii) ⅓ of a paid-up premium (other than the taxpayer portion) in respect of insurance under the policy on the life of the taxpayer that was paid

(A) after February 1994 and before 1997, and

(B) in the year or one of the two preceding years; and

(b) where the taxpayer died after June 1994 and in the year, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is a lump-sum premium (other than the taxpayer portion) paid under the policy after February 1994 in respect of insurance on the life of the taxpayer

exceeds

(ii) the portion of that total that was included in computing the taxpayer's prepaid insurance benefit under the policy for preceding years.

Related Provisions: ITA 18(9.01) — Matching deduction for employer.

(2) Taxpayer portion of premiums — For the purpose of subsection (1), the taxpayer portion of a premium is the portion, if any, of the premium that the taxpayer paid, either directly or by way of reimbursement.

2704. Employee-paid insurance — (1) For the purpose of subsection 2701(1), where the full cost of insurance under a group term life insurance policy in a calendar year is borne by the individuals whose lives are insured under the policy, each individual's term insurance benefit and prepaid insurance benefit under the policy for the year is deemed to be nil.

(2) Where the premiums for part of the life insurance (in this subsection referred to as the "additional insurance") under a group term life insurance policy are determined separately from the premiums for the rest of the life insurance under the policy, and it is reasonable to consider that the individuals on whose lives the additional insurance is provided bear the full cost of the additional insurance, the additional insurance, the premiums, policy dividends and experience rating refunds in respect of that insurance, and the amounts paid in respect of that insurance by the individuals whose lives are insured, shall not be taken into account for the purposes of this Part.

2705. Prescribed premium and insurance — For the purpose of subsection 6(4) of the Act, as it applies to insurance provided in respect of periods that are in 1994 and before July 1994,

(a) a lump-sum premium paid under a group term life insurance policy after February 1994 in respect of an individual who is alive at the end of June 1994 is a prescribed premium; and

(b) insurance in respect of which a premium referred to in paragraph (a) is paid is prescribed insurance.

Definitions [Reg. 2705]: "group term life insurance policy", "individual" — ITA 248(1); "lump-sum premium" — Reg. 2700(1); "prescribed" — ITA 248(1).

PART XXVIII — ELECTION IN RESPECT OF ACCUMULATING INCOME OF TRUSTS

History: Part XXVIII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

2800. [Preferred beneficiary election] — (1) Any election under subsection 104(14) of the Act in respect of a taxation year shall be made by filing with the Minister the following documents:

(a) a statement

(i) making the election in respect of the year,

(ii) designating the part of the accumulating income in respect of which the election is being made, and

(iii) signed by the preferred beneficiary and a trustee having the authority to make the election; and

(b) a statement signed by the trustee showing the computation of the amount of the preferred beneficiary's share in the accumulating income of the trust for the year in accordance with paragraph 104(15)(a), (b) or (c) of the Act, as the case may be, together with such information concerning the provisions of the trust and its administration as is necessary for this purpose.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-394R2: Preferred beneficiary election.

(2) The documents referred to in subsection (1) shall be filed within 90 days from the end of the trust's taxation year in respect of which the election referred to in subsection (1) is made.

Related Provisions: ITA 104(14.01) — Extension of filing deadline where capital gains election filed; Reg. 2800(2.1) — Deadline when capital gains exemption election filed for 1994.

(2.1) Notwithstanding subsection (2), if a trust elects under subsection 110.6(19) of the Act in respect of the taxation year of the trust that includes February 22, 1994, the documents referred to in subsection (1) in respect of that year shall be filed on or before the day on or before which the election under subsection 110.6(19) of the Act is required to be filed with the Minister.

History: Subsec. 2800(2.1) added by P.C. 2001-806, s. 1, May 2, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 23, 2001, applicable to trust taxation years that include February 22, 1994.

(3) For the purposes of paragraph 104(15)(c) of the Act, the discretionary share of a particular preferred beneficiary under a trust of the trust's accumulating income for a taxation year shall be an amount determined as follows:

(a) where the settlor of the trust is an individual and his spouse, both of whom are alive at the end of the year and both of whom may be entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust, the discretionary share

(i) of the individual is that proportion of the accumulating income of the trust for the year that the fair market value of the property contributed by the individual is of the aggregate of the fair market value of the property contributed by the individual and the fair market value of the property contributed by his spouse (such fair market values being determined in respect of each contribution at the time of the making of that contribution),

(ii) of the spouse is that proportion of the accumulating income of the trust for the year that the fair market value of the property contributed by the spouse is of the aggregate of the fair market value of the property contributed by the individual and the fair market value of the property contributed by his spouse (such fair market values being determined in respect of each contribution at the time of the making of that contribution), and

(iii) of any other beneficiary who is a preferred beneficiary under the trust is nil;

(b) where the settlor of the trust is an individual and his spouse, both of whom are alive at the end of the year but only one of whom may be entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust, the discretionary share

(i) of the individual or his spouse, as the case may be, who may be entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust is the accumulating income of the trust for the year, and

(ii) of any other beneficiary who is a preferred beneficiary under the trust is nil;

(c) where the settlor of the trust is an individual and his spouse, only one of whom is alive at the end of the year, and the one who is alive may be entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust, the discretionary share

(i) of the individual or his spouse, as the case may be, who is alive at the end of the year is the accumulating income of the trust for the year, and

(ii) of any other beneficiary who is a preferred beneficiary under the trust is nil;

(d) where, in any case not described in paragraph (a), (b) or (c), the settlor of the trust may be entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust and is alive at the end of the year, the discretionary share

(i) of the settlor is the accumulating income of the trust for the year, and

(ii) of any other beneficiary who is a preferred beneficiary under the trust is nil;

(e) where, in any case not described in paragraph (a), (b) or (c), the spouse of the settlor of the trust may be entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust, but the settlor may not, and the spouse is alive at the end of the year, the discretionary share

(i) of the spouse is the accumulating income of the trust for the year, and

(ii) of any other beneficiary who is a preferred beneficiary under the trust is nil; and

(f) in any other case, the discretionary share of a preferred beneficiary alive at the end of the year is the amount obtained by dividing the accumulating income of the trust for the year by the number of preferred beneficiaries under the trust alive at the end of the year who may be entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-394R2: Preferred beneficiary election.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-30: Preferred beneficiary election on accumulating income of estate; ATR-34: Preferred beneficiary's election.

(4) In paragraphs (3)(a) to (e), the phrase "entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust" does not include any entitlement that arises by reason of the death of any individual who would otherwise be entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust.

Definitions [Reg. 2800]: "amount" — ITA 248(1); "entitled to share in the accumulating income of the trust" — Reg. 2800(4);"individual", "Minister", "property", "share" — ITA 248(1); "taxation year" — ITA 249; "trust" — ITA 104(1), 248(1), (3).

PART XXIX — SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH AND EXPERIMENTAL DEVELOPMENT

History: The heading to Part XXIX amended by P.C. 1986-2770, para. 3(a), December 11, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 24, 1986, applicable to expenditures made in taxation years ending after May 23, 1985.

Part XXIX was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

History: Subsec. 2900(1) repealed by P.C. 2000-1095, subsec. 1(2), July 27, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 16, 2000, applicable to work performed after February 27, 1995 except that, for the purposes of paras. 149(1)(j) and (8)(b) of the Act, the repeal does not apply to work performed pursuant to an agreement in writing made by the taxpayer before February 28, 1995. (See now ITA 248(1)"scientific research and experimental development".) The subsec. formerly read:

(1) For the purposes of this Part and section 37 of the Act, "scientific research and experimental development" means systematic investigation or search carried out in a field of science or technology by means of experiment or analysis, that is to say,

(a) basic research, namely, work undertaken for the advancement of scientific knowledge without a specific practical application in view,

(b) applied research, namely, work undertaken for the advancement of scientific knowledge with a specific practical application in view,

(c) experimental development, namely, work undertaken for the purposes of achieving technological advancement for the purposes of creating new, or improving existing, materials, devices, products or processes, including incremental improvements thereto, or

(d) work with respect to engineering, design, operations research, mathematical analysis, computer programming, data collection, testing and psychological research where that work is commensurate with the needs, and directly in support, of the work described in paragraph (a), (b) or (c), but does not include work with respect to

(e) market research or sales promotion,

(f) quality control or routine testing of materials, devices, products or processes,

(g) research in the social sciences or the humanities,

(h) prospecting, exploring or drilling for, or producing, minerals, petroleum or natural gas,

(i) the commercial production of a new or improved material, device or product or the commercial use of a new or improved process,

(j) style changes, or

(k) routine data collection.

The opening words of subsec. 2900(1) amended by P.C. 2000-1095, subsec. 1(2), July 27, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 16, 2000, applicable to 1995 et seq. The opening words formerly read:

(1) For the purposes of this Part and sections 37 and 37.1 of the Act, "scientific research and experimental development" means systematic investigation or search carried out in a field of science or technology by means of experiment or analysis, that is to say,

Subsec. 2900(1) amended by P.C. 1995-16, subsec. 1(1), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992.

That portion of s. 2900 preceding para. (a) amended and s. 2900 renumbered as subsec. 2900(1), by P.C. 1986-2770, para. 3(a), December 11, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 24, 1986, applicable to expenditures made in taxation years ending after May 23, 1985.

All that portion of s. 2900 preceding para. (a) substituted by P.C. 1978-2917, s. 1, September 27, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 11, 1978, effective for the period commencing with a taxation year ending after 1977.

Selected Cases [Reg. 2900(1)]: Développements de Systèmes Spécialisés M.T.P.C. Inc. v. R., [2000] 2 C.T.C. 2031 (TCC) (Working on computer programs not scientific research); Hun-Medipharma Research Inc. v. R., [1999] 1 C.T.C. 2800 (TCC) (Not necessary for SR&ED that there be both analysis and experimentation).

(2) For the purposes of clause 37(8)(a)(i)(B) and subclause 37(8)(a)(ii)(A)(II) of the Act, the following expenditures are directly attributable to the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development:

(a) the cost of materials consumed or transformed in such prosecution;

(b) where an employee directly undertakes, supervises or supports such prosecution, the portion of the amount incurred for salary or wages of the employee that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of such prosecution; and

(c) other expenditures, or those portions of other expenditures, that are directly related to such prosecution and that would not have been incurred if such prosecution had not occurred.

Related Provisions: ITA 127(27) — ITC recapture.

History: Para. 2900(2)(a) amended by P.C. 2000-1095, subsec. 1(3), July 27, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 16, 2000, applicable to costs incurred after February 23, 1998. The para. formerly read:

(a) the cost of materials consumed in such prosecution;

The opening words of subsec. 2900(2) and paras. 2900(2)(b) and (c) amended by P.C. 1995-16, subsecs. 1(2) and (3), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995. The amendment to the opening words is applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992; paras. 2900(2)(b) and (c) applicable to 1990 et seq.

Subsec. 2900(2) added by P.C. 1986-2770, s. 4, December 11, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 24, 1986, applicable to expenditures made in taxation years ending after May 23, 1985.

2000-01: Cost of materials; SR&ED 2002-01: Expenditures incurred for administrative salaries or wages — "directly related" test; SR&ED 2002-02R: Experimental production and commercial production with experimental development work — allowable SR&ED expenditures.

(3) For the purposes of subclause 37(8)(a)(ii)(A)(II) of the Act, the following expenditures are directly attributable to the provision of premises, facilities or equipment for the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development:

(a) the cost of the maintenance and upkeep of such premises, facilities or equipment; and

(b) other expenditures, or those portions of other expenditures, that are directly related to that provision and that would not have been incurred if those premises or facilities or that equipment had not existed.

History: The opening words of subsec. 2900(3) and para. 2900(3)(b) amended by P.C. 1995-16, subsecs. 1(4) and (5), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995. The amendment to the opening words is applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992; para. 2900(3)(b) applicable to 1990 et seq.

Subsec. 2900(3) added by P.C. 1986-2770, s. 4, December 11, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 24, 1986, applicable to expenditures made in taxation years ending after May 23, 1985.

(4) For the purposes of the definition "qualified expenditure" in subsection 127(9) of the Act, the prescribed proxy amount of a taxpayer for a taxation year, in respect of a business, in respect of which the taxpayer elects under clause 37(8)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act is 65% of the total of all amounts each of which is that portion of the amount incurred in the year by the taxpayer in respect of salary or wages of an employee of the taxpayer who is directly engaged in scientific research and experimental development carried on in Canada that can reasonably be considered to relate to the scientific research and experimental development having regard to the time spent by the employee on the scientific research and experimental development.

Related Provisions: Reg. 2900(5)–(7) — Additional rules re prescribed proxy amount; Reg. 2900(9) — Benefits and bonuses excluded from wages.

History: Subsec. 2900(4) amended by P.C. 1995-16, subsec. 1(6), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992.

Subsec. 2900(4) added by P.C. 1986-2770, s. 4, December 11, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 24, 1986, applicable to expenditures made in taxation years ending after May 23, 1985.

Application Policies: SR&ED 96-06: Directly undertaking, supervising or supporting "directly engaged" SR&ED salary and wages.

(5) Subject to subsections (6) to (8), where in subsection (4) the portion of an expenditure is all or substantially all of the expenditure, that portion shall be replaced by the amount of the expenditure.

History: Subsec. 2900(5) added by P.C. 1995-16, subsec. 1(6), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992.

Application Policies: SR&ED 96-06: Directly undertaking, supervising or supporting "directly engaged" SR&ED salary and wages.

(6) The amount determined under subsection (4) as the prescribed proxy amount of a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of a business shall not exceed the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts deducted in computing the taxpayer's income for the year from the business,

exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is

(b) an amount deducted in computing the income of the taxpayer for the year from the business under any of sections 20, 24, 26, 30, 32, 37, 66 to 66.8 and 104 of the Act, or

(c) an amount incurred by the taxpayer in the year in respect of any outlay or expense made or incurred for the use of, or the right to use, a building other than a special-purpose building.

History: Subsec. 2900(6) added by P.C. 1995-16, subsec. 1(6), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992.

(7) In determining the prescribed proxy amount of a taxpayer for a taxation year, the portion of the amount incurred in the year by the taxpayer in respect of salary or wages of a specified employee of the taxpayer that is included in computing the total described in subsection (4) shall not exceed the lesser of

(a) 75% of the amount incurred by the taxpayer in the year in respect of salary or wages of the employee, and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$2.5 \times A \times \frac{B}{365}$$

where

A is the Year's Maximum Pensionable Earnings (as determined under section 18 of the Canada Pension Plan) for the calendar year in which the taxation year ends, and

B is the number of days in the taxation year in which the employee is an employee of the taxpayer.

Related Provisions: Reg. 2900(9) — Benefits and bonuses excluded from wages.

History: Subsec. 2900(7) added by P.C. 1995-16, subsec. 1(6), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992.

(8) Where

(a) a taxpayer is a corporation,

(b) the taxpayer employs in a taxation year ending in a calendar year an individual who is a specified employee of the taxpayer,

(c) the taxpayer is associated with another corporation (referred to as the "associated corporation") in a taxation year of the associated corporation ending in the calendar year, and

(d) the individual is an employee of the associated corporation in the taxation year of the associated corporation ending in the calendar year, the total of all amounts that may be included in computing the total described in subsection (4) in respect of salaries or wages of the individual by the taxpayer in its taxation year ending in the calendar year and by all associated corporations in their taxation years ending in the calendar year shall not exceed the amount that is 2.5 times the Year's Maximum Pensionable Earnings (as determined under section 18 of the Canada Pension Plan) for the calendar year.

History: Subsec. 2900(8) added by P.C. 1995-16, subsec. 1(6), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992.

(9) For the purposes of subsections (4) and (7), an amount incurred in respect of salary or wages of an employee in a taxation year does not include

(a) an amount described in section 6 or 7 of the Act;

(b) an amount deemed under subsection 78(4) of the Act to have been incurred;

(c) bonuses; or

(d) remuneration based on profits.

History: Subsec. 2900(9) added by P.C. 1995-16, subsec. 1(6), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992.

Application Policies: SR&ED 96-06: Directly undertaking, supervising or supporting "directly engaged" SR&ED salary and wages.

(10) For the purpose of subsection (8),

(a) an individual related to a particular corporation, and

(b) a partnership any member of which is an individual related to a particular corporation or is a corporation associated with a particular corporation, shall be deemed to be a corporation associated with the particular corporation.

History: Subsec. 2900(10) added by P.C. 1995-16, subsec. 1(6), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable to taxation years ending after December 2, 1992.

(11) The depreciable property of a taxpayer that is prescribed for the purposes of the definition "first term shared-use-equipment" in subsection 127(9) of the Act is

(a) a building of the taxpayer;

(b) a leasehold interest of the taxpayer in a building;

(c) a property of the taxpayer if, at the time it was acquired by the taxpayer, the taxpayer or a person related to the taxpayer intended that it would be used in the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development during the assembly, construction or commissioning of a facility, plant or line for commercial manufacturing, commercial processing or other commercial purposes (other than scientific research and experimental development) and intended

(i) that it would be used during its operating time in its expected useful life primarily for purposes other than scientific research and experimental development, or

(ii) that its value would be consumed primarily in activities other than scientific research and experimental development; and

(d) part of a property of the taxpayer if, at the time the part was acquired by the taxpayer, the taxpayer or a person related to the taxpayer intended that the part would be used in the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development during the assembly, construction or commissioning of a facility, plant or line for commercial manufacturing, commercial processing or other commercial purposes (other than scientific research and experimental development), and intended

(i) that it would be used during its operating time in its expected useful life primarily for purposes other than scientific research and experimental development, or

2902. For the purposes of the definition "qualified expenditure" in subsection 127(9) of the Act, a prescribed expenditure is

(a) an expenditure of a current nature incurred by a taxpayer in respect of

(i) the general administration or management of a business, including

(A) administrative salary or wages and related benefits in respect of a person whose duties are not all or substantially all directed to the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development, except to the extent that such expenditure is described in subsection 2900(2) or (3),

(B) a legal or accounting fee,

(C) an amount described in any of paragraphs 20(1)(c) to (g) of the Act,

(D) an entertainment expense,

(E) an advertising or selling expense,

(F) a conference or convention expense,

(G) a due or fee in respect of membership in a scientific or technical society or organization, and

(H) a fine or penalty, or

(ii) the maintenance and upkeep of premises, facilities or equipment to the extent that such expenditure is not attributable to the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development;

(b) an expenditure of a capital nature incurred by a taxpayer in respect of

(i) the acquisition of property, except any such expenditure that at the time it was incurred

(A) was for first term shared-use-equipment or second term shared-use-equipment, or

(B) was for the provision of premises, facilities or equipment if, at the time of the acquisition of the premises, facilities or equipment, it was intended

(I) that the premises, facilities or equipment would be used during all or substantially all of the operating time of the premises, facilities or equipment in the expected useful life of the premises, facilities or equipment for the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development in Canada, or

(II) that all or substantially all of the value of the premises, facilities or equipment would be consumed in the prosecution of scientific research and experimental development in Canada,

(ii) the acquisition of property that is qualified property within the meaning assigned by subsection 127(9) of the Act, or

(iii) the acquisition of property that has been used, or acquired for use or lease, for any purpose whatever before it was acquired by the taxpayer;

(c) an expenditure made to acquire rights in, or arising out of, scientific research and experimental development; or

(d) an expenditure on scientific research and experimental development in respect of which an amount is deductible under section 110.1 or section 118.1 of the Act; or

(e) an expenditure of a current or capital nature, to the extent that the taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive a reimbursement in respect thereof from

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 2902(e) opening words

(e) for the purpose of sections 194 and 195 of the Act, an expenditure of a current or capital nature, to the extent that the taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive a reimbursement in respect of the expenditure from

Application: The October 27, 1998 draft regulations, s. 2, will amend the opening words of para. 2902(e) to read as above, applicable to amounts that become receivable after December 20, 1991.

Technical Notes: Section 2902 defines a prescribed expenditure for the purposes of subsection 127(9) of the Income Tax Act. Prescribed expenditures are not eligible for investment tax credits.

Paragraph 2902(e) of the Income Tax Regulations is amended consequential on the amendments to the definition "contract payment" in subsection 127(9) of the Act. Those amendments provided that a contract payment included certain payments for scientific research and experimental development that is performed for or on behalf of a person entitled to a deduction in respect of the amount because of subparagraph 37(1)(a)(i) or (i.1) of the Act. Contract payments received reduce the base upon which a taxpayer's ITC in respect of SR&ED is calculated. Those amendments were effective for amounts that became payable after December 20, 1991. In view of the amended definition of "contract payment" applicable to ITCs in respect of SR&ED, the provisions of paragraph 2902(e) became redundant for ITC purposes. However, paragraph 2902(e) of the Regulations is still relevant in respect of claims for refunds of Part VIII Refundable Tax on Corporations in Respect of the Scientific Research and Experimental Development Tax Credit. Regulation 2902(e) is, therefore, amended to apply only for the purposes of the Part VIII Refundable Tax.

(i) a person resident in Canada, other than

(A) Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province,

(B) an agent of Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province,

(C) a corporation, commission or association that is controlled, directly or indirectly in any manner whatever, by Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province or by an agent of Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province, or

(D) a municipality in Canada or a municipal or public body performing a function of government in Canada, or

(ii) a person not resident in Canada to the extent that the said reimbursement is deductible by the person in computing his taxable income earned in Canada for any taxation year.

Related Provisions: ITA 256(5.1), (6.2) — Meaning of "controlled directly or indirectly".

Proposed Addition — Reg. 3201

Department of Finance news release 2003-032, June 23, 2003: Luxembourg and Warsaw Stock Exchanges to be Prescribed

John Manley, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Finance, today announced that he intends to recommend an amendment to Part XXXII of the Income Tax Regulations to include the Luxembourg Stock Exchange and the Warsaw Stock Exchange (main and parallel markets) in the list of prescribed stock exchanges outside Canada.

Part XXXII of the Regulations prescribes various stock exchanges for the purposes of a number of provisions of the Income Tax Act. In particular, shares listed on a prescribed stock exchange automatically constitute eligible investments for registered retirement savings plans, registered retirement income funds and deferred profit-sharing plans; are qualified securities for rules pertaining to securities-lending arrangements; and are excluded from the application of withholding requirements under section 116 of the Act.

The proposed amendment will be effective as of June 24, 2003.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 3501(1)

Technical Notes to ITA 248(30), February 27, 2004: It is proposed that subsections 3501(1), (1.1) and (6) of the Regulations be amended to provide that official receipts issued by a registered organization in respect of a gift made after December 20, 2002 contain, in addition to the information already prescribed, the eligible amount of the gift [see ITA 248(30–(33) — ed.].

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 3501(1) — CRA name and web site on receipts

Federal budget, Supplementary Information, March 23, 2004: Additional Information on Official Tax Receipts

The Income Tax Regulations currently require registered charities to include certain information on their official receipts, such as details about the charity and the donor, the eligible amount in respect of the gift and the date of the gift. The budget proposes to also require that the name and website address of the CRA appear on all official receipts. This change will take effect for receipts issued after 2004.

3701. Disbursement quota — (1) For the purposes of clause 149.1(1)(e)(iv)(A) [149.1(1)"disbursement quota"D] of the Act, the prescribed amount referred to therein for a taxation year of a charitable foundation shall be determined in accordance with the following rules:

(a) choose a number, not less than two and not more than eight, of equal and consecutive periods that total twenty-four months and that end immediately before the beginning of the year;

(b) aggregate for each period chosen under paragraph (a) all amounts, each of which is the value, determined in accordance with section 3702, of property or a portion thereof owned by the foundation, and not used directly in charitable activities or administration, on the last day of the period;

(c) aggregate all amounts, each of which is the aggregate of values determined for each period under paragraph (b); and

(d) divide the aggregate amount determined under paragraph (c) by the number of periods chosen under paragraph (a).

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1) and subject to subsection (3),

(a) the number of periods chosen by a charitable foundation under paragraph (1)(a) shall, unless otherwise authorized by the Minister, be used for the taxation year and for all subsequent taxation years; and

(b) a charitable foundation shall be deemed to have existed on the last day of each of the periods chosen by it.

(3) The number of periods chosen under paragraph (1)(a) may be changed by the foundation for its first taxation year commencing after 1986 and the new number shall, unless otherwise authorized by the Minister, be used for that taxation year and all subsequent taxation years.

3702. Determination of value — (1) For the purposes of subsection 3701(1), the value of property or a portion thereof owned by a charitable foundation, and not used directly in charitable activities or administration, on the last day of a period shall be determined as of that day and shall be

(a) in the case of a non-qualified investment, the greater of its fair market value on that day and its cost amount to the foundation;

(b) subject to paragraph (c), in the case of property other than a non-qualified investment that is

(i) a share of a corporation that is listed on a prescribed stock exchange, the closing price or the average of the bid and asked prices of that share on that day or, if there is no closing price or bid and asked prices on that day, on the last preceding day for which there was a closing price or bid and asked prices,

(ii) a share of a corporation that is not listed on a prescribed stock exchange, the fair market value of that share on that day,

(iii) an interest in real property, the fair market value on that day of the interest less the amount of any debt of the foundation incurred in respect of the acquisition of the interest and secured by the real property or the interest therein, where the debt bears a reasonable rate of interest,

(iv) a contribution that is the subject of a pledge, nil,

(v) an interest in property where the foundation does not have the present use or enjoyment of the interest, nil,

(vi) a life insurance policy, other than an annuity contract, that has not matured, nil, and

(vii) a property not described in any of subparagraphs (i) to (vi), the fair market value of the property on that day; and

(c) in the case of any property described in paragraph (b)

(i) that is owned in connection with the charitable activities of the foundation and is a share of a limited-dividend housing company or a loan,

(ii) that has ceased to be used for charitable purposes and is being held pending disposition or for use in charitable activities, or

(iii) that has been acquired for use in charitable activities, the lesser of the fair market value of the property on that day and an amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{A}{.045} \times \frac{12}{B}$$

where

A is the income earned on the property in the period, and

B is the number of months in the period.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a method that the Minister may accept for the determination of the fair market value of property or a portion thereof on the last day of a period is an independent appraisal made

(a) in the case of property described in subparagraph (1)(b)(ii) or (iii), not more than three years before that day; and

(b) in the case of property described in paragraph (1)(a), subparagraph (1)(b)(vii) or paragraph (1)(c), not more than one year before that day.

PART XXXVIII — SOCIAL INSURANCE NUMBER APPLICATIONS

History: Part XXXVIII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

3800. Every individual who is required by subsection 237(1) of the Act to apply to the Minister of Human Resources Development for assignment to him of a Social Insurance Number shall do so by delivering or mailing to the local office of the Canada Employment Insurance Commission nearest to the individual's residence, a completed application in the form prescribed by the Minister for that purpose.

History: S. 3800 amended by 1996, c. 11, ss. 96 and 100, to substitute "Minister of Human Resources Development" for "Minister of National Health and Welfare", and substitute "Canada Employment Insurance Commission" for "Canada Employment and Immigration Commission", in force July 12, 1996.

Definitions [Reg. 3800]: "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "individual", "Minister", "office", "prescribed" — ITA 248(1).

PART XXXIX — MINING TAXES ON INCOME

History: Part XXXIX (s. 3900) added by P.C. 1978-1315, s. 13, April 20, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 10, 1978.

3900. (1) In computing his income for a taxation year, a taxpayer may deduct, under paragraph 20(1)(v) of the Act, an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) the aggregate of the taxes paid, in respect of his income derived from mining operations in a province for the year,

(i) to the province, and

(ii) to a municipality in the province in lieu of taxes on property or any interest in property (other than his residential property or any interest therein); and

(b) that proportion of such taxes that his income derived from mining operations in the province for the year is of his income in respect of which the taxes were so paid.

(2) In this section,

"income derived from mining operations" in a province for a taxation year by a taxpayer means,

(a) where the taxpayer has no source of income other than mining operations, the amount that would otherwise be his income for the year if no amount had been deducted in computing his income under paragraph 20(1)(v) of the Act or paragraph 1100(1)(g) of these Regulations, and

(b) in any other case, the amount that would otherwise be his income for the year if no amount had been deducted in computing his income under paragraph 20(1)(v) of the Act or paragraph 1100(1)(g) of these Regulations, minus the aggregate of

(i) his income for the year from all sources other than mining, processing and sale of mineral ores, minerals and products produced therefrom, and

(ii) an amount equal to eight per cent of the original cost to him of properties described in Schedule II used by him in the year in the processing of mineral ores, minerals or products derived therefrom or, if the amount so determined is greater than 65 per cent of the income remaining after deducting the amount determined under subparagraph (i), 65 per cent of the income so remaining or, if the amount so determined is less than 15 per cent of the income so remaining, 15 per cent of the income so remaining;

"mine" includes any work or undertaking in which mineral ore is extracted or produced, including a quarry;

"mineral ores" includes all unprocessed minerals or mineral bearing substances;

"minerals" means minerals other than minerals obtained from a mineral resource but does not include petroleum, natural gas or related hydrocarbons;

Proposed Repeal — Reg. 3900(2)"minerals"

Application: The June 9, 2003 draft regulations (natural resources), s. 8, will repeal the definition "minerals" in subsec. 3900(2), applicable to taxation years that end after 2002.

Technical Notes: Section 3900 applies to mining taxes on the mining of minerals, as defined. A restrictive definition of minerals is contained in subsection 3900(2). The definition "minerals" in subsection 3900 is repealed effective for taxation years that end after 2002, with the result that the broader definition "mineral" in the subsection 248(1) of the Act will apply for the purpose of section 3900 of the Regulations from that time. This amendment is relieving and consistent with the phase-out and repeal of paragraph 18(1)(m) of the Act.

"mining operations" means the extraction or production of mineral ore from or in any mine or its transportation to or over any part of the distance to the point of egress from the mine, including processing thereof prior to or in the course of such transportation but not including any processing thereof after removal from the mine;

"processing" as applied to mineral ores includes all forms of beneficiation, smelting and refining, transportation and distributing but does not include any of these operations that are performed with respect to mineral ore before it is removed from the mine.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed as allowing a taxpayer to deduct an amount in respect of taxes imposed under a statute or bylaw that is not restricted to the taxation of persons engaged in mining operations.

Definitions [Reg. 3900]: "amount" — ITA 248(1); "income derived from mining operations", "mine" — Reg. 3900(2); "mineral" — ITA 248(1), Reg. 3900(2); "mineral ores" — Reg. 3900(2); "mineral resource" — ITA 248(1); "mining operations" — Reg. 3900(2); "person" — ITA 248(1); "processing" — Reg. 3900(2); "property" — ITA 248(1); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "related" — ITA 251(2)–(6); "taxation year" — ITA 249; "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1).

PART XL — BORROWED MONEY COSTS

PART XLII — VALUATION OF ANNUITIES AND OTHER INTERESTS

History: Part XLII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

4200. For the purposes of subparagraph 115E(f)(i) of the former Act (within the meaning assigned by paragraph 8(b) of the Income Tax Application Rules), the value of any income right, annuity, term of years, life or other similar estate or interest in expectancy shall be determined in accordance with the rules and standards, including standards as to mortality and interest, as are prescribed by the Estate Tax Regulations pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph 58(1)(s)(i) of the Estate Tax Act.

History: S. 4200 amended by P.C. 1994-1817, s. 48, November 1, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 30, 1994.

Definitions [Reg. 4200]: "annuity" — ITA 248(1); "estate" — ITA 104(1), 248(1); "prescribed" — ITA 248(1).

PART XLIII — INTEREST RATES

History: Part XLIII (ss. 4300, 4301) substituted by P.C. 1987-2251, s. 1, November 6, 1987, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 25, 1987, applicable with respect to any interest to be calculated in respect of a period after 1983.

Part XLIII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

4300. Interpretation — For the purposes of this Part, "quarter" means any of the following periods in a calendar year:

(a) the period beginning on January 1 and ending on March 31;

(b) the period beginning on April 1 and ending on June 30;

(c) the period beginning on July 1 and ending on September 30; and

(d) the period beginning on October 1 and ending on December 31.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-421R2: Benefits to individuals, corporations and shareholders from loans or debt.

4301. Prescribed rate of interest — Subject to section 4302, for the purposes of

(a) every provision of the Act that requires interest at a prescribed rate to be paid to the Receiver General, the prescribed rate in effect during any particular quarter is the total of

(i) the rate that is the simple arithmetic mean, expressed as a percentage per year and rounded to the next higher whole percentage where the mean is not a whole percentage, of all amounts each of which is the average equivalent yield, expressed as a percentage per year, of Government of Canada Treasury Bills that mature approximately three months after their date of issue and that are sold at auctions of Government of Canada Treasury Bills during the first month of the quarter preceding the particular quarter, and

(ii) 4 per cent;

(b) every provision of the Act that requires interest at a prescribed rate to be paid or applied on an amount payable by the Minister to a taxpayer, the prescribed rate in effect during any particular quarter is the total of

(i) the rate determined under subparagraph (a)(i) in respect of the particular quarter, and

(ii) 2 per cent; and

(c) every other provision of the Act in which reference is made to a prescribed rate of interest or to interest at a prescribed rate, the prescribed rate in effect during any particular quarter is the rate determined under subparagraph (a)(i) in respect of the particular quarter.

History: Subpara. 4301(a)(i) amended by P.C. 1997-1819, December 9, 1997, s. 4, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 24, 1997, in force on December 31, 1997.

S. 4301 substituted by P.C. 1995-926, June 13, 1995, s. 1, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 28, 1995, applicable to interest that is calculated in respect of periods after June 1995. For periods before July 1995, s. 4301 should be read as follows:

> 4301. Prescribed rate of interest — For the purposes of every provision of the Act that requires interest at a prescribed rate to be paid to the Receiver General or to be paid or applied on an amount payable by the Minister to a taxpayer, the prescribed rate in effect during any particular quarter is the aggregate of
> (a) the rate that is the simple arithmetic mean, expressed as a percentage per year and rounded to the next highest whole percentage where the mean is not a whole percentage, of all amounts each of which is the weekly average equivalent yield, expressed as a percentage per year, of Government of Canada Treasury Bills that mature approximately three months after their date of issue and that are sold at a weekly auction of Government of Canada Treasury Bills during the first month of the quarter immediately preceding the particular quarter, and
> (b) 2 per cent,
> and for the purposes of every other provision of the Act in which reference is made to a prescribed rate of interest or to interest at a prescribed rate, the prescribed rate in effect during any quarter is the rate determined under paragraph (a) in respect of that quarter.

S. 4301 substituted by P.C. 1989-1792, September 21, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 11, 1989, applicable in respect of interest that is calculated in respect of periods after September 1989.

Forms: T2038 (Ind.): Investment tax credit (Individuals); T2038 (Corp): Investment tax credit (Corporations).

4600. Qualified property — (1) Property is a prescribed building for the purposes of the definition "qualified property" in subsection 127(9) of the Act if it is depreciable property of the taxpayer that is a building or grain elevator and it is erected on land owned or leased by the taxpayer,

(a) that is included in Class 1, 3, 6, 20, 24 or 27 or paragraph (c), (d) or (e) of Class 8 in Schedule II; or

(b) that is included or would, but for Class 28 or 41 in Schedule II, be included in paragraph (g) of Class 10 in Schedule II.

(2) Property is prescribed machinery and equipment for the purposes of the definition "qualified property" in subsection 127(9) of the Act if it is depreciable property of the taxpayer (other than property referred to in subsection (1)) that is

(a) a property included in paragraph (k) of Class 1 or paragraph (a) of Class 2 in Schedule II;

(b) an oil or water storage tank;

(c) a property included in Class 8 in Schedule II (other than railway rolling stock);

(d) a vessel, including the furniture, fittings and equipment attached thereto;

(e) a property included in paragraph (a) of Class 10 or Class 22 or 38 in Schedule II (other than a car or truck designed for use on highways or streets);

(f) notwithstanding paragraph (e), a logging truck acquired after March 31, 1977 to be used in the activity of logging and having a weight, including the weight of property the capital cost of which is included in the capital cost of the truck at the time of its acquisition (but for greater certainty not including the weight of fuel), in excess of 16,000 pounds;

(g) a property included in any of paragraphs (b) to (f), (h), (j), (k), (o), (r), (t) or (u) of Class 10 in Schedule II, or property included in paragraph (b) of Class 41 in Schedule II and that would otherwise be included in paragraph (j), (k), (r), (t) or (u) of Class 10 in Schedule II;

(h) a property included in paragraph (n) of Class 10, or Class 15, in Schedule II (other than a roadway);

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 4600(2)(k)

(k) property included in any of Class 21, 24, 27, 29, 34, 39, 40 or 43 in Schedule II or in Class 43.1 in that Schedule because of paragraph (c) of that Class; or

Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (CCA), s. 5, will amend para. 4600(2)(k) to read as above, applicable to property acquired after February 21, 1994

Technical Notes: Subsection 4600(2) of the Regulations indicates which type of property is "prescribed machinery and equipment" for the purposes in the definition "qualified property" in subsection 127(9) of the Income Tax Act, which concerns the investment tax credit regime. Paragraph 4600(2)(k) is amended to apply to property included in Class 43.1 because of paragraph (c) of that Class. Property included in Class 43.1 because of paragraph (c) of that Class could be eligible for investment tax credit treatment if certain conditions described in paragraph (c.1) of the definition "qualified property" in subsection 127(9) of the Income Tax Act are met.

This relieving change is consequential to the 1994 Budget measures that concerned electrical generating equipment referred to in paragraph (c) of Class 43.1.

(l) a property included in paragraph (c) or (d) of Class 41 in Schedule II.

"well" means an exploratory probe or an oil or gas well.

(2) For the purposes of the definition "qualified Canadian exploration expenditure" in subsection 127(9) of the Act, the prescribed expenditure of a taxpayer for a taxation year is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the specified expenses of the taxpayer for the year in respect of the well exceed

(b) the base amount of the taxpayer at the end of the year in respect of the well.

(3) For the purposes of this section, the specified expenses of a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of a well that is an exploratory probe is the aggregate of all expenses that

(a) would be Canadian exploration expenses of the taxpayer by reason of any of subparagraphs 66.1(6)(a)(i), (iv) and (v) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"(a), (h) and (i)] of the Act if the references in subparagraphs 66.1(6)(a)(iv) and (v) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"(h) and (i)] of the Act (as those subparagraphs read on November 30, 1985) to "any of subparagraphs (i) to (iii.1)" were read as references to "subparagraph (i)";

(b) were incurred

(i) in the year, and

(ii) after November 1985 and before 1991;

(c) were incurred in the drilling or completing of the exploratory probe or in building a temporary access road to, or preparing the site in respect of, the probe; and

(d) are not non-qualifying expenses of the taxpayer.

(a) would be Canadian exploration expenses of the taxpayer by virtue of any of subparagraphs 66.1(6)(a)(ii) to (ii.2), (iv) and (v) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"(c) to (e), (h) and (i)] of the Act if the references in subparagraphs 66.1(6)(iv) and (v) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"(h) and (i)] of the Act (as those subparagraphs read on November 30, 1985) to "subparagraphs (i) to (iii.1)" were read as references to "subparagraphs (ii) to (ii.2)";

(b) were incurred in respect of the well

(i) in the year, and

(ii) after November 1985 and before 1991; and

(c) are not non-qualifying expenses of the taxpayer.

(5) For the purposes of subsections (3) and (4), a non-qualifying expense of a taxpayer is an expense that

(a) may reasonably be regarded as having been incurred as consideration for services to be rendered after 1990 or for property that cannot reasonably be considered to be for use by the taxpayer before 1991;

(b) was or is to be renounced by the taxpayer at any time under subsection 66(10.1) or (12.6) of the Act;

(c) is or was a Canadian exploration and development overhead expense, within the meaning of section 1206, of the taxpayer, of a partnership of which the taxpayer was a member or of a joint exploration corporation of which the taxpayer was a shareholder corporation;

(d) is an eligible cost or expense within the meaning of the Petroleum Incentives Program Act or the Petroleum Incentives Program Act, Chapter P-4.1 of the Statutes of Alberta, 1981, in respect of which, or in respect of part of which, the taxpayer, a partnership of which the taxpayer was a member, a joint exploration corporation of which the taxpayer was a shareholder corporation or a principal-business corporation of which the taxpayer was a shareholder, has received, is deemed to have received, is entitled to receive or may reasonably be expected to receive an incentive under either of those Acts; or

(e) was included in determining the specified expenses of any other taxpayer for a taxation year.

(6) For the purposes of this section, the base amount of a taxpayer at the end of a particular taxation year in respect of a well is the amount, if any, by which the taxpayer's threshold amount in respect of the well exceeds the aggregate of

(a) all amounts that would have been the taxpayer's specified expenses for any taxation year in respect of the well if

(i) the references in subparagraphs (3)(b)(ii) and (4)(b)(ii) to "after November 1985 and before 1991" were read as "after March 1985 and before December 1985", and

(ii) subsection (5) were read without reference to paragraph (d) thereof;

(b) all amounts referred to in paragraph (5)(d) for the particular taxation year or a preceding taxation year in respect of the well that would have been included in determining the taxpayer's specified expenses for the particular taxation year or the preceding taxation year but for that paragraph; and

(c) all amounts that are the taxpayer's specified expenses for any preceding taxation year in respect of the well.

(7) For the purposes of this section, the threshold amount of a taxpayer in respect of a well is

(a) where no agreement has been filed with the Minister under subsection (8) in respect of the well, $5,000,000; and

(b) where an agreement has been filed with the Minister under subsection (8) in respect of the well, the amount, if any, allocated to the taxpayer under the agreement.

(8) For the purposes of this section, where the aggregate of all expenses in respect of a well, each of which

(a) would be included in determining the specified expenses of a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of the well if subsection (5) were read without reference to paragraph (d) thereof, or

(b) would be included in determining the specified expenses of a taxpayer for a taxation year in respect of the well if

(i) the references in subparagraphs (3)(b)(ii) and (4)(b)(ii) to "after November 1985 and before 1991" were read as "after March 1985 and before December 1985", and

exceeds $5,000,000, all taxpayers who have incurred those expenses or in whose favour or to whom any of those expenses have been renounced under subsection 66(10.1) or (12.6) of the Act may file with the Minister an agreement in writing in the prescribed form in respect of the well allocating amounts to some or all of those taxpayers if

(c) the amount allocated to each taxpayer does not exceed the total of such expenses that were incurred by the taxpayer in respect of the well, and that are not to be renounced by the taxpayer under subsection 66(10.1) or (12.6) of the Act in favour of or to any other person, and

(d) the aggregate of all amounts so allocated is not less than $5,000,000.

(9) For the purposes of this section, where

(a) the drilling of a well (in this subsection referred to as the "abandoned well") is abandoned not because of the results obtained but because of geological or mechanical difficulties and the drilling of a new well (in this subsection referred to as the "new well") is commenced, and

(b) having regard to all the circumstances, including the lapse of time between the abandonment of the abandoned well and the commencement of the new well and the proximity of the sites of the wells, it is reasonable to regard the new well as a replacement for the abandoned well, the abandoned well and the new well shall be deemed to be one well.

(10) For the purposes of this section, where an expense of a joint exploration corporation is deemed by subsection 66(10.1) or (10.2) of the Act to be an expense of a shareholder corporation of the joint exploration corporation, the shareholder corporation shall be deemed to have incurred the expense at the time it was incurred by the joint exploration corporation.

(11) For the purpose of this section, where an expense of a principal-business corporation is deemed by subsection 66(12.61) or (12.63) of the Act to be an expense of a shareholder of the corporation, the shareholder shall be deemed to have incurred the expense at the time it was incurred by the principal-business corporation.

(12) For the purposes of this section, where an expense incurred by a partnership is, under subparagraph 66.1(6)(a)(iv) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"(h)] of the Act, a Canadian exploration expense of a taxpayer who was a member of the partnership, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have incurred the Canadian exploration expense at the time the expense was incurred by the partnership.

(13) For the purposes of this section, where an expense is a Canadian development expense of a taxpayer that is, under subsection 66.1(9) of the Act, deemed to be a Canadian exploration expense of the taxpayer, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have incurred the Canadian exploration expense at the time the Canadian development expense was incurred.

PART XLVIII — STATUS OF CORPORATIONS AND TRUSTS

History: Part XLVIII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

4800. (1) [Public corporation — prescribed conditions] — For the purposes of subparagraph (b)(i) of the definition "public corporation" in subsection 89(1) of the Act, the following conditions are prescribed in respect of a corporation other than a cooperative corporation (within the meaning assigned by section 136 of the Act) or a credit union:

(a) a class of shares of the capital stock of the corporation designated by the corporation in its election or by the Minister in his notice to the corporation, as the case may be, shall be qualified for distribution to the public;

(b) there shall be no fewer than

(i) where the shares of that class are equity shares, 150, and

(ii) in any other case, 300

persons, other than insiders of the corporation, each of whom holds

(iii) not less than one block of shares of that class, and

(iv) shares of that class having an aggregate fair market value of not less than $500; and

(c) insiders of the corporation shall not hold more than 80 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of that class.

Forms: T2073: Election to be a public corporation.

(2) [Public corporation — prescribed conditions] — For the purposes of subparagraph (c)(i) of the definition "public corporation" in subsection 89(1) of the Act, the following conditions are prescribed in respect of a corporation:

(a) insiders of the corporation shall hold more than 90 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of each class of shares of the capital stock of the corporation that

(i) was, at any time after the corporation last became a public corporation, listed on a stock exchange in Canada prescribed for the purposes of section 89 of the Act, or

(ii) was a class, designated as described in paragraph (1)(a), by virtue of which the corporation last became a public corporation;

(b) in respect of each class of shares described in subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii), there shall be fewer than

(i) where the shares of that class are equity shares, 50, and

(ii) in any other case, 100

persons, other than insiders of the corporation, each of whom holds

(iii) not less than one block of shares of that class, and

(iv) shares of that class having an aggregate fair market value of not less than $500; and

(c) there shall be no class of shares of the capital stock of the corporation that is qualified for distribution to the public and complies with the conditions described in paragraphs (1)(b) and (c).

Forms: T2067: Election not to be a public corporation.

(3) [Public corporation — amalgamation] — Where, by virtue of an amalgamation (within the meaning assigned by section 87 of the Act) of predecessor corporations any one or more of which was, immediately before the amalgamation, a public corporation, shares of any class of the capital stock of any such public corporation that was

(a) at any time after the corporation last became a public corporation, listed on a stock exchange in Canada prescribed for the purposes of section 89 of the Act, or

(b) the class, designated as described in paragraph (1)(a), by virtue of which the corporation last became a public corporation, are converted into shares of any class (in this subsection referred to as the "new class") of the capital stock of the new corporation, the new class shall, for the purposes of subsection (2), be deemed to be a class, designated as described in paragraph (1)(a), by virtue of which the new corporation last became a public corporation.

(4) [Public corporation — election requirements] — Any election under subparagraphs (b)(i) or (c)(i) of the definition "public corporation" in subsection 89(1) of the Act shall be made by filing with the Minister the following documents:

(a) the form prescribed by the Minister;

(b) where the directors of the corporation are legally entitled to administer the affairs of the corporation, a certified copy of their resolution authorizing the election to be made;

(c) where the directors of the corporation are not legally entitled to administer the affairs of the corporation, a certified copy of the authorization of the making of the election by the person or persons legally entitled to administer the affairs of the corporation; and

(d) a statutory declaration made by a director of the corporation stating that, after reasonable inquiry for the purpose of informing himself in that regard, to the best of his knowledge the corporation complies with all the prescribed conditions that must be complied with at the time the election is made.

4801. [Mutual fund trust — prescribed conditions] — For the purposes of paragraph 132(6)(c) of the Act, the following conditions are hereby prescribed in respect of a trust:

(a) either

(i) a class of the units of the trust shall be qualified for distribution to the public, or

(ii) there has been a lawful distribution in a province to the public of units of the trust and a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was not required under the laws of the province to be filed in respect of the distribution; and

(b) in respect of any one class of units described in paragraph (a), there shall be no fewer than 150 beneficiaries of the trust, each of whom holds

(i) not less than one block of units of the class, and

(ii) units of the class having an aggregate fair market value of not less than $500.

Related Provisions: Reg. 221(1)(f) — Reporting requirements.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 4801(a)(ii) Application

Letter from Department of Finance, March 12, 2003:

Dear [xxx]

Thank you for your letter of November 6, 2002, concerning the application of section 4801 of the Income Tax Regulations to a trust seeking to qualify as a mutual fund trust for income tax purposes.

The meaning for income tax purposes of the expression "mutual fund trust" is found in subsection 132(6) of the Income Tax Act. Paragraph 132(6)(c) of the Act requires that a trust meet at a particular time prescribed conditions in order to qualify at that time as a mutual fund trust.

The first prescribed condition is found in paragraph 4801(a): it requires either that a class of units of a trust be qualified for distribution to the public, as defined in subsection 4803(2) of the Regulations, or for trusts established after 1999, that there be a lawful distribution in a province to the public of units off the trust where a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was not required under the laws of the province to be filed in respect of the distribution.

You are seeking an amendment to paragraph 4801(a) of the Regulations so that a trust created before 2000 would be able to elect to rely upon the condition in subparagraph 4801(a)(ii) in order to satisfy the requirements of that paragraph.

Subparagraph 4801(a)(ii) of the Regulations is generally intended to ensure that the requirements under the Act for a securities distribution are generally no more onerous than those imposed under provincial securities requirements for mutual fund trusts. From a tax policy perspective, it would not be inconsistent with this goal to permit a trust created before 2000 to be able to rely upon that subparagraph in satisfying the prescribed conditions for mutual fund trusts.

We are, therefore, prepared to recommend an amendment to the Regulations so that, for the 2004 and subsequent taxation years of trusts created before 2000, the condition prescribed under paragraph 4801(a) would be met, under subparagraph 4801(a)(ii), if there has been a lawful distribution in a province to the public of units of a class of units of the trust and a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was not required under the laws of the province to be filed in respect of the distribution. However, to prevent such a trust from being re-characterized, contrary to the intention of its trustee or investors, as a mutual fund trust under the Act, such a revised subparagraph 4801(a)(ii) would apply to trusts created before 2000 only if the trust were to so elect and only for taxation years that end after the time at which the election was made.

Of course, we cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with the recommendation that we intend to make in this regard. Nonetheless, we trust that this statement of our position is helpful.

Thank you for writing.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein
Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

Proposed Addition — Reg. 4802(1)(c.2)

Letter from Dept. of Finance, October 30, 2002:

Dear [xxx]

This is in reply to your fax of October 16, 2002 in which you request an amendment to the Income Tax Regulations that would permit the [xxx] and its subsidiaries to acquire shares of pension investment corporations that are exempt from tax under paragraph 149(1)(o.2) of the Income Tax Act.

We agree that the [xxx] should not be precluded from investing in such corporations. Accordingly, we will recommend to the Minister of Finance that the list of prescribed shareholders under subsection 4802(1) of the Regulations be expanded to include the [xxx] effective after October 2002.

I trust this is satisfactory.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein
Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

Letter from Dept. of Finance, October 16, 2003:

Dear [xxx]

This is in reply to your letter of September 9, 2003 in which you request a change to the income tax rules that would permit the [xxx] and its wholly-owned subsidiaries to invest in corporations that are exempt from tax under paragraph 149(1)(o.2) of the Income Tax Act (the "Act"). I also wish to acknowledge discussions between Tax Legislation officials and your external tax counsel.

Based on our understanding that the [xxx] activities are limited to the investment of the assets held in connection with the registered pension plans established under the Canadian Forces Superannuation Act, the Public Service Superannuation Act, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Superannuation Act, we have no tax policy concerns with the [xxx] investing in such corporations. Accordingly, we will recommend to the Minister of Finance that the income tax rules be amended to clarify that the [xxx] and its wholly-owned subsidiaries are permissible shareholders for corporations described in paragraph 149(1)(o.2) of the Act, effective after September 2003.

I trust this is satisfactory.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein

(2) [Prescribed insurers] — For the purposes of paragraph 149(1)(t) of the Act, the following are prescribed insurers:

(a) Union Québécoise, compagnie d'assurances générales inc.;

(b) Les Clairvoyants Compagnie d'Assurance Générale Inc.; and

(c) Laurentian Farm Insurance Company Inc.

History: Subsec. 4802(2) added by P.C. 1994-785, May 12, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 1, 1994, applicable to 1989 et seq.

Definitions [Reg. 4802]: "corporation" — ITA 248(1), Interpretation Act 35(1); "employment" — ITA 248(1); "Her Majesty" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "insurer", "person", "prescribed" — ITA 248(1); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "registered pension plan", "share" — ITA 248(1); "trust" — ITA 104(1), 248(1), (3).

4803. (1) In this Part,

"block of shares" means, with respect to any class of the capital stock of a corporation,

(a) 100 shares, if the fair market value of one share of the class is less than $25,

(b) 25 shares, if the fair market value of one share of the class is $25 or more but less than $100, and

(c) 10 shares, if the fair market value of one share of the class is $100 or more;

"block of units" means, with respect to any class of units of a trust,

(a) 100 units, if the fair market value of one unit of the class is less than $25,

(b) 25 units, if the fair market value of one unit of the class is $25 or more but less than $100, and

(c) 10 units, if the fair market value of one unit of the class is $100 or more;

"equity share" has the meaning assigned by section 204 of the Act;

"insider of a corporation" has the meaning that would be assigned by section 100 of the Canada Corporations Act if the references therein to "public company" and to "equity shares" were read as references to "corporation" and "shares" respectively, except that a person who is an employee of the corporation, or of a person who does not deal at arm's length with the corporation, and whose right to sell or transfer any share of the capital stock of the corporation, or to exercise the voting rights, if any, attaching to the share, is restricted by

(a) the terms and conditions attaching to the share, or

(b) any obligation of the person, under a contract, in equity or otherwise, to the corporation or to any person with whom the corporation does not deal at arm's length, shall be deemed to hold the share as an insider of the corporation.

History: Subsec. 4803(1) is the former subsec. 4802(1) renumbered by P.C. 1985-2277, subsec. 14(1), July 24, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 7, 1985, applicable to taxation years commencing after 1978.

The definition of "equity share" in former subsec. 4802(1) substituted by P.C. 1984-339, s. 1, February 2, 1984, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 22, 1984, effective November 13, 1981.

(2) [Meaning of "qualified for distribution to the public"] — For the purposes of this Part, a class of shares of the capital stock of a corporation or a class of units of a trust is qualified for distribution to the public only if

(a) a prospectus, registration statement or similar document has been filed with, and, where required by law, accepted for filing by, a public authority in Canada pursuant to and in accordance with the law of Canada or of any province and there has been a lawful distribution to the public of shares or units of that class in accordance with that document;

(b) the class is a class of shares, any of which were issued by the corporation at any time after 1971 while it was a public corporation in exchange for shares of any other class of the capital stock of the corporation that was, immediately before the exchange, qualified for distribution to the public;

(c) in the case of any class of shares, any of which were issued and outstanding on January 1, 1972, the class complied on that date with the conditions described in paragraphs 4800(1)(b) and (c); or

(d) in the case of any class of units, any of which were issued and outstanding on January 1, 1972, the class complied on that date with the condition described in paragraph 4801(b).

History: Subsec. 4803(2) is the former subsec. 4802(2), renumbered by P.C. 1985-2277, subsec. 14(1), July 24, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 7, 1985, applicable to taxation years commencing after 1978.

(3) [Group holdings] — For the purposes of paragraphs 4800(1)(b), 4800(2)(b) and 4801(b), where a group of persons holds

(a) not less than one block of shares of any class of shares of the capital stock of a corporation or one block of units of any class of a trust, as the case may be, and

(b) shares or units, as the case may be, of that class having an aggregate fair market value of not less than $500, that group shall, subject to subsection (4), be deemed to be one person for the purposes of determining the number of persons who hold shares or units, as the case may be, of that class.

History: Subsec. 4803(3) is the former subsec. 4802(3), renumbered by P.C. 1985-2277, subsec. 14(1), July 24, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 7, 1985, applicable to taxation years commencing after 1978.

(4) [Determination of group] — In determining under subsection (3) the persons who belong to a group for the purposes of determining the number of persons who hold shares or units, as the case may be, of a particular class, the following rules apply:

(a) no person shall be included in more than one group;

(b) no person shall be included in a group if he holds

(i) not less than one block of shares or one block of units, as the case may be, of that class, and

(ii) shares or units, as the case may be, of that class having an aggregate fair market value of not less than $500; and

(c) the membership of each group shall be determined in the manner that results in the greatest possible number of groups.

History: Subsec. 4803(4) is the former subsec. 4802(4), renumbered by P.C. 1985-2277, subsec. 14(1), July 24, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 7, 1985, applicable to taxation years commencing after 1978.

Subparas. 4802(4)(b)(i), (ii) substituted by P.C. 1981-1556, s. 2, June 11, 1981, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 24, 1981, effective 1972 et seq.

PART XLIX — DEFERRED INCOME PLANS, QUALIFIED INVESTMENTS

History: Part XLIX (ss. 4900, 4901) substituted by P.C. 1981-2578, s. 4, September 16, 1981, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 14, 1981, effective commencing January 1, 1981.

Part XLIX was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

4900. (1) [Qualified investment for RRSP, RESP, RRIF, DPSP] — Subject to subsection (2), for the purposes of paragraph (d) of the definition "qualified investment" in subsection 146(1) of the Act, paragraph (e) of the definition "qualified investment" in subsection 146.1(1) of the Act, paragraph (c) of the definition "qualified investment" in subsection 146.3(1) of the Act and paragraph (i) of the definition "qualified investment" in section 204 of the Act, each of the following investments is prescribed as a qualified investment for a plan trust at a particular time if at that time it is History: The opening words of subsec. 4900(1) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(1), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after October 27, 1998.

(a) [registered investment] — an interest in a trust or a share of the capital stock of a corporation that was a registered investment for the plan trust during the calendar year in which the particular time occurs or the immediately preceding year;

(b) [share of public corporation] — a share of the capital stock of a public corporation other than a mortgage investment corporation;

History: Para. 4900(1)(b) amended by P.C. 1994-1074, subsec. 1(1), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable after 1992.

(c) [share of mortgage investment corporation] — a share of the capital stock of a mortgage investment corporation that does not hold as part of its property at any time during the calendar year in which the particular time occurs any indebtedness, whether by way of mortgage or otherwise, of a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary, an employer or a subscriber under the governing plan of the plan trust or of any other person who does not deal at arm's length with that person;

History: Para. 4900(1)(c) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(2), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after October 27, 1998.

(c.1) [bond of public corporation] — a bond, debenture, note or similar obligation of a public corporation other than a mortgage investment corporation;

History: Para. 4900(1)(c.1) added by P.C. 1994-1074, subsec. 1(2), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable after 1992.

(d) [unit of mutual fund trust] — a unit of a mutual fund trust;

(d.1) [bond of mutual fund trust] — a bond, debenture, note or similar obligation issued by a mutual fund trust the units of which are listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200;

History: Para. 4900(1)(d.1) added by P.C. 1998-629, subsec. 1(1), April 23, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 13, 1998, applicable to property acquired after 1996.

(d.2) [unit of a trust] — a unit of a trust if

(i) the trust would be a mutual fund trust if Part XLVIII were read without reference to paragraph 4801(a), and

(ii) there has been a lawful distribution in a province to the public of units of the trust and a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was not required under the laws of the province to be filed in respect of the distribution;

History: Para. 4900(1)(d.2) added by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(3), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after 1993.

(e) [warrant or option] — a warrant or right giving the owner thereof the right to acquire either immediately or in the future property all of which is a qualified investment for the plan trust;

Proposed Amendment — 4900(1)(e)

(e) [warrant or option] — a warrant or right issued by a person or partnership (in this paragraph referred to as the "issuer") that gives the holder of the warrant or right, the right to acquire property that is a qualified investment for the plan trust if

(i) the property is a share of the capital stock, or a unit, of the issuer or of another person or partnership that does not, when the warrant or right is issued, deal at arm's length with the issuer, and

(ii) the issuer deals at arm's length with each person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary, an employer or a subscriber under the governing plan of the plan trust;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 3(1), will amend para. 4900(1)(e) to read as above, applicable to property acquired after February 27, 2004.

Technical Notes: Paragraph 4900(1)(e) provides that a warrant or right that gives the holder the right to acquire property is a qualified investment, provided that the underlying property is a qualified investment.

This paragraph is amended in two ways. First, it is amended to add an arm's length test. To qualify, the issuer of the warrant or right will be required, on an on-going basis, to deal at arm's length with each person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary, an employer or a subscriber under the registered plan. Second, the underlying property will be required to be a share or unit of the issuer or a share or unit of another person or partnership that, at the time of issuance, does not deal at arm's length with the issuer.

History: Para. 4900(1)(e) amended by P.C. 1994-1074, subsec. 1(3), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable after 1992.

Para. 4900(1)(e) substituted by P.C. 1985-587, February 28, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 20, 1985, effective after February 25, 1985.

Proposed Addition — 4900(1)(e.01)

(e.01) [option listed on stock exchange] — an option listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200 or 3201 that gives the holder of the option, the right to purchase or sell property that is a qualified investment for the plan trust or, in lieu of delivery of that property, to receive a cash payment in settlement;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 3(1), will add para. 4900(1)(e.01), applicable after February 27, 2004.

Technical Notes: New paragraph 4900(1)(e.01) provides that an option that is listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200 or 3201 of the Regulations is a qualified investment, provided that the underlying property is a qualified investment and regardless of whether settlement is made by way of delivery of the underlying property or by cash payment. The effect of this change is to enable RRSPs, RRIFs, RESPs and DPSPs to acquire publicly-listed put options and cash-settled index options, in addition to call options (which were already qualified investments under former paragraph 4900(1)(e)).

History: Para. 4900(1)(e.1) added by P.C. 1983-3319, s. 1, October 20, 1983, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 9, 1983, applicable to 1982 et seq.

(f) [share of credit union] — a share of, or similar interest in a credit union;

(g) [bond of credit union] — a bond, debenture, note or similar obligation (in this paragraph referred to as the "obligation") issued by, or a deposit with, a credit union that, except where the plan trust is governed by a registered education savings plan, has not at any time during the calendar year in which the particular time occurs granted any benefit or privilege to a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary or an employer under the governing plan of the plan trust, or to any other person who does not deal at arm's length with that person, as a result of the ownership by

(i) the plan trust of a share or obligation of, or a deposit with, the credit union, or

(ii) a registered investment of a share or obligation of, or a deposit with, the credit union if the plan trust has invested in that registered investment, and a credit union shall be deemed to have granted a benefit or privilege to a person in a year if at any time in that year that person continues to enjoy a benefit or privilege that was granted in a prior year;

History: The opening words of para. 4900(1)(g) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(4), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after October 27, 1998.

(h) [bond of cooperative corporation] — a bond, debenture, note or similar obligation (in this paragraph referred to as the "obligation") issued by a cooperative corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection 136(2) of the Act)

(i) that throughout the taxation year of the cooperative corporation immediately preceding the year in which the obligation was acquired by the plan trust had not less than 100 shareholders or, if all its shareholders were corporations, not less than 50 shareholders,

(ii) whose obligations were, at the end of each month of

(A) the last taxation year, if any, of the cooperative corporation prior to the date of acquisition of the obligation by the plan trust, or

(B) the period commencing three months after the date an obligation was first acquired by any plan trust and ending on the last day of the taxation year of the cooperative corporation in which that period commenced, whichever of the periods referred to in clause (A) or (B) commences later, held by plan trusts the average number of which is not less than 100 computed on the basis that no two plan trusts shall have the same individual as an annuitant or a beneficiary, as the case may be, and

(iii) that, except where the plan trust is governed by a registered education savings plan, has not at any time during the calendar year in which the particular time occurs granted any benefit or privilege to a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary or an employer under the governing plan of the plan trust, or to any other person who does not deal at arm's length with that person, as a result of the ownership by

(A) the plan trust of a share or obligation of the cooperative corporation, or

(B) a registered investment of a share or obligation of the cooperative corporation if the plan trust has invested in that registered investment, and a cooperative corporation shall be deemed to have granted a benefit or privilege to a person in a year if at any time in that year that person continues to enjoy a benefit or privilege that was granted in a prior year;

History: The opening words of subpara. 4900(1)(h)(iii) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(5), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after October 27, 1998.

(i) [bonds of certain corporations] — a bond, debenture, note or similar obligation (in this paragraph referred to as the "obligation") of a Canadian corporation

(i) if payment of the principal amount of the obligation and the interest on the principal amount is guaranteed by a corporation or a mutual fund trust whose shares or units, as the case may be, are listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200,

(ii) if the corporation is controlled directly or indirectly by

(A) one or more corporations,

(B) one or more mutual fund trusts, or

(C) one or more corporations and mutual fund trusts whose shares or units, as the case may be, are listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200, or

(iii) if, at the time the obligation is acquired by the plan trust, the corporation that issued the obligation is

(A) a corporation that, in respect of its capital stock, has issued and outstanding share capital carried in its books at not less than $25 million, or

(B) a corporation that is controlled by a corporation described in clause (A),

and has issued and outstanding bonds, debentures, notes or similar obligations having in the aggregate a principal amount of at least $10 million that are held by at least 300 different persons and were issued by the corporation by means of one or more offerings, provided that in respect of each such offering a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was filed with and, where required by law, accepted for filing by a public authority in Canada pursuant to and in accordance with the laws of Canada or a province and there was a lawful distribution to the public of those bonds, debentures, notes or similar obligations in accordance with that document;

History: Subpara. 4900(1)(i)(i) and the closing words of subpara. (ii) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsecs. 6(6) and (7), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, effective from April 1, 2001.

(i.1) [community bond guaranteed by province] — a security of a Canadian corporation

(i) that was issued pursuant to The Community Bonds Act, chapter C-16.1 of the Statutes of Saskatchewan, 1990, The Rural Development Bonds Act, chapter 47 of the Statutes of Manitoba, 1991-92, the Community Economic Development Act, 1993, chapter 26 of the Statutes of Ontario, 1993, or the New Brunswick Community Development Bond Program through which financial assistance is provided under the Economic Development Act, chapter E-1.11 of the Acts of New Brunswick, 1975, and

(ii) the payment of the principal amount of which is guaranteed by Her Majesty in right of a province;

History: Para. 4900(1)(i.1) amended by P.C. 1994-1075, subsec. 1(1), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable to property acquired after August 1993.

Para. 4900(1)(i.1) added by P.C. 1992-2334, s. 2, November 19, 1992, Canada Gazette Part II, December 2, 1992, applicable in respect of property acquired after June 30, 1991.

(i.11) [Nova Scotia Equity Tax Credit Act] — a share of the capital stock of a Canadian corporation that is registered under section 11 of the Equity Tax Credit Act, chapter 3 of the Statutes of Nova Scotia, 1993, the registration of which has not been revoked under that Act;

History: Para. 4900(1)(i.11) added by P.C. 1996-1487, subsec. 1(1), September 24, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 16, 1996, applicable to property acquired after 1995.

(i.12) [NWT risk capital investment] — a share of the capital stock of a Canadian corporation that is registered under section 39 of the Risk Capital Investment Tax Credits Act, chapter 22 of the Statutes of the Northwest Territories, 1998, the registration of which has not been revoked under that Act;

History: Para. 4900(1)(i.12) added by P.C. 1999-249, subsec. 1(1), February 18, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable to property acquired after August 1998.

(i.2) [banker's acceptance] — indebtedness of a Canadian corporation (other than a corporation that does not deal at arm's length with a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary, an employer or a subscriber under the governing plan of the plan trust) represented by a bankers' acceptance;

History: Para. 4900(1)(i.2) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(8), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after October 27, 1998.

Para. 4900(1)(i.2) added by P.C. 1994-1074, subsec. 1(4), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable after 1992.

Proposed Addition — 4900(1)(i.3)

(i.3) [investment-grade corporate debt] — a debt obligation issued by a Canadian corporation or a trust resident in Canada if

(i) the principal purpose of the corporation or trust is to derive income from the holding of indebtedness,

(ii) the debt obligation derives all or substantially all of its value from indebtedness held by the corporation or trust,

(iii) at the particular time, the total of all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the corporation or trust of indebtedness of a person or partnership resident in Canada is not less than 80% of the total cost amount to the corporation or trust of all of its property,

(iv) the debt obligation had, at the time of its acquisition by the plan trust, an investment grade rating with a bond rating agency that rates debt in the ordinary course of its business, and

(v) the debt obligation is issued by the corporation or trust as part of a single issue of debt of at least $25 million by the corporation or trust;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 3(2), will add para. 4900(1)(i.3), applicable after February 27, 2004.

Technical Notes: New paragraph 4900(1)(i.3) provides that a debt obligation issued by a Canadian corporation or a trust resident in Canada is a qualified investment, subject to the following requirements:

- the principal purpose of the issuer is to derive income from the holding of indebtedness;
- the debt obligation derives all or substantially all of its value from the indebtedness held by the issuer;
- at least 80% of the issuer's property is indebtedness owed by Canadian residents;
- the debt obligation had an investment grade rating with a recognized rating agency when it was acquired by the plan trust; and
- the debt obligation was issued as part of single debt issue of at least $25 million.

Paragraph 4900(1)(i.3) is intended, in particular, to accommodate investments in debt obligations (commonly known as asset-backed securities) that are backed by cash flows from pools of loans and other receivables. Paragraph 4900(1)(i.3) applies after Announcement Date.

(j) [mortgage] — a mortgage

(i) that is in respect of real property situated in Canada (or an interest in that mortgage), and

Proposed Amendment — 4900(1)(j) before (ii)

(j) a particular indebtedness that is secured by a mortgage in respect of real property situated in Canada,

(i) the cost amount to a taxpayer of which particular indebtedness (together with the cost amount to a taxpayer of any other indebtedness in respect of the property that ranks equally with or superior to the particular indebtedness) does not exceed the fair market value of the property, except as a result of a decline in the fair market value of the property after the particular indebtedness is issued, and

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 3(3), will amend the portion of para. 4900(1)(j) before subpara. (ii) to read as above, applicable

(a) in respect of property acquired after February 27, 2004, after February 27, 2004; and

(b) in respect of property acquired before February 28, 2004, after 2004.

Technical Notes: Paragraph 4900(1)(j) provides that a mortgage obligation that is secured on real property situated in Canada is a qualified investment. For this purpose, paragraph 4901(3)(a) provides that a reference to a mortgage includes a charge, hypothec or similar instrument pertaining to real property, as well as an interest in a mortgage.

Paragraph 4900(1)(j) is amended to ensure that a mortgage obligation qualifies only if the amount of the mortgage obligation (together with the amount of any other indebtedness in respect of the property that is of equal or superior rank) does not exceed the fair market value of the property, except as a result of a decline in the fair market value of the real property after issuance of the mortgage obligation. This test applies on an ongoing basis. This amendment is consistent with the introduction of subparagraph (g)(iii) to the definition of "foreign property" in subsection 206(1) of the Act.

(ii) that is, if any mortgagor of that mortgage is a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary, an employer or a subscriber under the governing plan of the plan trust or is any other person who does not deal at arm's length with that person,

(A) administered by an approved lender under the National Housing Act, and

(B) insured

(I) under the National Housing Act, or

(II) by a corporation that offers its services to the public in Canada as an insurer of mortgages and that is approved as a private insurer of mortgages by the Superintendent of Financial Institutions pursuant to the powers assigned to the Superintendent under subsection 6(1) of the Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions Act;

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 4900(1)(j)

Letter from Dept. of Finance, July 2, 2002:

Dear [xxx]

This is in reply to your letters of September 28, 2001 and June 13, 2002 in which you seek an amendment to the Income Tax Regulations to ensure the continuing eligibility for deferred income plans to invest in certain mortgage certificates.

Based on the information set out in your letters and provided by telephone, we understand that the mortgage certificates in question represent undivided co-ownership interests in a pool of commercial mortgages. The certificates had been offered to the public by prospectus as part of a minimum offering of at least [xxx]. At the time of the offering, the certificates had an investment grade rating by a recognized rating agency and all of the interests in the mortgages in the pool were qualified investments under existing paragraph 4900(1)(j) of the Regulations.

In general, the mortgages contain a clause that provides the mortgagor with the right to substitute a pledge of high quality security in exchange for the release of the real property security. The substitute security, which is limited to certain properties described in paragraphs (a) and (b) of the definition "qualified investment" in section 204 of the Income Tax Act, is required to provide for payments that reflect, as closely as possible, the mortgagor's remaining payment obligations.

You are concerned that, since a substitution of security under a particular mortgage would result in the interest in the mortgage ceasing to qualify under paragraph 4900(1)(j), the exercise of such a right may have adverse income tax effects on deferred income plan investors. This would be the case where the interest was not a qualified investment under any other provision of the Act or Regulations. The purpose of the requested amendment would be to ensure that the interest would continue to be a qualified investment without having to rely on other provisions of the Act and Regulations.

In these circumstances, we agree that such an interest should retain its status as a qualified investment. Consequently, we will recommend to the Minister of Finance that the Regulations be amended to ensure that such an interest will not become a non-qualified investment solely because of the substitution of the security under the terms of the mortgage. We will further recommend that the amendment apply to substitutions of security that occur after 2000.

I trust this is satisfactory.

Yours sincerely,
Brian Ernewein
Director, Tax Legislation Division

History: Para. 4900(1)(j) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(9), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after October 27, 1998, except that it shall not apply to property acquired before March 31, 2001 by a trust governed by a deferred profit sharing plan.

(k) [pre-1981 qualified investment] — an investment, other than a qualified investment described in paragraphs (a) to (j), that

(i) was, at the end of 1980, a qualified investment for a trust pursuant to subparagraph 204(e)(v) of the Act or section 1502, this Part or section 5800, as the case may be, as those provisions read at that time,

(ii) was held on December 31, 1980 and continuously thereafter by the trust until the particular time,

(iii) would have continued to be a qualified investment of the trust from December 31, 1980 until the particular time had the provisions referred to in subparagraph (i) been in force throughout that period of time, and

(iv) was not, at any time before the particular time, an interest in a registered investment;

(l) [bond of international organization] — a bond, debenture, note or similar obligation issued or guaranteed by

(i) the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development,

(i.1) the International Finance Corporation,

(ii) the Inter-American Development Bank,

(iii) the Asian Development Bank,

(iv) the Caribbean Development Bank,

(v) the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development, or

(vi) the African Development Bank;

History: Subpara. 4900(1)(l)(vi) added by P.C. 1999-133, subsec. 1(1), February 4, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 17, 1999, applicable after 1996.

Subpara. 4900(1)(l)(v) added by P.C. 1994-1075, subsec. 1(2), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable to months beginning after March 1991.

Subpara. 4900(1)(l)(i.1) added by P.C. 1994-1074, subsec. 1(5), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable after July 13, 1990.

Para. 4900(1)(l) added by P.C. 1986-772, subsec. 2(1), March 26, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, April 16, 1986, effective after October 31, 1985.

(m) [listed royalty unit] — a royalty unit that is listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200 and the value of which is derived solely from Canadian resource properties;

History: Para. 4900(1)(m) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(10), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, effective from April 1, 2001.

Para. 4900(1)(m) added by P.C. 1992-2334, s. 2, November 19, 1992, Canada Gazette Part II, December 2, 1992, applicable in respect of property acquired after July 16, 1992 respectively.

(n) [listed limited partnership unit] — a limited partnership unit listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200;

History: Para. 4900(1)(n) added by P.C. 1994-1074, subsec. 1(6), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable after 1992.

Proposed Addition — 4900(1)(n.01)

(n.01) [debt of listed limited partnership] — a debt issued by a limited partnership whose units are listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 3(4), will add para. 4900(1)(n.01), applicable after February 27, 2004.

Technical Notes: New paragraph 4900(1)(n.01) provides that debt of a limited partnership whose units are listed on a Canadian stock exchange referred to in section 3200 is a qualified investment.

(n.1) [foreign stock exchange index units] — a unit of a particular trust if

(i) at the particular time, the unit is listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3201,

(ii) the primary purpose of the particular trust is

(A) to hold the securities included in a stock exchange index (including a stock exchange index reflecting securities issued by corporations or other entities carrying on a particular type of business activity) in substantially the same portion as those securities are reflected in that index, or

(B) to invest in a manner that causes the investment performance of the particular trust to replicate the investment performance of that index, and

(iii) at the particular time or the time of the last acquisition of the unit before the particular time by the plan trust, the total of all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the particular trust of a share of the capital stock of a corporation listed on a single stock exchange referred to in section 3200 or 3201 is not less than 80% of the total of all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the particular trust of a property of the particular trust;

History: Para. 4900(1)(n.1) added by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(11), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after 1993.

(o) [bond of foreign government] — a bond, a debenture, note or similar obligation issued by the government of a country other than Canada and that had, at the time of purchase, an investment grade rating with a bond rating agency that in the ordinary course of its business rates the debt obligations issued by that government;

History: Para. 4900(1)(o) added by P.C. 1994-1075, subsec. 1(3), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable to property acquired after June 21, 1993.

(p) [bond of corporation listed outside Canada] — a bond, debenture, note or similar obligation of a corporation the shares of which are listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3201;

History: Para. 4900(1)(p) added by P.C. 1994-1075, subsec. 1(3), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable to property acquired after June 21, 1993.

History: Para. 4900(1)(p.1) added by P.C. 1998-629, subsec. 1(2), April 23, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 13, 1998, applicable to 1997 et seq.

(q) [debt of privatized Crown corporation] — a debt issued by a Canadian corporation (other than a corporation with share capital or a corporation that does not deal at arm's length with a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary, an employer or a subscriber under the governing plan of the plan trust) where

(i) the taxable income of the corporation is exempt from tax under Part I of the Act because of paragraph 149(1)(l) of the Act, and

(ii) either

(A) before the particular time and after 1995, the corporation

(I) acquired, for a total consideration of not less than $25 million, property from Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province, and

(II) put that property to a use that is the same as or similar to the use to which the property was put before the acquisition described in subclause (I), or

(B) at the time of the acquisition of the debt by the plan trust, it was reasonable to expect that clause (A) would apply in respect of the debt no later than one year after the time of the acquisition;

History: The opening words of para. 4900(1)(q) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(12), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after October 27, 1998.

Para. 4900(1)(q) added by P.C. 1996-1487, subsec. 1(2), September 24, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 16, 1996, applicable to property acquired after 1995.

(r) [debt of large non-profit organization] — a debt issued by a Canadian corporation (other than a corporation with share capital or a corporation that does not deal at arm's length with a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary or an employer under the governing plan of the plan trust) if

(i) the taxable income of the corporation is exempt from tax under Part I of the Act because of paragraph 149(1)(l) of the Act, and

(ii) either

(A) the debt is issued by the corporation as part of an issue of debt by the corporation for an amount of at least $25 million, or

(B) at the time of the acquisition of the debt by the plan trust, the corporation had issued debt as part of a single issue for an amount of at least $25 million; or History: Para. 4900(1)(r) added by P.C. 1999-133, subsec. 1(2), February 4, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 17, 1999, applicable after February 1998.

(s) where the particular time is before 2002, a security of a corporation (other than a corporation that does not deal at arm's length with a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary, an employer or a subscriber under the governing plan of the plan trust)

(i) that

(A) was last acquired by the plan trust before September 2000, and

(B) either

(I) at the time of that acquisition was quoted on the OTC Bulletin Board quotation service operated by Nasdaq Stock Market, Inc. or on the OTC quotation service operated by Pink Sheets LLC, or

(II) at the time of that acquisition was a qualified investment for the plan trust and at any time in the period that began at the time of that acquisition and ended before September 2000 was quoted on the OTC Bulletin Board quotation service operated by Nasdaq Stock Market, Inc. or on the OTC quotation service operated by Pink Sheets LLC, or

(ii) that

(A) was acquired by the plan trust after August 2000 from another plan trust under which the annuitant or beneficiary is also the annuitant or beneficiary under the plan trust,

(B) immediately before its acquisition by the plan trust was a qualified investment for the other plan trust, and

(C) would be a qualified investment for the plan trust because of this paragraph if this paragraph were read without reference to this subparagraph and the plan trust had acquired the security before September 2000.

History: Para. 4900(1)(s) added by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(13), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired before September 2000.

Proposed Addition — Annuities

Department of Finance news release, December 19, 1996: Minister Announces Proposals Affecting Segregated Fund Policies and Other Annuity Contracts

...

An annuity contract (including a segregated fund policy) that is issued by a person licensed or otherwise authorized under the laws of Canada or a province to carry on in Canada an annuities business will be allowed to be a qualified investment for an RRSP or RRIF trust. For such an annuity contract to be a qualified investment under an RRSP or RRIF trust under the new rules, the contract must be acquired by the trust after 1997, the trust must be the only person (other than the insurer who issued the contract) entitled to future rights or benefits under the contract, and the timing and amount of the trust's entitlements cannot be affected by the personal circumstances of any individual, other than the length of the life of the individual who was the RRSP or RRIF annuitant immediately after the contract was acquired.

This amendment will be implemented by way of an amendment to Part XLIX of the Income Tax Regulations. No change to paragraph (c) of the definition "qualified investment" in subsection 146(1) of the Act is contemplated. However, it is contemplated that subsection 146(11) of the Act will be amended to provide that it does not apply to annuity contracts issued after 1997.

Possible Future Amendment — Exchange-Traded Futures Contracts

Letter from Dept. of Finance, July 4, 2000:

Dear [xxx]

Thank you for your letter of June 14, 2000 concerning eligible investments for deferred income plans and registered investments.

[Agreement to amend 204.4(2)(a)(ii)(A), now enacted — ed.]

You also request a change to Part 49 of the Regulations to add exchange-traded futures contracts to the list of qualified investments for RRSPs and other deferred income plans. While we will consider your request in the context of our ongoing review of the qualified investment rules, we are not prepared at this time to recommend the changes you seek in this regard.

Thank you for writing.

Yours sincerely,
Len Farber
General Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

(9) [Small business investment — conditions] — For the purposes of subsection (6), where

(a) a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan, a registered education savings plan or a registered retirement income fund holds

(i) an interest in a small business investment limited partnership, or

(ii) an interest in a small business investment trust

that holds a small business security (referred to in this subsection as the "designated security") of a corporation, and

(b) a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary or a subscriber under the plan or fund is a designated shareholder of the corporation, the interest shall not be a qualified investment for the trust governed by the plan or fund unless

(c) the designated security is a share of the capital stock of an eligible corporation,

(d) the partnership or trust, as the case may be, has no right to set off, assign or otherwise apply, directly or indirectly, the designated security against the interest,

(e) no person is obligated in any way, either absolutely or contingently, under any undertaking the intent or effect of which is

(i) to limit any loss that the plan or fund may sustain by virtue of the ownership, holding or disposition of the interest, or

(ii) to ensure that the plan or fund will derive earnings by virtue of the ownership, holding or disposition of the interest,

(f) in the case of the partnership, there are more than 10 limited partners and no limited partner or group of limited partners who do not deal with each other at arm's length holds more than 10 per cent of the units of the partnership, and

(g) in the case of the trust, there are more than 10 beneficiaries and no beneficiary or group of beneficiaries who do not deal with each other at arm's length holds more than 10 per cent of the units of the trust.

History: The opening words of para. 4900(9)(a), and para. (b), amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsecs. 6(20), (21), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after October 27, 1998.

(11) [Small business investment for DPSP] — For the purposes of subsection (7), where

(a) a trust governed by a deferred profit sharing plan or revoked plan holds

(i) an interest in a small business investment limited partnership, or

(ii) an interest in a small business investment trust

that holds a small business security of a corporation,

(b) payments have been made in trust to a trustee under the deferred profit sharing plan or revoked plan for the benefit of beneficiaries thereunder by the corporation or a corporation related thereto, and

(c) the small business security is not an equity share described in paragraph (e) of the definition "qualified investment" in section 204 of the Act, the interest referred to in subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) shall not be a qualified investment for the trust referred to in paragraph (a).

History: Para. 4900(11)(c) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 6(23), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, effective after April 1, 2001.

I.T. Technical News: No. 9 (qualified investments — whether shareholders deal at arm's length).

(13) Notwithstanding subsection (12), where

(a) a share that is otherwise a qualified investment for the purposes of paragraph (d) of the definition "qualified investment" in subsection 146(1) of the Act, paragraph (e) of the definition "qualified investment" in subsection 146.1(1) of the Act and paragraph (c) of the definition "qualified investment" in subsection 146.3(1) of the Act solely because of subsection (12) is held by a trust governed by a registered retirement savings plan, registered education savings plan or registered retirement income fund,

(b) an individual

(i) provides services to or for,

(ii) acquires goods from, or

(iii) is provided services by the issuer of the share or a person related to that issuer,

(c) an amount is received in respect of the share by the trust, and

(d) the amount can reasonably be considered, having regard to all the circumstances, including the terms and conditions of the share, or any agreement relating thereto and any dividend provided on the share to be

(i) on account of, or in lieu or in satisfaction of, payment for the services to or for the issuer or the person related to the issuer, or

(ii) in respect of the acquisition of the goods from, or the services provided by, the issuer or the person related to the issuer, the share shall, immediately before the amount is received, cease to be and shall not thereafter be a qualified investment for the trust.

History: Subsec. 4901(1.1) revoked by P.C. 1994-1074, subsec. 2(1), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable after October 31, 1985.

Para. 4901(1.1)(b) substituted by P.C. 1986-2590, s. 13, November 20, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1986, applicable after October 31, 1985.

Subsec. 4901(1.1) added by P.C. 1986-772, subsec. 3(1), March 26, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, April 16, 1986, effective after October 31, 1985.

(2) In this Part,

"allocation in proportion to patronage" has the meaning assigned by subsection 135(4) of the Act;

"connected shareholder" of a corporation at any time is a person (other than an exempt person in respect of the corporation) who owns, directly or indirectly, at that time, not less than 10% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation or of any other corporation that is related to the corporation and, for the purposes of this definition,

(a) paragraphs (a) to (e) of the definition "specified shareholder" in subsection 248(1) of the Act apply, and

(b) an exempt person in respect of a corporation is a person who deals at arm's length with the corporation where the total of all amounts, each of which is the cost amount of any share of the capital stock of the corporation, or of any other corporation that is related to it, that the person owns or is deemed to own for the purposes of the definition "specified shareholder" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, is less than $25,000;

Related Provisions: Reg. 4901(2.1), (2.2) — Additional rules.

"consumer goods or services" has the meaning assigned by subsection 135(4) of the Act;

"designated shareholder" of a corporation at any time means a taxpayer who at that time

(a) is, or is related to, a person (other than an exempt person) who owns, directly or indirectly, not less than 10% of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the corporation or of any other corporation that is related to the corporation and, for the purposes of this definition,

(i) paragraphs (a) to (e) of the definition "specified shareholder" in subsection 248(1) of the Act apply, and

(ii) an exempt person in respect of a corporation is a person who deals at arm's length with the corporation where the total of all amounts, each of which is the cost amount of any share of the capital stock of the corporation, or of any other corporation that is related to it, that the person owns or is deemed to own for the purposes of the definition "specified shareholder" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, is less than $25,000;

(b) is or is related to a member of a partnership that controls the corporation,

(c) is or is related to a beneficiary under a trust that controls the corporation,

(d) is or is related to an employee of the corporation or a corporation related thereto, where any group of employees of the corporation or of the corporation related thereto, as the case may be, controls the corporation, except where the group of employees includes a person or a related group that controls the corporation, or

(e) does not deal at arm's length with the corporation;

Related Provisions: Reg. 4901(2.3) — Deemed designated shareholder.

"governing plan" means a registered retirement savings plan, a registered education savings plan, a registered retirement income fund, a deferred profit sharing plan or a revoked plan;

"plan trust" means a trust governed by a governing plan;

"qualifying share", in respect of a specified cooperative corporation and a registered retirement savings plan, registered education savings plan or registered retirement income fund, means a share of the capital or capital stock of the corporation where

(a) ownership of the share or a share identical to the share is not a condition of membership in the corporation, or

(b) a person who is an annuitant, a beneficiary or a subscriber under the plan or fund (or any other person related to that person)

(i) has not received a payment from the corporation after November 29, 1994 pursuant to an allocation in proportion to patronage in respect of consumer goods or services, and

(ii) can reasonably be expected not to receive a payment, after the acquisition of the share by the trust governed by the plan or fund, from the corporation pursuant to an allocation in proportion to patronage in respect of consumer goods or services;

"revoked plan" has the meaning assigned by section 204 of the Act;

"small business investment limited partnership" has the meaning assigned by subsection 5102(1);

"small business investment trust" has the meaning assigned by subsection 5103(1); and

"small business security" has the meaning assigned by subsection 5100(2).

"specified cooperative corporation" means

(a) a cooperative corporation within the meaning assigned by subsection 136(2) of the Act, or

(b) a corporation that would be a cooperative corporation within the meaning assigned by subsection 136(2) of the Act if the purpose described in that subsection were the purpose of providing employment to the corporation's members or customers.

History: The definition "governing plan" and the portion of the definition "qualifying share" before subpara. (b)(i) amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsecs. 7(5), (7), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to property acquired after October 27, 1998.

The definition "revoked plan" amended by the said P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 7(6), effective after April 1, 2001.

The definitions "allocation in proportion to patronage", "consumer goods or services", and "qualifying share" added, the definition "connected shareholder" and para. (a) of "designated shareholder" amended, by P.C. 1995-1820, subsecs. 2(3), (4), (6), October 31, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 15, 1995; "connected shareholder" amendment and "allocation in proportion to patronage", "consumer goods or services", and "qualifying share" additions applicable after December 2, 1992,

- except that where a property was acquired by a trust governed by an RRSP or RRIF before November 30, 1994 and the annuitant under the fund or plan would, if the amended definition of "connected shareholder" applied, be a connected shareholder of the corporation immediately after that time, the amended definition of "connected shareholder" would not apply in respect of that acquisition; and
- with respect to property acquired before November 30, 1994, para. (a) of "qualifying share" shall be read as follows:

(a) the share is not required to be purchased as a condition of membership in the corporation, or;

para. (a) of "designated shareholder" applicable to property acquired after November 29, 1994.

The definitions "connected shareholder", "specified cooperative corporation" added by P.C. 1994-1074, subsec. 2(2), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable after December 2, 1992.

Paras. (b) to (d) of the definition "designated shareholder" substituted by P.C. 1990-1837, s. 1, August 28, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, September 12, 1990, applicable after 1988.

"Designated shareholder", "small business investment limited partnership", "small business investment trust" and "small business security" added by P.C. 1986-772, subsec. 3(2), March 26, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, April 16, 1986, effective after October 31, 1985.

(2.1) For the purposes of the definition "connected shareholder" in subsection (2) and of subsection (2.2), each share of the capital of a specified cooperative corporation and all other shares of the capital of the corporation that have attributes identical to the attributes of that share shall be deemed to be shares of a class of the capital stock of the corporation.

History: Subsec. 4901(2.1) added by P.C. 1995-1820, subsec. 2(8), October 31, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 15, 1995, applicable after December 2, 1992, except that it does not apply where a property was acquired by a trust governed by an RRSP or RRIF before November 30, 1994 and the annuitant under the fund or plan would, if Reg. 4901(2.1)–(2.3) and the amended version of 4901(2)"connected shareholder" applied, be a connected shareholder of the corporation immediately after that time.

(2.2) For the purpose of this Part, a person is deemed to be a connected shareholder of a corporation at any time where the person would be a connected shareholder of the corporation at that time if, at that time,

(a) the person had each right that the person would be deemed to own at that time for the purposes of the definition "specified shareholder" in subsection 248(1) of the Act if that right were a share of the capital stock of a corporation;

(b) the person owned each share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that the person had a right at that time under a contract, in equity or otherwise, either immediately or in the future and either absolutely or contingently, to acquire; and

(c) the cost amount to the person of a share referred to in paragraph (b) were the cost amount to the person of the right to which the share relates.

History: Subsec. 4901(2.2) added by P.C. 1995-1820, subsec. 2(8), October 31, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 15, 1995, applicable after December 2, 1992, except that it does not apply where a property was acquired by a trust governed by an RRSP or RRIF before November 30, 1994 and the annuitant under the fund or plan would, if Reg. 4901(2.1)–(2.3) and the amended version of 4901(2)"connected shareholder" applied, be a connected shareholder of the corporation immediately after that time.

(2.3) For the purpose of this Part, a person is deemed to be a designated shareholder of a corporation at any time if the person would be a designated shareholder of the corporation at that time if, at that time, paragraphs (2.2)(a) to (c) applied in respect of that person.

History: Subsec. 4901(2.3) added by P.C. 1995-1820, subsec. 2(8), October 31, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 15, 1995, applicable to property acquired after November 29, 1994.

(3) For greater certainty, a reference in this Part to

(a) a mortgage includes a reference to a charge, hypothec or similar instrument pertaining to real property, or to an interest therein; and

(b) a mortgagor includes a reference to a hypothecator or a debtor under any instrument referred to in paragraph (a).

PART L — DEFERRED INCOME PLANS, FOREIGN PROPERTY

History: Part L was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

5000. (1) Where a taxpayer holds a share of the capital stock of a mutual fund corporation (other than an investment corporation) or an interest in, or a right to acquire an interest in,

(a) a mutual fund trust,

(b) a pooled fund trust,

(c) a trust that would be a mutual fund trust if Part XLVIII were read without reference to paragraph 4801(b) thereof,

(c.1) a resource property trust, or

(c.2) a trust if

(i) the trust would be a mutual fund trust if Part XLVIII were read without reference to section 4801, and

(ii) there has been a lawful distribution in a province to the public of units of the trust and a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was not required under the laws of the province to be filed in respect of the distribution, that share, interest or right, as the case may be, shall not be foreign property for the purpose of computing the tax payable by the taxpayer under Part XI of the Act in respect of any particular month, if

(d) the corporation or trust, as the case may be, has not acquired any foreign property after June 30, 1971; or

(e) at no time during the relevant period for the particular month did the cost amount to the corporation or to the trust, as the case may be, of all foreign property held by it exceed 30% of the cost amount to it of all property held by it.

Proposed Addition — Segregated funds

History: Para. 5000(1)(c.2) added by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 8(2), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to months that end after 1993.

Para. 5000(1)(e) amended by the said P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 8(3), applicable to months that end after 1999, except that in applying the para. where the relevant period for a particular month ends in 2000, the reference to "30%" shall be read as "25%".

Para. 5000(1)(e) substituted by P.C. 1992-258, subsec. 1(1), February 13, 1992, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 26, 1992, applicable to months ending after 1989 except that for months in 1990, 1991, 1992 and 1993 the reference to "20 per cent" shall be read as "12 per cent", "14 per cent", "16 per cent" and "18 per cent" respectively.

Para. 5000(1)(c.1) added by P.C. 1985-2351, subsec. 1(1), July 24, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 7, 1985, applicable with respect to trusts created after November 12, 1981.

(1.1) For the purposes of paragraph (i) of the definition "foreign property" in subsection 206(1) of the Act, the following interests are hereby prescribed not to be foreign property;

(a) an interest of a limited partner in a small business investment limited partnership (within the meaning assigned by subsection 5102(1));

(b) an interest in a small business investment trust (within the meaning assigned by subsection 5103(1));

(c) [Repealed]

(d) an interest in a specified international finance trust; and

(e) an interest of a limited partner in a designated limited partnership.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5000(7) — Definitions of "specified international finance trust" and "designated limited partnership".

History: Para. 5000(1.1)(c) repealed by P.C. 2003-1497, subsec. 3(1), October 2, 2003, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 22, 2003, applicable after 2001.

Paras. 5000(1.1)(d) and (e) added by P.C. 2000-275, subsec. 1(1), May 18, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 7, 2000, para. (d) applicable to months that end after 1998, and para. (e) applicable to months that end after 1997.

Subsec. 5000(1.1) added by P.C. 1986-772, subsec. 4(1), March 26, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, April 16, 1986, effective after October 31, 1985.

(1.2) For the purposes of paragraph (i) of the definition "foreign property" in subsection 206(1) of the Act, a property of a beneficiary that is an interest under a trust described in paragraph 149(1)(o.4) of the Act is prescribed not to be foreign property of the beneficiary at a time where

(a) no other property of the beneficiary is foreign property at that time; or

(b) the trust does not own any foreign property at that time.

History: Subsec. 5000(1.2) added by P.C. 1990-1837, subsec. 2(2), August 28, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, September 12, 1990, applicable to 1987 et seq.

(1.3) For the purpose of paragraph (i) of the definition "foreign property" in subsection 206(1) of the Act, the specified portion of a limited unit in a qualified limited partnership that is held at any time by a specified partner of the partnership is, at that time, not foreign property of the specified partner.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5000(1.4) — Specified portion; Reg. 5000(1.5) — Specified partner.

History: Subsec. 5000(1.3) added by P.C. 2003-1497, subsec. 3(2), October 2, 2003, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 22, 2003, applicable after 2001.

(1.4) For the purpose of subsection (1.3), the specified portion of a limited unit in a qualified limited partnership held at any time by a specified partner is

(a) if the number of limited units in the partnership, each of which is held at that time by the specified partner or by any other specified partner with whom the specified partner does not deal at arm's length, is less than or equal to 30 per cent of the number of limited units in the partnership held at that time by specified partners, the limited unit; and

Proposed Amendment — 5000(1.4)(a)

(a) the whole of the limited unit if, at that time,

(i) the cost amount to the partnership of all foreign property held by it does not exceed 30 per cent of the cost amount to it of all property held by it,

(ii) the number of limited units in the partnership, each of which is held by the specified partner or by any other specified partner with whom the specified partner does not deal at arm's length, does not exceed 30 per cent of the number of limited units in the partnership held by specified partners, and

(iii) the specified partner is not a qualified limited partnership; and

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 4(1), will amend para. 5000(1.4)(a) to read as above, applicable after 2002.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5000(1.3), which deals with qualified limited partnerships (QLPs), states that the specified portion of a limited unit in a QLP that is held at any time by a specified partner of the QLP is non-foreign property. "Limited unit" and "qualified limited partnership" are defined in subsection 5000(7), and "specified partner" has the meaning assigned by subsection 5000(1.5).

Pursuant to subsection 5000(1.4) of the Regulations, the specified portion of a limited unit of a QLP held at any time by a specified partner is the whole of the unit if the specified partner does not hold more than 30% of the limited units of the partnership (either alone or with other partners with whom the specified partner is not dealing at arm's length). Otherwise, the specified portion of the unit corresponds to the proportion of property held by the QLP that is non-foreign property. In other words, when the 30% ownership limit is exceeded, the specified portion of a limited unit of a QLP is that portion of the unit that the total cost amount to the QLP, at that time, of all its non-foreign property is of the total cost amount to it, at that time, of all its property.

According to the definition in subsection 5000(7) of the Regulations, a QLP is a limited partnership that has met the following conditions, among others, at all times since its formation:

- The QLP's general partner's share in each income and loss of the partnership, for any particular period, is identical, regardless of the source of the income or the loss. An exception is possible for the general partner's share of the income or loss generated from specified property (within the meaning of subsection 5100(1) of the Regulations), which may vary from the general partner's share from any other source (paragraph (b)).
- The general partner's share in income and losses of the partnership for any particular period is not less than the general partner's share for any previous period (paragraph (c)).
- The interests of the limited partners are described by reference to units in the partnership, which are identical in all regards (paragraph (d)).
- The partnership's investments are limited to those described in paragraph (f).
- The cost amount of foreign property held by the partnership does not exceed the allowed percentage (currently 30%) of the cost amount to it of all property held by it (paragraph (i)).

Non-compliance with any of these conditions, at any time, results in the permanent loss of QLP status and, consequently, the whole of the units held in the partnership are deemed to be foreign property pursuant to subsection 206(1) of the Act.

A number of amendments to the QLP definition and to the definition of the specified portion of a limited unit in a QLP will provide greater flexibility. In particular, holding more than 30% foreign property will no longer affect the designation of a partnership as a QLP. As a result, exceeding the 30% foreign property limit will no longer have the effect of deeming all of the partnership's units to be entirely foreign property on a permanent basis. However, when the foreign property limit is exceeded, limited units held by specified partners will qualify as non-foreign property only in proportion to the non-foreign property held by the QLP. Furthermore, at any time in the future that the QLP satisfies the foreign property limit, the whole of the limited units held by specified partners (except those exceeding the 30% ownership threshold) will qualify as non-foreign property.

The new consequences set out in the preceding paragraph are the result of the repeal of paragraph (i) of the QLP definition, which contains the condition limiting the foreign property that can be held by a QLP, and the addition of the foreign property rule to the definition of "specified portion" in subsection 5000(1.4).

In short, the modifications to the way in which a QLP is affected if the foreign property limit is exceeded result in less severe consequences by:

- allowing the non-foreign property portion of the units of the QLP to be determined on a proportional basis, rather than completely disqualifying the units from non-foreign property treatment; and
- allowing the whole of the units of the QLP to be treated as non-foreign property at any subsequent time that the QLP complies with the foreign property limit.

In addition to the modifications to the foreign property rule, the QLP definition is amended to accommodate a number of commercial practices. Specifically, the conditions in paragraphs (b) and (c), relating to the general partner's share in income and losses, are replaced by the condition in amended paragraph (b). As amended, paragraph (b) requires that the general partner's share in all income and losses of the partnership be determined on the basis of a single fixed percentage that is specified in the agreement governing the partnership and has not changed since the formation of the partnership. Nevertheless, as amended, paragraph (b) permits the general partner's share to vary from this fixed percentage in the following circumstances:

- Subparagraph (b)(i) allows the share to be less than the fixed percentage for income and losses from investments in specified properties. This replicates the exception set out in the existing paragraph (b).
- Pursuant to subparagraphs (b)(ii) and (iii), the share may be less than the fixed percentage to allow the limited partners to receive, in priority to other distributions, amounts not exceeding their contributed capital and a reasonable rate of return on that contributed capital, determined in accordance with the agreement governing the partnership.
- Pursuant to subparagraph (b)(iv), the share may be more than the fixed percentage to allow the general partner to receive amounts, in priority to other distributions, to compensate for previous reductions in the general partner's share resulting from priority distributions to limited partners as a return on their contributed capital as permitted under subparagraph (b)(ii).

The QLP definition is also amended so that the condition relating to the interests of the limited partners, currently set out in paragraph (d), will henceforth be in amended paragraph (c). As amended, this paragraph gives more flexibility by limiting the requirement that the units determining the interests of the limited partners be identical to the following characteristics: (i) the terms governing the obligations of the limited partners to contribute capital to the partnership; and (ii) the terms governing the rights of the limited partners to receive distributions from the partnership.

Paragraph (d) of the QLP definition is also amended to require that the share of the limited partners in any income or loss of the partnership be determined in accordance with rules stipulated in the agreement governing the QLP, and that the share allocated in respect of any particular income or loss be identical for all units held by limited partners. However, this paragraph allows an exception when, at any particular time, the amount of capital contributed by a particular limited partner exceeds the amount of capital required by the general partner to be contributed by all limited partners. In these circumstances, any income or loss from a particular specified property (as newly defined in subsection 5000(7)) that is attributable to the investment of the excess contributed by the particular partner may be allocated entirely to the particular partner.

Lastly, the QLP definition is amended to allow a QLP to invest, after 2002, in another QLP (referred to as "investment partnership" for the purposes of this paragraph) as a limited partner. However, under amended subsection 5000(1.4), such an investment will qualify as non-foreign property for the investing QLP only in proportion to the non-foreign property held by the investment partnership. This investment is permitted by virtue of new subparagraph (f)(iv.1) of the QLP definition. This subparagraph also provides for a grace period for situations in which a QLP has invested in an investment partnership that, subsequently, ceases to be a QLP. In such instances, the investing partnership does not lose its status as a QLP if it disposes of the investment by the end of the third month following the month in which the investment partnership ceased to be a QLP.

Section 5000 is also amended by adding a definition "specified property" to subsection (7), which replicates the properties described in the definition "specified property" in subsection 5100(1). Consequential changes are made, where the expression "specified property" is used in section 5000, to eliminate references to subsection 5100(1). Finally, the definition "limited unit" in subsection 5000(7) is amended to refer to paragraph (c), rather than paragraph (d), of the QLP definition. This amendment is purely consequential to the amendments to the QLP definition.

Most of the amendments to section 5000 apply after 2002. The amendments to the definition "qualified limited partnership" in subsection 5000(7) apply in determining if a partnership is, at any time after 2002, a QLP. This is particularly relevant for a partnership that was established before 2003, since it establishes that it is the conditions in the modified QLP definition (rather than in the existing definition) that must be satisfied at all times since the formation of the partnership, in order for the partnership to be a QLP at any time after 2002. This will enable, for example, existing partnership that did not have QLP status to qualify as a QLP provided it meets the revised definition.

Federal budget, Supplementary Information, February 18, 2003: Qualified Limited Partnerships

Limited partnerships have a number of potential advantages as an investment vehicle: they facilitate the pooling of investment funds; they limit investors' liability; and, for income tax purposes, they allow any income or loss of the partnership to be flowed through to investors. For these and other reasons, limited partnerships are often chosen for venture capital investments.

However, an interest in a limited partnership is generally treated as "foreign property" for the purposes of the income tax rules that limit the amount of foreign property that a deferred income plan may hold. This can reduce the attractiveness of limited partnership investments for Canadian pension funds, which represent a significant potential source of venture capital.

The characterization of limited partnership investments as foreign property does not apply to a qualified limited partnership (QLP). Accordingly, a QLP can be an effective vehicle for pension funds wishing to make venture capital investments.

The Income Tax Regulations set out several conditions that must be met for qualification as a QLP. One of these conditions was relaxed in the 2001 budget, following industry consultations. Since then, other technical aspects of the QLP rules have been identified as restricting the ability of a typical Canadian venture capital fund to structure itself as a QLP. In response to these concerns, the budget proposes the following changes to the QLP rules:

The requirement that QLP units be identical will be relaxed to accommodate differences in units that do not impact on the share or nature of the partnership's income or loss allocated among limited partners. With this change, matters such as variations in voting rights, the right to participate in investment advisory committees, and co-investment rights will not be taken into account in determining whether the units of a QLP are identical.

The manner in which the foreign property limit is applied to QLPs will be changed to more closely reflect the manner in which the limit is applied to mutual fund trusts. This means that a QLP unit will generally not be treated as foreign property during a calendar year, provided the QLP satisfied the foreign property limit throughout the previous calendar year. This change will prevent a QLP from permanently losing its status as a QLP solely because its foreign property holdings had exceeded the 30% limit at some point in the past.

The QLP rules will be modified to provide that a partnership does not lose its QLP status solely because of a temporary fluctuation in the general partner's share of the partnership's income as a result of the limited partners having priority in the ordering of distributions.

The investment limitations on a QLP will be relaxed to allow a QLP to invest, as a limited partner, in units of other QLPs. However, for the purpose of applying the foreign property limit to the investing QLP, the units of the other QLP will be treated as foreign property of the investing QLP in the same proportion as the foreign property held by the other QLP.

These measures will apply for the 2003 and subsequent taxation years.

(2) Where

(a) a share of the capital stock of a corporation referred to in subsection (1) or an interest in, or a right to acquire an interest in, a trust referred to in that subsection would, but for this subsection, be foreign property for the purpose of computing the tax payable by a taxpayer under Part XI of the Act in respect of a particular month,

(b) the relevant period for the particular month in relation to property held by the trust or corporation is its taxation year that includes the end of the particular month, and

(c) at the end of the relevant period for the particular month, the cost amount to the corporation or to the trust, as the case may be, of all foreign property held by it did not exceed 30% of the cost amount to it of all property held by it, that share, interest or right shall not be foreign property for the purpose of computing the tax payable by the taxpayer under Part XI of the Act in respect of the particular month.

(3) Where a taxpayer holds a share of the capital stock of an investment corporation, subsections (1), (2) and (7) apply in respect of that share as if

(a) the reference in subsection (1) to "mutual fund corporation (other than an investment corporation)" were read as a reference to an "investment corporation"; and

(b) the reference in subsection (1) to "June 30, 1971" were read as a reference to "October 13, 1971".

(4) Where a taxpayer holds a share of the capital stock of an investment corporation, that share shall not be foreign property for the purpose of computing the tax payable by the taxpayer under Part XI of the Act in respect of a particular month if the share would otherwise be foreign property solely by reason of the acquisition by the corporation of foreign property before October 16, 1971.

(5) Where a mutual fund corporation or a mutual fund trust holds a share of the capital stock of a mutual fund corporation (other than an investment corporation) or an interest in, or a right to acquire an interest in, a mutual fund trust, the share or the interest, as the case may be, shall not be foreign property for the purpose of computing the tax payable by a taxpayer under Part XI of the Act in respect of a particular month if the last-mentioned corporation or trust, as the case may be, complies with

(a) paragraph (1)(d);

(b) paragraph (1)(e) in respect of the particular month; or

(c) paragraphs (2)(b) and (c) in respect of the particular month.

(6) Where a mutual fund corporation or a mutual fund trust holds a share of the capital stock of an investment corporation, the share shall not be foreign property for the purpose of computing the tax payable by a taxpayer under Part XI of the Act in respect of a particular month if the investment corporation

(a) would comply with paragraph (1)(d) if the reference therein to "June 30, 1971" were read as a reference to "October 16, 1971";

(b) complies with paragraph (1)(e) in respect of the particular month; or

(c) complies with paragraphs (2)(b) and (c) in respect of the particular month.

"designated limited partnership" means a limited partnership that complies with the following conditions:

(a) the interests of the limited partners are described by reference to a single class of units of the partnership listed on a stock exchange prescribed under section 3200,

(b) that class was listed before 1999 on a stock exchange prescribed under section 3200,

(c) at least 80% of the full-time employees employed by the partnership are employed in Canada,

(d) the total of all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the partnership of a property used in its activities carried on in Canada is not less that 80% of the total of all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the partnership of a property of the partnership,

(e) the principal activity of the partnership is

(i) the production of goods in Canada,

(ii) the sale of goods in Canada,

(iii) the provision of services in Canada, or

(iv) any combination of the activities described in subparagraphs (i) to (iii), and

(f) the revenue from that principal activity is regulated by a public authority governed by the laws of Canada or a province;

"pooled fund trust" means, with respect to a particular taxpayer who owns an interest in the trust, a trust the trustee of which is a trust company incorporated under the laws of Canada or a province and that complies with the following conditions:

(a) throughout the taxation year of the trust (in this subsection referred to as the "first relevant year") in which the taxpayer acquired the interest or the first taxation year of the trust (in this subsection referred to as the "second relevant year") commencing more than one year after the taxpayer acquired the interest, the total, at any time, of

(i) the cost amount to the trust of

(A) shares,

(B) any property that, under its terms or conditions or any agreement relating to it, is convertible into, is exchangeable for or confers a right to acquire, shares,

(C) bonds, debentures, mortgages, notes and other similar obligations,

(D) marketable securities,

(E) cash,

(F) life insurance policies in Canada (other than annuity contracts), and

(G) annuity contracts issued by persons licensed or otherwise authorized under the laws of Canada or a province to carry on in Canada an annuities business, and

(ii) the amount by which the cost amount to the trust of real property that can reasonably be regarded as being held for the purpose of producing income from property exceeds the total of amounts each of which was owing by the trust at that time on account of its acquisition of the real property and was included at that time in the cost amount to the trust of the real property, was not less than 80 per cent of the amount by which the cost amount to the trust of all property at that time exceeds the total of amounts each of which was owing by it at that time on account of its acquisition of real property and was included at that time in the cost amount to it of real property,

(b) throughout the first relevant year or the second relevant year, the cost amount to the trust at any time of shares, bonds, mortgages and other securities of any one corporation or debtor, other than bonds, mortgages and other securities of or guaranteed by Her Majesty in right of Canada, a province or a Canadian municipality, was not more than 10 per cent of the amount by which the cost amount to the trust of all property at that time exceeds the total of all amounts each of which was owing by the trust at that time on account of the trust's acquisition of real property and was included at that time in the cost amount to the trust of real property,

(c) throughout the first relevant year or the second relevant year, the amount by which

(i) the cost amount to the trust of any one real property at any time

exceeds

(ii) the total of amounts each of which was owing by the trust at that time on account of its acquisition of the real property and was included at that time in the cost amount to it of the real property

was not more than 10 per cent of the amount by which the cost amount to the trust of all property at that time exceeds the total of amounts each of which was owing by the trust at that time on account of its acquisition of real property and was included at that time in the cost amount to the trust of real property, and

(d) not less than 95 per cent of the income of the trust (determined without reference to subsections 49(2.1) and 104(6) of the Act) for the first relevant year or the second relevant year was derived from, or from the dispositions of, investments described in paragraph (a);

"qualified limited partnership", at a particular time after 1985, means a limited partnership that at all times after it was formed and before the particular time complied with the following conditions:

(a) it had only one general partner,

(b) the share of the general partner, as general partner, in any income of the partnership from any source in any place, for any period, was the same as his share, as general partner, in

(i) the income of the partnership from that source in any other place,

(ii) the income of the partnership from any other source,

(iii) the loss of the partnership from any source,

(iv) any capital gain of the partnership, and

(v) any capital loss of the partnership

for that period, except that the share of the general partner, as general partner, in the income or loss of the partnership from specified properties (within the meaning assigned by subsection 5100(1)) may differ from his share, as general partner, in the income or loss of the partnership from other sources,

(c) the share of the general partner, as general partner, in any income or loss of the partnership for any period was not less than his share, as general partner, in the income or loss of the partnership for any preceding period,

(d) the interests of the limited partners were described by reference to units of the partnership that were identical in all respects,

Proposed Amendment — 5000(7)"qualified limited partnership"(b)–(d)

(b) the agreement governing the partnership specified a single fixed percentage, that has not changed since the formation of the partnership, as the share of the general partner, as general partner, in any income or loss of the partnership from any source, or from sources in any particular place, for any period, except that the agreement may have provided for one or more of the following exceptions:

(i) that the general partner's share, as general partner, in any income or loss of the partnership from specified properties may be less than the fixed percentage,

(ii) that the general partner's share, as general partner, in any income or loss of the partnership from any source, or from sources in any particular place, for any period may be less than the fixed percentage solely in order that the limited partners can receive, in priority to other distributions, a reasonable rate of return, as determined in accordance with the agreement, on their contributed capital,

(iii) that the general partner's share, as general partner, in any income or loss of the partnership from any source, or from sources in any particular place, for any period may be less than the fixed percentage solely in order that the limited partners can receive, in priority to other distributions, amounts that, in total, do not exceed their contributed capital, and

(iv) that the general partner's share, as general partner, in any income or loss of the partnership from any source, or from sources in any particular place, for any period may be more than the fixed percentage solely in order that the general partner can receive, in priority to other distributions, amounts that do not, in total, exceed the amounts by which the distributions to the general partner before that time were less than the fixed percentage because of priority distributions referred to in subparagraph (ii),

(c) the interests of the limited partners were described by reference to units in the partnership, and the terms of those units, determined in accordance with the agreement governing the partnership, were identical with respect to the obligations of the limited partners to contribute capital to the partnership and the rights of the limited partners to receive distributions from the partnership,

(d) the share of limited partners, as limited partners, in any income or loss of the partnership from any source, or from sources in any particular place, for any period was determined, in accordance with the agreement governing the partnership, by reference to the partners' limited units in the partnership, and for no such income or loss did the share allocated in respect of any one limited unit in the partnership differ from the share allocated to any other limited unit in the partnership except that, in determining if the partnership has complied with the requirements of this paragraph, any amounts allocated to the limited units of a particular limited partner in respect of any income or loss of the partnership from specified properties are to be disregarded to the extent that the amounts are attributable to the investment of capital contributed by the particular limited partner, as limited partner, in excess of that which the particular limited partner was required to contribute based on requests made by the general partner to all limited partners to contribute a specified amount to the capital of the partnership,

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 4(3), will amend paras. (b) to (d) of the definition "qualified limited partnership" in subsec. 5000(7) to read as above, applicable for the purpose of determining if a partnership is, at any time after 2002, a qualified limited partnership.

of the cost amount to it of all property held by it.

Proposed Repeal — 5000(7)"qualified limited partnership"(i)

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 4(5), will repeal para. (i) of the definition "qualified limited partnership" in subsec. 5000(7), applicable for the purpose of determining if a partnership is, at any time after 2002, a qualified limited partnership.

Technical Notes: See under 5000(1.4)(a) above.

History: Para. (e) of the definition "qualified limited partnership" repealed by P.C. 2003-1497, subsec. 3(5), October 2, 2003, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 22, 2003, applicable for the purpose of determining if a partnership is, at any time after 2001, a "qualified limited partnership".

Subpara. (e)(ii) of the definition "qualified limited partnership" amended by P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 8(5), June 14, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 4, 2001, applicable to periods that occur after 1985.

Subpara. (i)(vi) of "qualified limited partnership" amended, and subparas. (i)(vii) and (viii) added, by the said P.C. 2001-1106, subsec. 8(6), applicable after 1999.

That portion of "qualified limited partnership" preceding para. (a), and para. (i) thereof, substituted by P.C. 1992-258, subsecs. 1(4), (5), February 13, 1992, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 26, 1992, applicable after 1989.

Para. (e) of "qualified limited partnership" substituted by P.C. 1990-1837, subsec. 2(5), August 28, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, September 12, 1990, applicable after October 31, 1985.

"Qualified limited partnership" added by P.C. 1986-772, subsec. 4(2), March 26, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, April 16, 1986, effective after October 31, 1985.

"relevant period for the particular month" means, in relation to property held by a particular corporation or particular trust,

(a) its most recent taxation year ending before the end of the particular month, and

(b) its taxation year that includes the end of the particular month, where paragraph (a) does not apply.

"resource property trust" means a trust the trustee of which is a trust company that is incorporated under the laws of Canada or a province and that complies with the following conditions:

(a) the trust, at all times after the later of November 12, 1981 and the time at which it was created,

(i) has limited its activities to

(A) acquiring Canadian resource properties by purchase or by incurring Canadian exploration expense or Canadian development expense, or

(B) holding, exploring, developing, maintaining, improving, managing, operating or disposing of its Canadian resource properties,

(ii) has made no investments other than

(A) in Canadian resource properties,

(B) in property to be used in connection with Canadian resource properties described in clause (i)(A),

(C) in loans secured by Canadian resource properties for the purpose of carrying out any activity described in subparagraph (i) with respect to Canadian resource properties,

(D) in corporations described in subparagraph 149(1)(o.2)(ii.1) of the Act, or

(E) investments that a pension fund or plan is permitted to make under the Pension Benefits Standards Act or a similar law of a province, and

(iii) has not borrowed money except for the purpose of earning income from Canadian resource properties, and

(b) the beneficiaries of the trust, at all times after the later of November 12, 1981 and the time at which it was created, were

(i) registered pension plans, or

(ii) trusts all the beneficiaries of which were registered pension plans.

History: "Resource property trust" amended by P.C. 1991-2540, s. 8, December 16, 1991, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 15, 1992, applicable after 1985.

Definition of "resource property trust" added by P.C. 1985-2351, subsec. 1(2), July 24, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 7, 1985, applicable with respect to trusts created after November 12, 1981.

"specified international finance trust" at a particular time means a trust that complies with the following conditions:

(a) the trust was created principally for the purpose of investing in property described in subparagraph (c)(i),

(b) throughout the period that began at the time the trust was created and ends at the particular time, the trust was resident in Canada, and

(c) throughout the period that began 30 days after the time the trust was created and ends at the particular time, the total of all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the trust of the following property was not less that 90% of the total of all amounts each of which is the cost amount to the trust of a property of the trust:

(i) debt issued to

(A) the African Development Bank,

(B) the Asian Development Bank,

(C) the Caribbean Development Bank,

(D) the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development,

(E) Export Development Canada,

(F) the Inter-American Development Bank,

(G) the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, or

(H) the International Finance Corporation, and

(ii) shares and debt that are not foreign property of the trust.

History: The opening words of subpara. (c)(i) of the definition "specified international finance trust" amended to replace "to and acquired from" with "to" by P.C. 2003-1497, subsec. 3(5), October 2, 2003, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 22, 2003, applicable to months that end after 1998.

Cl. (c)(i)(E) of the definition "specified international finance trust" amended to replace "the Export Development Corporation" with "Export Development Canada" by 2001, c. 33, para. 30(a), in force December 21, 2001.

"Specified international finance trust" added by P.C. 2000-725, subsec. 1(2), May 18, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 7, 2000, applicable to months that end after 1998.

Proposed Addition — 5000(7)"specified property"

"specified property" means property described in any of paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (f) and (g) of the definition "qualified investment" in section 204 of the Act.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 4(6), will add the definition "specified property" to subsec. 5000(7), applicable after 2002.

Technical Notes and Federal budget, Supplementary Information, February 18, 2003: See under 5000(1.4)(a) above.

(8) For the purposes of the definition "designated limited partnership" in subsection (7) and for the purposes of this subsection, if a particular partnership is a member of another partnership at the end of a fiscal period of the other partnership (in this subsection referred to as the "relevant time"), throughout the period that begins at the relevant time and ends at the earlier of the time that is immediately before the end of the following fiscal period of the other partnership and the time that the other partnership ceases to exist

(a) the particular partnership is deemed to employ an additional number of full-time employees, or full-time employees employed in Canada, as the case may be, equal to the product of

(i) the specified fraction of the particular partnership at the relevant time in respect of the other partnership, and

(ii) the number of full-time employees employed, or employed in Canada, as the case may be, at the relevant time by the other partnership,

(b) each property used, or used in activities carried on in Canada, as the case may be, at the relevant time by the other partnership is deemed to be used, or to be used in activities carried on in Canada, as the case may be, by the particular partnership and is deemed to have a cost amount to the particular partnership equal to the product of

(i) the specified fraction of the particular partnership at the relevant time in respect of the other partnership, and

(ii) the cost amount of the property at the relevant time to the other partnership, and

(c) the particular partnership is, to the degree that can reasonably be considered to reflect the specified fraction of the particular partnership at the relevant time in respect of the other partnership, deemed to carry on each of the activities carried on by the other partnership.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5000(9) — Meaning of "specified fraction"; Reg. 5000(11) — Application of ITA 96(1)(a)–(g).

(9) For the purposes of subsection (8), the specified fraction of the particular partnership in respect of the other partnership at the end of a fiscal period of the other partnership is the quotient obtained by dividing the particular partnership's share of the income or loss of the other partnership for the fiscal period by the income or loss of the other partnership for the fiscal period.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5000(10) — Where income and loss are nil; Reg. 5000(11) — Application of ITA 96(1)(a)–(g).

(10) For the purposes of subsection (9), if the income and loss of the other partnership for the fiscal period are nil, the quotient referred to in that subsection shall be calculated as if the other partnership had income for the fiscal period in the amount of $1,000,000.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5000(11) — Application of ITA 96(1)(a)–(g).

(11) The definition "designated limited partnership" in subsection (7) and subsections (8) to (10) shall be read and construed as if each of the assumptions set out in paragraphs 96(1)(a) to (g) of the Act were made.

(iii) any combination of the properties described in subparagraph (i) and (ii),

(a.1) a specified holding corporation, or

(b) a venture capital corporation described in section 6700,

but does not include

(c) a corporation (other than a mutual fund corporation) that is

(i) a trader or dealer in securities,

(ii) a bank,

(iii) a corporation licensed or otherwise authorized under the laws of Canada or a province to carry on in Canada the business of offering to the public its services as a trustee,

(iv) a credit union,

(v) an insurance corporation, or

(vi) a corporation the principal business of which is the lending of money or the purchasing of debt obligations or a combination of them,

(d) a corporation controlled by one or more non-resident persons,

(e) a venture capital corporation, other than a venture capital corporation described in section 6700, or

(f) a corporation that has made an election in respect of a particular taxation year under subparagraph (iv) of the description of B in paragraph 204.82(2.2)(c.1) of the Act, if that time is in the 12-month period that begins on the day that is six months after the day on which the particular taxation year ends;

Related Provisions: ITA 256(6), (6.1) — Meaning of "controlled".

History: Paras. (b) and (e) of the definition "eligible corporation" in subsec. 5100(1) amended to replace "prescribed venture capital corporation described in section 6700" with "venture capital corporation described in section 6700" by P.C. 2001-1370, para. 8(b), August 1, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 15, 2001, applicable after June 9, 2001.

Para. (f) of "eligible corporation" added by the said P.C. 2001-1370, subsec. 1(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1997.

Para. (c) of "eligible corporation" amended by P.C. 1999-249, subsec. 2(2), February 18, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994. Para. (c) also was amended by P.C. 1999-249, subsec. 2(1), applicable to 1991 et seq. to read as follows:

(c) a corporation (other than a mutual fund corporation) that is a taxpayer described in subsection 39(5) of the Act,

Subpara. (a)(ii) of "eligible corporation" substituted, and para. (a.1) added, by P.C. 1990-1837, subsecs. 4(1), (2), August 28, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, September 12, 1990, applicable after October 31, 1985.

Para. (d) of "eligible corporation" substituted by subsec. 4(3) of the said P.C. 1990-1837, applicable after 1988.

I.T. Technical News: No. 25 (Silicon Graphics case — dispersed control is not control).

"qualifying active business", at any time, means any business carried on primarily in Canada by a corporation, but does not include

(a) a business (other than a business of leasing property other than real property) the principal purpose of which is to derive income from property (including interest, dividends, rent and royalties), or

(b) a business of deriving gains from the disposition of property (other than property in the inventory of the business), and, for the purposes of this definition, a business carried on primarily in Canada by a corporation, at any time, includes a business carried on by the corporation if, at that time,

(c) at least 50 per cent of the full time employees of the corporation and all corporations related thereto employed in respect of the business are employed in Canada, or

(d) at least 50 per cent of the salaries and wages paid to employees of the corporation and all corporations related thereto employed in respect of the business are reasonably attributable to services rendered in Canada;

"qualifying obligation", at any time, means a bond, debenture, mortgage, note or other similar obligation of a corporation described in paragraph 149(1)(o.2) or (o.3) of the Act, if

(a) the obligation was issued by the corporation after October 31, 1985,

(b) the corporation used all or substantially all of the proceeds of the issue of the obligation within 90 days after the receipt thereof to acquire

(i) small business securities,

(ii) interests of a limited partner in small business investment limited partnerships,

(iii) interests in small business investment trusts, or

(iv) any combination of the properties described in subparagraphs (i) to (iii)

and, except as provided in subsection 5104(1), the corporation was the first person (other than a broker or dealer in securities) to have acquired the properties and the corporation has owned the properties continuously since they were so acquired,

(c) the corporation does not hold, and no group of persons who do not deal with each other at arm's length and of which it is a member holds, more than 30 per cent of the outstanding shares of any class of voting stock of another corporation, except where all or any part of those shares were acquired in specified circumstances, within the meaning of subsection 5104(2),

(d) the recourse of the holder of the obligation against the corporation with respect to the obligation is limited to the properties acquired with the proceeds of the issue of the obligation and any properties substituted therefor, and

(e) the properties acquired with the proceeds of the issue of the obligation have not been disposed of, unless the disposition occurred within the 90 day period immediately preceding that time;

History: The opening words of the definition "qualifying obligation" in subsec. 5100(1) amended by P.C. 1994-1817, para. 62(f), November 1, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 30, 1994.

"specified holding corporation", at any time, means a taxable Canadian corporation where

(a) all or substantially all of the collective property of the corporation and of all other corporations controlled by it (each of which other corporations is referred to in this definition as a "controlled corporation"), other than shares in the capital stock of the corporation or of a corporation related to it and debt obligations issued by it or by a corporation related to it, is at that time used in a qualifying active business carried on by the corporation, and

(b) all or substantially all of the property of the corporation is at that time

(i) property used in a qualifying active business carried on by the corporation or a controlled corporation,

(ii) shares of the capital stock of one or more controlled corporations or eligible corporations related to the corporation,

(iii) debt obligations issued by one or more controlled corporations or eligible corporations related to the corporation, or

(iv) any combination of the properties described in subparagraphs (i), (ii) and (iii), and in a determination of whether property is used in a qualifying active business for the purposes of paragraph (a),

(c) where a business is carried on by a controlled corporation,

(i) the business shall be deemed to be a business carried on only by the corporation, and

(ii) the controlled corporation shall be deemed to be the corporation in the application of paragraphs (c) and (d) of the definition "qualifying active business", and

(d) if a business of the corporation is substantially similar to one or more other businesses of the corporation, all those businesses shall be deemed collectively to be one business of the corporation.

Related Provisions: ITA 256(6), (6.1) — Meaning of "controlled".

History: "Specified holding corporation" added by P.C. 1990-1837, subsec. 4(4), August 28, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, September 12, 1990, applicable after October 31, 1985.

"specified property" means property described in any of subparagraphs 204(e)(i), (ii), (iii), (vii) and (viii) [204"qualified investment"(a), (b), (c), (f) and (g)] of the Act.

(2) [Small business security] — For the purposes of this Part and paragraph (a) of the definition "small business property" in subsection 206(1) of the Act, a small business security of a person, at any time, is the property of that person that is, at that time,

(a) a share of the capital stock of an eligible corporation,

(b) a debt obligation of an eligible corporation (other than a venture capital corporation described in section 6700) that does not by its terms or any agreement related to the obligation restrict the corporation from incurring other debts and that is

(i) secured solely by a floating charge on the assets of the corporation and that by its terms or any agreement related thereto is subordinate to all other debt obligations of the corporation (other than a small business security issued by the corporation, or a debt obligation that is owing by the corporation to a shareholder of the corporation or a person related to a shareholder of the corporation and that is not secured in any manner whatever), or

(ii) not secured in any manner whatever,

other than a debt obligation that

(iii) where the debt obligation specifies an invariant rate of interest, has an effective annual rate of return that exceeds the designated rate for the day on which the obligation was issued, and

(iv) in any other case, may have an effective annual rate of return at a particular time that exceeds the designated rate at the particular time,

(c) an option or right granted by an eligible corporation in conjunction with the issue of a share or debt

obligation that qualifies as a small business security to acquire a share of the capital stock of the corporation, or

(d) an option or right granted for no consideration by an eligible corporation to a holder of a share that qualifies as a small business securities to acquire a share of the capital stock of the corporation

if, immediately after the time of acquisition thereof,

(e) the aggregate of the cost amounts to the person of all shares, options, rights and debt obligations of the eligible corporation and all corporations associated therewith held by the person does not exceed $10,000,000, and

(f) the total assets (determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, on a consolidated or combined basis, where applicable) of the eligible corporation and all corporations associated with it do not exceed $50,000,000 and includes

(g) property of the person that is, at that time,

(i) a qualifying obligation,

(ii) the proportion of the interest of the person as a limited partner in a qualified limited partnership (within the meaning assigned by subsection 5000(7)) at that time that

(A) the aggregate of the cost amounts to the partnership of all properties held by the partnership at that time that would be small business properties (within the meaning assigned by subsection 206(1) of the Act) if the partnership were a person,

is of

(B) the aggregate of the cost amounts to the partnership of all properties held by the partnership at that time, or

(iii) a security (in this subparagraph referred to as the "new security") described in any of paragraphs (a) to (d), where the new security was issued at a particular time

(A) in exchange for, on the conversion of, or in respect of rights pertaining to a security (in this paragraph referred to as the "former security") that would, if this subsection were read without reference to this subparagraph and paragraph (h), be a small business security of the person immediately before the particular time, and

(B) pursuant to an agreement entered into before the particular time and at or before the time that the former security was last acquired by the person, or

(h) where the person is a small business investment corporation, small business investment limited partnership or small business investment trust, property of the person that is, at that time, a security (in this paragraph referred to as the "new security") described in any of paragraphs (a) to (d), where the new security was issued at a particular time not more than 5 years before that time in exchange for, on the conversion of, or in respect of rights pertaining to a security that would, if this subsection were read without reference to this paragraph, be a small business security of the person immediately before the particular time.

(2.1) [Prescribed venture capital corporation] — Where all or part of the property of a person consists of the shares of the capital stock of a venture capital corporation described in section 6700, options or rights granted by the corporation, or debt obligations of the corporation,

(a) the aggregate of the cost amounts to the person of all such property shall be deemed for the purposes of paragraph (2)(e) not to exceed $10,000,000; and

(b) the total assets (determined in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, on a consolidated or combined basis, where applicable) of the corporation and all corporations associated with it shall be deemed for the purposes of paragraph (2)(f) not to exceed $50,000,000.

History: Subsec. 5100(2.1) amended to replace "prescribed venture capital corporation within the meaning assigned by" with "venture capital corporation described in" by P.C. 2001-1370, para. 7(a), August 1, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 15, 2001, applicable after June 9, 2001.

Para. 5100(2.1)(b) amended by P.C. 1994-1074, subsec. 4(2), June 23, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 13, 1994, applicable after 1991.

Subsec. 5100(2.1) added by P.C. 1990-1837, subsec. 4(6), August 28, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, September 12, 1990, applicable after October 31, 1985.

(3) [Interpretation for subsec. (2)] — For the purposes of subsection (2),

(a) in determining the effective annual rate of return in respect of a debt obligation of an eligible corporation, the value of any right to convert the debt obligation or any part thereof into, or to exchange the debt obligation or any part thereof for, shares of the capital stock of the corporation or an option or right to acquire such shares shall not be considered; and

(b) a corporation shall be deemed not to be associated with another at any time where the corporation would not be associated with the other if

(i) the references to "controlled, directly or indirectly, in any manner whatever" in section 256 of the Act (other than subsection (5.1) thereof) were read as references to "controlled", and

(ii) such rights described in subsection 256(1.4) of the Act and shares, as were held at that time by a small business investment corporation, small business investment limited partnership or small business investment trust, were disregarded.

History: Subsec. 5100(3) substituted by P.C. 1990-1837, subsec. 4(7), August 28, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, September 12, 1990, applicable after 1988.

(4) [Prescribed person] — For the purposes of paragraph (e) of the definition "small business property" in subsection 206(1) of the Act, a taxpayer is a prescribed person in respect of a property at any time where

(a) the following conditions are met:

(i) the taxpayer is a beneficiary of a trust that has elected pursuant to subsection 259(1) of the Act for a period that includes that time,

(ii) the property is deemed to be held by the taxpayer at that time by virtue of subsection 259(1) of the Act, and

(iii) the trust referred to in subparagraph (i) is the first person (other than a broker or dealer in securities) to have acquired the property and has owned the property continuously since it was so acquired, except where the property is a small business security acquired in cases described in subsection 5104(1);

(b) the taxpayer is a limited partner in a qualified limited partnership (within the meaning assigned by subsection 5000(7)) and the property is that proportion of the taxpayer's interest in the partnership that, pursuant to subparagraph (2)(g)(ii), is a small business security of the taxpayer at that time;

(c) the taxpayer is a holder of property that at that time is a small business security acquired in cases described in subsection 5104(1);

(d) the taxpayer is a limited partner in a small business investment limited partnership the units of which are listed on a stock exchange prescribed under section 3200 and the property consists of the taxpayer's units in that partnership; or

(e) the taxpayer is a beneficiary under a small business investment trust the units of which are listed on a stock exchange prescribed under section 3200 and the property consists of the taxpayer's units in that trust.

5101. [Small business investment corporation] — (1) Subject to subsection (4), for the purposes of this Part and paragraph 149(1)(o.3) and paragraph (b) of the definition "small business property" in subsection 206(1) of the Act, a corporation is a small business investment corporation at any time if it is a Canadian corporation incorporated after May 22, 1985 and at all times after it was incorporated and before that time

(a) all of the shares, and rights to acquire shares, of the capital stock of the corporation were owned by

(i) one or more registered pension plans,

(ii) one or more trusts all the beneficiaries of which were registered pension plans,

(iii) one or more related segregated fund trusts (within the meaning assigned by paragraph 138.1(1)(a) of the Act) all the beneficiaries of which were registered pension plans, or

(iv) one or more persons prescribed by section 4802 for the purposes of clause 149(1)(o.2)(iv)(D) of the Act;

(b) its only undertaking was the investing of its funds and its investments consisted solely of

(i) small business securities,

(ii) interests of a limited partner in small business investment limited partnerships,

(iii) interests in small business investment trusts,

(iv) property (other than small business securities) described in any of subparagraphs (f)(i) to (iv) of the definition "qualified limited partnership" in subsection 5000(7),

(v) specified properties, or

(vi) any combination of properties described in any of subparagraphs (i) to (v) and, except as provided in subsection 5104(1), with respect to properties referred to in any of subparagraphs (i) to (iii), the corporation was the first person (other than a broker or dealer in securities) to have acquired the properties and the corporation has owned the properties continuously since they were so acquired;

(c) it has complied with subsection (2);

(d) it did not hold, and no group of persons who did not deal with each other at arm's length and of which it was a member held, more than 30 per cent of the outstanding shares of any class of voting stock of a corporation, except where

(i) all or any part of those shares were acquired in specified circumstances within the meaning of subsection 5104(2), or

(ii) those shares were of any class of voting stock of a venture capital corporation described in section 6700;

(e) it has not borrowed money except from its shareholders; and

(f) it has not accepted deposits.

Related Provisions: ITA 253.1 — Limited partner not considered to carry on business of partnership.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-320R3: Qualified investments — Trusts governed by RRSPs, RESPs and RRIFs.

(2) Every small business investment corporation shall at all times hold properties referred to in subparagraphs (1)(b)(i) to (iii), the aggregate of the cost amounts of which is not less than 75 per cent of the amount, if any, by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of consideration for the issue of shares of its capital stock or debt to its shareholders or the amount of a contribution of capital by its shareholders received by it more than 90 days before that time

(b) the aggregate of

(i) all amounts paid by it before that time to its shareholders as a return of capital or a repayment of debt, and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of its losses from the disposition of properties disposed of before that time exceeds the aggregate of its gains from the disposition of properties disposed of before that time.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (2), where a small business investment corporation disposes of a property referred to in subparagraphs (1)(b)(i) to (iii), it shall be deemed to continue to hold the investment for a period of 90 days following the date of the disposition.

(4) For the purposes of paragraph 149(1)(o.3) of the Act, where a small business investment corporation holds an interest in a partnership or trust that qualified as a small business investment limited partnership or small business investment trust, as the case may be, when the interest was acquired and that, but for this subsection, would cease at a subsequent time to so qualify, the interest in the partnership or trust shall be deemed to be an interest in a small business investment limited partnership or small business investment trust, as the case may be, for the 24 months immediately following the subsequent time.

5102. [Small business investment limited partnership] — (1) For the purposes of this Part and paragraph (c) of the definition "small business property" in subsection 206(1) of the Act, a partnership is a small business investment limited partnership at any time if at all times after it was formed and before that time

(a) it had only one general partner,

(b) the share of the general partner, as general partner, in any income of the partnership from any source in any place, for any period, was the same as his share, as general partner, in

(i) the income of the partnership from that source in any other place,

(ii) the income of the partnership from any other source,

(iii) the loss of the partnership from any source,

(iv) any capital gain of the partnership, and

for that period, except that the share of the general partner, as general partner, in the income or loss of the partnership from specified properties may differ from his share, as general partner, in the income or loss of the partnership from other sources,

(c) the share of the general partner, as general partner, in any income or loss of the partnership for any period was not less than his share, as general partner, in the income or loss of the partnership for any preceding period;

(d) the interests of the limited partners were described by reference to units of the partnership that were identical in all respects,

(e) no limited partner or group of limited partners who did not deal with each other at arm's length held more than 30 per cent of the units of the partnership and, for the purposes of this paragraph,

(i) a small business investment corporation that has not borrowed money and in which no shareholder or group of shareholders who did not deal with each other at arm's length held more than 30 per cent of the outstanding shares of any class of voting stock shall be deemed not to be a limited partner, and

(ii) the general partner shall be deemed not to hold any unit of the partnership as a limited partner, and

(f) its only undertaking was the investing of its funds and its investments consisted solely of

(i) small business securities where, except as provided in subsection 5104(1), the partnership was the first person (other than a broker or dealer in securities) to have acquired the securities and it has owned the securities continuously since they were so acquired,

(ii) property (other than small business securities) described in any of subparagraphs (f)(i) to (iv) of the definition "qualified limited partnership" in subsection 5000(7),

(iii) specified properties, or

(iv) any combination of properties described in any of subparagraphs (i) to (iii),

(g) it has complied with subsection (2),

(h) it has not borrowed money except for the purpose of earning income from its investments and the amount of any such borrowings at any time did not exceed 20 per cent of the partnership capital at that time, and

(i) it has not accepted deposits.

5103. [Small business investment trust] — (1) For the purposes of this Part, paragraph (d) of the definition "small business property" in subsection 206(1) of the Act and subsection 259(3) of the Act, a trust is a small business investment trust at any time if at all times after it was created and before that time

(a) it was resident in Canada;

(b) the interests of the beneficiaries under the trust were described by reference to units of the trust that were identical in all respects; and

(c) no beneficiary or group of beneficiaries who did not deal with each other at arm's length held more than 30% of the units of the trust and, for the purposes of this paragraph, a small business investment corporation that has not borrowed money and in which no shareholder or group of shareholders who did not deal with each other at arm's length held more than 30 per cent of the outstanding shares of any class of voting stock shall be deemed not to be a beneficiary;

(d) its only undertaking was the investing of its funds and its investments consisted solely of

(i) small business securities where, except as provided in subsection 5104(1), the trust was the first person (other than a broker or dealer in securities) to have acquired the securities and it has owned the securities continuously since they were so acquired,

(ii) property (other than small business securities) described in any of subparagraphs (f)(i) to (iv) of the definition "qualified limited partnership" in subsection 5000(7),

(iii) specified properties, or

(iv) any combination of properties described in subparagraphs (i) to (iii);

(e) it has complied with subsection (2);

(f) it has not borrowed money except for the purpose of earning income from its investments and the amount of any such borrowings at any time did not exceed 20 per cent of the trust capital at that time; and

(g) it has not accepted deposits.

5104. (1) Notwithstanding paragraph (b) of the definition "qualifying obligation" in subsection 5100(1) and paragraphs 5101(1)(b), 5102(1)(f) and 5103(1)(d), the corporation, partnership or trust, as the case may be, may acquire a small business security that another person (other than a broker or dealer in securities) had previously acquired if

(a) the small business security is a share of the capital stock of an eligible corporation having full voting rights under all circumstances; and

(b) except where the share was acquired in specified circumstances within the meaning of subsection (2), the share was acquired from an officer or employee of the eligible corporation or a person related to the officer or employee.

(2) For the purposes of this Part,

(a) where a person acquires a share of a corporation

(i) as part of a proposal to, or an arrangement with, the corporation's creditors that has been approved by a court under the Bankruptcy [and Insolvency] Act or the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act,

(ii) at a time when all or substantially all of the corporation's assets were under the control of a receiver, receiver-manager, sequestrator or trustee in bankruptcy, or

(iii) at a time when, by reason of financial difficulty, the corporation was in default, or could reasonably be expected to default, on a debt obligation held by a person with whom the corporation was dealing at arm's length, the person shall be deemed, at any time within 36 months after he acquired the share, to have acquired it in specified circumstances;

(b) where a person acquires a share of a corporation for the purposes of facilitating the disposition of the entire investment of the person in the corporation, the person shall be deemed, at any time within 12 months after he acquired the share, to have acquired it in specified circumstances; and

(c) a qualified trust (within the meaning assigned by subsection 259(3) of the Act) is deemed not to hold any property for any period in respect of which subsection 259(1) of the Act is applicable.

Paras. 5104(2)(a) and (b) substituted by P.C. 1986-2590, s. 14, November 20, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1986, applicable after October 31, 1985.

(3) Where the purchaser of a property that, but for this subsection, would at the time of its acquisition be a small business security (or, where the purchaser is a partnership, a member thereof) knew at the time of acquisition that the issuer of the security would, within the immediately following 12 months, cease to qualify as an eligible corporation, the property shall be deemed never to have been a small business security of the purchaser.

(4) Where a person who holds a share of or an interest in a corporation, partnership or trust that, but for this subsection, would be a small business investment corporation, small business investment limited partnership or small business investment trust knew at the time of issue of the share or interest, as the case may be, or at the time of making any contribution in respect of the share or interest, that

(a) a substantial portion of

(i) the consideration for the issue of the share or interest, or

(ii) the contribution in respect of the share or interest would not be invested by the corporation, partnership or trust, as the case may be, directly or indirectly in small business securities, and

(b) all or substantially all of

(i) the consideration for the issue of the share or interest, or

(ii) the contribution in respect of the share or interest

would be returned to the purchaser within the immediately following 24 months, the corporation, partnership or trust shall be deemed to have ceased at that time to be a small business investment corporation, small business investment limited partnership or small business investment trust.

(5) Where, but for this subsection, a property that qualified as a small business security when it was acquired would cease at a subsequent time to so qualify, the property shall be deemed to be a small business security for the 24 months immediately following the subsequent time.

(6) For the purposes of this Part, a partnership shall be deemed to be a person.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-145R: Canadian manufacturing and processing profits — reduced rate of corporate tax.

5201. Small manufacturers' rule — For the purposes of paragraph 125.1(3)(a) [125.1(3)"Canadian manufacturing and processing profits"] of the Act, "Canadian manufacturing and processing profits" of a corporation for a taxation year are hereby prescribed to be equal to the corporation's adjusted business income for the year where

(a) the activities of the corporation during the year were primarily manufacturing or processing in Canada of goods for sale or lease;

(b) the aggregate of

(i) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the income of the corporation for the year from an active business minus the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the loss of the corporation for the year from an active business, and

(ii) if the corporation is associated in the year with a Canadian corporation, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the income of the latter corporation from an active business for its taxation year coinciding with or ending in the year,

did not exceed $200,000;

(c) the corporation was not engaged in any of the activities listed in subparagraphs 125.1(3)(b)(i) to (ix) [125.1(3)"manufacturing or processing"(a) to (k)] of the Act at any time during the year;

(c.1) the corporation was not engaged in the processing of ore (other than iron ore or tar sands) from a mineral resource located outside Canada to any stage that is not beyond the prime metal stage or its equivalent;

(c.2) the corporation was not engaged in the processing of iron ore from a mineral resource located outside Canada to any stage that is not beyond the pellet stage or its equivalent;

(c.3) the corporation was not engaged in the processing of tar sands located outside Canada to any stage that is not beyond the crude oil stage or its equivalent; and

(d) the corporation did not carry on any active business outside Canada at any time during the year.

5202. Interpretation — In this Part, except as otherwise provided in section 5203 or 5204,

"adjusted business income" of a corporation for a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the income of the corporation for the year from an active business carried on in Canada

exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the loss of the corporation for the year from an active business carried on in Canada;

"Canadian resource profits" has the meaning that would be assigned to the expression "resource profits" by section 1204 if

(a) section 1204 were read without reference to subparagraph 1204(1)(b)(iv), and

(b) the definition "resource activity" in subsection 1206(1) were read without reference to paragraph (d) of that definition;

History: The definition "Canadian resource profits" in s. 5202 amended by P.C. 1996-1488, s. 6, September 24, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 16, 1996, applicable to taxation years that begin after December 20, 1991.

"Canadian resource profits" added by P.C. 1994-230, s. 6, February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

"cost of capital" of a corporation for a taxation year means an amount equal to the aggregate of

(a) 10 per cent of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the gross cost to the corporation of a property referred to in paragraph 1100(1)(e), (f), (g) or (h), paragraph 1102(1)(d) or (g) or Schedule II that

(i) was owned by the corporation at the end of the year, and

(ii) was used by the corporation at any time during the year, and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the rental cost incurred by the corporation during the year for the use of any property a portion of the gross cost of which would be included by virtue of paragraph (a) if the property were owned by the corporation at the end of the year, but for the purposes of this definition, the gross cost of a property or rental cost for the use of any property does not include that portion of those costs that reflects the extent to which the property was used by the corporation during the year

(c) in an active business carried on outside Canada, or

(d) to earn Canadian investment income or foreign investment income as defined in subsection 129(4) of the Act;

"cost of labour" of a corporation for a taxation year means an amount equal to the aggregate of

(a) the salaries and wages paid or payable during the year to all employees of the corporation for services performed during the year, and

(b) all other amounts each of which is an amount paid or payable during the year for the performance during the year, by any person other than an employee of the corporation, of functions relating to

(i) the management or administration of the corporation,

(ii) scientific research and experimental development, or

(iii) a service or function that would normally be performed by an employee of the corporation,

but for the purposes of this definition, the salaries and wages referred to in paragraph (a) or other amounts referred to in paragraph (b) do not include that portion of those amounts that

(c) was included in the gross cost to the corporation of a property (other than a property that was manufactured by the corporation and leased during the year by the corporation to another person) that was included in computing the cost of capital of the corporation for the year, or

(d) was related to an active business carried on outside Canada by the corporation;

History: Subpara. (b)(ii) of the definition 5202"cost of labour" amended by P.C. 2000-1095, s. 2, July 27, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 16, 2000, applicable to costs incurred after Feburary 27, 1995. The subpara. formerly read:

(ii) scientific research as defined in section 2900, or

"cost of manufacturing and processing capital" of a corporation for a taxation year means 100/85 of that portion of the cost of capital of the corporation for that year that reflects the extent to which each property included in the calculation thereof was used directly in qualified activities of the corporation during the year, but the amount so calculated shall not exceed the cost of capital of the corporation for the year;

"cost of manufacturing and processing labour" of a corporation for a taxation year means 100/75 of that portion of the cost of labour of the corporation for that year that reflects the extent to which

(a) the salaries and wages included in the calculation thereof were paid or payable to persons for the portion of their time that they were directly engaged in qualified activities of the corporation during the year, and

(b) the other amounts included in the calculation thereof were paid or payable to persons for the performance of functions that would be directly related to qualified activities of the corporation during the year if those persons were employees of the corporation,

but the amount so calculated shall not exceed the cost of labour of the corporation for the year;

"gross cost" to a particular person of a property at any time means, in respect of property that has become available for use by the particular person for the purposes of subsection 13(26) of the Act, the capital cost to the particular person of the property computed without reference to subsections 13(7.1), (7.4) and (10), sections 21 and 80 and paragraph 111(4)(e) of the Act and, in respect of any other property, nil, and where the particular person acquired the property

(a) in the course of a reorganization in respect of which, if a dividend were received by the particular person in the course of the reorganization, subsection 55(2) of the Act would not apply to the dividend by reason of the application of paragraph 55(3)(b) of the Act, or

(b) from another person with whom the particular person was not dealing at arm's length (otherwise than by reason of a right referred to in paragraph 251(5)(b) of the Act) immediately after the property was acquired, the capital cost to the particular person of the property for the purposes of this definition shall be computed as if the property had been acquired at a capital cost equal to the gross cost of the property to the person from whom the property was acquired by the particular person;

History: "Gross cost" amended by P.C. 1994-139, subsec. 12(1), January 27, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 9, 1994, applicable to 1985 et seq., except that

(a) where the taxpayer so elects by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in writing on or before the day on or before which the taxpayer is, or would be if a tax under Part I of the Income Tax Act were payable by the taxpayer, required by s. 150 to file a return of income for the taxpayer's first taxation year ending after February 9, 1994,

(i) for taxation years ending before January 16, 1987, "gross cost" shall be read without reference to the words "and paragraph 111(4)(e)", and

(ii) for taxation years ending before February 9, 1994, all that portion of "gross cost" preceding para. (a) shall be read as follows:

"gross cost" to a particular person of a property at any time means the capital cost to the particular person of the property computed without reference to subsections 13(7.1), (7.4) and (10), sections 21 and 80 and paragraph 111(4)(e) of the Act and, where the particular person acquired the property

(b) for taxation years ending before January 16, 1987, where the taxpayer has not elected under paragraph (a), the definition shall be read as follows:

"gross cost" of a property means the capital cost of the property computed without reference to subsections 13(7.1), (7.4) and (10) and sections 21 and 80 of the Act;

(c) for taxation years ending after January 15, 1987 and before February 9, 1994, where the taxpayer has not elected under paragraph (a), the definition shall be read as follows:

"gross cost" of a property means the capital cost of the property computed without reference to subsections 13(7.1), (7.4) and (10), sections 21 and 80 and paragraph 111(4)(e) of the Act;

"qualified activities" means

(a) any of the following activities, when they are performed in Canada in connection with manufacturing or processing (not including the activities listed in subparagraphs 125.1(3)(b)(i) to (ix) [125.1(3)"manufacturing or processing"(a) to (k)] of the Act) in Canada of goods for sale or lease:

(i) engineering design of products and production facilities,

(ii) receiving and storing of raw materials,

(iii) producing, assembling and handling of goods in process,

(iv) inspecting and packaging of finished goods,

(v) line supervision,

(vi) production support activities including security, cleaning, heating and factory maintenance,

(vii) quality and production control,

(viii) repair of production facilities, and

(ix) pollution control,

(b) all other activities that are performed in Canada directly in connection with manufacturing or processing (not including the activities listed in subparagraphs 125.1(3)(b)(i) to (ix) [125.1(3)"manufacturing or processing"(a) to (k)] of the Act) in Canada of goods for sale or lease, and

(c) scientific research and experimental development, as defined in section 2900, carried on in Canada, but does not include any of

(d) storing, shipping, selling and leasing of finished goods,

(e) purchasing of raw materials,

(f) administration, including clerical and personnel activities,

(g) purchase and resale operations,

(h) data processing, and

(i) providing facilities for employees, including cafeterias, clinics and recreational facilities;

History: "Qualified activities" amended by P.C. 1994-139, subsec. 12(2), January 27, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 9, 1994, applicable to scientific research and experimental development done or carried on after December 23, 1991, other than scientific research and experimental development done or carried on by or on behalf of a taxpayer pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into by the taxpayer before December 24, 1991.

"rental cost" of a property means the rents incurred for the use of that property;

"resource profits" has the meaning assigned by section 1204;

History: The definition "resource profits" amended by P.C. 1996-1488, s. 6, September 24, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 16, 1996, applicable to taxation years that begin after December 20, 1991.

"Resource profits" added by P.C. 1994-230, s. 6, February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

"salaries and wages" means salaries, wages and commissions, but does not include any other type of remuneration, any superannuation or pension benefits, any retiring allowances or any amount referred to in section 6 or 7 of the Act;

"specified percentage" for a taxation year means

(a) where the year commences after 1998, 100%, and

(b) in any other case, the total of

(i) that proportion of 10% that the number of days in the year that are in 1990 is of the number of days in the year,

(ii) that proportion of 20% that the number of days in the year that are in 1991 is of the number of days in the year,

(iii) that proportion of 30% that the number of days in the year that are in 1992 is of the number of days in the year,

(iv) that proportion of 50% that the number of days in the year that are in 1993 is of the number of days in the year,

(v) that proportion of 64.3% that the number of days in the year that are in 1994 is of the number of days in the year,

(vi) that proportion of 71.4% that the number of days in the year that are in 1995 is of the number of days in the year,

(vii) that proportion of 78.6% that the number of days in the year that are in 1996 is of the number of days in the year,

(viii) that proportion of 85.7% that the number of days in the year that are in 1997 is of the number of days in the year,

(ix) that proportion of 92.9% that the number of days in the year that are in 1998 is of the number of days in the year, and

(x) that proportion of 100% that the number of days in the year that are in 1999 is of the number of days in the year.

History: "Specified percentage" added by P.C. 1994-230, s. 6, February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

5203. Resource income — (1) Where a corporation has resource activities for a taxation year the following rules apply, except as otherwise provided in section 5204

"adjusted business income" of the corporation for the year means the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount otherwise determined under section 5202 to be the adjusted business income of the corporation for the year

exceeds the total of

(b) the amount, if any, by which the corporation's net resource income for the year exceeds the corporation's net resource adjustment for the year,

(c) all amounts each of which is an amount in respect of refund interest included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year, to the extent that the amount is included in the amount otherwise determined to be the adjusted business income, within the meaning of section 5202, of the corporation for the year, and

(d) all amounts each of which is included under paragraph 12(1)(z.5) in computing the taxpayer's income for the year;

Proposed Repeal [effective 2007] — Reg. 5203(1)"adjusted business income"(d)

Application: The June 9, 2003 draft regulations (natural resources), subsec. 9(1), will repeal para. (d) of the definition "adjusted business income" in subsec. 5203(1), applicable to taxation years that begin after 2006.

Technical Notes: The definition of "adjusted business income" in subsection 5203(1) and paragraph 5203(2)(a) are amended consequential upon the repeal of paragraphs 12(1)(z.5) and 20(1)(v.1) of the Act for taxation years that being after 2006. Paragraphs 5203(4)(b) and (c) are repealed applicable to taxation years that begin after 2006, consequential upon the repeal of paragraphs 12(1)(o) and 18(1)(m) of the Act as of that date.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5203(3.1) — Net resource adjustment.

History: Para. (b) of the definition "adjusted business income" in subsec. 5203(1) amended by P.C. 1999-629, subsec. 11(1), April 15, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, April 28, 1999, applicable to taxation years that begin after December 20, 1991.

Para. (d) added to the definition "adjusted business income" in subsec. 5203(1) by the said P.C. 1999-629, subsec. 11(2), applicable to taxation years that begin after 1996.

That portion of the definition of "adjusted business income" in subsec. 5203(1) after para. (a) amended, and para. (c) added, by P.C. 1996-1488, subsec. 7(1), September 24, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 16, 1996, applicable to taxation years that end after March 6, 1996.

"cost of capital" of the corporation for the year means the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount otherwise determined under section 5202 to be the cost of capital of the corporation for the year

exceeds

(b) that portion of the gross cost of property or rental cost for the use of property included in computing the cost of capital of the corporation for the year that reflects the extent to which the property was used by the corporation during the year,

(i) in activities engaged in for the purpose of earning Canadian resource profits of the corporation, or

(ii) in activities referred to in subparagraph 66(15)(b)(i), (ii) or (v) [66(15)"Canadian exploration and development expenses"(a), (b) or (e)], subparagraph 66(15)(e)(i) or (ii) [66(15)"foreign exploration and development expenses"(a) or (b)], subparagraph 66.1(6)(a)(i), (ii), (iii) or (v) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"(a), (c), (f) or (i)] or subparagraph 66.2(5)(a)(i), (ii) or (v) [66.2(5)"Canadian development expense"(a), (c) or (g)] of the Act;

History: Subpara. (b)(i) of "cost of capital" amended by P.C. 1994-230, subsec. 7(1), February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

Subpara. (b)(ii) of the definition "cost of capital" substituted by P.C. 1978-1315, s. 14, April 20, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 10, 1978, effective on and after May 7, 1974.

"cost of labour" of the corporation for the year means the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount otherwise determined under section 5202 to be the cost of labour of the corporation for the year

exceeds

(b) that portion of the salaries and wages and other amounts included in computing the cost of labour of the corporation for the year that,

(i) was related to the activities engaged in for the purpose of earning Canadian resource profits of the corporation, or

(ii) was included in the Canadian exploration and development expenses, foreign exploration and development expenses, Canadian exploration expense or Canadian development expense, within the meanings assigned by paragraphs 66(15)(b) and (e) [66(15)"Canadian exploration and development expenses" and "foreign exploration and development expenses"], paragraph 66.1(6)(a) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"] and 66.2(5)(a) [66.2(5)"Canadian development expense"] of the Act respectively, of the corporation.

History: Subpara. (b)(i) of "cost of labour" amended by P.C. 1994-230, subsec. 7(2), February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

(2) ["Resource activities"] — For the purposes of subsection (1), a corporation has "resource activities" for a taxation year if

(a) in computing its income for the year, an amount is deductible pursuant to paragraph 20(1)(v.1) or section 65, 66, 66.1 or 66.2 of the Act;

Proposed Amendment [effective 2007] — Reg. 5203(2)(a)

(a) in computing its income for the year, an amount is deductible pursuant to any of sections 65 to 66.2 of the Act;

Application: The June 9, 2003 draft regulations (natural resources), subsec. 9(2), will amend para. 5203(2)(a) to read as above, applicable to taxation years that begin after 2006.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 5203(1)"adjusted business income"(d) above.

(b) the corporation was at any time during the year engaged in activities for the purpose of earning resource profits of the corporation; or

(c) in computing the corporation's income for the year, an amount was included pursuant to section 59 of the Act.

History: Para. 5203(2)(b) amended by P.C. 1994-230, subsec. 7(3), February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

(3) ["Net resource income"] — In subsection (1), "net resource income" of a corporation for a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which the total of

(a) the resource profits of the corporation for the year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of amounts included in computing the income of the corporation for the year, from an active business carried on in Canada, pursuant to section 59 of the Act (other than amounts that may reasonably be regarded as having been included in computing the resource profits of the corporation for the year),

exceeds

(ii) the total of amounts deducted in computing the income of the corporation for the year under section 64 of the Act, as that section applies with respect to dispositions occurring before November 13, 1981 and to dispositions occurring after November 12, 1981 pursuant to the terms in existence on that date of an offer or agreement in writing made or entered into on or before that date, except those amounts that may reasonably be regarded as having been deducted in computing the resource profits of the corporation for the year,

exceeds the total of

(c) the total of amounts deducted in computing the income of the corporation for the year under section 65 of the Act (other than amounts that may reasonably be regarded as having been deducted in computing the resource profits of the corporation for the year), and

(d) the specified percentage for the year of the amount, if any, by which

(i) the corporation's resource profits for the year

exceeds the total of

(ii) the corporation's Canadian resource profits for the year, and

(iii) the earned depletion base (within the meaning assigned by subsection 1205(1)) of the corporation at the beginning of its immediately following taxation year.

History: Subsec. 5203(3) substituted by P.C. 1994-230, subsec. 7(4), February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

(3.1) ["Net resource adjustment"] — In subsection (1), the net resource adjustment of a corporation for a taxation year is the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the amount of Canadian resource profits of the corporation for the year, and

B is the amount that would be the Canadian resource profits of the corporation for the year if

(a) subsections 1204(1) and (1.1) provided for the computation of negative amounts where the amounts subtracted in computing gross resource profits (as defined by subsection 1204(1)) and resource profits exceed the amounts added in computing those amounts, and

(b) paragraph 1206(3)(a) applied so that a negative amount of resource profits of a partnership for a fiscal period that ended in the year were, to the extent of the corporation's share thereof, deducted in computing the corporation's resource profits for the year.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

History: Subsec. 5203(3.1) added by P.C. 1999-629, subsec. 11(3), April 15, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, April 28, 1999, applicable to taxation years that begin after December 20, 1991.

(4) ["Refund interest"] — For the purpose of subsection 5203(1), "refund interest" means an amount that is received, or that becomes receivable, after March 6, 1996

(a) from an authority (including a government or municipality) situated in Canada as a consequence of the overpayment of a tax that was not deductible under the Act in computing any taxpayer's income and that was imposed by an Act of Canada or a province or a bylaw of a municipality;

(b) from a person described in subparagraph 18(1)(m)(i), (ii) or (iii) of the Act as a consequence of the overpayment of an amount that, because of paragraph 18(1)(m) of the Act, was not deductible under the Act in computing any taxpayer's income; or

(c) from a person described in subparagraph 18(1)(m)(i), (ii) or (iii) of the Act as a consequence of the receipt of an amount that was in excess of the amount to which the person was entitled and in respect of an amount that was required to be included in computing any taxpayer's income because of paragraph 12(1)(o) of the Act.

Proposed Amendment [effective 2007] — Reg. 5203(4)

(4) ["Refund interest"] — For the purpose of subsection (1), "refund interest" means an amount that is received, or that becomes receivable, after March 6, 1996 from an authority (including a government or municipality) situated in Canada as a consequence of the overpayment of a tax that was not deductible under the Act in computing any taxpayer's income and that was imposed by an Act of Canada or a province or a bylaw of a municipality.

Application: The June 9, 2003 draft regulations (natural resources), subsec. 9(3), will amend subsec. 5203(4) to read as above, applicable to taxation years that begin after 2006.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 5203(1)"adjusted business income"(d) above.

5204. Partnerships — Where a corporation is a member of a partnership at any time in a taxation year of the corporation, the following rules apply:

"cost of capital" of the corporation for the year means an amount equal to the aggregate of

(a) 10 per cent of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the gross cost to the corporation of a property referred to in paragraph 1100(1)(e), (f), (g) or (h), paragraph 1102(1)(d) or (g) or Schedule II that

(i) was owned by the corporation at the end of the year, and

(ii) was used by the corporation at any time during the year,

(c) that proportion of the aggregate of the amounts that would be determined under paragraphs (a) and (b) in respect of the partnership for its fiscal period coinciding with or ending in the taxation year of the corporation if the references in those paragraphs to "the corporation" were read as references to "the partnership" and the references in those paragraphs to "the year" were read as references to "the fiscal period of the partnership coinciding with or ending in the year", that

(i) the corporation's share of the income or loss of the partnership for that fiscal period

is of

(ii) the income or loss of the partnership for that fiscal period, as the case may be,

but for the purposes of this definition, the gross cost of a property or rental cost for the use of any property does not include that portion of those costs that reflects the extent to which the property was used by the corporation during the year or by the partnership during its fiscal period coinciding with or ending in the year

(d) in an active business carried on outside Canada,

(e) to earn Canadian investment income or foreign investment income as defined in subsection 129(4) of the Act on the assumption that subsection 129(4) of the Act applied to a partnership as well as to a corporation,

(f) in activities engaged in for the purpose of earning Canadian resource profits of the corporation or the partnership, as the case may be, or

(g) in activities referred to in subparagraph 66(15)(b)(i), (ii) or (v) [66(15)"Canadian exploration and development expenses"(a), (b) or (e)], subparagraph 66(15)(e)(i) or (ii) [66(15)"foreign exploration and development expenses"(a) or (b)], subparagraph 66.1(6)(a)(i), (ii), (iii) or (v) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"(a), (c), (f) or (i)] or subparagraph 66.2(5)(a)(i), (ii) or (v) [66.2(5)"Canadian development expense"(a), (c) or (g)] of the Act;

History: Para. (f) of "cost of capital" substituted by P.C. 1994-230, subsec. 8(1), February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

Para. (g) of the definition "cost of capital" substituted by P.C. 1978-1315, s. 14, April 20, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 10, 1978, effective on and after May 7, 1974.

"cost of labour" of the corporation for the year means an amount equal to the aggregate of

(a) the salaries and wages paid or payable during the year to all employees of the corporation for services performed during the year,

(b) all other amounts each of which is an amount paid or payable during the year for the performance during the year, by any person other than an employee of the corporation, of functions relating to

(i) the management or administration of the corporation,

(ii) scientific research as defined in section 2900, or

(iii) a service or function that would normally be performed by an employee of the corporation, and

(c) that proportion of the aggregate of the amounts that would be determined under paragraphs (a) and (b) in respect of the partnership for its fiscal period coinciding with or ending in the taxation year of the corporation if the references in those paragraphs to the "corporation" were read as references to "the partnership" and the references in those paragraphs to "the year" were read as references to "the fiscal period of the partnership coinciding with or ending in the year", that

(i) the corporation's share of the income or loss of the partnership for that fiscal period

is of

(ii) the income or loss of the partnership for that fiscal period, as the case may be,

but for the purposes of this definition, the salaries and wages referred to in paragraph (a) or other amounts referred to in paragraph (b), of the corporation or the partnership, as the case may be, do not include that portion of those amounts that

(d) was included in the gross cost to the corporation or partnership of a property (other than a property that was manufactured by the corporation or partnership and leased during the year by the corporation or the partnership to another person) that was included in computing the cost of capital of the corporation for the year,

(e) was related to an active business carried on outside Canada by the corporation or the partnership,

(f) was related to the activities engaged in for the purpose of earning Canadian resource profits of the corporation or the partnership, as the case may be, or

History: Para. (f) of "cost of labour" substituted by P.C. 1994-230, subsec. 8(2), February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

(g) was included in the Canadian exploration and development expenses, foreign exploration and development expenses, Canadian exploration expense or Canadian development expense, within the meanings assigned by paragraphs 66(15)(b) and (e) [66(15)"Canadian exploration and development expenses" and "foreign exploration and development expenses"], 66.1(6)(a) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"] and 66.2(5)(a) [66.2(5)"Canadian development expense"] of the Act respectively, of the corporation;

"cost of manufacturing and processing capital" of the corporation for the year means 100/85 of that portion of the cost of capital of the corporation for that year that reflects the extent to which each property included in the calculation thereof was used directly in qualified activities

(a) of the corporation during the year, or

(b) of the partnership during its fiscal period coinciding with or ending in the year, as the case may be,

but the amount so calculated shall not exceed the cost of capital of the corporation for the year;

"cost of manufacturing and processing labour" of the corporation for the year means 100/75 of that portion of the cost of labour of the corporation for that year that reflects the extent to which

(a) the salaries and wages included in the calculation thereof were paid or payable to persons for the portion of their time that they were directly engaged in qualified activities

(i) of the corporation during the year, or

(ii) of the partnership during its fiscal period coinciding with or ending in the year, and

(b) the other amounts included in the calculation thereof were paid or payable to persons for the performance of functions that would be directly related to qualified activities

(i) of the corporation during the year, or

(ii) of the partnership during its fiscal period coinciding with or ending in the year, if those persons were employees of the corporation or the partnership, as the case may be,

but the amount so calculated shall not exceed the cost of labour of the corporation for the year;

"gross cost" of a property at any time means

(a) in respect of a property that has become available for use by the partnership for the purposes of subsection 13(26) of the Act, the capital cost to the partnership of the property computed without reference to subsections 13(7.1), (7.4) and (10) and sections 21 and 80 of the Act, and

(b) in respect of any other property of the partnership, nil and, for the purposes of paragraph (a), where the partnership acquired the property from a person who was a majority interest partner of the partnership (within the meaning assigned by subsection 97(3.1) of the Act) immediately after the property was acquired, the capital cost to the partnership of the property shall be computed as if the property had been acquired at a capital cost equal to the gross cost to the person of the property, except that where the property was partnership property on December 31, 1971, its gross cost shall be its capital cost to the partnership as determined under subsection 20(3) or (5) of the Income Tax Application Rules.

History: "Gross cost" amended by P.C. 1994-1817, s. 48, November 1, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 30, 1994.

"Gross cost" substituted by P.C. 1994-139, s. 13, January 27, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 9, 1994, applicable to 1985 et seq., except that

"gross cost" of a property at any time means in respect of a property of the partnership, the capital cost to the partnership of the property computed without reference to subsections 13(7.1), (7.4) and (10) and sections 21 and 80 of the Act, and, where the partnership acquired the property from a person who was a majority interest partner of the partnership (within the meaning assigned by subsection 97(3.1) of the Act) immediately after the property was acquired, the capital cost to the partnership of the property shall be computed as if the property had been acquired at a capital cost equal to the gross cost to the person of the property, except that where the property was partnership property on December 31, 1971 its gross cost shall be its capital cost to the partnership as determined under subsection 20(3) or (5) of the Income Tax Application Rules,1971.

(b) for taxation years ending before January 16, 1987 where the taxpayer has not elected under para. (a), it shall be read as follows:

"gross cost" of a property means the capital cost of the property computed without reference to subsections 13(7.1), (7.4) and (10) and sections 21 and 80 of the Act, except that where a property was partnership property on December 31, 1971, its gross cost shall be its capital cost to the partnership as determined under subsection 20(3) or (5) of the Income Tax Application Rules, 1971;

(c) for taxation years ending after January 15, 1987 and before February 9, 1994, where the taxpayer has not elected under para. (a), it shall be read as follows:

PART LIII — INSTALMENT BASE

History: Part LIII (ss. 5300, 5301) substituted by P.C. 1981-2931, s. 1, October 22, 1981, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 11, 1981, applicable by s. 2 as follows:

(1) Para. 5300(1)(d) applicable to 1980 et seq.

(2) Subsecs. 5301(1)–(5) effective in respect of instalments of tax required to be paid for taxation years commencing after October 28, 1980.

(3) Subsecs. 5301(6)–(9) effective in respect of taxation years commencing after February 26, 1981 in respect of instalments of tax required to be paid after the particular time referred to in those subsections where such particular time was after November 11, 1981.

Part LIII was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

5300. [Individuals] — For the purposes of subsections 155(2), 156(3) and 161(9) of the Act, the instalment base of an individual for a taxation year is the amount by which

(a) the individual's tax payable under Part I of the Act for the year, determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for the year

exceeds

(b) the amount deemed by subsection 120(2) of the Act to have been paid on account of the individual's tax under Part I of the Act for the year, determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for the year.

Related Provisions: ITA 248(1) — Definition of "specified future tax consequence".

History: S. 5300 substituted for subsecs. 5300(1), (2) by P.C. 1999-196, s. 1, February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable for the purpose of computing instalments of tax payable for 1997 et seq.

Para. 5300(1)(a) substituted by P.C. 1985-2277, s. 15, July 24, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 7, 1985, applicable with respect to amounts deducted under ss. 127.2 and 127.3 of the Act in respect of shares, debt obligations and rights acquired after February 15, 1984, other than shares, debt obligations or rights acquired before March 1, 1984 where arrangements, evidenced in writing, for the issue of the shares or debt obligations or granting of the rights were substantially advanced before February 16, 1984; and with respect to amounts referred to in subparas. 161(7)(a)(i) to (vii) of the Act for subsequent taxation years ending after August 7, 1985.

Definitions [Reg. 5300]: "amount", "individual", "prescribed", "specified future tax consequence" — ITA 248(1); "taxation year" — ITA 249.

5301. Corporations under Part I of the Act — (1) Subject to subsections 5301 (6) and (8), for the purposes of subsections 157(4) and 161(9) of the Act, the first instalment base of a corporation for a particular taxation year means the product obtained when the aggregate of

(a) the tax payable under Part I of the Act by the corporation for its taxation year preceding the particular year, and

(b) the total of the taxes payable by the corporation under Parts I.3, VI and VI.1 of the Act for its taxation year preceding the particular year

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5301(1)(b)

(b) the total of the taxes payable by the corporation under Parts I.3, VI, VI.1 and XIII.1 of the Act for its taxation year preceding the particular year

Application: The February 13, 2003 draft regulations (foreign bank branches), subsec. 9(1), (pre-published in the Canada Gazette, Part I, February 15, 2003), will amend para. 5301(1)(b) to read as above, applicable to 2001 et seq.

Regulatory Impact Analysis Statement: Instalment Base

Section 157 of the Act requires taxpayers to make regular instalment payment of taxes. The amount of the instalment is determined by reference to an "instalment base", which in broad terms reflects the amount of the taxpayer's expected tax liability. Section 5301 computes the instalment base of a corporation, and paragraph 5301(1)(b), clause 5301(4)(a)(i)(B) and subsection 5301(10) describe the taxes payable to be included in such computation.

An authorized foreign bank is subject to the new Branch Interest Tax imposed under Part XIII.1 of the Act. Paragraph 5301(1)(b), clause 5301(4)(a)(i)(B) and subsection 5301(10) are amended to include the Part XIII.1 tax in the computation of an instalment base.

is multiplied by the ratio that 365 is of the number of days in that preceding year.

History: Para. 5301(1)(a) amended by P.C. 1999-196, subsec. 2(1), February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable to 1996 et seq.

Paras. 5301(1)(a) and (b) substituted by P.C. 1994-556, subsec. 1(1), April 14, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 4, 1994, applicable in computing the "first instalment base" and "second instalment base", within the meanings assigned by Part LIII, for taxation years ending after June 1989, except that in its application to any of those taxation years ending before 1992, the reference to "Parts I.3, VI and VI.1" in para. 5301(1)(b) shall be read as a reference to "Part VI.1".

Subsec. 5301(1) substituted by P.C. 1989-1565, subsec. 3(1), August 14, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 30, 1989, applicable in respect of 1988 et seq.

Subsec. 5301(1) substituted by P.C. 1988-390, subsec. 27(1), March 3, 1988, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 16, 1988, applicable to 1985 et seq.

Subsec. 5301(1) substituted by P.C. 1985-2277, subsec. 16(1), July 24, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 7, 1985, applicable with respect to amounts deducted under ss. 127.2 and 127.3 of the Act in respect of shares, debt obligations and rights acquired after February 15, 1984, other than shares, debt obligations or rights acquired before March 1, 1984 where arrangements, evidenced in writing, for the issue of the shares or debt obligations or granting of the rights were substantially advanced before February 16, 1984; and with respect to amounts referred to in subparas. 161(7)(a)(i) to (vii) of the Act for subsequent taxation years ending after August 7, 1985.

Subsec. 5301(1) substituted by P.C. 1984-3789, subsec. 14(1), November 29, 1984, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 12, 1984, applicable to 1982 et seq.

(2) Subject to subsections (6) and (8), for the purposes of subsections 157(4) and 161(9) of the Act, the "second instalment base" of a corporation for a particular taxation year means the amount of the first instalment base of the corporation for the taxation year immediately preceding the particular year.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1), where the number of days in the taxation year of a corporation immediately preceding the particular taxation year referred to therein is less than 183, the amount determined for the corporation under that subsection shall be the greater of

(a) the amount otherwise determined for it under subsection (1); and

(b) the amount that would be determined for it under subsection (1) if the reference in that subsection to "its taxation year preceding the particular year" were read as a reference to "its last taxation year, preceding the particular year, in which the number of days exceeds 182".

History: Para. 5301(3)(b) amended by P.C. 1999-196, subsec. 2(2), February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable to taxation years ending after June 30, 1989.

(4) Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (2), for the purposes of subsections 157(4) and 161(9) of the Act,

(a) where a particular taxation year of a new corporation that was formed as a result of an amalgamation (within the meaning assigned by section 87 of the Act) is its first taxation year,

(i) its "first instalment base" for the particular year means the total of all amounts each of which is equal to the product obtained when the total of

(A) the tax payable under Part I of the Act, and

(B) the total of the taxes payable under Parts I.3, VI and VI.1 of the Act

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5301(4)(a)(i)(B)

(B) the total of the taxes payable under Parts I.3, VI, VI.1 and XIII.1 of the Act

Application: The February 13, 2003 draft regulations (foreign bank branches), subsec. 9(2), (pre-published in the Canada Gazette, Part I, February 15, 2003), will amend cl. 5301(4)(a)(i)(B) to read as above, applicable to 2001 et seq.

by a predecessor corporation (as defined in section 87 of the Act) for its last taxation year is multiplied by the ratio that 365 is of the number of days in that year, and

(ii) its "second instalment base" for the particular year means the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to the amount of the first instalment base of a predecessor corporation for its last taxation year; and

(b) where a particular taxation year of a new corporation referred to in paragraph (a) is its second taxation year,

(i) its "first instalment base" for the particular year means

(A) where the number of days in its first taxation year is greater than 182, the amount that would, but for this subsection, be determined under subsection (1) for the year, and

(B) in any other case, the greater of the amount that would, but for this subsection, be determined under subsection (1) for the year and its first instalment base for its first taxation year, and

(ii) its "second instalment base" for the particular year means the amount of the first instalment base of the new corporation for its first taxation year.

Subpara. 5301(4)(a)(i) substituted by P.C. 1985-2277, subsec. 16(2), July 24, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 7, 1985, applicable with respect to amounts deducted under ss. 127.2 and 127.3 of the Act in respect of shares, debt obligations and rights acquired after February 15, 1984, other than shares, debt obligations or rights acquired before March 1, 1984 where arrangements, evidenced in writing, for the issue of the shares or debt obligations or granting of the rights were substantially advanced before February 16, 1984; and with respect to amounts referred to in subparas. 161(7)(a)(i) to (vii) of the Act for subsequent taxation years ending after August 7, 1985.

Subpara. 5301(4)(a)(i) substituted by P.C. 1984-3789, subsec. 14(2), November 29, 1984, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 12, 1984, applicable to 1982 et seq.

(5) For the purposes of subsection (4), where the number of days in the last taxation year of a predecessor corporation is less than 183, the amount determined under subparagraph (4)(a)(i) in respect of the predecessor corporation shall be the greater of

(a) the amount otherwise determined under subparagraph (4)(a)(i) in respect of the predecessor corporation; and

(b) the amount of the first instalment base of the predecessor corporation for its last taxation year.

(6) Subject to subsection (7), where a subsidiary within the meaning of subsection 88(1) of the Act is winding up, and, at a particular time in the course of the winding up, all or substantially all of the property of the subsidiary has been distributed to a parent within the meaning of subsection 88(1) of the Act, the following rules apply:

(a) there shall be added to the amount of the parent's first instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time the amount of the subsidiary's first instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time;

(b) there shall be added to the amount of the parent's second instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time the amount of the subsidiary's second instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time;

(c) there shall be added to the amount of the parent's first instalment base for its taxation year immediately following its taxation year referred to in paragraph (a) the amount that is the proportion of the subsidiary's first instalment base for its taxation year referred to in paragraph (a) that

(i) the number of complete months that ended at or before the particular time in the taxation year of the parent that includes the particular time

is of

(ii) 12; and

(d) there shall be added to the amount of the parent's second instalment base for its taxation year immediately following its taxation year referred to in paragraph (a) the amount of the subsidiary's first instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time.

(7) The amount of an instalment of tax for the taxation year referred to in paragraphs (6)(a) and (b) that a parent is deemed under subsection 161(4.1) of the Act to have been liable to pay before the particular time referred to in subsection (6) shall be determined as if subsection (6) were not applicable in respect of a distribution of property described in that subsection occurring after the day on or before which the instalment was required to be paid.

(8) Subject to subsection (9), where at a particular time a corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "transferor") has disposed of all or substantially all of its property to another corporation with which it was not dealing at arm's length (in this subsection and subsection (9) referred to as the "transferee") and subsection 85(1) or (2) of the Act applied in respect of the disposition of any of the property, the following rules apply:

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5301(8) opening words

(8) Subject to subsection (9), if at a particular time a corporation (in this subsection referred as the "transferor") has disposed of all or substantially all of its property to another corporation with which it was not dealing at arm's length (in this subsection and subsection (9) referred to as the "transferee") and subsection 85(1) or (2) or 142.7(3) of the Act applied in respect of the disposition of any of the property, the following rules apply:

Application: The February 13, 2003 draft regulations (foreign bank branches), subsec. 9(3), (pre-published in the Canada Gazette, Part I, February 15, 2003), will amend the opening words of subsec. 5301(8) to read as above, applicable after June 27, 1999.

Regulatory Impact Analysis Statement: Subsection 5301(8) describes the additional rules applicable in the computation of an instalment base when a property is disposed of in a transaction governed by subsection 85(1) or (2) of the Act. Subsection 142.7(3) of the Act allows a Canadian affiliate of an authorized foreign bank to dispose of its property in the manner similar to an election under subsection 85(1) of the Act. Subsection 5301(8) is amended to include the property disposed of by virtue of an election under subsection 142.7(3) of the Act.

(a) there shall be added to the amount of the transferee's first instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time the amount of the transferor's first instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time;

(b) there shall be added to the amount of the transferee's second instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time the amount of the transferor's second instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time;

(c) there shall be added to the amount of the transferee's first instalment base for its taxation year immediately following its taxation year referred to in paragraph (a) the amount that is the proportion of the transferor's first instalment base for its taxation year referred to in paragraph (a) that

is of

(ii) 12; and

(d) there shall be added to the amount of the transferee's second instalment base for its taxation year immediately following its taxation year referred to in paragraph (a) the amount of the transferor's first instalment base for its taxation year that includes the particular time.

(9) The amount of an instalment of tax for the taxation year referred to in paragraphs (8)(a) and (b) that a transferee is deemed under subsection 161(4.1) of the Act to have been liable to pay before the particular time referred to in subsection (8) shall be determined as if subsection (8) were not applicable in respect of a disposition of property described in that subsection occurring after the day on or before which the instalment was required to be paid.

(10) For the purpose of this section, tax payable under Part I, I.3 or VI of the Act by a corporation for a taxation year means the corporation's tax payable for the year under the relevant Part, determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for the year.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5301(10)

(10) For the purpose of this section, tax payable under Part I, I.3, VI or XIII.1 of the Act by a corporation for a taxation year means the corporation's tax payable for the year under the relevant Part, determined before taking into consideration the specified future tax consequences for the year.

Application: The February 13, 2003 draft regulations (foreign bank branches), subsec. 9(4), (pre-published in the Canada Gazette, Part I, February 15, 2003), will amend subsec. 5301(10) to read as above, applicable to 2001 et seq.

Regulatory Impact Analysis Statement: See under Reg. 5301(1)(b) above.

Related Provisions: ITA 248(1) — Definition of "specified future tax consequence".

History: Subsec. 5301(10) amended by P.C. 1999-196, subsec. 2(4), February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable to 1996 et seq.

Subsec. 5301(10) added by P.C. 1994-556, subsec. 1(3), April 14, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 4, 1994, applicable in computing the "first instalment base" and "second instalment base", within the meanings assigned by Part LIII, for taxation years ending after June 1989 except that, in making such computations in respect of such taxation years commencing before March 1992, subsec. 5301(10) shall be read as follows:

> (10) For the purposes of this section, "tax payable under Part I of the Act" by a corporation for a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which the tax payable under Part I of the Act by the corporation for the year, computed without reference to sections 123.1, 127.2 and 127.3 of the Act (and, where the year commenced before July 1, 1989, without reference to section 125.3 of the Act) and before taking into consideration any amount referred to in any of subparagraphs 161(7)(a)(ii) to (vii) of the Act that is excluded or deducted, as the case may be, for the year, exceeds

>
> (A) before July 1, 1989, the amount that would be the corporation's tax payable under Part I.3 of the Act for the year if that Part (as it read in its application to the corporation's first taxation year commencing after June 30, 1989) applied in respect of the year and its capital deduction under that Part for the year were its capital deduction under that Part for its first taxation year ending after June 30, 1989, or
>
> (B) after June 30, 1989, the product obtained when the corporation's tax payable under Part I.3 of the Act for the year is multiplied by the ratio that the number of days in the year is of the number of days in the year after June 30, 1989, and
> (ii) the amount that would be the corporation's Canadian surtax payable for the year, as defined in subsection 125.3(4) of the Act if that subsection and any regulations made under that subsection (as they read in their application to the corporation's first taxation year commencing after June 30, 1989) were applicable to the year;
> (b) where the year commenced before February 21, 1990 and the corporation is a corporation described in paragraph (d) or (e) of the definition "financial institution" in subsection 190(1) of the Act (or that would be so described if those paragraphs applied with respect to the year),
>
> (i) where the year ended before February 21, 1990, the amount that would be the corporation's tax payable under Part VI of the Act for the year if that Part (as it read in its application to the corporation's first taxation year commencing after February 20, 1990) applied in respect of the year and its capital deduction under that Part for the year were its capital deduction under that Part for its first taxation year ending after February 20, 1990, and
>
> (ii) where the year ended after February 20, 1990, the amount, if any, by which
>
> (A) the product obtained when the corporation's tax payable under Part VI of the Act for the year is multiplied by the ratio that the number of days in the year is to the number of days in the year after February 20, 1990
>
> exceeds
>
> (B) the amount deducted under subsection 125.2(1) of the Act in computing the corporation's tax payable under Part I of the Act for the year in respect of its tax payable under Part VI of the Act for the year; and
> (c) in any other case, nil.

In making those computations in respect of any of those taxation years ending before 1991, the reference in subsec. 5301(10) to "subparagraphs 161(7)(a)(ii) to (x)" shall be read as a reference to "subparagraphs 161(7)(a)(ii) to (vii)"; and in making those computations in respect of any of those taxation years ending in 1991, the reference in subsec. 5301(10) to "subparagraphs 161(7)(a)(ii) to (x)" shall be read as a reference to "subparagraphs 161(7)(a)(ii) to (vii) and (x)".

PART LIV — DEBTOR'S GAINS ON SETTLEMENT OF DEBTS

Proposed Repeal — Part LIV

Technical Notes to ITA 80–80.04, 1994 tax amendment bill (Bill C-70), February 16, 1995: The new rules for debt forgiveness are entirely contained in the Act [in subsecs. 80(5) and (6) — ed.]. As a consequence, Part LIV of the Regulations is no longer relevant, except in the cases where grandfathering [former s. 80 — ed.] applies.

History: Part LIV was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

5400. (1) Subject to section 5401, the excess referred to in paragraph 80(1)(b) of the Act, after deducting the portion thereof required to be applied as provided in paragraph 80(1)(a) of the Act, shall be applied at the time the debt or obligation is settled or extinguished, in the following order to reduce to the maximum extent possible

(a) the capital cost of depreciable property of a prescribed class or prescribed classes, as the case may be;

(b) the capital cost of depreciable property other than depreciable property of a prescribed class;

(c) the adjusted cost base at that time of capital property, other than depreciable property and personal-use property;

(d) the adjusted cost base at that time of capital property that is listed personal property; and

(e) the adjusted cost base at that time of capital property that is personal-use property, other than listed personal property.

History: All that portion of subsec. 5400(1) preceding para. (a) substituted by P.C. 1984-3789, s. 15, November 29, 1984, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 12, 1984, effective commencing November 13, 1981.

(2) Where an amount is to be applied pursuant to subsection (1), the taxpayer may choose any particular property to make the reduction in the order specified therein.

Definitions [Reg. 5400]: "adjusted cost base" — ITA 54, 248(1); "amount" — ITA 248(1); "capital property" — ITA 54, 248(1); "depreciable property" — ITA 13(21), 248(1); "listed personal property", "personal-use property" — ITA 54, 248(1); "prescribed", "property", "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1).

5401. (1) For the purposes of paragraph 5400(1)(a), the amount to be applied to reduce the capital cost of a property shall not exceed the lesser of

(a) the amount by which

(i) the capital cost of the property

exceeds

(ii) all amounts that would have been allowed to the taxpayer in respect of the property, if it had been the only property that was included in a prescribed class, at the rate that was allowed to him in respect of property of the class in which it was included under regulations made under paragraph 20(1)(a) of the Act for the taxation years prior to the year in which the debt or obligation was settled or extinguished; and

(b) the amount by which

(i) the undepreciated capital cost of the class at the time the debt or obligation was settled or extinguished

exceeds

(ii) the amount or the aggregate of amounts, if any, that has already been determined under this subsection in respect of another property of the class at the time referred to in subparagraph (i).

(2) For the purposes of paragraph 5400(1)(b), the amount to be applied to reduce the capital cost of a property shall not exceed

(a) the amount by which the capital cost of the property

exceeds

(b) the amount that was allowed to the taxpayer by virtue of Part XVII in respect of the property before the debt or the obligation was settled or extinguished.

(3) For the purposes of paragraphs 5400(1)(c), (d) and (e), the amount to be applied to reduce the adjusted cost base of a property shall not exceed the amount by which

(a) the aggregate of the cost to the taxpayer of the property and all amounts required by subsection 53(1) of the Act to be included in computing the adjusted cost base to him of that property

exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts required by subsection 53(2) of the Act (except paragraph (c) thereof) to be deducted in computing the adjusted cost base to him of that property, at the time the debt or obligation was settled or extinguished.

PART LIX — FOREIGN AFFILIATES

History: Part LIX was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

5900. Dividends out of exempt, taxable and pre-acquisition surplus — (1) Where at any time a corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of the corporation receives a dividend on a share of any class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation,

(a) for the purposes of this Part and paragraph 113(1)(a) of the Act, the portion of the dividend paid out of the exempt surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that proportion of the dividend received that

(i) such portion of the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time as was deemed by section 5901 to have been paid out of the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation

is of

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time;

(b) for the purposes of this Part and subsection 91(5) and paragraphs 113(1)(b) and (c) of the Act, the portion of the dividend paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that portion of the dividend received that

(i) such portion of the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time as was deemed by section 5901 to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation

is of

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time;

(c) for the purposes of this Part and paragraph 113(1)(d) of the Act, the portion of the dividend paid out of the pre-acquisition surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that proportion of the dividend received that

(i) such portion of the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time as was deemed by section 5901 to have been paid out of the affiliate's pre-acquisition surplus in respect of the corporation

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time; and

(d) for the purposes of this Part and paragraph 113(1)(b) of the Act, the foreign tax applicable to the portion of the dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that proportion of the underlying foreign tax applicable, in respect of the corporation, to the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time that

(i) the amount of the dividend received by the corporation or the affiliate, as the case may be, on that share at that time

is of

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraphs (1)(a) and (b), where at any time a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada pays a dividend on a share of a class of its capital stock (other than a share in respect of which an election is made under subsection 93(1) of the Act) to the corporation, the corporation may, in its return of income under Part I of the Act for its taxation year in which the dividend was received by it, designate an amount not exceeding the portion of the dividend received that would, but for this subsection, be prescribed to have been paid out of the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation and that amount

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5900(2) opening words

(2) Notwithstanding paragraphs (1)(a) and (b), where at any time a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada pays a dividend on a share of a class of its capital stock (other than a dividend referred to in subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act) to the corporation, the corporation may, in its return of income under Part I of the Act for its taxation year in which the dividend was received by it, designate an amount not exceeding the portion of the dividend received that would, but for this subsection, be prescribed to have been paid out of the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation and that amount

Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (foreign affiliates — partnerships), subsec. 1(1), will amend the opening words of subsec. 5900(2) to read as above, applicable to dividends received after November 1999.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5900(2) allows a corporation resident in Canada to elect to have a dividend paid by a foreign affiliate of the corporation to be treated as having been paid out of the taxable surplus rather than out of the exempt surplus of the affiliate. This election is not available where the corporation has elected under subsection 93(1) of the Act to treat proceeds of disposition of a share of a foreign affiliate as a dividend. The amendment ensures that the election in subsection 5900(2) will not apply where the corporation has elected under new subsection 93(1.2) of the Act to treat all or a portion of its gain from a partnership arising on the disposition of a share of a foreign affiliate by the partnership as a dividend.

(a) is prescribed to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation and not to have been paid out of that exempt surplus; and

(b) for the purposes of paragraph (1)(d) and the definitions "underlying foreign tax" and "underlying foreign tax applicable" in subsection 5907(1) is deemed to have been paid by the affiliate to the corporation as a separate whole dividend on the shares of that class of the capital stock immediately after that time, and that whole dividend is deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation.

History: Paras. 5900(2)(a), (b) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, s. 2, November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the amendments apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when

that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

(3) For the purposes of subsection 91(5) of the Act, where at any time an individual resident in Canada receives a dividend on a share of any class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of that individual, the affiliate shall be deemed to have an amount of taxable surplus in respect of the individual and the portion of the dividend paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the individual is prescribed to be an amount equal to the dividend received.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5900(3)

(3) For the purpose of subsection 91(5) of the Act, where at any time a person (other than a corporation) resident in Canada receives a dividend on a share of any class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of that person, the affiliate is deemed to have an amount of taxable surplus in respect of the person and the portion of the dividend paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the person is prescribed to be an amount equal to the dividend received.

Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (foreign affiliates — partnerships), subsec. 1(2), will amend subsec. 5900(3) to read as above, applicable to dividends received after November 1999.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5900(3) applies where an individual resident in Canada receives a dividend from a foreign affiliate. For the purpose of subsection 91(5) of the Act, subsection 5900(3) deems the individual to have received all dividends out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate. Subsection 91(5) of the Act permits deductions in respect of dividends paid out of the taxable surplus of an affiliate to the extent that that surplus is represented by foreign accrual property income of the affiliate that has been taxed in the hands of the dividend recipient.

The amendment to subsection 5900(3) replaces the word "individual" with the phrase "person (other than a corporation)". This amendment clarifies that, for the purpose of subsection 91(5), where a partnership is deemed to be a person under section 96 of the Act the partnership is deemed to have received all dividends out of taxable surplus.

5901. Order of surplus distributions — (1) Where at any time in its taxation year a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada has paid a whole dividend on the shares of any class of its capital stock, for the purposes of this Part

(a) the portion of the whole dividend deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation at that time is an amount equal to the lesser of

(i) the amount of the whole dividend, and

(ii) the amount by which that exempt surplus exceeds the affiliate's taxable deficit in respect of the corporation at that time;

(b) the portion of the whole dividend deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation at that time is an amount equal to the lesser of

(i) the amount, if any, by which the amount of the whole dividend exceeds the portion determined under paragraph (a), and

(ii) the amount by which that taxable surplus exceeds the affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation at that time; and

(c) the portion of the whole dividend deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's pre-acquisition surplus in respect of the corporation at that time is the amount by which the whole dividend exceeds the aggregate of the portions determined under paragraphs (a) and (b).

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), where a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada pays a whole dividend (other than a whole dividend referred to in subsection 5902(1)) at any particular time in its taxation year that is more than 90 days after the commencement of that year or at any particular time in its 1972 taxation year that is before January 1, 1972, the portion of the whole dividend that would, but for this subsection, be deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's pre-acquisition surplus in respect of the corporation is deemed to have been paid out of the exempt surplus and taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the corporation to the extent that it would have been deemed to have been so paid if, immediately after the end of that year, that portion were paid as a separate whole dividend before any whole dividend paid after the particular time and after any whole dividend paid before the particular time by the affiliate, and for the purposes of determining the exempt deficit, exempt surplus, taxable deficit, taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax of the affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time, that portion is deemed to have been paid as a separate whole dividend immediately following the end of the year and not to have been paid at the particular time.

History: Subsec. 5901(2) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, s. 3, November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. as amended applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(3) Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (2), for the purposes of the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit" and "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), any amount designated pursuant to subsection 5900(2) in respect of a dividend paid by a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada increases the portion of the whole dividend deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation and decrease the portion of the whole dividend deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation.

History: Subsec. 5901(3) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, s. 3, November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. as amended applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

5902. Election in respect of capital gains — (1) Where at any time a dividend is, by virtue of an election made under subsection 93(1) of the Act in respect of a disposition, deemed to have been received on one or more shares of a class of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, the following rules apply:

(a) determine the amounts that would be the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, underlying foreign tax and net surplus in respect of the corporation at that time if

(i) each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the affiliate had an equity percentage had immediately before that time paid a dividend equal to its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before the dividend was paid, and

(ii) any dividend referred to in subparagraph (i) that any other foreign affiliate would have received had been received by it immediately before any such dividend that it would have paid;

(b) determine the amount that would have been received on the shares (of that class) in respect of which an election is made, if the particular affiliate had at that time paid dividends the aggregate of which on all shares of its capital stock was equal to the amount of its net surplus referred to in paragraph (a); and

(c) for the purposes only of subsection 5900(1), in applying the provisions of subsection 5901(1)

(i) the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation shall be deemed to be the respective amounts thereof referred to in paragraph (a), and

(ii) the particular affiliate shall be deemed to have paid a whole dividend at that time on the shares of that class of its capital stock in an amount equal to the product obtained when the aggregate of amounts so deemed by subsection 93(1) of the Act to have been received as dividends on shares of that class is multiplied by the greater of

(A) one, and

(B) the proportion that the amount of the particular affiliate's net surplus determined under paragraph (a) is of the amount determined under paragraph (b), except that where the amount determined under paragraph (b) is less than one, the amount determined under paragraph (b) is deemed for the purpose of this clause to be one.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5902(1)

(1) If, at a particular time, one or more shares (each of which is referred to in this subsection as a "disposed share") of a class (referred to in this subsection as the "specified class") of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada are disposed of by a particular shareholder of the particular foreign affiliate and, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2), as the case may be, of the Act in respect of that disposition, a dividend is deemed under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act to have been received on a disposed share at the time (referred to in this subsection and section 5905 as the "dividend time") that is immediately before the particular time, the following rules apply:

(a) the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, (in this subsection referred to as the "consolidated exempt surplus" in respect of the corporation resident in Canada) at the time (in this section and in section 5905 referred to as the "calculation time") that is immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be the amount that would be its exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the calculation time if

(i) the particular foreign affiliate and each other foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the particular foreign affiliate had, at the calculation time, an equity percentage (each of which other foreign affiliates is referred to in this section as a "subsidiary affiliate") had (except for the purpose of determining consolidated net surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada in subparagraph (iii)), at the calculation time, no amount of exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(ii) the amount of the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate were, immediately before the calculation time, increased by the total of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the amount that would be the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which it has, immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage if that exempt surplus were, immediately before the calculation time, determined in the following manner:

(A) the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the subsidiary affiliate, were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the exempt surplus of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate has, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage, and

(B) the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which another subsidiary affiliate has a direct equity percentage, were increased because of this subparagraph before the increase in that other subsidiary affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(iii) for the purpose of subparagraph (ii), the proportionate share, at any time, of a foreign affiliate (referred to in this subparagraph as the "calculating foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada, of the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of another foreign affiliate (referred to in this subparagraph as the "providing foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada in which the calculating foreign affiliate has a direct equity percentage were equal to the proportion determined by the following formula:

A is the amount of dividends that would be received, at that time, by the calculating foreign affiliate from the providing foreign affiliate if, at that time, the providing foreign affiliate had paid dividends on all of its shares and the total of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, its consolidated exempt surplus (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

B is the amount of the providing foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such consolidated net surplus, its consolidated exempt surplus (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

(iv) in determining, under this paragraph, the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(A) no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular shareholder, of the particular foreign affiliate, that disposed of the disposed share, and

(B) no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate or any subsidiary affiliate more than once;

(b) the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, (in this subsection referred to as the "consolidated exempt deficit" in respect of the corporation resident in Canada) at the calculation time, is deemed to be the amount that would be its exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time if

(i) the particular foreign affiliate and each subsidiary affiliate had (except for the purpose of determining consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in subparagraph (iii)), at the calculation time, no amount of exempt surplus, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(ii) the amount of the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate, were, immediately before the calculation time, increased by the total of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage if that exempt deficit were, immediately before the calculation time, determined in the following manner:

(A) the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the subsidiary affiliate, were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the exempt deficit of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate has, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage, and

(B) the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which another subsidiary affiliate has a direct equity percentage, were increased because of this subparagraph before the increase in that other subsidiary affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(iii) for the purpose of subparagraph (ii), the proportionate share, at any time, of a foreign affiliate (referred to in this subparagraph as the "calculating foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada, of the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of another foreign affiliate (referred to in this subparagraph as the "providing foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada in which the calculating foreign affiliate has a direct equity percentage were equal to the proportion determined by the following formula:

A is the amount of dividends that would be received by the calculating foreign affiliate from the providing foreign affiliate if, at that time, the providing foreign affiliate had paid dividends on all of its shares and the total of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such consolidated net surplus, its exempt deficit (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

B is the amount of the providing foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such consolidated net surplus, its consolidated exempt deficit (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

(iv) in determining, under this paragraph, the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(A) no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular shareholder, of the particular foreign affiliate, that disposed of the disposed share, and

(B) no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate or any subsidiary affiliate more than once;

(c) the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, (referred to, respectively, in this subsection as the "consolidated taxable surplus", and "consolidated underlying foreign tax", in respect of the corporation resident in Canada) at the calculation time, is deemed to be the amount that would be its taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, if

(i) the particular foreign affiliate and each subsidiary affiliate had (except for the purpose of determining consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in subparagraph (iii)), at the calculation time, no amount of exempt surplus, exempt deficit or taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(ii) the amount of the taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate, were, immediately before the calculation time, increased by an amount equal to the total of all amounts each of which is the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable surplus, or underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage if that taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax were, immediately before the calculation time, determined in the following manner:

(A) the taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the subsidiary affiliate, were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable surplus, or underlying foreign tax, respectively, of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate had, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage, and

(B) the taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which another subsidiary affiliate has a direct equity percentage, were increased because of this subparagraph before the increase in that other subsidiary affiliate's taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, respectively, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(iii) for the purpose of subparagraph (ii), the proportionate share, at any time, of a foreign affiliate (referred to in this subparagraph as the "calculating foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada, of the taxable surplus, or underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of another foreign affiliate (referred to in this subparagraph as the "providing foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada in which the particular foreign affiliate has a direct equity percentage were equal to the proportion determined by the following formula:

where

A is the amount of dividends that would be received, at that time, by the calculating foreign affiliate from the providing foreign affiliate if, at that time, the providing foreign affiliate had paid dividends on all of its shares and the total of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable surplus (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

B is the amount of the providing foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable surplus (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

(iv) in determining, under this paragraph, the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus, and consolidated underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(A) no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular shareholder, of the particular foreign affiliate, that disposed of the disposed share, and

(B) no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate or any subsidiary affiliate more than once;

(d) the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, (in this subsection referred to as the "consolidated taxable deficit" in respect of the corporation resident in Canada) at the calculation time is deemed to be the amount that would be its taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time if

(i) the particular foreign affiliate and each subsidiary affiliate had (except for the purpose of determining consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in subparagraph (iii)), at the calculation time, no amount of exempt surplus, exempt deficit or taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(ii) the amount of the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate, were, immediately before the calculation time, increased by the total of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage if that taxable deficit were, immediately before the calculation time, determined in the following manner:

(A) the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the subsidiary affiliate, were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable deficit of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate had, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage, and

(B) the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which another subsidiary affiliate has a direct equity percentage, were increased because of this subparagraph before the increase in that other subsidiary affiliate's taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(iii) for the purpose of subparagraph (ii), the proportionate share, at any time, of a foreign affiliate (referred to in this subparagraph as the "calculating foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada, of the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of another foreign affiliate (referred to in this subparagraph as the "providing foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada in which the calculating foreign affiliate has a direct equity percentage were equal to the proportion determined by the following formula:

A is the amount of dividends that would be received, at that time, by the calculating foreign affiliate from the providing foreign affiliate if, at that time, the providing foreign affiliate had paid dividends on all of its shares and the total of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable deficit (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

B is the amount of the providing foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable deficit (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

(iv) in determining, under this paragraph, the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(A) no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular shareholder, of the particular foreign affiliate, that disposed of the disposed share, and

(B) no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate or any subsidiary affiliate more than once;

(e) for the purpose of applying subsection 5901(1) to subsection 5900(1), and for the purpose of paragraph (f),

(i) the particular foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be equal to the amount, if any, by which the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, exceeds the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time (or, if there is no such excess, nil),

(ii) the particular foreign affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be equal to the amount, if any, by which the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, exceeds the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time (or, if there is no such excess, nil),

(iii) the particular foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be equal to the amount, if any, by which the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, exceeds the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time (or, if there is no such excess, nil),

(iv) the particular foreign affiliate's taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be equal to the amount, if any, by which the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, exceeds the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time (or, if there is no such excess, nil),

(v) the particular foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be equal to the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

(vi) the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be equal to the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time,

exceeds

(B) the total of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time;

(f) the attributed net surplus in respect of a disposed share of the specified class in respect of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be equal to the amount that would be received by the holder of the disposed share, in respect of the disposed share, at the dividend time, if the particular foreign affiliate paid a dividend, at that time, on all of its shares, the total of which was equal to the amount of its consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time;

(g) for the purpose of applying subsection 5901(1) to subsection 5900(1), the amount of the whole dividend paid by the particular foreign affiliate, at the dividend time, on the shares of the specified class is deemed to be equal to the amount obtained when the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deemed by subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act to have been received as a dividend on a disposed share of the specified class is multiplied by the greater of

(i) one, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

A/B

where

A is the amount determined, under subparagraph (e)(vi), to be the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus in respect of the corporation, immediately before the dividend time, and

B is the greater of

(A) one, and

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined, under paragraph (f), to be the amount of the attributed net surplus, in respect of a disposed share of the specified class, in respect of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time;

(h) the amount prescribed, for the purpose of subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, as the case may be, in respect of a disposition of a disposed share of the specified class is not to exceed the amount determined, under paragraph (f), to be the amount of the attributed net surplus in respect of the disposed share in respect of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time; and

(i) for the purposes of paragraphs (a) to (d), the consolidated net surplus, at any time, in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, is the amount that would be determined in subparagraph (e) in respect of the particular foreign affiliate if the reference in that paragraph to the expression "immediately before the dividend time" were read as a reference to the expression "at any time".

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 1(1), will amend subsec. 5902(1) to read as above, applicable in respect of elections made under ITA 93(1) or (1.2) in respect of dispositions that occur after December 20, 2002 other than elections made pursuant to dispositions required to be made under an agreement in writing made by a vendor before December 21, 2002, except that

(a) if an election has been made by a taxpayer under ITA 93(1) or (1.2) in respect of a disposition that occurs after December 20, 2002 and before February 28, 2004 (other than a disposition required to be made under an agreement in writing made by a vendor before December 21, 2002) and the taxpayer has made a valid election under subsec. 133(40) of the amending legislation (see the Application to the Proposed Amendment to ITA 95(2)(d)–(e.1)),

(i) this amendment does not apply in respect of the taxpayer in respect of the disposition, and

(ii) the Regulations are, in respect of the taxpayer in respect of that election, to be read as though s. 5902 contained a subsec. (6.1) that read as follows:

"(6.1) If an election under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act is made at any time by a particular corporation resident in Canada in respect of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate (in this subsection referred to as the "particular affiliate") of the particular corporation that is disposed of to the particular corporation, to another corporation resident in Canada with which the particular corporation does not deal at arm's length or to another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation, the amount of the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, underlying foreign tax and net surplus in respect of the particular corporation at that time is to be determined under paragraph (1)(a) as if the amount of any dividend referred to in subparagraph (1)(a)(i) or (ii) were nil.";

(b) this amendment does not apply in respect of a taxpayer in respect of an election made by the taxpayer under ITA 93(1) or (1.2) in respect of a disposition (other than a disposition required to be made under an agreement in writing made by a vendor before December 21, 2002) that occurs after December 20, 2002 and before February 28, 2004, if

(i) the taxpayer has not made a valid election under subsection 133(40) of the amending legislation (see the Application to the Proposed Amendment to ITA 95(2)(d)–(e.1)), and

(ii) none of ITA 88(3)(a), 95(2)(c.2) and 95(2)(d) to (e.5), as amended applies to the disposition; and

(c) this amendment does not apply in respect of a taxpayer in respect of an election made by the taxpayer under ITA 93(1) or (1.2) in respect of a disposition that occurs after February 27, 2004, if

(i) the disposition is made under an agreement in writing made by a vendor before February 28, 2004, and

(ii) none of ITA 88(3)(a), 95(2)(c.2) and 95(2)(d) to (e.5), as amended, applies to the disposition.

Technical Notes: Section 5902 applies where a corporation elects to treat proceeds of disposition of a share of a foreign affiliate as a dividend under subsection 93(1) of the Act. Subsection 5902(1) computes a foreign affiliate's surplus accounts and the amount of a whole dividend used in applying subsection 5901(1) for the purposes of subsection 5900(1).

Subsection 5902(1) is replaced with a new subsection that changes how the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, underlying foreign tax and net surplus is determined for the foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada whose shares are disposed of and in respect of which disposition an election under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act is made by the corporation resident in Canada.

Under proposed subsection 5902(1), the surplus balances of the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada (the "disposed foreign affiliate") are to be computed using a new consolidation approach, which will take into account the surpluses and deficits of foreign affiliates, for the disposed foreign affiliate and any other foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the disposed foreign affiliate has an equity percentage.

As well, under proposed subsection 5902(1), the amount of an election in respect of a disposed share will be capped at the amount of the attributed net surplus in respect of the share determined under the rules in that new subsection.

New subsection 5902(1) provides that, in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, the following rules apply if, at a particular time, one or more shares (a "disposed share") of a class (the "specified class") of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada is disposed of by a particular shareholder of the particular foreign affiliate and, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of that disposition, a dividend is deemed under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act to have been received on a disposed share at the time (the "dividend time") that is immediately before the particular time.

- New paragraph (a) deems the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's exempt surplus (the "consolidated exempt surplus"), at the time (in this subsection and also in section 5905, the "calculation time") that is immediately before the dividend time, to be the amount that would be its exempt surplus, at the calculation time, if:

— the particular foreign affiliate and each other foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the particular foreign affiliate had, at the calculation time, an equity percentage (a "subsidiary affiliate"), had (except in determining under subparagraph 5902(1)(a)(iii) the consolidated net surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada), at the calculation time, no amount of exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit,

— the amount of the exempt surplus of the particular foreign affiliate were, immediately before the calculation time, increased by the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share (determined below) of the exempt surplus of each subsidiary affiliate in which it has, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage if that exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada were computed in the following manner:

- the exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the subsidiary affiliate were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the exempt surplus of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate has, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage; and

- the exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of a subsidiary affiliate in which another subsidiary affiliate has a direct equity percentage, were increased before the increase in that other subsidiary affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada;

— the proportionate share, at any time, of a foreign affiliate (the "calculating foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada, of the exempt surplus of another foreign affiliate (the "providing foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada in which the calculating foreign affiliate has a direct equity percentage were equal to the proportion determined by the formula:

where

of its shares and the total of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, its consolidated exempt surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), at that time; and

B is the amount of the providing foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, its consolidated exempt surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), at that time; and — in determining the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

- no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular shareholder of the particular foreign affiliate that disposed of the disposed share, and
- no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular foreign affiliate or any subsidiary affiliate more than once.

• New paragraph (b) deems the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's exempt deficit (the "consolidated exempt deficit") in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the calculation time, to be the amount that would be its exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, if:

— the particular foreign affiliate and each subsidiary affiliate had (except for the purpose of determining consolidated net surplus), at the calculation time, no amount of exempt surplus, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

— the amount of the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular foreign affiliate, were, immediately before the calculation time, increased by the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share (determined below) of the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of each subsidiary affiliate in which it has, immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage, if that exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada were, immediately before the calculation time, determined in the following manner:

- the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the subsidiary affiliate, were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share (determined below) of the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate has, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage; and
- the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which another subsidiary affiliate has a direct equity percentage, were increased before the increase in that other subsidiary affiliate's deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada;

— the proportionate share (referred to above), at any time, of a calculating foreign affiliate of the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of a providing foreign affiliate is equal to the proportion determined by the following formula:

A is the amount of dividends that would be received by the calculating foreign affiliate from the providing foreign affiliate if, at that time, the providing foreign affiliate had paid dividends on all of its shares and the total amount of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate) in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, its exempt deficit (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate) in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time; and

B is the amount of the providing foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate) in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, its consolidated exempt deficit (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time; and

— in determining the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

- no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular shareholder of the particular foreign affiliate that disposed of the disposed share, and
- no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular foreign affiliate or any subsidiary affiliate more than once.

• New paragraph (c) deems the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada (the "consolidated taxable surplus", and "consolidated underlying foreign tax", respectively), at the calculation time, to be the amount that would be its taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, if:

— the particular foreign affiliate and each subsidiary affiliate had, at the calculation time, no amount of exempt surplus, exempt deficit or taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

— the amount of the taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular foreign affiliate, were, immediately before the calculation time, increased by the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share (described below) of the taxable surplus or underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of each subsidiary affiliate in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage if that taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada were, immediately before the calculation time, determined in the following manner:

- the taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the subsidiary affiliate were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable surplus or underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate had, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage; and

- the taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which another subsidiary affiliate has a direct equity percentage, were increased before the increase in that other subsidiary affiliate's taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada;

— the proportionate share, at any time, of a calculating foreign affiliate of the taxable surplus or underlying foreign tax of a providing foreign affiliate were equal to the proportion determined by the following formula:

A is the amount of dividends that would be received, at that time, by the calculating foreign affiliate from the providing foreign affiliate if, at that time, the providing foreign affiliate had paid dividends on all of its shares and the total of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

B is the amount of the providing foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and — in determining the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus, and consolidated underlying foreign tax,

- no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular shareholder of the particular foreign affiliate that disposed of the disposed share, and

- no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular foreign affiliate or any subsidiary affiliate more than once.

• New paragraph (d) deems the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's taxable deficit (the "consolidated taxable deficit"), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the calculation time, to be the amount that would be its taxable deficit, at that time if — the particular foreign affiliate and each subsidiary affiliate had (except in determining consolidated net surplus), at the calculation time, no amount of exempt surplus, exempt deficit or taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

— the amount of the taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular foreign affiliate were, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, increased by an amount equal to the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share (described below) of the taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of each subsidiary affiliate in which it has, immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage, if that taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada were, at the particular time, determined in the following manner

- the taxable deficit of the subsidiary affiliate were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable deficit of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate had, immediately before the particular time, a direct equity percentage, and

- the taxable deficit of a subsidiary affiliate in which another subsidiary affiliate has a direct equity percentage were increased before the increase in that other subsidiary affiliate's taxable deficit,

— the proportionate share, at any time, of a calculating foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, of the taxable deficit of a providing foreign affiliate were equal to the proportion determined by the following formula:

A is the amount of dividends that would be received, at that time, by the calculating foreign affiliate from the providing foreign affiliate if, at that time, the providing foreign affiliate had paid dividends on all of its shares and the total amount of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate) in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable deficit (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), at that time, and

B is the amount of the providing foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate) in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable deficit (determined assuming that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate) in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and — in determining the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

- no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular shareholder of the particular foreign affiliate that disposed of the disposed share, and

- no amount were included, directly or indirectly, in respect of the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate or any subsidiary affiliate more than once.

• New paragraph (e) provides, in applying subsection 5901(1) to subsection 5900(1), and for the purpose of paragraph (f), that,

— the particular foreign affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be the amount, if any, by which the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus exceeds the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time (or, if there is no such excess, nil),

— the particular foreign affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be the amount, if any, by which the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit exceeds the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time (or, if there is no such excess, nil),

— the particular foreign affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be the amount, if any, by which the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus exceeds the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time (or, if there is no such excess, nil),

— the particular foreign affiliate's taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be the amount, if any, by which the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit exceeds the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time (or, if there is no such excess, nil),

— the particular foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and — the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be the amount, if any, by which

- the total of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time,

exceeds

- the total of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time.

- New paragraph (f) provides that the amount of the attributed net surplus in respect of a disposed share of the specified class in respect of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, is deemed to be the amount that would be received by the holder of the disposed share, in respect of the disposed share, at the dividend time, if the particular foreign affiliate paid a dividend, at that time, on all of its shares, the total of which was equal to the amount of its consolidated net surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time.

- New paragraph (g) provides, for the purposes of applying subsection 5901(1) to subsection 5900(1), that the amount of the whole dividend paid by the particular foreign affiliate, at the dividend time, on the shares of the specified class is deemed to be the amount obtained when the total of all amounts deemed by subsection 93(1) or 93(1.2) of the Act to have been received as a dividend on a disposed share of the specified class is multiplied by the greater of

— one, and

— the amount determined by the formula

A/B

where

A is the amount determined, under subparagraph (e)(vi), to be the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time, and

B is the greater of

- one, and

- the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount determined, under paragraph (f), to be the amount of the attributed net surplus, in respect of a disposed share of the specified class, in respect of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time.

- New paragraph (h) provides that the amount prescribed, for the purposes of subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, in respect of a disposition of a disposed share of the specified class may not exceed the amount of the attributed net surplus in respect of the disposed share in respect of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined under paragraph (f)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the dividend time.

- New paragraph (i) provides, for the purposes of paragraphs (a) to (d), that the consolidated net surplus in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, at any time, of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, is the amount that would be determined in paragraph (e) in respect of the particular foreign affiliate if the reference in that paragraph to "immediately before the dividend time" were read as a reference to "at any time".

Related Provisions: Reg. 5902(2) — Interpretation; Reg. 5902(7) — Elected amount restricted to net surplus of affiliate where shares are disposed of.

Forms: T2107: Election for a share disposition in a foreign affiliate.

(2) For the purposes of paragraphs (1)(a) and (b),

(a) in determining the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit, the underlying foreign tax and the net surplus of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada in which any other foreign affiliate of the taxpayer has an equity percentage, no amount shall be included in respect of any distribution that would be received by the particular affiliate from such other affiliate; and

(b) if any foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada has issued shares of more than one class of its capital stock, the amount that would be paid as a dividend on the shares of any class is such portion of its exempt surplus or exempt deficit and its taxable surplus (including underlying foreign tax applicable) or taxable deficit (and thus net surplus) as, in the circumstances, it might reasonably be expected to have paid on all the shares of that class.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 1(2), will repeal subsec. 5902(2), applicable on the same basis as 5902(1) above.

(3) Where an election under subsection 93(1) of the Act is made by a corporation resident in Canada in respect of the disposition of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, no adjustment shall be made to the affiliate's exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit or underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation as a consequence of the election except as provided in subsections 5905(2), (5) and (8).

Proposed Amendment — 5902(3)

(3) If a corporation resident in Canada elects, under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, in respect of the disposition of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, no adjustment, other than an adjustment referred to in subsection 5905(2), (4), (5) or (8), may be made to the foreign affiliate's

(a) exempt surplus in respect of the corporation;

(b) exempt deficit in respect of the corporation;

(c) taxable surplus in respect of the corporation;

(d) taxable deficit in respect of the corporation; or

(e) underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 1(3), will amend subsec. 5902(3) to read as above, applicable on the same basis as 5902(1) above.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5902(3) provides that, where an election is made under subsection 93(1) of the Act, no adjustment is to made to the foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit or underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation as a consequence of the election except as provided in subsections 5905(2), (5) and (8). The amendment to subsection 5902(3) extends the application of the provision to elections made under new subsection 93(1.2) of the Act, and also includes subsection 5905(4) in the list of provisions that may affect these amounts.

(4) [Revoked]

(5) Any election under subsection 93(1) of the Act by a corporation resident in Canada in respect of any share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation disposed of by it or by another foreign affiliate of the corporation shall be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister on or before the day that is the later of

(a) December 31, 1989; and

(b) where the election is made

(i) in respect of a share disposed of by the corporation, the day on or before which the corporation's return of income for its taxation year in which the disposition was made is required to be filed pursuant to subsection 150(1) of the Act, or

(ii) in respect of a share disposed of by another foreign affiliate of the corporation, the day on or before which the corporation's return of income for its taxation year, in which the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in which the disposition was made ends, is required to be filed pursuant to subsection 150(1) of the Act, as the case may be.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5902(5)

(5) Any election under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act by a corporation resident in Canada in respect of any share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation disposed of by it, by a foreign affiliate of the corporation or by a partnership shall be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister on or before the day that is,

(a) where the election is made in respect of a share disposed of by the corporation, the corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year in which the disposition was made;

(b) where the election is made in respect of a share disposed of by a foreign affiliate of the corporation, the corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year in which the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in which the disposition was made ends; and

(c) where the election is made in respect of a share disposed of by a partnership, and

(i) the disposing corporation referred to in subsection 93(1.2) of the Act is the corporation, the corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year in which the fiscal period of the partnership in which the disposition was made ends, or

(ii) the disposing corporation referred to in subsection 93(1.2) of the Act is a foreign affiliate of the corporation, the corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year in which the taxation year of the foreign affiliate which includes the last day of the fiscal period of the partnership in which the disposition was made ends.

Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (foreign affiliates — partnerships), subsec. 2(4), will amend subsec. 5902(5) to read as above, applicable to dispositions that occur after November 1999.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5902(5) provides that any election under subsection 93(1) of the Act must be made by filing the prescribed form by the corporation's filing-due date for the relevant year. Where the disposition is made by the corporation, the relevant year is the taxation year of the corporation in which the disposition was made. Where the disposition is made by a foreign affiliate of the corporation, the relevant year is the taxation year of the corporation in which the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in which the disposition was made ends.

The amendments to subsection 5902(5) extend its application to include elections made under new subsection 93(1.2) of the Act. Where the disposition is made by a partnership, the relevant year depends on whether the "disposing corporation" in subsection 93(1.2) of the Act is the corporation or a foreign affiliate of the corporation. Where the disposing corporation is the corporation, the relevant year is the taxation year of the corporation in which the fiscal period of the partnership in which the disposition was made ends. Where the disposing corporation is a foreign affiliate of the corporation, the relevant year is the taxation year of the corporation in which the taxation year of the affiliate which includes the last day of the fiscal period of the partnership in which the disposition was made ends.

Forms: T2107: Election for a share disposition in a foreign affiliate.

(6) Where at any time a corporation resident in Canada is deemed by virtue of subsection 93(1.1) of the Act to have made an election under subsection 93(1) of the Act in respect of a share of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation disposed of by another foreign affiliate of the corporation, the amount deemed to have been designated in the election is hereby prescribed to be the lesser of

(a) the capital gain, if any, otherwise determined in respect of the disposition of the share; and

(b) the amount that could reasonably be expected to have been received in respect of the share if the particular affiliate had at that time paid dividends the aggregate of which on all shares of its capital stock was equal to the amount determined under paragraph 5902

(1)(a) to be its net surplus in respect of the corporation for the purposes of the election.

Proposed Amendment — 5902(6)

(6) The amount designated in an election deemed by subsection 93(1.1) of the Act to have been made under subsection 93(1) of the Act is prescribed to be the amount that is the lesser of

(a) the capital gain, if any, otherwise determined in respect of the disposition of the share, and

(b) the amount of attributed net surplus (as determined under paragraph (1)(f)) in respect of the share.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 1(4), will amend subsec. 5902(6) to read as above, applicable on the same basis as 5902(1) above.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5902(6) applies where subsection 93(1.1) of the Act deems a corporation to have made an election under subsection 93(1) to treat proceeds of disposition of a share of a foreign affiliate as a dividend. Subsection 5902(6) deems the amount designated in the deemed election to be the lesser of the capital gain otherwise determined in respect of the disposition of the share and the amount that could reasonably be expected to have been received on the share if the affiliate had paid its net surplus in respect of the corporation as a dividend.

As announced in 2001, subsection 5902(6) is amended to ensure that the subsection will apply where subsection 93(1.3) of the Act deems a corporation resident in Canada to have made an election under proposed subsection 93(1.2) of the Act in respect of a taxable capital gain from a deemed disposition of a share of a foreign affiliate of the corporation disposed of by a partnership of which another foreign affiliate of the corporation is a member.

Subsection 5902(6) is further amended to refer, in paragraph (b), to the amount of the "attributed net surplus" (defined in new paragraph 5902(1)(f)) in respect of the share being disposed of.

Proposed Addition — 5902(7)

(7) The amount designated in an election deemed by subsection 93(1.3) of the Act to have been made under subsection 93(1.2) of the Act is prescribed to be the amount that is the lesser of

(a) the taxable capital gain, if any, otherwise determined in respect of the disposition of the share, and

(b) the amount that is one-half of the amount referred to in paragraph (6)(b).

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 1(4), will add subsec. 5902(7), applicable on the same basis as 5902(1) above.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5902(7) provides that the amount designated in an election deemed by subsection 93(1.3) of the Act to have been made under subsection 93(1.2) of the Act is prescribed to be the lesser of

- the taxable capital gain, if any, otherwise determined in respect of the disposition of the share; and
- the amount that is ½ of the amount referred to in paragraph 5902(6)(b).

Example — Subsection 5902(1)

A. Facts

1. Canco is a corporation resident in Canada.

2. Canco owns 100% of FA1 and 50% of FA6, and both FA1 and FA6 are foreign affiliates of Canco.

3. FA1 owns 80 shares (80%) of FA2 and FA6 owns 20 shares (20%) of FA2.

4. FA2 owns 70% of FA3, FA3 owns 100% of FA4 and FA4 owns 100% of FA5.

5. FA1 transfers 30 of its shares in FA2 to FA6, and subsection 93(1) of the Act applies to the transfer, regarding which Canco designates $123 as the dividend received by FA1 in respect of the disposed shares.

6. At the time of the transfer, FA2 has an exempt surplus of $200, a taxable surplus of $0, an exempt deficit of $0 and an underlying foreign tax ("UFT") of $0.

7. At the time of the transfer, FA3 has an exempt surplus of $100, a taxable surplus of $75, an exempt deficit of $0 and an UFT of $10.

8. At the time of the transfer, FA4 has an exempt surplus of $0, a taxable surplus of $0, an exempt deficit of $200 and an UFT of $0.

9. At the time of the transfer, FA5 has an exempt surplus of $0, a taxable surplus of $325, an exempt deficit of $0 and an UFT of $200.

10. All the corporations have only issued 100 shares of one class.

B. Application of Subsection 5902(1)

1. Consolidated Exempt Surplus (Paragraph 5902(1)(a))

The consolidated exempt surplus of FA2 is $270.

Step 1. Exempt surplus of FA5 is determined as the exempt surplus of FA5 ($0), otherwise determined.

Step 2. Exempt surplus of FA4 is determined as the exempt surplus of FA4 ($0), otherwise determined, plus proportionate share of exempt surplus of FA5

where $$0 + A/B \times C = $0$

A is the amount that would be received by FA4 if FA5 paid its entire consolidated net surplus as a dividend ($325)

B is the amount of consolidated net surplus of FA5 ($325)

C is the exempt surplus of FA5 ($0).

Step 3. Exempt surplus of FA3 is determined as the exempt surplus of FA3 ($100), otherwise determined, plus proportionate share of exempt surplus of FA4

where $$100 + A/B \times C = $100$

A is the amount that would be received by FA3 if FA4 paid its entire consolidated net surplus as a dividend ($125)

B is the amount of consolidated net surplus of FA4 ($125)

C is the exempt surplus of FA4 ($0).

Step 4. Exempt surplus of FA2 is determined as the exempt surplus of FA2 ($200), otherwise determined, plus proportionate share of exempt surplus of FA3

where $$200 + A/B \times C = $270$

A is the amount that would be received by FA2 if FA3 paid its entire consolidated net surplus as a dividend ($210)

B is the amount of consolidated net surplus of FA3 ($300)

C is the exempt surplus of FA3 ($100).

2. Consolidated Exempt Deficit (Paragraph 5902(1)(b))

The consolidated exempt deficit of FA2 is $140.

Step 1 Exempt deficit of FA5 is determined as the exempt deficit of FA5 ($0), otherwise determined.

Step 2. Exempt deficit of FA4 is determined as the exempt surplus of FA4 ($200), otherwise determined, plus proportionate share of exempt surplus of FA5

where $$200 + A/B \times C = $200$

A is the amount that would be received by FA4 if FA5 paid its entire consolidated net surplus as a dividend ($325)

B is the amount of consolidated net surplus of FA5 ($325)

C is the exempt deficit of FA5 ($0).

Step 3. Exempt deficit of FA3 is determined as the exempt surplus of FA3 ($0), otherwise determined, plus proportionate share of exempt surplus of FA4

where $0 + A/B × C = $200

A is the amount that would be received by FA3 if FA4 paid its entire consolidated net surplus as a dividend ($125)

B is the amount of consolidated net surplus of FA4 ($125)

C is the exempt deficit of FA4 ($200).

Step 4. Exempt deficit of FA2 is determined as the exempt surplus of FA2 ($0), otherwise determined, plus proportionate share of exempt surplus of FA3

where $0 + A/B × C = $140

A is the amount that would be received by FA2 if FA3 paid its entire consolidated net surplus as a dividend ($210)

B is the amount of consolidated net surplus of FA3 ($300)

C is the exempt deficit of FA3 ($200).

3. Consolidated Taxable Surplus and Underlying Foreign Tax (Paragraph 5902(1)(c))

The consolidated taxable surplus of FA2 is $280 and the UFT of FA2 is $147.

Step 1. The taxable surplus and UFT of FA5 is determined as the taxable surplus ($320) and UFT ($200), otherwise determined.

Step 2. The taxable surplus and UFT of FA4 is determined as the taxable surplus ($0) and UFT ($0), of FA4, otherwise determined, plus the proportionate share of the taxable surplus and UFT of FA5

where $0 + A/B × C = taxable surplus ($320)
and $0 + A/B × C = UFT ($200)

A is the amount that would be received by FA4 if FA5 paid its entire consolidated net surplus as a dividend ($325)

B is the amount of consolidated net surplus of FA5 ($325)

C is the taxable surplus ($325) and UFT ($200) of FA5.

Step 3. The taxable surplus and UFT of FA3 is determined as the taxable surplus ($75) and UFT ($10), of FA3, otherwise determined, plus proportionate share the taxable surplus and UFT of FA4

where $75 + A/B × C = taxable surplus ($400)
and $10 + A/B × C = UFT ($210)

A is the amount that would be received by FA3 if FA4 paid its entire consolidated net surplus as a dividend ($125)

B is the amount of consolidated net surplus of FA4 ($125)

C is the taxable surplus ($325) and underlying foreign tax ($200) of FA4.

Step 4. The taxable surplus and UFT of FA2 is determined as the taxable surplus ($0) and UFT ($0), of FA2, otherwise determined, plus the proportionate share of the taxable surplus and UFT of FA3

where $0 + A/B × C = taxable surplus ($280)
and $0 + (A/B) × C = UFT ($147)

A is the amount that would be received by FA2 if FA3 paid its entire consolidated net surplus as a dividend ($210)

B is the amount of consolidated net surplus of FA3 ($300)

C is the taxable surplus ($400) and underlying foreign tax ($210) of FA3.

4. Consolidated Net Surplus (Paragraph 5902(1)(e))

The consolidated net surplus of FA2 is $410 and is determined as follows:

where (A +B) – (C+D) = $410

A is the consolidated exempt surplus of FA2 ($270)

B is the consolidated taxable surplus of FA2 ($280)

C is the consolidated exempt deficit of FA2 ($140)

D is the consolidated taxable deficit of FA2 ($0).

5. Attributed Surplus (Paragraph 5902(1)(f))

The attributed net surplus in respect of each of the disposed shares is determined as follows:

where A/B = $ 4.10

A is the consolidated net surplus ($410)

B is the total number of shares issued by FA3 (100).

6. The Whole Dividend (Paragraph 5902(1)(g))

Assuming that the corporation resident in Canada elected, with respect to each share disposed of, under subsection 93(1) of the Act an amount equal to the attributed net surplus in respect of the share, the amount of the whole dividend paid by the foreign affiliate on the shares of the class would be determined as

where (A × B) × C = $410

A is the amount elected with respect to a disposed share ($4.10)

B is the number of shares disposed of (30)

C is 410/123 = 3.33.

The amendments to section 5902 apply in respect of elections made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of dispositions that occur after December 20, 2002 other than dispositions made under agreements in writing made by the vendor on or before December 20, 2002.

If the taxpayer makes an election under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of a disposition that occurs after December 20, 2002 and before February 27, 2004 and the taxpayer makes a valid election under subsection 133(40) of the legislative proposals relating to the the Act released contemporaneously with these draft Regulations, the amendments to section 5902 do not apply and section 5902 is to be read as if it contained a subsection (6.1) that read as set out in subparagraph 5(a)(ii) of the enacting legislation for these proposed amendments to section 5902.

The amendments to section 5902 of the Regulations do not apply to an election by the taxpayer under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of a disposition that occurs after December 20, 2002 (other than a disposition made under an agreement in writing made by the vendor on or before December 20, 2002) and before February 27, 2004 if the taxpayer does not elect under subsection 133(40) of the legislative proposals relating to the Act and none of paragraphs 88(3)(a), 95(2)(c.2), and (d) to (e.5) of the Act applies to the disposition.

The amendments to section 5902 of the Regulations do not apply to an election by the taxpayer under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of a disposition that occurs after February 27, 2004 if the disposition is made under an agreement in writing made by the vendor on or before February 27, 2004 and none of paragraphs 88(3)(a) and 95(2)(c.2), and (d) to (e.5) of the Act applies to the disposition.

5903. Deductible loss — (1) For the purpose of the description of F in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the amount prescribed to be the deductible loss of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a taxation year and the five immediately preceding taxation years (each of which preceding taxation years is referred to in this subsection as a "preceding year") is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, determined in respect of the particular affiliate in respect of a preceding year during which it was a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer or of a person described in any of subparagraphs 95(2)(f)(iv) to (vii) of the Act, by which

(i) the total of the amounts determined for D and E in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the particular affiliate for the preceding year

exceeds

(ii) the total of the amounts determined for A, B and C in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the particular affiliate for the preceding year

exceeds the total of

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined in respect of the particular affiliate in respect of a preceding year during which it was a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer or of a person described in any of subparagraphs 95(2)(f)(iv) to (vii) of the Act and equal to the lesser of

(i) the amount that would be determined for F in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the particular affiliate for the preceding year if that amount did not take into account any amount determined for any of A, B, C, D or E in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the particular affiliate for any taxation year that is not a preceding taxation year, and

(ii) the amount that would be the foreign accrual property income of the particular affiliate for the preceding year if the formula in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act were read without reference to the variable F; and

(c) where a payment has been received by the particular foreign affiliate and the payment can reasonably be considered to relate to a payment described in subsection 5907(1.3) made by another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in respect of a loss, or any portion of a loss, of the particular affiliate described in the description of D or E of the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of any preceding year of the particular affiliate, the amount of that loss or portion.

(3) Where

(a) there has been a foreign merger (within the meaning assigned by subsection 87(8.1) of the Act) of two or more foreign affiliates of a taxpayer resident in Canada in respect of each of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage was not less than 90 per cent immediately before the merger (in this subsection referred to as "predecessor affiliates") to form a new foreign affiliate in respect of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage immediately after the merger was not less than 90 per cent (in this subsection referred to as the "successor affiliate"), or

(b) there has been a dissolution of a foreign affiliate (in this subsection referred to as the "predecessor affiliate") of a taxpayer resident in Canada and on the dissolution property of the predecessor affiliate, the fair market value of which was not less than 90 per cent of the fair market value of all property of the predecessor affiliate immediately before the dissolution, was distributed to another foreign affiliate (in this subsection referred to as the "successor affiliate") of the taxpayer, the successor affiliate shall, in respect of such part of the amount determined under subsection 5903(1) to be the deductible loss of a predecessor affiliate at the time of the foreign merger or dissolution as may reasonably be considered to have arisen while the taxpayer, a person or persons referred to in any of subparagraphs 95(2)(f)(iv) to (vii) of the Act, or the taxpayer together with such a person or persons, had a surplus entitlement percentage in respect of such predecessor affiliate that was not less than 90 per cent, be considered to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, such predecessor affiliate.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5903

5903. (1) For the purpose of the description of F in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the deductible loss of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year of the affiliate is the amount claimed by the taxpayer not exceeding the foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for the seven taxation years of the affiliate preceding and the three taxation years of the affiliate following the particular year.

(2) In determining the deductible loss of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year of the affiliate

(a) the amount claimed under subsection (1) in respect of a foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for a taxation year of the affiliate shall not exceed the amount by which that loss exceeds the total of all amounts each of which was an amount claimed by any taxpayer in respect of that loss in computing the deductible loss of the affiliate for taxation years of the affiliate before the particular year; and

(b) no amount may be claimed in respect of a foreign accrual property loss of a foreign affiliate for a taxation year of the affiliate until the foreign accrual property losses of the affiliate for preceding taxation years have been fully claimed.

(3) For the purpose of this section, and subject to subsection (4), "foreign accrual property loss" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a taxation year means

(a) where at the end of the year the foreign affiliate was a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of the amounts determined for D and E in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the affiliate for the year

exceeds

(ii) the total of the amounts determined for A, B, and C in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the affiliate for the year, or

(b) where, at the end of the year, the foreign affiliate was not a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer but was a controlled foreign affiliate of a person described in any of subparagraphs 95(2)(f)(iv) to (vii) of the Act, the amount determined under paragraph (a) for the year.

(4) In computing the foreign accrual property loss of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a taxation year of the affiliate, where the particular affiliate or another corporation has received a payment described in subsection 5907(1.3) from another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer which payment can reasonably be considered to relate to a loss or portion of a loss of the particular affiliate for the year described in the description of D or E of the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the amount of the loss or portion of the loss for the year is deemed to be nil.

(5) For the purpose of this section, where there has been a foreign merger (within the meaning assigned by subsection 87(8.1) of the Act) of two or more foreign affiliates of a taxpayer resident in Canada in respect of each of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage immediately before the merger was not less than 90 percent (each of which is in this subsection referred to as a "predecessor affiliate") to form a new foreign affiliate in respect of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage immediately after the merger was not less than 90 percent (in this section referred to as the "successor affiliate"), the successor is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, each predecessor affiliate.

(6) For the purpose of this section, where there has been a winding-up of one or more foreign affiliates of a taxpayer resident in Canada in respect of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage immediately before the winding-up was not less than 90 percent (each of which is in this subsection referred to as a "predecessor affiliate") into another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in respect of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage immediately before and after the winding-up was not less than 90 percent (in this subsection referred to as the "successor affiliate"), the successor affiliate is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, each predecessor affiliate.

Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (foreign affiliates — FAPI), subsec. 1(1), will amend s. 5903 to read as above, applicable to taxation years of foreign affiliates that begin after 1998, except that para. 5903(2)(b) applies to foreign affiliate taxation years that begin after 2000.

Technical Notes: The description of F in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act allows foreign accrual property income of an affiliate for a year to be reduced by the amount prescribed by section 5903 of the Income Tax Regulations to be the deductible loss of the affiliate for the year and the five immediately preceding taxation years. The amendments to section 5903 and the description of F in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act provide that deductible losses may include foreign accrual property losses for the three taxation years following and the seven taxation years preceding the year.

Amended subsection 5903(1) allows a taxpayer to include in the deductible loss of a foreign affiliate an amount not exceeding the foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for the seven taxation years immediately preceding and the three taxation years immediately following the particular year. Losses for other taxation years will not be included in the deductible loss of the foreign affiliate.

Amended subsection 5903(2) of the Regulations provides that, in determining the deductible loss of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year, the amount claimed under subsection 5903(1) in respect of a foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for a taxation year of the affiliate cannot exceed the total of amounts previously claimed by any taxpayer in respect of that loss. Also, no amount may be claimed in respect of a foreign accrual property loss until the foreign accrual property loss for preceding taxation years has been fully claimed.

Amended subsection 5903(3) of the Regulations defines foreign accrual property loss of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a taxation year. Where, at the end of a taxation year, a foreign affiliate is a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer or a person related to the taxpayer, the foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate is the amount, if any, by which (D + E) exceeds (A + B + C) in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act.

New subsection 5903(4) of the Regulations provides that, where a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer received a payment described in subsection 5907(1.3) of the Regulations from another affiliate or another corporation, which payment was related to a loss or portion of a loss of the affiliate, the amount of the loss or portion of the loss for the year shall be deemed to be nil.

New subsections 5903(5) and (6) of the Regulations provides that a predecessor affiliate's deductible loss may flow through to a successor affiliate following a foreign merger or a winding-up of one or more affiliates of a taxpayer provided the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage exceeds 90 percent in each predecessor affiliate and in the successor affiliate.

History: Subsecs. 5903(1), (3) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, s. 5, November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsecs. as amended apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

That portion of subsec. 5903(3) following para. (b) amended by P.C. 1989-321, s. 2, March 2, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 15, 1989, applicable in respect of amalgamations and mergers occurring after November 12, 1981.

Subsecs. 5903(1) and (2) substituted, subsec. 5903(3) added, by P.C. 1985-467, s. 2, February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, subsecs. 5903(1) and (2) applicable in computing the foreign accrual property income of a foreign affiliate for taxation years of the affiliate ending after November 12, 1981, and subsec. 5903(3) applicable in respect of mergers and dissolutions occurring after November 12, 1981.

Para. 5903(1)(b) substituted by P.C. 1980-503, s. 2, February 8, 1980, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 27, 1980, effective in respect of 1976 et seq.

5904. Participating percentage — (1) For the purpose of subparagraph (b)(ii) of the definition "participating percentage" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the participating percentage of a particular share owned by a taxpayer of the capital stock of a corporation in respect of any foreign affiliate of the taxpayer that was, at the end of its taxation year, a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer is prescribed to be the percentage that would be the taxpayer's equity percentage in the affiliate at that time on the assumption that

(a) the taxpayer owned no shares other than the particular share;

(b) the direct equity percentage of a person in any foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, for which the total of the distribution entitlements of all the shares of all classes of the capital stock of the affiliate was greater than nil, was determined by the following rules and not by the rules contained in the definition "direct equity percentage" in subsection 95(4) of the Act:

(i) for each class of the capital stock of the affiliate, determine that amount that is the proportion of the distribution entitlement of all the shares of that class that the number of shares of that class owned by that person is of all the issued shares of that class, and

(ii) determine the proportion that

(A) the aggregate of the amounts determined under subparagraph 5904(1)(b) (i) for each class of the capital stock of the affiliate

is of

(B) the aggregate of the distribution entitlements of all the issued shares of all classes of the capital stock of the affiliate and the proportion determined under subparagraph 5904(1)(b)(ii) when expressed as a percentage is that person's direct equity percentage in the affiliate; and

(c) the direct equity percentage of a person in any foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, for which the total of the distribution entitlements of all the shares of all classes of the capital stock of the affiliate was not greater than nil, was determined by the rules contained in the definition "direct equity percentage" in subsection 95(1) of the Act.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5904(2) — Distribution entitlement.

History: That portion of subsec. 5904(1) before subpara (b)(i), and para. (c), amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 6(1), (2), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the amended portions apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

All that portion of para. 5904(1)(b) preceding subpara. (i), and para. 5904(1)(c) substituted by P.C. 1980-503, s. 3, February 8, 1980, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 27, 1980, effective in respect of 1976 et seq.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the distribution entitlement of all the shares of a class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer at the end of its taxation year is the aggregate of

(a) the distributions made during the year by the affiliate to holders of shares of that class; and

(b) the amount that the affiliate might reasonably be expected to distribute to holders of shares of that class immediately after the end of the year if at that time it had distributed to its shareholders an amount equal to the aggregate of

(i) the amount, if any, by which the net surplus of the affiliate in respect of the taxpayer at the end of the year, computed as though any adjustments resulting from the provisions of sections 5902 and 5905 and subsections 5907(2.1) and (2.2) and any references thereto during the year were ignored, exceeds the net surplus of the affiliate in respect of the taxpayer at the end of its immediately preceding taxation year, and

(ii) the amount that the affiliate would receive if at that time each controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in which the affiliate had an equity percentage had distributed to its shareholders an amount equal to the aggregate of

(A) the amount that would be determined under subparagraph 5904(2)(b)(i) for the controlled foreign affiliate if the controlled foreign affiliate were the foreign affiliate referred to in subparagraph 5904(2)(b)(i), for each of the taxation years of the controlled foreign affiliate ending in the taxation year of the affiliate, and

(B) each such amount that the controlled foreign affiliate would receive from any other controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in which it had an equity percentage.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5904(3) — Interpretation.

History: Subpara. 5904(2)(b)(i) substituted by P.C. 1978-3599, s. 1, November 30, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 13, 1978, effective for 1978 et seq.

(3) For the purposes of subsection 5904(2),

(a) the net surplus of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer who is an individual, in respect of that individual, shall be computed as if that individual were a corporation resident in Canada;

(b) in computing the net surplus of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada in which any other foreign affiliate of the taxpayer has an equity percentage, no amount shall be included in respect of any distribution that would be received by the particular affiliate from such other affiliate;

(c) if any controlled foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada has issued shares of more than one class of its capital stock, the amount that would be distributed to the holders of shares of any class is such portion of the amount determined under subparagraph 5904(2)(b)(ii) as, in the circumstances, it might reasonably be expected to distribute to the holders of those shares; and

(d) in determining the distribution entitlement

(i) of a class of shares of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate that is entitled to cumulative dividends, the amount of any distribution referred to in paragraph (2)(a) shall be deemed not to include any distribution in respect of such class that is, or would, if it were made, be referable to profits of a preceding taxation year, and

(ii) of any other class of shares of the capital stock of the affiliate, the net surplus of the affiliate at the end of the year referred to in subparagraph (2)(b)(i) shall be deemed not to have been reduced by any distribution described in subparagraph (i) with respect to a class of shares that is entitled to cumulative dividends to the extent that the distribution was referable to profits of a preceding taxation year.

5905. Special rules — (1) [Corporation or FA acquiring shares of another FA] — Where at any time, other than in the course of a transaction to which subsection (2) or (5) applies, a corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of such a corporation acquires in any manner whatever shares of the capital stock of another corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before that time (in this subsection referred to as the "acquired affiliate") and as a result thereof the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the acquired affiliate increases, for the purposes of this Part, the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation, of the acquired affiliate and of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the acquired affiliate has an equity percentage (in this subsection referred to as the "other affiliate"), other than an acquired affiliate or other affiliate in respect of which subsection (8) applies, shall at that time be reduced to the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(a) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before that time of the corporation in respect of the acquired affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the acquired affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time,

(b) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time of the corporation in respect of the acquired affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the acquired affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time, and, for the purposes of the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), those reduced amounts are referred to as the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of each of those affiliates in respect of the corporation.

Proposed Amendment — 5905(1)

(1) If, at any time, other than in the course of a transaction to which subsection (2) or (5) applies, a corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of such a corporation acquires in any manner whatever shares of the capital stock of another corporation that was, immediately after that time, a foreign affiliate of the corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "acquired affiliate") and as a result of that acquisition the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the acquired affiliate and in respect of any other foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada (the acquired affiliate and each such other foreign affiliate each being referred to in this subsection as the "particular relevant foreign affiliate"), increases, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of this Part, the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate is (unless subsection (8) applies to the particular relevant foreign affiliate because of the acquisition of the shares) to be, at that time, adjusted to become the proportion of that amount, determined without making this adjustment, that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage, immediately before that time, of the corporation in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time,

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage, immediately after that time, of the corporation in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time, and

(b) for the purposes of applying the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the adjusted amounts determined under paragraph (a) are deemed to be the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the corporation.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 2(1), will amend subsec. 5905(1) to read as above, applicable in respect of acquisitions that occur after February 27, 2004.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(1) provides rules for computing the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada when the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of a foreign affiliate of that corporation increases because of the acquisition of shares of a non-resident corporation. Subsection 5905(1) is being repealed and replaced by proposed new subsection 5905(1) that clarifies the operation of the rule.

Proposed new subsection 5905(1) provides that if, at any time, other than in the course of a transaction to which subsection 5905(2) or (5) applies, a corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of such a corporation acquires shares of the capital stock of another corporation that was, immediately after that time, a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada (the "acquired affiliate") and as a result of the acquisition the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the acquired affiliate or any other affiliate (the acquired affiliate and each such other affiliate referred to as a "relevant foreign affiliate") increases, the following rules apply.

- The amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, is to be adjusted to become the proportion of the amount determined without making this adjustment, that — the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before that time of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time,

  is of

  — the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time.

- For the purposes of applying the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax", in subsection 5907(1), the adjusted amounts determined above are deemed to be, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation.

History: The closing words of subsec. 5905(1) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 7(1), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the amendment applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

For earlier history, see at end of s. 5905.

(2) [FA redeeming shares] — Where at any time a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada redeems, acquires or cancels in any manner whatever (otherwise than by way of a winding-up) any of the shares of any class of its capital stock (other than shares redeemed or cancelled that the affiliate had previously purchased or acquired and that were held by it until that time and in respect of which an adjustment has previously been made under this subsection or subsection (1) as it read prior to November 13, 1981), the following rules apply:

(a) where, by virtue of an election made by the corporation under subsection 93(1) of the Act, a dividend is deemed to have been received on one or more of the shares of the foreign affiliate that were disposed of by the corporation or another foreign affiliate of the corporation (in this paragraph referred to as the "transferor") by virtue of the redemption, acquisition or cancellation of such share or shares by the foreign affiliate, for the purposes of the adjustment required by paragraph (b),

(i) immediately before that time there is included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any such dividend that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the exempt surplus of the affiliate,

(ii) immediately before that time there is included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the affiliate's taxable surplus or taxable deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any such dividend that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate, and

(iii) immediately before that time there shall be deducted from the amount, if any, otherwise determined to be the underlying foreign tax of the affiliate in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(d) to be the foreign tax applicable to such portion of any such dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate, and, for the purposes of subparagraphs (i) to (iii), the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is the amount equal to the quotient obtained when,

(iv) where the transferor is the corporation, 100 per cent, and

(v) where the transferor is another foreign affiliate of the corporation, the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the transferor immediately before the disposition,

is divided by

(vi) the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the foreign affiliate immediately before the disposition;

(b) the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation, of the affiliate and of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the affiliate has an equity percentage (in this subsection referred to as the "other affiliate") shall at that time be adjusted to the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before that time of the corporation in respect of the affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time,

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time of the corporation in respect of the affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time; and

(c) for the purposes of the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the amounts determined under paragraph (b) are referred to as the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the affiliate and each other affiliate in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

(2) [FA redeeming shares] — If at any time (referred to in this subsection as the "disposition time") a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada redeems, acquires or cancels (other than a redemption, an acquisition or a cancellation in respect of which an adjustment has previously been made under this subsection or subsection (1) as it read prior to November 13, 1981) in any manner whatever (otherwise than by way of a winding-up) one or more shares (referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (23) as "disposed shares") of any class of its capital stock, the following rules apply:

(a) if, because of an election made by the corporation under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, a dividend (referred to in this subsection and subsections (18) and (21) as the "disposition dividend") is deemed to have been received on the disposed shares, by the corporation or by another foreign affiliate of the corporation, for the purpose of the adjustment required by paragraph (b),

(i) in computing the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate or of another foreign affiliate (the particular foreign affiliate and each such other foreign affiliate being referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (23) as the "particular relevant foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada in which the particular foreign affiliate has an equity percentage at the time (referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (22) as the "balance adjustment time") that is immediately before the disposition time, there is to be included, under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

(A) the amount of the exempt surplus reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(B) the amount of the exempt deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares, and

(C) the amount of the taxable deficit allocation, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(ii) in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included, under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition

"taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

(A) an amount equal to the taxable surplus reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(B) an amount equal to the taxable deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares, and

(C) an amount equal to the exempt deficit allocation, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(iii) in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included, under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

where

A is the portion of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that may reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition,

B is the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition,

C is the portion, of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition), that is prescribed, by paragraph 5900(1)(d), to be applicable to the portion of the whole dividend (as determined, under paragraph 5902(1)(g), in respect of the disposition dividend in respect of the disposed shares) paid on shares of the specified class that is prescribed, by paragraph 5900(1)(c), to have been paid out of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and

D is the specified adjustment factor in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, and

(B) the amount of the underlying foreign tax reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

(v) in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included, under subparagraph (vi) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before that time;

(b) the amount, at the balance adjustment time, of exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate is to be adjusted to become the proportion of that amount, determined without making this adjustment, that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage, at the balance adjustment time, of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that otherwise would have included that time, had ended immediately before that time,

(c) for the purposes of applying the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax", in subsection 5907(1), the amounts determined under paragraph (b), in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, are deemed to be the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 2(1), will amend subsec. 5905(2) to read as above, applicable in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which the amendments to s. 5902 apply.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(2) applies where shares of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada are redeemed, acquired or cancelled (otherwise than by way of a winding-up). If the corporation has made an election under subsection 93(1) of the Act or if the corporation's surplus entitlement percentage in the affiliate changes, then the affiliate's surplus balances are adjusted to offset the change in the surplus entitlement percentage. Subsection 5905(2) is being repealed and replaced by proposed new subsection 5905(2) which adjusts surplus balances of the foreign affiliate in respect of an election under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act.

Proposed new subsection 5905(2) provides that, if, at any time (in this subsection, the "disposition time") a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada redeems, acquires or cancels (other than a redemption, an acquisition or a cancellation in respect of which an adjustment has previously been made under this subsection or subsection (1) as it read prior to November 13, 1981) in any manner whatever (otherwise than by way of a winding-up) one or more shares (referred to in this subsection and subsections 5902(16) to (23) as "disposed shares") of any class of its capital stock, the following rules apply.

- If, because of an election made by the corporation resident in Canada under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, a dividend (in this subsection and subsections 5905(18) and (21), the "disposition dividend") is deemed to have been received on the disposed shares, by the corporation or by another foreign affiliate, for the purposes of the adjustment required by paragraph (b) of the subsection,

  — in computing the exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular foreign affiliate or of another foreign affiliate (the particular foreign affiliate and each other foreign affiliate being referred to in this subsection and subsections 5905(16) to (23) as the "particular relevant foreign affiliate") in which the particular foreign affiliate has an equity percentage at the time (in this subsection and subsections 5905(16) to (22), the "balance adjustment time") that is immediately before the disposition time, there is included, under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

    - the amount of the exempt surplus reduction of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposed shares,
    - the amount of the exempt deficit reduction of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposed shares, and
    - the amount of the taxable deficit allocation of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposed shares,

  — in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the balance adjustment time there is to be included, under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

    - an amount equal to the taxable surplus reduction of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposed shares,
    - an amount equal to the taxable deficit reduction of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposed shares, and
    - an amount equal to the exempt deficit allocation of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposed shares,

  — in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, there is included, under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

    - the amount determined by the formula

      $$A/B \times C \times D$$

      where

      A is the portion of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the disposition,

      B is the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the disposition,

      C is the portion of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the disposition), that is prescribed, by paragraph 5900(1)(d), to be applicable to the portion of the whole dividend (as determined, under paragraph 5902(1)(g), in respect of the disposition dividend in respect of the disposed shares) paid on shares of the specified class that is prescribed, by paragraph 5900(1)(c), to have been paid out of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus, and

      D is the specified adjustment factor in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate,

      — however, if, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, the value determined for B in the formula is nil, the amount determined by the formula, in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate, is deemed to be nil, and

    - an amount equal to the underlying foreign tax reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

  — in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt deficit, at the balance adjustment time, there is included, under subparagraph (viii) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before that time, and — in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, there is included, under subparagraph (vi) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before that time.

- The amount, at the balance adjustment time, of exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate is adjusted to become the proportion of that amount, determined without making this adjustment, that

  — the surplus entitlement percentage, at the balance adjustment time, of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that otherwise would have included that time, had ended immediately before that time,

is of

— the surplus entitlement percentage, immediately after the time of the disposition, of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined assuming that the taxation year of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that otherwise would have included the balance adjustment time, had ended at the time of the disposition.

- For the purposes of applying the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax", in subsection 5907(1), the amounts determined under paragraph 5905(2)(b), in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, are deemed to be the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate.

Example — Subsection 5905(2)

Facts

1. Canco, a corporation resident in Canada, owns 100% of FA1, which owns 100 shares (100%) of FA2.

2. FA2 owns 100% of FA3.

4. Each of FA1, FA2 and FA3 are foreign affiliates of Canco.

5. FA2 redeems 10 (10%) of its shares owned by FA1.

6. Canco elects under subsection 93(1) of the Act at a designated amount of $30.

7. At the time of the redemption, FA2 has exempt surplus of $0, exempt deficit of $150, taxable surplus of $0, taxable deficit of $200 and underlying foreign tax ("UFT") of $0.

8. At the time of the redemption, FA3 has exempt surplus of $500, exempt deficit of $0, taxable surplus of $150, taxable deficit of $0 and UFT of $0.

9. All the corporations have only issued 100 shares of one class.

Application of subsection 5905(2) to FA3

Subsection 5905(2) applies to adjust the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and UFT of each of FA2 and FA3.

For the calculation of consolidated exempt surplus, consolidated exempt deficit, consolidated taxable surplus, consolidated taxable deficit and consolidated underlying foreign tax, see the example in the commentary to subsection 5902(1) of the Regulations.

FA3

Since FA3 has only exempt surplus and taxable surplus, it is only those amounts that must be adjusted.

A. Exempt surplus — FA3

The exempt surplus (otherwise determined) of FA3 is reduced by each of the exempt surplus reduction, exempt deficit reduction and taxable deficit allocation, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA3 in respect of the disposed shares (see subsections 5905(16) to (22)).

The adjusted amount of the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA3 that is determined under paragraph 5905(2)(a) is $500 - ($30 + $150 + $50) = $270. No adjustments are required to be made under paragraph 5905(2)(b) because there is no change in the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of FA3.

1. Exempt surplus reduction — FA3

The exempt surplus reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA3 in respect of the disposed shares is determined as follows

$$A/B \times C \times D = $500 / $500 \times $30 \times 1 = $30$$

where

A is the exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of FA3 that was included in consolidated exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of FA2 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

B is the consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA2 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

C is the portion of the dividend received on the disposed shares because of the election under subsection 93(1) that is, pursuant to paragraph 5900(1)(a), prescribed to be paid out of the consolidated exempt surplus of FA2 ($300 / $300 × $30 = $30)

D is the specified adjustment factor (see subsection 5905(23)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of FA3, of FA1 (1).

2. Exempt deficit reduction — FA3

The exempt deficit reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of FA3 in respect of the disposed shares is determined as follows

$$A/B \times C/ D = $500 / $500 \times $150 / 1 = $150$$

where

A is the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA2 that was included in the consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA2 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

B is the consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA2 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

C is the consolidated exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA2 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($150)

D is the amount that would be the surplus entitlement percentage of FA2 in FA3 if FA2 were the corporation resident in Canada (1).

3. Taxable deficit allocation — FA3

The taxable deficit allocation is determined as follows

$$1/E \times (A - B) \times C/D$$

$$1 / 100\% \times ($200 - $150) \times ($500 / $500) = $50$$

where

A is the amount of the consolidated taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA2 (determined under subsection 5902(1)) in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares ($200)

B is the amount of the consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA2 (determined under subsection 5902(1)) in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares ($150)

C is the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA3 that was included in consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA2 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

D is the consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of FA2 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

E is the amount that would be the surplus entitlement percentage of FA2 in FA3 if FA2 were the corporation resident in Canada (100%).

B. Taxable surplus — FA3

In this example, taxable surplus is only reduced by the taxable deficit reduction.

The adjusted amount of taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of FA3 that is determined under paragraph 5905(2)(a) is $150 - $150 = $0. No adjustments are required to be made under paragraph 5905(2)(b) because there is no change in the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of FA3.

1. Taxable deficit reduction — FA3

The taxable deficit reduction is determined as $150 since the consolidated taxable deficit of FA2 exceeds the consolidated taxable surplus of FA2 in respect of the disposition of the FA2 shares (see paragraph (b) of the definition "taxable deficit reduction" in subsection 5905(20).

Note that with respect to FA2, the amounts that have to be adjusted are its taxable deficit and exempt deficit, which are both reduced to $0. As all accounts of FA2 are $0, no paragraph 5905(2)(b) adjustment is necessary.

History: Subparas. 5905(2)(a)(i), (ii) and para. (2)(c) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 7(2), (3), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the amendments apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

For earlier history, see at end of s. 5905.

(3) [FA formed by foreign merger] — Where at any time a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada has been formed as a result of a foreign merger (within the meaning assigned by subsection 87(8.1) of the Act) of two or more corporations (each of which in this subsection and subsection (4) is referred to as a "predecessor corporation"), for the purposes of this Part, the following rules apply:

(a) in respect of the foreign affiliate,

(i) its opening exempt surplus in respect of the corporation shall be the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the exempt surplus of a predecessor corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before the merger exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the exempt deficit of a predecessor corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before the merger,

(ii) its opening exempt deficit in respect of the corporation shall be the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the exempt deficit of a predecessor corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before the merger exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the exempt surplus of a predecessor corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before the merger,

(iii) its opening taxable surplus in respect of the corporation shall be the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxable surplus of a predecessor corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before the merger exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxable deficit of a predecessor corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before the merger,

(iv) its opening taxable deficit in respect of the corporation shall be the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxable deficit of a predecessor corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before the merger exceeds the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the taxable surplus of a predecessor corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before the merger, and

(v) its opening underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation shall be the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the underlying foreign tax of a predecessor corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before the merger; and

(b) in respect of any other foreign affiliate of the corporation, other than a predecessor corporation, in which a predecessor corporation had an equity percentage immediately before the merger, the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax of the other affiliate in respect of the corporation shall at that time be adjusted to the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before that time of the corporation in respect of the other affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the other affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time,

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time of the corporation in respect of the other affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the other affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time, and, for the purposes of the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the adjusted amounts are referred to as the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the other affiliate in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(4) — Interpretation; Reg. 5905(6) — Interpretation; Reg. 5907(8) — Deemed new taxation year.

History: The closing words of para. 5905(3)(b) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 7(2), (3), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the amendments apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the

taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

For earlier history, see at end of s. 5905.

(4) [Application rules for Reg. 5905(3)] — For the purposes of paragraph (3)(a), the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax of each predecessor corporation immediately before the foreign merger shall be deemed to be the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(a) the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada immediately before the merger in respect of the predecessor corporation, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the predecessor corporation that otherwise would have included the time of the merger had ended immediately before that time,

is of

(b) the percentage that would be the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada immediately after the merger in respect of the foreign affiliate of the corporation formed as a result of the merger if the net surplus of such foreign affiliate were the aggregate of all amounts, each of which is the net surplus of a predecessor corporation immediately before the merger.

Proposed Amendment — 5905(4)

(4) For the purpose of subsection (3),

(a) if, at any time, a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada disposes of one or more shares (referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (23) as the "disposed shares") of a class of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation and the foreign affiliate is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, deemed to have received a dividend (referred to in this subsection and subsections (18) and (21) as the "disposition dividend") on the disposed shares, for the purposes of the adjustments required by paragraphs (b) and (3)(b),

(i) in computing the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of each predecessor corporation and of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which a predecessor foreign affiliate has an equity percentage (the particular predecessor corporation and each such other foreign affiliate being referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (23) as the "particular relevant foreign affiliate") at the time (referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (22) as the "balance adjustment time") that is immediately before the foreign merger, there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

(A) an amount equal to the exempt surplus reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(B) an amount equal to the exempt deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares, and

(C) an amount equal to the taxable deficit allocation, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(ii) in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included, under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

(A) an amount equal to the taxable surplus reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(B) an amount equal to the taxable deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares, and

(C) an amount equal to the exempt deficit allocation, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(iii) in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included, under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

$$A/B \times C \times D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that may reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular predecessor corporation that issued the disposed shares, in respect of the disposition,

B is the amount of the consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular predecessor corporation that issued the disposed shares, in respect of the disposition,

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, determined by paragraph 5900(1)(d), to be the amount of foreign tax

applicable to the portion of the disposition dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the issuing foreign affiliate, that relates to a disposed share, in respect of the disposition, and

D is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, of the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that disposed of the disposed shares, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

(B) the amount of the underlying foreign tax reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

(iv) in computing the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included, under subparagraph (viii) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before that time, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, and

(v) in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included, under subparagraph (vi) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before that time, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate; and

(b) the amount, at the balance adjustment time, of exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate is to be adjusted to become the proportion of that amount, determined without making that adjustment, that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage, at the balance adjustment time, of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time, had ended immediately before that time,

is of

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage, immediately after the time of the disposition, of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that otherwise would have included the balance adjustment time, had ended at the time of the disposition.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 2(2), will amend subsec. 5905(4) to read as above, applicable in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which the amendments to s. 5902 apply.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(4) provides rules for the operation of subsection 5905(3), concerning foreign mergers.

Subsection 5905(4) is replaced by new subsection 5905(4) and adjusts surplus accounts in respect of a corporation resident in Canada of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of elections made by the corporation resident in Canada under subsections 93(1) and (1.2) of the Act in respect of shares of the foreign affiliate that are disposed of.

Proposed new subsection 5905(4) applies in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which proposed new subsection 5902(1) applies.

Proposed new subsection 5905(4) provides, for the purposes of subsection 5905(3), the following rules:

- if, at any time, a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada disposes of one or more shares (in this subsection and subsections 5905(16) to (23), the "disposed shares") of a class of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation and the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, deemed to have received a dividend (in this subsection and subsections (18) and (21), the "disposition dividend") on the disposed shares, for the purposes of the adjustments required by paragraphs (b) and 5905(3)(b),
  - in computing the exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of each predecessor corporation and each other foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which a predecessor foreign affiliate has an equity percentage (the particular predecessor corporation and each such other foreign affiliate being referred to in this subsection and subsections 5905(16) to (23) as the "particular relevant foreign affiliate") at the time (referred to in this subsection and subsections 5905(16) to (22) as the "balance adjustment time") that is immediately before the foreign merger, there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of
    - an amount equal to the exempt surplus reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposed shares,
    - an amount equal to the exempt deficit reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposed shares, and
    - an amount equal to the taxable deficit allocation in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposed shares,
  - in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, there is included, under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of
    - the taxable surplus reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,
    - the taxable deficit reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares, and
    - the exempt deficit allocation in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,
  - in computing the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax at the balance adjustment time, there is included, under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

- the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C \times D$$

where

(5) [Shares of FA of predecessor acquired by acquiring corporation] — Where at any time

(a) there is a disposition by a corporation resident in Canada (in this subsection referred to as the "predecessor corporation") of any of the shares owned by it of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of it to a taxable Canadian corporation with which the predecessor corporation was not dealing at arm's length (in this subsection referred to as the "acquiring corporation"),

(b) there is an amalgamation, to which section 87 of the Act applies, of two or more corporations (each of which in this subsection is referred to as a "predecessor corporation") to form a new corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "acquiring corporation") as a result of which shares of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of a predecessor corporation become the property of the acquiring corporation, or

(c) there is a winding-up, to which subsection 88(1) of the Act applies, of a corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "predecessor corporation") into another corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "acquiring corporation") as a result of which shares of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of the predecessor corporation become the property of the acquiring corporation, the following rules apply for the purposes of this Part in respect of the particular affiliate and each other foreign affiliate of the predecessor corporation in which the particular affiliate has an equity percentage:

Proposed Amendment — 5905(5) between (c) and (d)

the following rules apply for the purposes of this Part in respect of the particular affiliate and each other foreign affiliate of the predecessor corporation in which the particular affiliate has an equity percentage (the particular affiliate and each such other foreign affiliate each being referred to in subsections (16) to (23) as the "particular relevant foreign affiliate"):

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 2(3), will amend the portion of subsec. 5905(5) between paras. (c) and (d) to read as above, applicable in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which the amendments to s. 5902 apply.

Technical Notes: Subsections 5905(5) and (6) apply where, as a result of specified types of transactions, all or any of the shares, of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, owned by a "predecessor corporation" are acquired by, or otherwise become the property of, an "acquiring corporation". These transactions are described in detail in paragraphs 5905(5)(a), (b) and (c) and can be generally described as follows:

- a transfer of shares of the capital stock of the particular affiliate by a corporation (the "predecessor corporation") resident in Canada to a taxable corporation resident in Canada (the "acquiring corporation") with which the predecessor corporation does not deal at arm's length;
- an amalgamation of two or more corporations (each corporation being referred to as a "predecessor corporation") to form a new corporation (the "acquiring corporation") if
  - — section 87 of the Act applies to the amalgamation, and
  - — as a result of the amalgamation, shares of the capital stock of the particular affiliate become the property of the acquiring corporation; or
- a winding-up of a corporation (the "predecessor corporation") into another corporation (the "acquiring corporation") if
  - — subsection 88(1) of the Act applies to the winding-up, and
  - — as a result of the winding-up, shares of the capital stock of the particular affiliate become the property of the acquiring corporation.

Subsections 5905(5) and (6) provide rules for computing the "opening exempt surplus", "opening exempt deficit", "opening taxable surplus", "opening taxable deficit" and "opening underlying foreign tax" of the particular affiliate (and of each other foreign affiliate of the predecessor corporation in which the particular affiliate has an equity percentage) in respect of the acquiring corporation. These rules ensure that the appropriate amounts of surplus, deficit and underlying foreign tax balances of the particular affiliate (and of the relevant subsidiaries of the particular affiliate) in respect of the predecessor corporation are assumed by the acquiring corporation as a result of the reorganization.

Subsection 5905(5) (i.e., the portion between paragraph (c) and (d)) is amended to define the term "particular relevant foreign affiliate" as a particular foreign affiliate and each other foreign affiliate of the predecessor corporation in which the particular affiliate has an equity percentage for the purposes of the subsection and subsections 5905(16) to (23). This amendment applies in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which proposed new subsection 5902(1) applies.

(d) its opening exempt surplus in respect of the acquiring corporation shall be the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of its exempt surplus in respect of each predecessor corporation and in respect of the acquiring corporation immediately before any of the transactions referred to in paragraph (a), (b) or (c) exceeds the aggregate of its exempt deficit in respect of each predecessor corporation and in respect of the acquiring corporation immediately before any of the transactions referred to in paragraph (a), (b) or (c);

(e) its opening exempt deficit in respect of the acquiring corporation shall be the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of its exempt deficit in respect of each predecessor corporation and in respect of the acquiring corporation immediately before any of the transactions referred to in paragraph (a), (b) or (c) exceeds the aggregate of its exempt surplus in respect of each predecessor corporation and in respect of the acquiring corporation immediately before any of the transactions referred to in paragraph (a), (b) or (c);

(f) its opening taxable surplus in respect of the acquiring corporation shall be the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of its taxable surplus in respect of each predecessor corporation and in respect of the acquiring corporation immediately before any of the transactions referred to in paragraph (a), (b) or (c) exceeds the aggregate of its taxable deficit in respect of each predecessor corporation and in respect of the acquiring corporation immediately before any of the transactions referred to in paragraph (a), (b) or (c);

(g) its opening taxable deficit in respect of the acquiring corporation shall be the amount, if any, by which the aggregate of its taxable deficit in respect of each predecessor corporation and in respect of the acquiring corporation immediately before any of the transactions referred to in paragraph (a), (b) or (c) exceeds the aggregate of its taxable surplus in respect of each predecessor corporation and in respect of the acquiring corporation immediately before any of the transactions referred to in paragraph (a), (b) or (c); and

(h) its opening underlying foreign tax in respect of the acquiring corporation shall be the aggregate of its underlying foreign tax in respect of each predecessor corporation and in respect of the acquiring corporation immediately before any of the transactions referred to in paragraph (a), (b) or (c).

Proposed Addition — 5905(5.1), (5.2)

(5.1) Amalgamations — Where there has been an amalgamation described in paragraph (5)(b) to which subsection 87(11) of the Act applies and in respect of that amalgamation an amount has been — under paragraph 88(1)(d) of the Act by the corporation (referred to in this subsection as the "parent corporation") described in subsection 87(11) of the Act as the parent — designated in respect of shares of a corporation (referred to in this subsection as the "particular foreign affiliate") that is, immediately before the amalgamation, a foreign affiliate of the corporation (referred to in this subsection as the "subsidiary corporation") resident in Canada that is described in subsection 87(11) of the Act as the subsidiary, or designated in respect of an interest in a partnership that holds such shares, the following rules apply for the purposes of paragraphs (5)(d) to (h):

(a) subject to paragraph (c), the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular foreign affiliate, in respect of the subsidiary corporation and the parent corporation is deemed to be nil, immediately before the amalgamation;

(b) subject to paragraph (c), the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, of each other foreign affiliate (referred to in this subsection as a "lower-tier foreign affiliate") of the subsidiary corporation (other than the particular foreign affiliate) in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the amalgamation, an equity percentage, is deemed to be nil, immediately before the amalgamation; and

in respect of the parent corporation, is deemed to be the amount that would be determined if

(i) in addition to the shares or partnership interests held by the parent corporation, if any, that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, or underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the parent corporation, in respect of the parent corporation, the shares or partnership interests that were held by the subsidiary corporation at any time in the period (in this subsection referred to as the "control period") that begins at the time the parent corporation last acquired control of the subsidiary corporation and ends immediately before the amalgamation, that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, or underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, were held by the parent corporation at the same times in the control period that they were held by the subsidiary corporation,

(ii) the parent corporation had acquired, at the time the parent corporation last acquired control of the subsidiary corporation, all the shares and partnership interests held, at that time, by the subsidiary corporation that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, or underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation and

(iii) where the subsidiary corporation acquired or disposed of, as the case may be, any shares or partnership interests in the control period that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, or underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, the parent corporation had acquired or disposed of, as the case may be, the shares or partnership interests at the same time they were acquired or disposed of, as the case may be, by the subsidiary corporation.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(5.1) concerns vertical amalgamations of corporations resident in Canada in respect of which an amount has been designated under paragraph 88(1)(d) of the Act in respect of a share of a foreign affiliate of the parent corporation resident in Canada. This new subsection applies in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which proposed new subsection 5902(1) applies.

Proposed new subsection 5905(5.1) provides that, where there has been an amalgamation described in paragraph 5905(5)(b) to which subsection 87(11) of the Act applies and, in respect of that amalgamation, an amount has been — under paragraph 88(1)(d) of the Act by the corporation (the "parent corporation") described in subsection 87(11) of the Act as the parent — designated in respect of shares of a corporation (the "particular foreign affiliate") that is, immediately before the amalgamation, a foreign affiliate of the corporation (the "subsidiary corporation") resident in Canada that is described in subsection 87(11) of the Act as the subsidiary, or designated in respect of an interest in a partnership that holds such shares, certain rules apply for the purposes of paragraphs 5905(5)(d) to (h).

- Subject to paragraph 5905(5.1)(c), the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular foreign affiliate, in respect of the subsidiary corporation and the parent corporation is deemed to be nil, immediately before the amalgamation.

- Subject to paragraph 5905(5.1)(c), the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, of each other foreign affiliate (a "lower-tier foreign affiliate") of the subsidiary corporation (other than the particular foreign affiliate) in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the amalgamation, an equity percentage, is deemed to be nil, immediately before the amalgamation.

- Proposed new paragraph 5905(5.1)(c) provides that the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular foreign affiliate and each lower-tier foreign affiliate, in respect of the parent corporation, is deemed to be the amount that would have been determined, if

  — in addition to the shares or partnership interests held by the parent corporation, if any, that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the parent corporation, in respect of the parent corporation, the shares or partnership interests that were held by the subsidiary corporation at any time in the period (the "control period") that begins at the time the parent corporation last acquired control of the subsidiary corporation and ends immediately before the amalgamation, that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, were held by the parent corporation at the same time in the control period that they were held by the subsidiary corporation,

  — the parent corporation acquired, at the time the parent corporation last acquired control of the subsidiary corporation, all the shares and partnership interests held, at that time, by the subsidiary corporation that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, and

  — where the subsidiary corporation acquired or disposed of any shares or partnership interests in the control period that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, the parent corporation is deemed to have acquired or disposed of, as the case may be, the shares or partnership interests at the same time they were acquired or disposed of, as the case may be, by the subsidiary corporation.

(5.2) Windings-up — Where there has been a winding-up described in paragraph (5)(c) and in respect of that winding-up an amount has been — under paragraph 88(1)(d) of the Act by the corporation (referred to in this subsection as the "parent corporation") described in subsection 88(1) of the Act as the parent — designated in respect of shares of a corporation (referred to in this subsection as the "particular foreign affiliate") that is, immediately before the winding-up, a foreign affiliate of the corporation (referred to in this subsection as the "subsidiary corporation") resident in Canada that is described in subsection 88(1) of the Act as the subsidiary, or designated in respect of an interest in a partnership that holds such shares, the following rules apply for the purposes of paragraphs (5)(d) to (h):

(a) subject to paragraph (c), the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular foreign affiliate, in respect of the subsidiary corporation and the parent corporation is deemed to be nil, immediately before the winding-up;

(b) subject to paragraph (c), the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, of each other foreign affiliate (referred to in this subsection as a "lower-tier foreign affiliate") of the subsidiary corporation (other than the particular foreign affiliate) in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the winding-up, an equity percentage, is deemed to be nil, immediately before the winding-up; and

(c) the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular foreign affiliate and each lower-tier foreign affiliate, in respect of the parent corporation, is deemed to be the amount that would be determined if

(i) in addition to the shares or partnership interests held by the parent corporation, if any, that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, or underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the parent corporation, in respect of the parent corporation, the shares or partnership interests that were held by the subsidiary corporation at any time in the period (in this subsection referred to as the "control period") that begins at the time the parent corporation last acquired control of the subsidiary corporation and ends immediately before the winding-up, that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, or underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, were held by the parent corporation at the same time in the control period that they were held by the subsidiary corporation,

(ii) the parent corporation acquired, at the time the parent corporation last acquired control of the subsidiary corporation, all the shares and partnership interests held, at that time, by the subsidiary corporation that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, or underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, and

(iii) where the subsidiary corporation acquired or disposed of, as the case may be, any shares or partnership interests in the control period that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, or underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, the parent corporation is deemed to have acquired or disposed of, as the case may be, the shares or partnership interests at the same time they were acquired or disposed of, as the case may be, by the subsidiary corporation.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(5.2) concerns vertical amalgamations of corporations resident in Canada in respect of which an amount has been designated under paragraph 88(1)(d) of the Act in respect of a share of a foreign affiliate of the parent corporation resident in Canada. This new subsection applies in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which proposed new subsection 5902(1) applies.

New subsection 5905(5.2) provides that, where there has been a winding-up described in paragraph 5905(5)(c) and, in respect of that winding-up, an amount has been — under paragraph 88(1)(d) of the Act by the corporation (the "parent corporation") described in subsection 88(1) of the Act as the parent — designated in respect of shares of a corporation (the "particular foreign affiliate") that is, immediately before the winding-up, a foreign affiliate of the corporation (the "subsidiary corporation") resident in Canada that is described in subsection 88(1) of the Act as the subsidiary or designated in respect of an interest in a partnership that holds such shares, the following rules apply for the purposes of paragraphs 5905(5)(d) to (h):

- Subject to paragraph 5905(5.2)(c), the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax of the particular foreign affiliate, in respect of the subsidiary corporation and the parent corporation is deemed to be nil, immediately before the winding-up,

- Subject to paragraph 5905(5.2)(c), the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, of each other foreign affiliate (a "lower-tier foreign affiliate") of the subsidiary corporation (other than the particular foreign affiliate) in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the winding-up, an equity percentage, is deemed to be nil, immediately before the winding-up.

- New paragraph 5905(5.2)(c) provides that the amount of the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax of the particular foreign affiliate and each lower-tier foreign affiliate, in respect of the parent corporation, is deemed to be the amount that would have been determined, if

  — in addition to the shares or partnership interests held by the parent corporation, if any, that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the parent corporation, in respect of the parent corporation, the shares or partnership interests that were held by the subsidiary corporation at any time in the period (the "control period") that begins at the time the parent corporation last acquired control of the subsidiary corporation and ends immediately before the winding-up, that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, were held by the parent corporation at the same time in the control period that they were held by the subsidiary corporation,

  — the parent corporation acquired, at the time the parent corporation last acquired control of the subsidiary corporation, all the shares and partnership interests held, at that time, by the subsidiary corporation that are relevant in computing the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, and

or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, of any foreign affiliate of the subsidiary corporation, in respect of the subsidiary corporation, the parent corporation shall be deemed to have acquired or disposed of the shares or partnership interests at the same time they were acquired or disposed of by the subsidiary corporation.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 2(4), will add subsecs. 5905(5.1) and (5.2), applicable in respect of amalgamations that occur, and windings-up that begin, after December 20, 2002.

(6) [Rules for Reg. 5905(5)] — For the purposes of subsection (5), the following rules apply:

(a) where paragraph (5)(a) is applicable and the predecessor corporation is, by virtue of an election made under subsection 93(1) of the Act, deemed to have received a dividend on one or more of the shares of the particular affiliate disposed of in the transaction, for the purposes of the adjustment required by paragraph (b),

(i) immediately before the time of the transaction there shall be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the predecessor corporation an amount equal to the quotient obtained when

(A) such portion of the dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the exempt surplus of the particular affiliate

is divided by

(B) the surplus entitlement percentage of the predecessor corporation in respect of the particular affiliate immediately before the disposition, determined on the assumption that the shares disposed of by the predecessor corporation were the only shares owned by it immediately before the time of the transaction,

(ii) immediately before the time of the transaction there shall be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's taxable surplus or taxable deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the predecessor corporation an amount equal to the quotient obtained when

(A) such portion of the dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate

is divided by

(B) the surplus entitlement percentage referred to in clause (i)(B), and

(iii) immediately before the time of the transaction there shall be deducted from the amount, if any, otherwise determined to be the underlying foreign tax of the particular affiliate in respect of the predecessor corporation an amount equal to the quotient obtained when

(A) the amount prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(d) to be the foreign tax applicable to such portion of the dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate

(B) the surplus entitlement percentage referred to in clause (i)(B); and

(b) the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax of an affiliate in respect of a predecessor corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection (5)) and the acquiring corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection (5)) shall be deemed to be the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before the time of the latest of the transactions referred to in paragraph (5)(a), (b) or (c) of the predecessor corporation or the acquiring corporation, as the case may be, in respect of the affiliate, determined on the assumption

(A) that the taxation year of the affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

(B) where the transaction is one referred to in paragraph (5)(a), that the shares referred to therein were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation immediately before that time,

is of

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after the time of the latest of the transactions referred to in paragraph (5)(a), (b) or (c) of the acquiring corporation in respect of the affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time.

Proposed Amendment — 5905(6)

(6) For the purpose of subsection (5), the following rules apply:

(a) if paragraph (5)(a) applies and the predecessor corporation is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, deemed to have received a dividend (referred to in this subsection and subsections (18) and (21) as the "disposition dividend") on one or more of the shares (each of which is referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (23) as a "disposed share") of the particular foreign affiliate (referred to in this subsection as the "issuing foreign affiliate") disposed of, at that time, for the purpose of the adjustment required by paragraph (b),

(i) in computing the exempt surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate at the time (referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (22) as the "balance adjustment time") that is immediately before the disposition time, the following rules apply:

(A) if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed share that is equal to or greater than the amount of its consolidated exempt deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, at the balance adjustment time, that may reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion, of the disposition dividend that is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, deemed to be received on the disposed shares by the person that disposed of the disposed shares, that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the issuing foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, and

D is the surplus entitlement percentage of the predecessor corporation in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate at the balance adjustment time, determined on the assumption that the disposed shares were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation at that time,

(B) if the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for either B or D in the formula in clause (A) is nil, the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, by that formula is deemed to be nil,

(C) there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time if

(II) the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated exempt deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed share that is equal to or greater than the amount of its consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

(D) there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable deficit allocation in respect of the disposed shares,

(ii) in computing the taxable surplus, in respect of a predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, the following rules apply:

(A) if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition that is equal to or greater than the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, at the balance adjustment time, that may reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion, of the disposition dividend that is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, deemed to be received on the disposed shares by the person that disposed of the disposed shares, that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the issuing foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, and

D is the surplus entitlement percentage of the predecessor corporation in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate at the balance adjustment time, determined on the assumption that the disposed shares were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation at that time,

(B) if the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate for either B or D in the formula in clause (A) is nil, the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, by that formula is deemed to be nil,

(C) there is to be included, under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the amount of particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, if

(i) the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and

(ii) the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated taxable deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition that is equal to or greater than the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

(D) there is to be included in subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt deficit allocation in respect of the disposed shares,

(iii) in computing the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

(A) an amount determined by the formula (which is deemed to be nil, if, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, the value determined for either B or D in the formula is nil)

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the predecessor corporation, at the balance adjustment time, that may reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition,

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, determined by paragraph 5900(1)(d), to be the amount of foreign tax applicable to the portion of the disposition dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the issuing foreign affiliate, that relates to a disposed share, in respect of the disposition, and

D is the surplus entitlement percentage of the predecessor corporation in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate at the balance adjustment time, determined on the assumption that the disposed shares were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation at that time, and

(B) an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times (B+C)/D$$

where

A is the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the particular predecessor corporation, at the balance adjustment time, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount determined under clause (ii)(C) in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the exempt deficit allocation, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

D is the taxable surplus in respect of the predecessor corporation, at the balance adjustment time, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate,

(iv) in computing the exempt deficit, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included under subparagraph (viii) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the exempt deficit, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before that time, and

(v) in computing the taxable deficit, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included under subparagraph (vi) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the taxable deficit, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before that time; and

(b) the exempt surplus or the exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or the taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax in respect of a predecessor corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection (5)) and in respect of the acquiring corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection (5)) of a particular relevant foreign affiliate is, at the balance adjustment time, to be adjusted to become the proportion of the amount of the surplus, deficit or underlying foreign tax determined without reference to this paragraph that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage, immediately before the time of the latest of the transactions referred to in paragraphs (5)(a), (b) and (c), of the predecessor corporation or the acquiring corporation, as the case may be, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumptions

(A) that the taxation year of the particular relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included the balance adjustment time had ended immediately before that time, and

(B) if the transaction is a disposition referred to in paragraph (5)(a), that the shares referred to in that paragraph were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation at the balance adjustment time,

is of

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage, immediately after the time of the latest of the transactions referred to in paragraphs (5)(a), (b) and (c), of the predecessor corporation or the acquiring corporation, as the case may be, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 2(5), will amend subsec. 5905(6) to read as above, applicable in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which the amendments to s. 5902 apply.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(6) applies when there has been a non-arm's length disposition of shares of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada to another corporation resident in Canada. Subsection 5905(6) is being replaced with proposed subsection 5905(6) that requires adjustments of surplus accounts of the foreign affiliate in respect of elections, under subsection 93(1) of the Act, made by the corporation resident in Canada with respect to the disposition of shares of a foreign affiliate of the corporation.

Proposed new subsection 5905(6) provides that, for the purpose of subsection 5905(5), certain rules apply.

- Where paragraph 5905(5)(a) applies and the predecessor corporation referred to in that paragraph is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, deemed to have received a dividend (in this subsection and subsections 5905(18) and (21), the "disposition dividend") on one or more of the shares (each of which is referred to in this subsection and in subsections 5905(16) to (23) as a "disposed share") of the particular foreign affiliate (the "issuing foreign affiliate") disposed of, at that time, in the transaction for the purposes of the adjustment required by paragraph 5905(6)(b), — in computing the exempt surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate at the time (in this subsection and subsections 5905(16) to (22), the "balance adjustment time") that is immediately before the disposition time, the following rules apply:

- if certain conditions set out in clause 5905(6)(a)(i)(A) are met, there is included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the portion of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion of the disposition dividend that is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, received on the disposed shares by the person that disposed of those shares, that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the issuing foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, and

D is the surplus entitlement percentage of the predecessor corporation in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate at the balance adjustment time, determined on the assumption that the disposed shares were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation at that time,

- if the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for either B or D in the formula is nil, the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, by the formula is deemed to be nil,

- there is included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada if the particular foreign affiliate has an amount of exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada and the issuing foreign affiliate's (see subsection 5902(1)) consolidated exempt deficit equals or exceeds its consolidated exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the shares,

- there is included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the relevant foreign affiliate's taxable deficit allocation in respect of the disposed shares,

— in computing the taxable surplus, in respect of a predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, the following rules apply:

- there is included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus"

in subsection 5907(1), the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C/D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion, of the disposition dividend that is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, received on the disposed shares by the person that disposed of those shares, that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the issuing foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the predecessor corporation, and

D is the surplus entitlement percentage of the predecessor corporation in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate at the balance adjustment time, determined on the assumption that the disposed shares were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation at that time,

- if the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate for either B or D in the formula is nil, the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, by the formula is deemed to be nil,
- there is included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada if the particular foreign affiliate has an amount of taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident and the issuing corporation's (see subsection 5902(1)) consolidated taxable deficit equals or exceeds its consolidated taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the disposition of the shares,
- there is included in subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt deficit allocation in respect of the disposed shares,

— in computing the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, the following rules apply:

- there is included under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), an amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C/D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the predecessor corporation, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition,

B is the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the predecessor corporation, in respect of the disposition,

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, determined by paragraph 5900(1)(d), to be the amount of foreign tax applicable to the portion of the disposition dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the issuing foreign affiliate, that relates to a disposed share, in respect of the disposition, and

D is the surplus entitlement percentage of the predecessor corporation in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate at the balance adjustment time, determined on the assumption that the disposed shares were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation at that time,

- if the amount determined above, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for either B or D in the formula is nil, the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate by the formula is deemed to be nil,
- there is to be included under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), an amount determined by the formula

where

A is the underlying foreign tax in respect of the predecessor corporation of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time,

B is the amount determined under clause 5905(6)(a)(ii)(C) in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of disposed shares,

C is the exempt deficit allocation, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

D is the taxable surplus in respect of the predecessor corporation of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time.

— in computing the exempt deficit, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is included under subparagraph (viii) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the exempt deficit, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before that time, and — in computing the taxable deficit, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there shall be included under subparagraph (vi) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the taxable deficit, in respect of the predecessor corporation, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before that time.

- New paragraph 5905(6)(b) provides that the exempt surplus or the exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or the taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax in respect of a predecessor corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection 5905(5)) and in respect of the acquiring corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection 5905(5)) of a particular relevant foreign affiliate is, at the balance adjustment time, to be adjusted to the proportion of the amount of the surplus, deficit or underlying foreign tax determined without reference to this paragraph that — the surplus entitlement percentage at the balance adjustment time of the corporation immediately before the time of the latest of the transactions referred to in paragraphs 5905(5)(a), (b) and (c) of the predecessor corporation or the acquiring corporation, as the case may be, in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumptions

  - that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included the balance adjustment time had ended immediately before that time, and

  - where the transaction is a disposition referred to in paragraph 5905(5)(a), that the shares referred to therein were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation at the balance adjustment time,

  is of

  — the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after the time of the latest of the transactions referred to in paragraphs 5905(5)(a), (b) and (c) of the acquiring corporation in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time.

Example — Subsection 5905(6)

Facts

1. Canco, a corporation resident in Canada, owns 100% of Cansub, another corporation resident in Canada.

2. Canco owns 90% of FA1.

3. Cansub owns 10% of FA1.

4. FA1 owns 100% of FA2.

5. Both FA1 and FA2 are foreign affiliates of Canco and Subco.

6. Canco transfers 10% of the shares of FA1 to Cansub under section 85(1) of the Act, electing under section 93(1) of the Act at a designated amount of $10 in respect of the disposed shares.

7. At the time of the transfer, FA1 has exempt surplus of $0, exempt deficit of $400, taxable surplus of $0, taxable deficit of $0 and underlying foreign tax ("UFT") of $0.

8. At the time of the transfer, FA2 has exempt surplus of $0, exempt deficit of $0, taxable surplus of $500, taxable deficit of $0 and UFT of $300.

9. All the corporations have only issued 100 shares of one class.

Application of paragraph 5905(6)(a)

Paragraph 5905(6)(a) applies to adjust the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and UFT of each of FA2 and FA3.

For an illustration of the calculation of consolidated exempt surplus, consolidated exempt deficit, consolidated taxable surplus, consolidated taxable deficit and consolidated UFT, see the example in the commentary to subsection 5902(1) of the Regulations.

This example focuses on FA2.

Application of paragraph 5905(6)(a) to FA2

FA2 has amounts of taxable surplus and UFT and those amounts must be adjusted.

The taxable surplus, in respect of Canco, of FA2 is $500 - $100 - $400 = $0.

The UFT, in respect of Canco, of FA2 is $300-($60 + $240) = $0.

1. Taxable Surplus Reduction — 5905(6)(a)(ii)(A)

The taxable surplus reduction is the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C/D = $500 / $500 \times $10 / 10\% = $100$$

where

A is the taxable surplus, in respect of Canco, of FA2 that was included in consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of Canco, of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

B is the consolidated taxable surplus, in respect Canco, of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

C is the portion of the subsection 93(1) dividend in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) of the regulations to have been paid out of taxable surplus in respect of Canco ($10)

D is the surplus entitlement percentage of Canco determined on the assumption that the disposed shares were the only shares owned by Canco (10%).

2. Exempt deficit allocation — 5905(6)(a)(ii)(D)

The amount of FA2's exempt deficit allocation is determined by the formula

$$1/E \times (A–B) \times C/D$$

$$1 / 100\% \times ($400 – 0) \times $500 / $300 = $400$$

where

A is the consolidated exempt deficit, in respect of Canco, of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($400)

B is the consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of Canco, of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($0)

C is the taxable surplus, in respect of Canco, of FA2 that was included in consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of Canco, of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

D is the consolidated taxable surplus in respect of Canco of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500)

UFT — FA2

1. UFT Reduction — 5905(6)(a)(iii)(A)

The UFT is to be reduced by the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C/D = $300 / $300 \times $6 / 10\% = $60$$

where

A is the UFT, in respect of Canco, of FA2 that was included in consolidated UFT, in respect of Canco, of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($300)

B is the consolidated UFT, in respect of Canco, of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($300)

C is the amount prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(d) to be the UFT, in respect of Canco, applicable to the subsection 93(1) dividend on the disposed shares paid out of the taxable surplus of FA1 ($6)

D is the surplus entitlement percentage of Canco in FA2 on the assumption that only the disposed shares were owned by Canco (10%).

2. UFT Reduction — 5905(6)(a)(iii)(C) and (D)

The UFT is to be reduced by the amount determined by the formula

where $A \times B + C/D = $300 \times $\ 400/$500 = $240$

A is the UFT, in respect of Canco, of FA2 that was included in consolidated UFT, in respect of Canco, of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($300)

B is the amount determined under clause 5905(6)(a)(ii)(C) in respect of FA2 in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares ($0)

C is the exempt deficit allocation of FA2 in respect of the disposed shares ($400)

D is the amount of taxable surplus of FA2 that was included in computing the consolidated UFT, in respect of Canco, of FA1 determined under subsection 5902(1) ($500).

History: The opening words of subparas. 5905(6)(a)(i), (ii) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 7(5), (6), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subparas. as amended apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

For earlier history, see at end of s. 5905.

(7) [Liquidation or dissolution of FA] — Where at any time there has been a dissolution of a foreign affiliate (in this subsection referred to as the "dissolved affiliate") of a corporation resident in Canada and paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act is applicable in respect of the dissolution, each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that had a direct equity percentage in the dissolved affiliate immediately before that time shall, for the purposes of computing its exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation, be deemed to have received dividends immediately before that time the aggregate of which is equal to the amount it might reasonably have expected to receive if the dissolved affiliate had, immediately before that time, paid dividends the aggregate of which on all shares of its capital stock was equal to the amount of its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before that time, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the dissolved affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

Proposed Amendment — 5905(7)–(7.4)

(7) [Liquidation or dissolution of FA] — If paragraph 95(2)(e) or (e.1) of the Act applies to a liquidation and a dissolution of a foreign affiliate (in this subsection and subsections (7.1) to (7.4) referred to as the "disposing foreign affiliate") of a corporation resident in Canada,

(a) where paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act so applies, for the purpose of computing the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation, of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that has a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate immediately before the specified time, it is deemed

(i) to have received, immediately before that time, dividends the total of which is equal to the amount that it could reasonably have expected to receive if the disposing foreign affiliate had, immediately before the specified time, paid dividends on all shares of its capital stock the total of which was equal to the sum of its exempt surplus, if any, and its taxable surplus, if any, in respect of the corporation immediately before that time,

(ii) to have received, immediately before that time, dividends prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the exempt surplus of the disposing foreign affiliate the total of which is equal to that proportion of the total of the dividends deemed, under subparagraph (i), to have been received by it that the amount, immediately before that time, of the exempt surplus in respect of the corporation of the disposing foreign affiliate, referred to in subparagraph (i), is of the total of the amount, immediately before that time, of exempt surplus and the taxable surplus in respect of the corporation of the disposing foreign affiliate, referred to in subparagraph (i), and

(iii) to have received dividends prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the disposing foreign affiliate the total of which is equal to the amount, if any, by which the total of the dividends deemed to be received by it under subparagraph (i) exceeds the total of the dividends deemed by subparagraph (ii) to be dividends that have been prescribed to have been paid out of the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation, of the disposing foreign affiliate;

(b) where paragraph 95(2)(e) or (e.1) of the Act so applies, the amount, in respect of the corporation, of the exempt deficit of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that had a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate immediately before the specified time is to be, immediately before that time, increased by the total of

(i) its proportionate share of the exempt deficit, if any, of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation immediately before that time, and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) its proportionate share of the exempt deficit, if any, of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation immediately before that time,

exceeds

(B) the amount of the decrease, determined under paragraph (d), to the amount of its exempt surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before that time;

(c) the amount, in respect of the corporation, of the taxable deficit of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that had a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate immediately before the specified time is to be, immediately before that time, increased by the total of

(i) its proportionate share of the taxable deficit, if any, of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation immediately before that time, and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) its proportionate share of the taxable deficit, if any, of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation immediately before that time,

exceeds

(B) the amount of the decrease, determined under paragraph (e), to the amount of its taxable surplus in respect of the corporation;

(d) the amount, in respect of the corporation, of the exempt surplus of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that had a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate immediately before the specified time is to be, immediately before that time, decreased by the lesser of

(i) its proportionate share of the exempt deficit, if any, of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation immediately before that time, and

(ii) the amount of its exempt surplus in respect of the corporation as otherwise determined under the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1); and

(e) the amount, in respect of the corporation, of the taxable surplus of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that had a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate immediately before the specified time is to be, immediately before that time, decreased by the lesser of

(i) its proportionate share of the taxable deficit, if any, of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation immediately before that time, and

(ii) the amount of its taxable surplus in respect of the corporation as otherwise determined under the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1).

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(7) applies where a foreign affiliate (the "disposing foreign affiliate") of a corporation resident in Canada dissolves in circumstances where paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act applies in respect of the dissolution.

Paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act provides for the rollover of capital property, of a disposing foreign affiliate, to another foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada on a liquidation and a dissolution of the disposing foreign affiliate where certain conditions have been met. One of the conditions is that, immediately before the liquidation, the corporation resident in Canada's surplus entitlement percentage in respect of the disposing foreign affiliate was not less than 90%. Another is that the liquidation is not taxable in the country where the disposing foreign affiliate resides.

Subsection 5905(7) provides that each other foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that has a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate immediately before the time of the dissolution is, for the purposes of computing its exempt surplus, taxable surplus, exempt deficit, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax balances in respect of the corporation, deemed to have received, immediately before that time, dividends from the disposing affiliate of the amount that that other affiliate could reasonably be expected to have received if the disposing foreign affiliate had paid dividends equal to the amount of its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before that time.

Subsection 5905(7) is to be amended in the following ways.

First, it is proposed that subsection 5905(7) be amended to include liquidations and dissolutions to which paragraph 95(2)(e) of the Act apply, in addition to liquidations and dissolutions subject to paragraph 95(2)(e.1). This amendment applies for all portions of the amended subsection, save for the deeming of the dividend, which is not necessary in the case of a foreign affiliate holding shares in a liquidating or dissolving affiliate to which paragraph 95(2)(e) does not apply.

Second, the conditions under which subsection 5905(7) applies are proposed to be amended to refer to a "liquidation and a dissolution" to better track the language in paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act.

Third, the subsection is to be amended so that, where paragraph 95(2)(e) applies to a liquidation and dissolution, the dividend deemed by that subsection to have been received is considered to have been received immediately before the "specified time". The expression "specified time" is defined in new subsection 5905(7.1) to mean the time that is the earlier of

- the time at which the disposing foreign affiliate was dissolved, and
- the time of the earliest distribution of property as part of the liquidation and the dissolution of the disposing foreign affiliate.

Fourth, the subsection is to be amended to deal with the case where the disposing foreign affiliate has an exempt deficit or taxable deficit in respect of the corporation immediately before the specified time. These amendments ensure that, where paragraph 95(2)(e) or (e.1) applies to the liquidation and dissolution, of the disposing foreign affiliate

- the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that held a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate is, immediately before the specified time, increased by the sum of that other affiliate's proportionate share of the disposing foreign affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation, immediately before that time, and the amount by which its proportionate share of the exempt deficit of the disposing foreign affiliate immediately before that time exceeds the amount of the decrease (determined under paragraph 5905(7)(d)) to the amount of its exempt surplus in respect of the corporation,
- the taxable deficit in respect of the corporation of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that held a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate is, immediately before the specified time, increased by the sum of that other affiliate's proportionate share of the disposing foreign affiliate's taxable deficit in respect of the corporation and the amount by which its proportionate share of the taxable deficit of the disposing foreign affiliate immediately before that time, exceeds the amount of the decrease (determined under paragraph 5905(7)(e)) to the amount of its taxable surplus in respect of the corporation,
- the exempt surplus in respect of the corporation of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that held a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate is, immediately before the specified time, decreased by the least of that other affiliate's proportionate share of the disposing foreign affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation and the amount of its exempt surplus in respect of the corporation, as determined under the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), and

- the taxable surplus in respect of the corporation of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that held a direct equity percentage in the disposing foreign affiliate is, immediately before the specified time, decreased by the least of that other affiliate's proportionate share of the disposing foreign affiliate's taxable deficit in respect of the corporation and the amount of its taxable surplus in respect of the corporation, as determined under the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1).

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(7.1) — Specified time; Reg. 5905(7.2)–(7.4) — Interpretation rules.

(7.1) ["Specified time"] — The specified time in relation to a liquidation and a dissolution of a foreign affiliate mentioned in subsection (7) is the time that is the earlier of

(a) the time of dissolution of the disposing foreign affiliate, and

(b) the time of the earliest distribution of property as part of the liquidation and the dissolution of the disposing foreign affiliate.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(7.1) provides, for the purpose of subsection 5905(5), a definition of the expression "specified time". For more detail, see the commentary to subsection 5905(7) above.

(7.2) [Interpretation for Reg. 5905(7)] — For the purpose of subsection (7), the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time is to be determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the disposing foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

(7.3) [Interpretation for Reg. 5905(7)(b), (d)] — For the purpose of paragraphs (7)(b) and (d), a foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the exempt deficit, if any, of the disposing affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time is equal to the amount it could reasonably have expected to receive if the disposing foreign affiliate had, immediately before that time, paid a dividend equal to the amount of its exempt deficit, if any, in respect of the corporation.

(7.4) [Interpretation for Reg. 5905(7)(c), (e)] — For the purposes of paragraphs (7)(c) and (e), a foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable deficit, if any, of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time is equal to the amount it could reasonably have expected to receive if the disposing foreign affiliate had, immediately before that time, paid a dividend equal to the amount of its taxable deficit, if any, in respect of the corporation.

Technical Notes: New subsections 5905(7.2) to (7.4) provide for the following rules in relation to section 5905(7):

- For the purposes of subsection 5905(7), the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time is to be determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the disposing foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time (subsection 5905(7.2));
- For the purposes of paragraphs 5905(7)(a) and (b), a foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the exempt deficit, if any, of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time is equal to the amount it could reasonably have expected to receive if the disposing foreign affiliate had, immediately before that time, paid a dividend equal to the amount of its exempt deficit, if any, in respect of the corporation (subsection 5905(7.3)); and
- For the purposes of paragraphs 5905(7)(c) and (d), a foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable deficit, if any, of the disposing foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time is equal to the amount it could reasonably have expected to receive if the disposing foreign affiliate had, immediately before that time, paid a dividend equal to the amount of its taxable deficit, if any, in respect of the corporation (subsection 5905(7.4)).

New subsections 5905(7) to (7.4) ensure that the exempt deficit and the taxable deficit of the disposing foreign affiliate of a group of affiliates in respect of a taxpayer are absorbed by the other foreign affiliates in the group.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 2(6), will amend subsec. 5905(7) to read as above and add subsecs. (7.1) to (7.4), applicable in respect of dissolutions that occur after December 20, 2002.

(8) [Where dividend due to election under ITA 93(1) or (1.2)] — Where at any time a dividend is, by virtue of an election made by a corporation under subsection 93(1) of the Act, deemed to have been received on one or more shares of a class of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation disposed of to the corporation or another foreign affiliate of the corporation, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of the adjustment required by paragraph (b),

(i) immediately before that time there shall be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1 in computing the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any such dividend that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the exempt surplus of the particular affiliate,

(ii) immediately before that time there shall be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's taxable surplus or taxable deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any such dividend that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate, and

(iii) immediately before that time there shall be deducted from the amount, if any, otherwise determined to be the underlying foreign tax of the particular affiliate in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(d) to be the foreign tax applicable to

such portion of any such dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate, and, for the purposes of subparagraphs (i) to (iii), the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is the amount equal to the quotient obtained when

(iv) where the person disposing of the shares is the corporation, 100 per cent, and

(v) where the person disposing of the shares is another foreign affiliate of the corporation, the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of that affiliate immediately before the disposition,

is divided by

(vi) the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the particular foreign affiliate immediately before that disposition;

(b) the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation of the particular affiliate and of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the particular affiliate has an equity percentage (in this subsection referred to as the "other affiliate") shall at that time be adjusted to the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before that time of the corporation in respect of the particular affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time,

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time of the corporation in respect of the particular affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time; and

(c) for the purposes of the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the amounts determined under paragraph (b) are referred to as the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular affiliate and each other affiliate in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

Proposed Amendment — 5905(8)

(8) If, at any time, a dividend (referred to in this subsection and subsections (18) and (21) as the "disposition dividend") is, because of an election made by a corporation resident in Canada under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, deemed to have been received on one or more shares (each of which is referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (23) as a "disposed share") of a class of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate (referred to in this subsection as the "issuing foreign affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada that were disposed (which disposition is referred in this subsection and subsections (16) to (23) as the "disposition") to the corporation resident in Canada or to another corporation that was, immediately after the disposition, a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purpose of the adjustment required by paragraph (b),

(i) in computing the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the issuing foreign affiliate or another foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the issuing foreign affiliate has an equity percentage (the issuing foreign affiliate and each such other foreign affiliate each being referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (23) as the "particular relevant foreign affiliate") at the time (referred to in this subsection and subsections (16) to (22) as the "balance adjustment time") that is immediately before the time of the disposition, there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

(A) an amount equal to the exempt surplus reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(B) an amount equal to the exempt deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares, and

(C) an amount equal to the taxable deficit allocation, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(ii) in computing the taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

(A) an amount equal to the taxable surplus reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(B) an amount equal to the taxable deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares, and

(C) an amount equal to the exempt deficit allocation, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares,

(iii) in computing the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

$$A/B \times C \times D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that may reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition,

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, determined by paragraph 5900(1)(d), to be the amount of foreign tax applicable to the portion of the disposition dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the issuing foreign affiliate, that relates to a disposed share, in respect of the disposition, and

D is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, of the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that disposed of the disposed shares, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

(B) the amount of the underlying foreign tax reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

(iv) in computing the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included under subparagraph (viii) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before that time, and

(v) in computing the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included under subparagraph (vi) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), an amount equal to the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before that time;

(b) the amount, at the balance adjustment time, of exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate is to be adjusted to become the proportion of that amount, determined without making this adjustment, that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage, at the balance adjustment time, of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time, had ended immediately before that time,

is of

(c) for the purposes of applying the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax", in subsection 5907(1), the amounts determined under paragraph (b) are deemed to be the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus, and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 2(7), will amend subsec. 5905(8) to read as above, applicable in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which the amendments to s. 5902 apply.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(8) provides rules for determining surplus balances that apply when a corporation resident in Canada elects under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of a disposition of shares of a foreign affiliate (the issuing affiliate) of the corporation to the corporation or to another corporation that was, immediately after the disposition, a foreign affiliate of the corporation and a dividend is, because of the election, deemed to be received. This subsection is replaced with new subsection 5905(8), to provide for adjustments to surplus accounts in respect of the dividends arising because of the elections under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act.

Proposed new subsection 5905(8) applies if, at any time, a dividend (referred to in this subsection and subsections 5905(18) and (21) as the "disposition dividend") is, because of an election made by a corporation resident in Canada under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, deemed to have been received on disposed shares of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that were disposed of to the corporation resident in Canada or another corporation that was, immediately after the disposition, a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada. It provides the following rules.

- Paragraph 5905(8)(a) sets out a number of adjustments, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, to different surplus accounts, immediately before the disposition of the shares (the "balance adjustment time"), that must be taken into account in determining the adjustment in paragraph 5905(8)(b).
  - In computing the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the issuing foreign affiliate and each other foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the issuing affiliate has an equity percentage (the issuing foreign affiliate and each such other foreign affiliate referred to as the "particular relevant foreign affiliate"), immediately before the disposition (the "balance adjustment time"), there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the aggregate of the exempt surplus reduction, the exempt deficit reduction, and the taxable deficit allocation of that particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares. "Exempt deficit reduction", "exempt surplus reduction" and "taxable deficit allocation" are terms defined in subsections 5905(17), (18), and (19), respectively, and are further described in the commentary to those respective subsections.

— In computing the taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of each particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time, there is to be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1), the aggregate of the taxable surplus reduction, the taxable deficit reduction, and the exempt deficit allocation of that particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposed shares. "Exempt deficit allocation", "taxable deficit reduction" and "taxable surplus reduction" are terms defined in subsections 5905(16), (20) and (21), respectively.

— In computing the underlying foreign tax of each particular relevant foreign affiliate there is to be included under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the total of

• the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C \times D$$

where

A is the portion of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in determining the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (determined in paragraph 5902(1)(c)) as a result of the disposition,

B is the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated underlying foreign tax (determined in paragraph 5902(1)(c)) as a result of the disposition,

C is the amount determined under paragraph 5900(1)(c) to be the amount of foreign tax applicable to the portion of the disposition dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the issuing foreign affiliate that relates to a disposed share, as a result of the disposition,

D is the specified adjustment factor (defined in subsection 5905(23)), in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, of the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that disposed of the disposed shares, as a result of the disposition of the disposed shares,

• however, where the amount determined by the B in the formula is nil, the amount determined by the formula is determined to be nil, and

• an amount equal to the underlying foreign tax reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares.

— In computing the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the balance adjustment time of each particular relevant foreign affiliate, there must be added under subparagraph (viii) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) the amount of the exempt deficit (in respect of the corporation resident in Canada) of that particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before the balance adjustment time.

— In computing the taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the balance adjustment time of each particular relevant foreign affiliate there must be added under subparagraph (vi) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1) the taxable deficit of that particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before the balance adjustment time.

• The amount, at the balance adjustment time, of the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of each particular relevant foreign affiliate is to be adjusted to the proportion of the amount determined, without making this adjustment, that — the surplus entitlement percentage, at the balance adjustment time, of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, if it were determined on the assumption that the taxation year, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time, had ended immediately before the balance adjustment time,

is of

— the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately after the disposition, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that otherwise would have included the balance adjustment time, had ended at the time of disposition.

• For the purposes of applying the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable surplus", "taxable deficit" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the amounts determined under paragraph 5905(8)(b) are deemed to be the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable surplus, opening taxable deficit and opening underlying foreign tax, respectively of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

Example — Subsection 5905(8)

Facts

1. Canco is a corporation resident in Canada.

2. Canco owns 100% of FA1 and 50% of FA6, and both FA1 and FA6 are foreign affiliates of Canco.

3. FA1 owns 80 shares (80%) of FA2 and FA6 owns 20 shares (20%) of FA2.

4. FA2 owns 70 shares (70%) of FA3, FA3 owns 100% of FA4 and FA4 owns 100% of FA5.

5. FA1 transfers 30 of its shares in FA2 to FA6, and subsection 93(1) of the Act applies to the transfer, regarding which Canco designates $123 as the dividend received by FA1 in respect of the disposed shares.

6. At the time of the transfer, FA2 has an exempt surplus of $200, a taxable surplus of $0, an exempt deficit of $0 and an underlying foreign tax ("UFT") of $0.

7. At the time of the transfer, FA3 has an exempt surplus of $100, a taxable surplus of $75, an exempt deficit of $0 and an UFT of $10.

8. At the time of the transfer, FA4 has an exempt surplus of $0, a taxable surplus of $0, an exempt deficit of $200 and an UFT of $0.

9. At the time of the transfer, FA5 has an exempt surplus of $0, a taxable surplus of $325, an exempt deficit of $0 and an UFT of $200.

10. All the corporations have only issued 100 shares of one class.

Application of subsection 5905(8) — FA5

I. Paragraph 5905(8)(a) — FA5

Paragraph 5905(8)(a) acts to adjust the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and UFT in respect of Canco of each of FA2, FA3, FA4 and FA5. This example will focus on FA5.

A. Exempt Surplus — FA5

First, the adjustment to exempt surplus, in respect of Canco, must be determined by subparagraph 5905(8)(a)(i). However, in this example, FA5 has no exempt surplus, so no calculation is necessary.

B. Taxable Surplus — FA5

Second, the adjustment to taxable surplus, in respect of Canco, of FA5 must be determined by subparagraph 5905(8)(a)(ii). The taxable surplus of FA5 will be reduced by the total of the taxable surplus reduction, taxable deficit reduction and exempt deficit allocation.

The taxable surplus of FA5 is determined as $325 - $108.3 = $216.7.

For the calculation of consolidated exempt surplus, consolidated exempt deficit, consolidated taxable surplus, consolidated taxable deficit and consolidated UFT, see the example in the commentary to subsection 5902(1) of the Regulations.

1. Taxable surplus reduction — FA5

The taxable surplus reduction, in respect of Canco, of FA5 in respect of the disposed shares is the amount determined by the formula:

$$A/B \times C \times D$$

$$$227.5 / $280 \times $83.99 \times 1.587 = $108.3$$

where

A is the portion of FA5's taxable surplus, in respect of Canco, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in the consolidated taxable surplus of FA2 ($325 x .7 = $227.5)

B is the consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of Canco, of FA2 in respect of the disposition of the FA2 shares ($280)

C is the portion of the disposition dividend received by FA1 on the disposed shares, because of the election under section 93(1) of the Act, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the consolidated taxable surplus of FA2 ($280 / $410 x $123 = $83.99)

D is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of Canco, in respect of FA2, of FA1 (100% / 63% = 1.587).

2.Taxable deficit reduction — FA5

There is no consolidated taxable deficit, in respect of Canco, of FA2. Consequently, there is no taxable deficit reduction, in respect of Canco, in respect of FA5.

3. Exempt deficit allocation — FA5

There is no consolidated exempt deficit in excess of consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of Canco, of FA2. Consequently, there is no exempt deficit allocation, in respect of Canco, in respect of FA5.

C. Underlying foreign tax — FA5

The adjustment to the UFT, in respect of Canco, must be determined by subparagraph 5905(8)(a)(iii). The UFT of FA5 will be reduced by the total of the UFT of FA5 related to any of the taxable surplus reduction, taxable deficit reduction and exempt deficit allocation in respect of Canco of FA5.

The underlying foreign tax in respect of Canco of FA5 is determined to be $133.35 ($200 - $66.65 = 133.35).

1. Underlying foreign tax applicable to subsection 93(1) dividend

The reduction of the underlying foreign tax of FA5 related to the taxable surplus reduction is determined by the formula:

$$A/B \times C \times D = $140 / $147 \times $44.1 \times 1.587 = $66.65$$

where

A is the portion of the UFT in respect of Canco of FA5 that is included in computing the consolidated UFT in respect of Canco of FA2 ($200 x .7 = $140)

B is the consolidated UFT in respect of Canco of FA2 (($200 + $10) x .7 = $147)

C is the amount, determined pursuant to paragraph 5900(1)(d), of the consolidated underlying foreign tax applicable to the disposition dividend that relates to disposed shares that is prescribed to have been paid out of taxable surplus ($147 x $84 / $280 = $44.1)

D is the specified adjustment factor in respect of Canco in respect of FA5 of FA1 (100% / 63% = 1.587).

D. Exempt deficit reduction

The adjustment to the exempt deficit, in respect of Canco, of FA5 would be determined by subparagraph 5905(8)(a)(iv). However, as FA5 has no exempt deficit, no adjustment is necessary.

E. Taxable deficit reduction

The adjustment to the taxable deficit, in respect of Canco, of FA5 would be determined by subparagraph 5905(8)(a)(v). However, as FA5 has no taxable deficit, no adjustment is necessary.

II. Paragraph 5905(8)(b) adjustment — FA5

Paragraph 5905(8)(b) acts to adjust the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and UFT in respect of Canco of each of FA2, FA3, FA4 and FA5. This example will focus on FA5.

As FA5 has only taxable surplus and UFT, it is only those accounts that will be adjusted.

The taxable surplus and UFT of FA5 is adjusted to be the proportion of the amounts determined above that the surplus entitlement percentage of Canco in respect of FA5, at the balance adjustment time, (determined on the assumption that FA5 had a taxation year ending immediately before that time) is of the surplus entitlement percentage of Canco in respect of FA5, immediately after the disposition, (determined on the assumption that FA5 had a taxation year ending immediately at the time of disposition).

Thus, FA5's opening balances after the transaction are as follows:

- taxable surplus in respect of Canco is $260.04
- UFT in respect of Canco is $160.02

A.Taxable surplus

$$$216.7 \times 63 / 52.5 = $260.04$$

B. Underlying foreign tax

$$$133.35 \times 63 / 52.5 = $160.02$$

History: Subparas. 5905(8)(a)(i), (ii) and para. (8)(c), amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 7(7), (8), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part

II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subparas. and para. as amended apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

For earlier history, see at end of s. 5905.

(9) [Where surplus entitlement percentage decreases] — Where at any time a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada (in this subsection referred to as the "issuing affiliate") issues shares of a class of its capital stock to a person other than the corporation or another foreign affiliate of the corporation and as a result thereof the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the issuing affiliate decreases, for the purposes of this Part, the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation, of the issuing affiliate and of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the issuing affiliate has an equity percentage (in this subsection referred to as the "other affiliate") shall at that time be increased to the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(a) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before that time of the corporation in respect of the issuing affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the issuing affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time,

(b) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time of the corporation in respect of the issuing affiliate or other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the issuing affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time,

and, for the purposes of the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), those increased amounts are referred to as the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of each of those affiliates in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

History: The closing words of 5905(9) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 7(9), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the portion as amended applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

For earlier history, see at end of s. 5905.

(10) ["Surplus entitlement"] — For the purposes of this section, the surplus entitlement at any time of a share owned by a corporation resident in Canada of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation is the portion of

(a) the amount that would have been received on the share if the foreign affiliate had at that time paid dividends the aggregate of which on all shares of its capital stock was equal to the amount that would be its net surplus in respect of the corporation at that time assuming that

(i) each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the foreign affiliate had an equity percentage had immediately before that time paid a dividend equal to its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before the dividend was paid, and

(ii) any dividend referred to in subparagraph (i) that would be received by another foreign affiliate was received by such other foreign affiliate immediately before any such dividend that it would have paid,

that may reasonably be considered to relate to

(b) the amount that would be the net surplus of the particular affiliate in respect of the corporation at that time assuming that

(i) each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the particular affiliate had an equity percentage had immediately before that time paid a dividend equal to its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before the dividend was paid, and

(ii) any dividend referred to in subparagraph (i) that would be received by another foreign affiliate was received by such other foreign affiliate immediately before any such dividend that it would have paid.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(11), (12) — Interpretation.

(11) [Interpretation for Reg. 5905(10)] — For the purposes of subsection (10),

(a) in determining the net surplus of, or the amount of a dividend received by, a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada in which any other foreign affiliate of the taxpayer has an equity percentage, no amount shall be included in respect of any distribution that would be received by the particular affiliate from such other affiliate; and

(b) if any foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada has issued shares of more than one class of its capital stock, the amount that would be paid as a dividend on the shares of any class is such portion of its net surplus as, in the circumstances, it might reasonably be expected to have paid on all the shares of that class.

(12) [Interpretation for Reg. 5905(10)] — Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, for the purposes of determining under subsection (10) the net surplus of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada in respect of the corporation at any time in a taxation year of the affiliate that would otherwise have included that time (in this subsection referred to as the "normal year"), the exempt earnings or loss and the taxable earnings or loss required to be included in computing the net surplus in respect of any taxation year of the affiliate that is assumed for the purposes of a provision of this section to have ended at that time shall be deemed to be that proportion of such amounts determined for the normal year that the number of days in the taxation year assumed to have ended at that time is of the number of days in the normal year.

(13) ["Surplus entitlement percentage"] — For the purposes of the definition "surplus entitlement percentage" in subsection 95(1) of the Act and of this Part, the surplus entitlement percentage at any time of a corporation resident in Canada in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation is,

(a) where the particular affiliate and each corporation that is relevant to the determination of the corporation's equity percentage in the particular affiliate have only one class of issued shares at that time, the percentage that is the corporation's equity percentage in the particular affiliate at that time, and

(b) in any other case, the proportion of 100 that

(i) the aggregate of all amounts, each of which is the surplus entitlement at that time of a share owned by the corporation of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation in respect of the particular foreign affiliate of the corporation

is of

(ii) the amount determined under paragraph (10)(b) to be the net surplus of the particular affiliate in respect of the corporation at that time, except that where the amount determined under subparagraph (ii) is nil, the percentage determined under this paragraph shall be the corporation's equity percentage in the particular affiliate at that time, and, for the purposes of this subsection, "equity percentage" has the meaning that would be assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act if the reference in paragraph (b) of the definition "equity percentage" in that subsection to any corporation" were read as a reference to "any corporation other than a corporation resident in Canada".

History: The opening and closing words of 5905(13) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 7(10), (11), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the portions as amended apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5905(14), (15)

(14) [Where ITA 93.1(1) applies] — For the purpose of this section, where the number of shares of a class of the capital of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada deemed by subsection 93.1(1) of the Act to be owned by a person at a particular time is different from the number so deemed immediately before the particular time

(a) if the number of shares of that class deemed to be owned by the person has decreased, the person is deemed to have disposed of, at the particular time, the number of shares of that class equal to the amount of the decrease;

(b) if the number of shares of that class deemed to be owned by the person has increased, the person is deemed to have acquired, at the particular time, the number of shares of that class equal to the amount of the increase;

(c) a person (in this paragraph referred to as the "seller") that is deemed by paragraph (a) to have disposed of, at a particular time, shares of a class is deemed to have disposed of those shares to the persons (in this paragraph referred to as the "acquirers") deemed in paragraph (b) to have acquired shares of that class at that time and the number of shares of that class deemed to have been acquired at that time by a particular acquirer from the seller shall be determined by the formula

where

A is the number of shares of that class acquired by the particular acquirer at that time,

B is the number of shares of that class disposed of by the seller at that time, and

C is the number of shares of that class acquired by all acquirers at that time; and

(d) persons (in this paragraph referred to as the "acquirers") that are deemed by paragraph (b) to have acquired, at a particular time, shares of a class are deemed to have acquired those shares from a person (in this paragraph referred to as the "seller") deemed in paragraph (a) to have disposed of shares of that class at that time and the number of shares of that class deemed to have been disposed of by the seller to a particular acquirer at that time shall be determined by the formula

where

A is the number of shares of that class disposed of by the seller,

B is the number of shares of that class acquired by the particular acquirer at that time, and

C is the number of shares of that class time disposed of by all sellers at that time.

Technical Notes: New subsection 93.1(1) of the Act deems, for certain purposes, a member of a partnership to own its proportionate number of shares of a non-resident corporation held by a partnership. New subsection 5905(14) of the Regulations applies where the number of shares of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada deemed to be owned by a person under subsection 93.1(1) increases or decreases.

Where the number of shares deemed to be held by the person has decreased, the person is deemed to have disposed of shares to the extent of the decrease. Where the number of shares deemed to be held by the person has increased, the person is deemed to have acquired shares to the extent of the increase. Persons that are treated as having acquired shares of class are treated as having acquired those shares proportionately from persons that are treated as having disposed of shares of that class and vice versa.

(15) [Equity percentage, surplus entitlement and surplus entitlement percentage — shares owned by partnership] — In determining,

(a) for the purpose of this Part (other than section 5904), the equity percentage at any time of a person in a corporation,

(b) for the purpose of this section, the surplus entitlement at any time of a share owned by a corporation resident in Canada of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation, and

(c) for the purposes of this Part and of the definition "surplus entitlement percentage" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the surplus entitlement percentage at any time of a corporation resident in Canada in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation, where at any time shares of a class of the capital stock of a corporation are owned by a partnership or are deemed under this subsection to be owned by a partnership, those shares are deemed to be owned at that time by each member of the partnership in a proportion equal to the proportion of all such shares that

(d) the fair market value of the member's interests in the partnership at that time

is of

(e) the fair market value of all members' interest in the partnership at that time.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(15) applies to determine the equity percentage (other than for section 5904), surplus entitlement of a share and the surplus entitlement percentage at any time of a corporation resident in Canada in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation where the shares of the foreign affiliate are property of a partnership. Each member of the partnership is deemed to own that proportion of the number of the shares held by the partnership that the fair market value of the member's interest in the partnership is of the fair market value of all the members' interests in the partnership.

Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (foreign affiliates — partnerships), subsec. 3(4), will add subsecs. 5905(14) and (15), applicable after November 1999.

Proposed Addition — 5905(16)–(23)

(16) ["Exempt deficit allocation"] — The exempt deficit allocation, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, in respect of disposed shares of the particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, that issued the disposed shares (in this subsection referred to as the "issuing foreign affiliate") is, if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada and the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated exempt deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, that exceeds the amount of its consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$1/E \times [(A–B) \times C/D]$$

where

A is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the disposition of the disposed shares, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

D is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

E is

(i) subject to subparagraph (ii), the surplus entitlement percentage, of the issuing foreign affiliate, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that would be determined under subsections 5905(10) to (13) at the balance adjustment time if the issuing foreign affiliate were the "corporation resident in Canada" referred to in those subsections and the particular relevant foreign affiliate were the "particular foreign affiliate" referred to in those subsections, and

(ii) if the particular relevant foreign affiliate is the issuing foreign affiliate, 1; and

(b) if the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for the description of D or E in the formula in paragraph (a) is nil, nil.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5906(16) defines the expression "exempt deficit allocation", which sets out adjustments to a foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of consolidated exempt deficit where consolidated exempt deficit exceeds consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares. The subsection adopts, from subsection 5905(8) of the Regulations, the terms "particular relevant foreign affiliate", "balance adjustment time", and "disposed shares".

The exempt deficit allocation in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of disposed shares of the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that issued the disposed shares (the "issuing foreign affiliate") is, if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada and the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated exempt deficit (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, as a result of the disposition of the disposed shares, that exceeds the amount of its consolidated exempt surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, as a result of the disposition of the disposed shares,

- the amount determined by the formula:

$$1/E \times [(A-B) \times C/D]$$

where

A is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the disposition of the disposed shares, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, as a result of the disposition of the disposed shares,

D is the amount, if any, by which the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

E is, if the particular relevant foreign affiliate is the issuing foreign affiliate, 1, or, if the particular relevant foreign affiliate is not the issuing foreign affiliate, the surplus entitlement percentage of the issuing foreign affiliate, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that, under subsections 5905(10) to (13), would be determined, at the balance adjustment time, if the issuing foreign affiliate were the "corporation resident in Canada" referred to in those subsections and the particular relevant foreign affiliate were the "particular foreign affiliate" referred to in those subsections; and

- if the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for the description of either D or E in the formula above is nil, the amount determined by the formula is deemed to be nil.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(17) ["Exempt deficit reduction"] — The exempt deficit reduction, in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of disposed shares, is

(a) if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and the particular foreign affiliate, of the corporation resident in Canada, that issued the disposed shares (in this subsection referred to as the "issuing foreign affiliate") has, at the balance adjustment time, consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, that exceeds the amount of its consolidated exempt deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

(i) the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

D is

(A) subject to clause (B), the surplus entitlement percentage, of the issuing foreign affiliate, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that, under subsections 5905(10) to (13), would be determined, at the balance adjustment time, where the issuing foreign affiliate were the "corporation resident in Canada" referred to in those subsections and the particular relevant foreign affiliate were the "particular foreign affiliate" referred to in those subsections, and

(B) where the particular relevant foreign affiliate is the issuing foreign affiliate, 1, and

(ii) if the value determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for the description of any of A, B or D in the formula in subparagraph (i) is nil, nil; and

(b) the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, if

(ii) the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated exempt deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares that is equal to or greater than the amount of its consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(17) defines the expression "exempt deficit reduction", which determines the reduction of the exempt surplus of a particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the consolidated exempt deficit of the issuing foreign affiliate where the issuing foreign affiliate has consolidated exempt surplus in excess of consolidated exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada. The subsection adopts, from subsection 5905(8) of the Regulations, the terms "particular relevant foreign affiliate", "balance adjustment time", and "disposed shares".

The exempt deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of disposed shares is

- if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that issued the disposed shares (the "issuing foreign affiliate") has, at the balance adjustment time, consolidated exempt surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, that exceeds the amount of its consolidated exempt deficit (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,
  - the amount determined by the following formula

$$A/B \times C/D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as that amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt deficit (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

D is, if the particular relevant foreign affiliate is the issuing foreign affiliate, 1, or, in the case where the particular relevant foreign affiliate is not the issuing foreign affiliate, the surplus entitlement percentage of the issuing foreign affiliate, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that, under subsections 5905(10) to (13), would be determined, at the balance adjustment time, if the issuing foreign affiliate were the "corporation resident in Canada" referred to in those subsections and the particular relevant foreign affiliate were the "particular foreign affiliate" referred to in those subsections;

- where the amount determined, in respect of a particular relevant foreign affiliate, for the description of any of A, B or D in the formula is nil, the amount determined by the formula is deemed to be nil; and
- if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada and the issuing foreign affiliate has an amount of consolidated exempt deficit (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(b)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares that is equal to or greater than the amount of its consolidated exempt surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, the amount of that particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus.

(18) ["Exempt surplus reduction"] — The exempt surplus reduction in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of disposed shares is

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C \times D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)) of the particular foreign affiliate, of the corporation resident in Canada, that issued the disposed shares (referred to in this subsection as the "issuing foreign affiliate"), in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion of the disposition dividend that is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, received on the disposed shares by the person that disposed of those shares and that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the issuing foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and

D is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, of the person that disposed of the disposed shares;

(b) if the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for either of A or B, in the formula in paragraph (a) is nil, nil; and

(c) if an amount is determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, under paragraph (17)(b), nil.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(18) defines the expression "exempt surplus reduction", which determines the reduction of the exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposition dividend of the issuing foreign affiliate where the issuing foreign affiliate has consolidated exempt surplus in excess of consolidated exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada. The subsection adopts, from subsection 5905(8) of the Regulations, the terms "particular relevant foreign affiliate", "balance adjustment time", "disposed shares" and "disposition dividend".

The exempt surplus reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of a particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares is

- the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C \times D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the consolidated exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)) of the particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that issued the disposed shares (the "issuing foreign affiliate"),

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, as a result of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion of the disposition dividend that, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act as a result of the disposition of the disposed shares, was received on the disposed shares by the person disposing of them, that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the issuing foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and

D is the specified adjustment factor (a term also defined in subsection 5905(23)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, of the person that disposed of the disposed shares;

- if either A or B of the formula is determined to be nil in respect of the particular foreign affiliate, the amount determined by the formula is deemed to be nil; and
- if an amount is determined respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, under paragraph (b) of subsection 5905(17) (which subsection defines the expression "exempt deficit reduction"), the amount determined by the formula is deemed to be nil.

(19) ["Taxable deficit allocation"] — The taxable deficit allocation, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, in respect of disposed shares of the particular foreign affiliate, of the corporation resident in Canada, that issued the disposed shares (in this subsection referred to as the "issuing foreign affiliate") is, if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada and the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated taxable deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, that exceeds the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$1/E \times [(A - B) \times C/D]$$

where

A is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the disposition of the disposed shares, that may reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

D is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

(i) subject to subparagraph (ii), the surplus entitlement percentage, of the issuing foreign affiliate, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that would be determined under subsections 5905(10) to (13) at the balance adjustment time, where the issuing foreign affiliate were the "corporation resident in Canada" referred to in those subsections and the particular relevant foreign affiliate were the "particular foreign affiliate" referred to in those subsections; and

(ii) where the particular relevant foreign affiliate is the issuing foreign affiliate, 1, and

(b) where the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for the description of D or E in the formula in paragraph (a) is nil, nil.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(19) defines the expression "taxable deficit allocation", which determines adjustments to a foreign affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of consolidated taxable deficit, where consolidated taxable deficit exceeds consolidated taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares. The subsection adopts, from subsection 5905(8) of the Regulations, the terms "particular relevant foreign affiliate", "balance adjustment time", and "disposed shares".

The taxable deficit allocation of a particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of disposed shares of the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that issued the disposed shares (the "issuing foreign affiliate") is, if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada and the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated taxable deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, that is equal to or greater than the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

- the amount determined by the formula

$$1/E \times (A-B) \times C/D$$

where

A is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's exempt surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, immediately before the disposition of the disposed shares, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

D is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated exempt surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(a)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

E is, if the particular relevant foreign affiliate is the issuing foreign affiliate, equal to 1, and, if the particular relevant foreign affiliate is not the issuing foreign affiliate, equal to the surplus entitlement percentage of the issuing foreign affiliate, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that, under subsections 5905(10) to (13), would be determined, at the balance adjustment time, if the issuing foreign affiliate were the "corporation resident in Canada" referred to in those subsections and the particular relevant foreign affiliate were the "particular foreign affiliate" referred to in those subsections; and

- if the amount determined, in respect of a particular relevant foreign affiliate, for the description of any of D or E in the formula is nil, the amount determined by the formula is deemed to be nil.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(20) ["Taxable deficit reduction"] — The taxable deficit reduction, in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of disposed shares, is

(a) if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and the particular foreign affiliate, of the corporation resident in Canada, that issued the disposed shares (in this subsection referred to as the "issuing foreign affiliate") has, at the balance adjustment time, consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, that exceeds the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

(i) the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

D is

(A) subject to clause (B), the surplus entitlement percentage, of the issuing foreign affiliate, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that would be determined under subsections 5905(10) to (13) at the balance adjustment time where the issuing foreign affiliate were the "corporation resident in Canada" referred to in those subsections and the particular relevant foreign affiliate were the "particular foreign affiliate" referred to in those subsections, and

(B) where the particular relevant foreign affiliate is the issuing foreign affiliate, 1, and

(ii) where the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for the description of A, B or D in the formula in subparagraph (i) is nil, nil; and

(b) the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, if

(ii) the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated taxable deficit (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition that is equal to or greater than the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(20) defines the expression taxable deficit reduction, which determines adjustments to a foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, where consolidated taxable surplus exceeds consolidated taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares. The subsection adopts, from subsection 5905(8) of the Regulations, the terms "particular relevant foreign affiliate", "balance adjustment time", and "disposed shares".

The taxable deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of disposed shares, is

- if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and the particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that issued the disposed shares (the "issuing foreign affiliate") has, at the balance adjustment time, consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares that exceeds the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C/D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, as a result of the disposition of the disposed shares,

B is calculated as the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is calculated as the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable deficit (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

D is, where the particular relevant foreign affiliate is the issuing foreign affiliate, 1, and, where the particular relevant foreign affiliate is not the issuing foreign affiliate, the surplus entitlement percentage of the issuing foreign affiliate, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, that, under subsections 5905(10) to (13), would be determined, at the balance adjustment time, if the issuing foreign affiliate were the "corporation resident in Canada" referred to in those subsections and the particular relevant foreign affiliate were the "particular foreign affiliate" referred to in those subsections;

- if the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for the description of any of A, B or D in the formula is nil, the amount determined by the formula is deemed to be nil; and

- if the particular relevant foreign affiliate has, at the balance adjustment time, an amount of taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada and the issuing foreign affiliate has, at that time, an amount of consolidated taxable deficit (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, as a result of the disposition that is equal to or greater than the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(d)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, the amount of that taxable surplus.

(21) ["Taxable surplus reduction"] — The taxable surplus reduction, in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate, in respect of disposed shares, is

(a) the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C \times D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, of the particular foreign affiliate, of the corporation resident in Canada, that issued the disposed shares (in this subsection referred to as the "issuing foreign affiliate"),

B is the amount of the issuing foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion, of the disposition dividend that is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, received on the disposed shares by the person that disposed of those shares and that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the issuing foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and

D is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, of the person that disposed of the disposed shares;

(b) if the amount determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, for the description of A or B in the formula in paragraph (a) is nil, nil; and

(c) if an amount is determined, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, under paragraph (20)(b), nil.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(21) defines the expression "taxable surplus reduction", which determines the reduction of the taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the disposition dividend of the issuing foreign affiliate where the issuing foreign affiliate has consolidated taxable surplus in excess of consolidated taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada. The subsection adopts, from subsection 5905(8) of the Regulations, the terms "particular relevant foreign affiliate", "balance adjustment time", "disposed shares" and "disposition dividend".

The taxable surplus reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of disposed shares, is

- the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B \times C \times D$$

where

A is the portion of the amount of the particular relevant foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, that can reasonably be considered to have been included in computing the amount of the consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, of the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that issued the disposed shares (the "issuing foreign affiliate"),

B the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's consolidated taxable surplus (as this amount is determined under paragraph 5902(1)(c)), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada resident, as a result of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the portion of the disposition dividend that is, because of an election made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, received on the disposed shares by the person disposing of those shares, that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the issuing foreign affiliate's taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, and

D is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, of the person disposing of the disposed shares;

- if the amount determined for either A or B of the formula is nil, the amount of determined by the formula is nil; and
- if an amount is determined in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate under paragraph (b) of subsection 5905(20) (which subsection defines the expression "taxable deficit reduction"), the amount determined by the formula is deemed to be nil.

(22) ["Underlying foreign tax reduction"] — The underlying foreign tax reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, is the amount determined by the following formula

$$A \times (B + C)/D$$

where

A is the underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at the balance adjustment time, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate,

B is the taxable deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the exempt deficit allocation, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

D is the taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(22) defines the expression "underlying foreign tax reduction", which determines the reduction of underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate that is attributable to total deductions from the taxable surplus of the particular relevant foreign affiliate as a result of a taxable deficit reduction and an exempt deficit allocation. The subsection adopts, from subsection 5905(8) of the Regulations, the terms "particular relevant foreign affiliate", "balance adjustment time", "disposed shares" and "disposition dividend".

Underlying foreign tax reduction in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, is the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times (B + C)/D$$

where

A is the underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time,

B is the taxable deficit reduction, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares,

C is the exempt deficit allocation, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, and

D is the taxable surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, at the balance adjustment time.

(23) The specified adjustment factor, in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, in respect of a particular relevant foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, of the person that disposed of disposed shares, in respect of the disposition of the disposed shares, is the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B$$

where

A is

(a) where the corporation resident in Canada disposed of the disposed shares, 100 per cent, and

(b) where another foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada disposed of the disposed shares, the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of that other foreign affiliate, immediately before the disposition of the disposed shares, and

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before the disposition of the disposed shares.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5905(23) defines the expression "specified adjustment factor", which is used in subsection 5905(8) of the Regulations and the definitions "exempt surplus reduction" and "taxable surplus reduction" in subsections 5905(18) and (21), respectively. The subsection adopts, from subsection 5905(8) of the Regulations, the terms "particular relevant foreign affiliate" and "disposed shares".

Specified adjustment factor in respect of a corporation resident in Canada of a particular relevant foreign affiliate of that corporation resident in Canada in respect of disposed shares is the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B$$

where

A is, where the corporation resident in Canada disposed of the disposed shares, 100 per cent, and, where another foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada disposed of the disposed shares, the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of that other foreign affiliate, immediately before the disposition of the disposed shares, and

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the particular relevant foreign affiliate, immediately before the disposition of the disposed shares.

5906. Carrying on business in a country — (1) For the purposes of this Part, where a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada carries on an active business, it shall be deemed to carry on that business

(a) in a country other than Canada only to the extent that such business is carried on through a permanent establishment situated therein; and

(b) in Canada only to the extent that its income therefrom is subject to tax under Part I of the Act.

(2) Where the Government of Canada has concluded an agreement or convention with the government of another country for the avoidance of double taxation that has the force of law in Canada and in which the expression "permanent establishment" is given a particular meaning, for the purposes of subsection (1), that expression has that meaning with respect to a business carried on in that country and, in any other case, has the meaning assigned by subsection 400(2).

Definitions [Reg. 5906]: "active business" — ITA 95(1), Reg. 5907(1); "business" — ITA 248(1); "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "corporation" — ITA 248(1), Interpretation Act 35(1); "foreign affiliate" — ITA 95(1), 248(1), Reg. 5907(3); "permanent establishment" — Reg. 5906(2); "resident in Canada" — ITA 250.

5907. Interpretation — (1) [Definitions] — For the purposes of this Part,

"active business" has the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1) of the Act;

"controlled foreign affiliate" has the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1) of the Act;

"earnings" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year of the affiliate from an active business means

(a) in the case of an active business carried on by it in a country,

(i) the income or profit from the active business for the year computed in accordance with the income tax law of the country in which the affiliate is resident, in any case where the affiliate is required by that law to compute that income or profit,

(ii) the income or profit from the active business for the year computed in accordance with the income tax law of the country in which the business is carried on, in any case not described in subparagraph (i) where the affiliate is required by that law to compute that income or profit, and

(iii) in any other case, the amount that would be the income from the active business for the year under Part I of the Act if the business were carried on in Canada, the affiliate were resident in Canada and the Act were read without reference to subsections 80(3) to (12), (15) and (17) and 80.01(5) to (11) and sections 80.02 to 80.04, adjusted in each case in accordance with subsections (2), (2.1), (2.2) and (2.9) and, for the purposes of this Part, to the extent that the earnings of an affiliate from an active business carried on by it cannot be attributed to a permanent establishment in any particular country, they shall be attributed to the permanent establishment in the country in which the affiliate is resident and, if the affiliate is resident in more than one country, to the permanent establishment in the country that may reasonably be regarded as the affiliate's principal place of residence, and

(b) in any other case, the total of the amounts by which the income for the year from an active business of an affiliate is increased because of paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act;

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"earnings"(b)

(b) in any other case, the total of all the amounts required by paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act to be included in computing the affiliate's income for the year from an active business;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(2), will amend para. (b) of the definition "earnings" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002.

S. 9 of the draft regulations provides that if a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer referred to in the above amendment makes a valid "Global Section 95 Election" under subsec. 133(68) of the February 27, 2004 draft legislation (see Application and Technical Notes to Proposed Amendment to ITA 95(2)(a)), then the amendment is applicable to taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that begin after 1994.

Technical Notes: The definition "earnings" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the affiliate. Paragraph (b) of the definition "earnings" in subsection 5907(1) ensures that "earnings" will reflect the total of all amounts by which the affiliate's income for the year from an active business is increased because of paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act.

Consequential to the amendments made to paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act to provide for amounts by which such income of the affiliate could be decreased, paragraph (b) of the definition "earnings" in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is proposed to be amended to ensure that "earnings" will reflect the total of all amounts required by paragraph 95(2)(a) to be included (either as a plus or as a minus) in computing the affiliate's income for the year from an active business. For more detail, refer to the commentary to paragraph 95(2)(a).

The amendment to paragraph (b) of the definition "earnings" in subsection 5907(1) applies to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that this amendment is included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

"exempt deficit" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation in respect of the corporation at any time means the amount, if any, by which

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined at that time under any of subparagraphs (i) to (vii) of the description of A in that definition;

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"exempt deficit"(b)

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined at that time under any of subparagraphs (i) to (viii) of the description of A in that definition;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(5), will amend para. (b) of the definition "exempt deficit" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: The definition "exempt deficit" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses of the foreign affiliate.

The amendment to the definition "exempt deficit" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) inserts a reference to new subparagraph (viii) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations.

The proposed amendment to the definition "exempt deficit" in subsection 5907(1) applies to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that this amendment is included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(2)(a)(iv), (2)(b) — Inclusion in exempt deficit on acquisition or cancellation of share; Reg. 5905(4)(a)(iv) — Inclusion in exempt deficit on disposition of share; Reg. 5905(5.1) — Exempt deficit after amalgamation of corporation holding foreign affiliate; Reg. 5905(5.2) — Exempt deficit after windup of corporation holding foreign affiliate; Reg. 5905(6)(a)(iv) — Computation of exempt deficit.

"exempt earnings" of a particular foreign affiliate of a particular corporation for a taxation year of the particular affiliate is the total of all amounts each of which is

(a) the amount by which the capital gains of the particular affiliate for the year exceed the total of

(i) the amount of the taxable capital gains for the year referred to in the description of B in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act,

(ii) the amount of the taxable capital gains for the year referred to in subparagraphs (c)(i) and (d)(iii) of the definition "net earnings" in this subsection, and

(iii) the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country for the year by the particular affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the amount by which the capital gains of the particular affiliate for the year exceed the total of the amounts referred to in subparagraphs (i) and (ii), and for the purpose of this paragraph, where the particular affiliate has disposed of capital property that was shares of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation to any corporation that was, immediately after the disposition, a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation, the capital gains of the particular affiliate for the year shall not include the portion of those gains that is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to the excess of the fair market value at the end of the particular affiliate's 1975 taxation year of one of those shares disposed of over the adjusted cost base of that share,

Proposed Addition — 5907(1)"exempt earnings"(a.1)

(a.1) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the amount that would be included by paragraph (c), (c.1) or (c.2) of the definition "capital dividend account" in subsection 89(1) of the Act in determining the capital dividend account of the affiliate at the end of the taxation year if

(i) the affiliate were the corporation referred to in that definition, and

(ii) the references in paragraphs (c.1) and (c.2) of that definition, and in paragraph (c) of that definition as that paragraph read in its application to taxation years that ended before February 28, 2000, to the expression "a business" were read as references to the expression "a business that is not an active business within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1)", and

(iii) section 14 of the Act were modified, in its application to the affiliate, in accordance with paragraphs 95(2)(f.91) and (f.92) of the Act, and

B is the amount determined for A at the end of the affiliate's taxation year that immediately precedes the taxation year,

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(6), will add para. (a.1) to the definition "exempt earnings" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: First, new paragraph (a.1) is added to the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) to include the untaxed portion of the gain from the sale of excluded property that is eligible capital property.

For more detail, see the commentary to subsection 95(2) of the Act.

The amendments to paragraph (a.1), and subparagraph (d)(ii), of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that these amendments are included in the Global Section 95 Election package described in the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act and that, in the event of a Global Section 95 Election, the Qualifying Member Amendments apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that end after 1999.

(b) where the year is the 1975 or any preceding taxation year of the particular affiliate, the total of all amounts each of which is the particular affiliate's net earnings for the year,

(c) where the year is the 1975 or any preceding taxation year of the particular affiliate, the earnings as determined in paragraph (b) of the definition "earnings" in this subsection to the extent that those earnings have not been included because of paragraph (b) or deducted in determining an amount included in subparagraph (b)(i) of the definition "exempt loss" in this subsection,

(d) where the year is the 1976 or any subsequent taxation year of the particular affiliate and the particular affiliate is resident in a designated treaty country, each amount that is

(i) the particular affiliate's net earnings for the year from an active business carried on by it in Canada or a designated treaty country, or

(ii) the earnings of the particular affiliate for the year from an active business to the extent that they derive from

(A) amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) of the Act that are derived by the particular affiliate from activities that could reasonably be considered to be directly related to business activities carried on by a non-resident corporation, to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, in the course of an active business carried on by the non-resident corporation the income from which would, if the non-resident corporation were a foreign affiliate of a corporation, be included in computing the non-resident corporation's exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(B) where the particular corporation is a life insurance corporation resident in Canada throughout the year and the particular affiliate is a foreign affiliate in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) of the Act that are derived by the particular affiliate from activities that could reasonably be considered to be directly related to business activities carried on by the particular corporation in the course of an active business carried on by the particular corporation in a country other than Canada, the income from which would, if the particular corporation were a foreign affiliate of another corporation and were resident in the country other than Canada in which that active business of the particular corporation is carried on, be included in computing the particular corporation's exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(C) amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or a partnership of which it is a member by a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that, if the non-resident corporation were a foreign affiliate of a corporation, the amounts paid or payable by the non-resident corporation would be deductible in the year or a subsequent taxation year in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(D) where a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year is a member of a particular partnership (other than where the non-resident corporation is a specified member of the particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership ending in the year), amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the non-resident corporation is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in the year or a subsequent taxation year in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(E) amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or a partnership of which it is a member by another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, to the extent that the amounts paid or payable by the other foreign affiliate are deductible in the year or a subsequent taxation year in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(F) where another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year is a member of a particular partnership (other than where the other foreign affiliate is a specified member of the particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership ending in the year), amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership, to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the other foreign affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in the year or a subsequent taxation year in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(G) where the particular affiliate is a member of a particular partnership (other than where the particular affiliate is a specified member of the particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership ending in the year), amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(C) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership, to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the particular affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in the year or a subsequent taxation year in computing its exempt loss,

(H) amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or a partnership of which it is a member by another foreign affiliate (in this clause referred to as the "second affiliate") of the particular corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that the amounts paid or payable

(I) are on account of interest on borrowed money used for the purpose of earning income from property or interest on an amount payable for property, where

1. the property is shares of a foreign affiliate (in this clause referred to as the "third affiliate") of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year and that are excluded property, and

2. the second affiliate, the third affiliate and each other affiliate relevant for the purpose of determining whether the shares of the third affiliate are excluded property are resident and subject to income taxation in a designated treaty country, and

(II) are relevant in computing the liability for income taxes, in the designated treaty country in which the second and third affiliates are resident, of the members of a group of corporations composed of the second affiliate and one or more other foreign affiliates (the shares of which are excluded property) of the particular corporation that are resident in that country and in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, and, for the purposes of this clause, "excluded property" has the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1) of the Act, except that for that purpose,

(III) the definition "excluded property" in subsection 95(1) of the Act shall be read without reference to amounts receivable referred to in paragraph (c) of that definition where the interest on the amounts is not, or would not if interest were payable on the amounts, be deductible in computing the debtor's exempt earnings or exempt loss, and

(IV) the shares of a foreign affiliate (in this subclause referred to as the "non-qualifying affiliate") that is not resident and subject to income taxation in a designated treaty country are not considered relevant for the purpose of determining whether shares of the third affiliate are excluded property unless the shares of the third affiliate would not have been excluded property if the shares of all such non-qualifying affiliates were not excluded property,

(I) where the particular corporation is a life insurance corporation resident in Canada and the particular affiliate is a foreign affiliate in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(E) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or a partnership of which it is a member by the particular corporation in the course of the particular corporation carrying on its life insurance business outside Canada, to the extent that, if the particular corporation were a foreign affiliate of another corporation and were resident in the country in which the particular corporation carried on its life insurance business outside Canada, the amounts paid or payable by the particular corporation would be deductible in the year or in a subsequent taxation year in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(J) amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(iii) of the Act that are derived from the factoring of trade accounts receivable acquired by the particular affiliate, or by a partnership of which the particular affiliate was a member,

from a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that the trade accounts receivable arose in the course of an active business carried on by the non-resident corporation any income from which would be included in the exempt earnings of the non-resident corporation if it were a foreign affiliate of a corporation, or

(K) amounts by which the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year is increased because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(iv) of the Act that are derived from loans or lending assets acquired by the particular affiliate, or a partnership of which the particular affiliate was a member from a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that the loans or lending assets arose in the course of an active business carried on by the non-resident corporation any income from which would be included in the exempt earnings of the non-resident corporation if it were a foreign affiliate of a corporation, or

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"exempt earnings"(d)(ii)

(ii) the earnings of the particular affiliate for the year from an active business to the extent that they derive from

(A) amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) of the Act that are derived by the particular affiliate from activities that can reasonably be considered to be directly related to business activities carried on by a non-resident corporation, to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, in the course of an active business carried on by the non-resident corporation the income or loss from which would, if the non-resident corporation were a foreign affiliate of a corporation, be included in computing the non-resident corporation's exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(B) if the particular corporation is a life insurance corporation resident in Canada throughout the year and the particular affiliate is a foreign affiliate in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) of the Act that are derived by the particular affiliate from activities that can reasonably be considered to be directly related to business activities carried on by the particular corporation in the course of an active business carried on by the particular corporation in a country other than Canada, the income or loss from which would, if the particular corporation were a foreign affiliate of another corporation and were resident in the country other than Canada in which that active business of the particular corporation is carried on, be included in computing the particular corporation's exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(C) amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to a partnership of which it is a member by a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that, if the non-resident corporation were a foreign affiliate of a corporation, the amounts paid or payable by the non-resident corporation would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(D) if a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year is a qualifying member of a particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year, amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the non-resident corporation is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(E) amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to a partnership of which it is a member by another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, to the extent that the amounts paid or payable by the other foreign affiliate are deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(F) if another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year is a qualifying member of a particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year, amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular

partnership, to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the other foreign affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(G) if the particular affiliate is a qualifying member of a particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year, amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(C) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership, to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the particular affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or a subsequent taxation year,

(H) amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to a partnership of which it is a member by another foreign affiliate (in this clause referred to as the "second affiliate") of the particular corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that the amounts paid or payable are on account of interest on borrowed money used for the purpose of earning income from property or interest on an amount payable for property, in respect of a particular period in the year, if

(I) the property is, throughout the particular period, excluded property of the second affiliate that is shares of a corporation (in this clause referred to as the "third affiliate") which is, throughout the particular period, a foreign affiliate (other than the particular foreign affiliate) of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest or to which the particular corporation is related, and

(II) the second affiliate and the third affiliate are resident in the same designated treaty country for each of their taxation years (each of which is referred to in this subclause as a "relevant taxation year") that end in the year and, in respect of each of the second affiliate and the third affiliate for each relevant taxation year, either

1. the affiliate is subject to income taxation in that country in the relevant taxation year, or

2. the members or shareholders of the affiliate at the end of the relevant taxation year are subject to income taxation in that country on, in aggregate, all or substantially all of the income of the affiliate for the relevant taxation year in their taxation years in which the relevant taxation year ends or would be so subject to income taxation in that country if the affiliate had income for the relevant taxation year and the income of those members or shareholders for their taxation years in which the relevant taxation year ends consisted only of their share of the income of the affiliate for the relevant taxation year,

where, for the purpose of this clause,

(III) "excluded property" has the meaning that would be assigned by subsection 95(1) of the Act if paragraph (c) of the definition "excluded property" in that subsection were read as follows:

"(c) property all or substantially all of the income from which is, or would be, if there was income from the property,

(i) income from an active business by reason of paragraph (2)(a) if that paragraph were read without reference to its subparagraph (v), and

(ii) income derived from amounts payable by payers who are entitled to deduct the amounts in computing their exempt earnings or exempt loss (as those expressions are defined in Regulations made for the purpose of section 113)," and

(IV) the particular corporation has a qualifying interest in respect of another corporation if the particular corporation has, because of paragraph 95(2)(m) or (m.1) of the Act, a qualifying interest in respect of that other corporation for the purpose of subdivision i of Division B of Part I of the Act,

(I) if the particular corporation is a life insurance corporation resident in Canada (in this clause referred to as the "insurer"), a corporation controlled by the insurer or a corporation that controls the insurer and the particular affiliate is a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, amounts required to be included in computing the particular affiliate's income from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(E) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to a partnership of which it is a member by the insurer in the course of carrying on its life insurance business outside Canada, to the extent that, if the insurer were a foreign affiliate of another corporation resident in Canada and were resident in the country in which the insurer carried on its life insurance business outside Canada, the amounts paid or payable by the insurer would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(J) amounts required to be included in computing the particular affiliate's income from an active business for the year because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(iii) of the Act that are derived from the factoring of trade accounts receivable acquired by the particular affiliate, or by a partnership of which the particular affiliate was a member, from a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that the trade accounts receivable arose in the course of an active business carried on by the non-resident corporation any income from which would be included in computing the exempt earnings of the non-resident corporation if it were a foreign affiliate of a corporation,

(K) amounts required to be included in computing the particular affiliate's income from an active business for the year because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(iv) of the Act that are derived from loans or lending assets acquired by the particular affiliate, or by a partnership of which the particular affiliate was a member, from a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that the loans or lending assets arose in the course of an active business carried on by the non-resident corporation any income from which would be included in the exempt earnings of the non-resident corporation if it were a foreign affiliate of a corporation,

(L) amounts that would be required, because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(v) of the Act, to be included in computing the particular affiliate's income for the year from an active business if that subparagraph were read as follows:

"(v) the income or loss is derived from the disposition of excluded property that is not capital property if

(A) that property is used or held by the particular foreign affiliate for the purpose of gaining or producing income from property that would, because of this paragraph, be included in computing the particular foreign affiliate's income from an active business if this paragraph were read without reference to this subparagraph, and

(B) that income or loss is derived, directly or indirectly, from amounts paid or payable to the particular foreign affiliate by another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, or by a non-resident corporation related to the particular foreign affiliate and to the taxpayer, that are in respect of an active business carried on in a designated treaty country (as defined for the purpose of Part LIX of the Regulations), or",

(M) amounts that would be required, because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(vi) of the Act, to be included in computing the particular affiliate's income for the year from an active business if that subparagraph were read as follows:

"(vi) the income or loss is derived by the particular foreign affiliate under or as a result of an agreement that provides for the purchase, sale or exchange of currency and that can reasonably be considered to have been made by the particular foreign affiliate to reduce its risk, of fluctuations in the value of the denominated currency, with respect to

(A) income or loss, from property, that

(I) would, because of this paragraph, be included in computing the particular foreign affiliate's income or loss from an active business if this paragraph were read without reference to this subparagraph, and

(II) is derived, directly or indirectly, from amounts paid or payable to the particular foreign affiliate by another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, or by a non-resident corporation related to the particular foreign affiliate and to the taxpayer, that is in respect of an active business carried on in a designated treaty country (as defined for the purpose of Part LIX of the Regulations), or

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(7), will amend subpara. (d)(ii) of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate that begin after December 20, 2002, except that cl. (d)(ii)(H) applies to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxapayer, to which ITA 95(2)(a)(ii)(D)(III) to (V), as proposed by the amending legislation, apply.

S. 9 of the draft regulations provides that if a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer referred to in the above amendment makes a valid "Global Section 95 Election" under subsec. 133(68) of the February 27, 2004 draft legislation (see Application and Technical Notes to Proposed Amendment to ITA 95(2)(a)), then the amendment is applicable to taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that begin after 1994, except that

(a) cl. (d)(ii)(D) is, for the taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that end before 2000, to be read as follows:

"(D) if a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year is a member of a particular partnership (other than where the non-resident corporation would be a specified member of the particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year if the definition "specified member" of a partnership in subsection 248(1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraph (a) of that definition), amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the non-resident corporation is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,";

(b) cls. (d)(ii)(F) and (G) are, for the taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that end before 2000, to be read as follows:

"(F) if another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year is a member of a particular partnership (other than where the other foreign affiliate would be a specified member of the particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year if the definition "specified member" of a partnership in subsection 248(1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraph (a) of that definition), amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership, to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the other foreign affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(G) if the particular affiliate is a member of a particular partnership (other than where the particular affiliate would be a specified member of the particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year if the definition "specified member" in subsection 248(1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraph (a) of that definition), amounts required to be included in computing the income of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(C) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership, to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the particular affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,";

(c) where the taxpayer has not made a valid election under subsec. 133(37) of the February 27, 2004 draft amendments, subcl. (d)(ii)(H)(I) is to be read as follows:

"(I) the property is shares of a foreign affiliate (in this clause referred to as the "third affiliate") of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest and those shares are excluded property, and"

Technical Notes: The definition "exempt earnings", of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation for a taxation year, in subsection 5907(1) is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the affiliate.

The definition contains a number of provisions. Subparagraphs (d)(i) and (ii) of the definition "exempt earnings" are relevant to the understanding of the commentary below. Those particular provisions provide as follows:

- Subparagraphs (d)(i) and (ii) of the definition "exempt earnings" provide that, where a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation is resident in a designated treaty country, the affiliate's earnings for the year from an active business carried on by it in a designated treaty country and the amounts included in its income from an active business for the year under paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act, respectively, are included in computing its "exempt earnings" for the year.

- Clause (d)(ii)(D) of the definition "exempt earnings" includes, in the exempt earnings of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation, income derived from amounts paid or payable to the affiliate by a partnership of which a non-resident corporation to which the affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year was a member (other than a "specified member" at any time in a fiscal period of a partnership that ends in the year) if that income is deemed by clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act to be income from an active business of the affiliate. This will be the case to the extent that the amounts paid or payable would be deductible in computing the exempt earnings or the exempt loss of the partnership if it were a foreign affiliate of a corporation.

- Clause (d)(ii)(F) of the definition "exempt earnings" includes, in the exempt earnings of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation, income derived from amounts paid or payable to the affiliate by a partnership of which another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year was a member (other than a "specified member" at any time in a fiscal period of a partnership that ends in the year) if that income is deemed by clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act to be income from an active business of the affiliate. This will be the case to the extent that the amounts paid or payable would be deductible in computing the exempt earnings or the exempt loss of the partnership if it were a foreign affiliate of a corporation.

- Clause (d)(ii)(G) of the definition "exempt earnings" includes, in the exempt earnings of a foreign affiliate of a corporation, income derived from amounts paid or payable to the affiliate by a partnership of which the affiliate was a member (other than a specified member at any time in a fiscal period of a partnership that ends in the year) if that income is deemed by clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(C) of the Act to be income from an active business of the affiliate. This will be the case to the extent that the amounts paid or payable would be deductible in computing the exempt earnings or the exempt loss of the partnership if it were a foreign affiliate of a corporation.

- Clause (d)(ii)(H) of the definition "exempt earnings" includes, in the exempt earnings of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation, income derived from amounts paid or payable to it (or to a partnership of which it is a member) by another foreign affiliate (the "second affiliate") of the particular corporation related to it and to the particular corporation throughout the year if that income is deemed by clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act to be the income from an active business of the affiliate. The income must be derived from amounts paid or payable in respect of interest on borrowed money used to earn income from property or on an amount payable for property. That property must consist of shares of another foreign affiliate (the "third affiliate") of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year that are excluded property of the second affiliate. The second affiliate, the third affiliate and "each other affiliate relevant for the purpose of determining whether the shares of the third affiliate are excluded property" must all be resident in, and subject to income taxation in, the same designated treaty country. (The expression "designated treaty country" is defined in subsection 5907(11).) As well, the amounts paid or payable must be relevant in determining the liability for income taxes in the designated treaty country of a group of corporations composed of the second affiliate and one or more other foreign affiliates (the shares of which are excluded property), of the particular corporation, resident in that country and in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year. For the purposes of making these determinations, two assumptions are made. First, the definition "excluded property" in subsection 95(1) of the Act is to be read without reference to amounts receivable referred to in paragraph (c) of that definition where, if interest were payable on the amounts, the interest would not be deductible by the debtor in calculating its exempt earnings or loss. Second, shares of a foreign affiliate (a "non-qualifying affiliate") that is non-resident and subject to income taxation in a designated treaty country are to be ignored in determining whether the shares of the third affiliate are excluded property, unless the shares of the third affiliate would not be excluded property if all shares of all non-qualifying affiliates were not excluded property. For convenience of reference, this second assumption is referred to in the remainder of this commentary to the definition "exempt earnings" as the "Shares Assumption".

As noted in the commentary to new clauses 95(2)(a)(ii)(A), (B) and (C) of the Act, those clauses are amended so that the condition requiring the partnership to have a relevant person as a member of the partnership (otherwise than as a specified member of the partnership) is replaced by a requirement that the relevant person to be a "qualifying member" of the partnership throughout each period, in the fiscal period of the partnership, that ends in the year. The expression "qualifying member" is newly defined in subsection 248(1) of the Act as being a person that would at the relevant time be determined to be a qualifying member of the partnership under paragraph 95(2)(o) of the Act. For more detail, see the commentary to paragraph 95(2)(o) and subsection 248(1) of the Act.

The amendments to clauses 95(2)(a)(ii)(A), (B) and (C) of the Act, in conjunction with the new definition "qualifying member", ensure that, in applying those clauses, limited partners and limited partnerships are treated in the same manner as general partners and general partnerships. These amendments also ensure that, even if the activities of the relevant person do not meet the business activity requirements in new subparagraph 95(2)(o)(i), a partnership may qualify under clauses 95(2)(a)(ii)(A), (B) or (C) if the relevant person has an equity interest in the partnership that meets the criteria set out in new subparagraph 95(2)(o)(ii). For more detail, see the commentary to new paragraph 95(2)(o) of the Act.

The definition "exempt earnings" is to be amended in the following ways.

First, new paragraph (a.1) is added to the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) to include the untaxed portion of the gain from the sale of excluded property that is eligible capital property. [See 5907(1)"exempt earnings"(a.1) above.]

Second, subparagraph (d)(ii) of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) is amended in the following ways:

- Consequential to the amendments made to paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act, subparagraph (d)(ii) of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) is amended to provide that, in computing the affiliate's "exempt earnings" for the year, there will be included the earnings derived from "amounts required to be included in computing" income from an active business under amended paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act.

- Clauses (d)(ii)(D), (F) and (G) of the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) are proposed to be amended consistent with similar amendments made to clauses 95(2)(a)(ii)(A), (B) and (C) of the Act. Accordingly, amendments (referred to in this commentary as the "Qualifying Member Amendments") are made to clauses (d)(ii)(D), (F) and (G) of the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations so that the condition requiring the partnership to have a relevant person as a member of the partnership (otherwise than as a specified member of the partnership) is replaced by a requirement that the relevant person be a "qualifying member" of the partnership throughout each period, in the fiscal period of the partnership, that ends in the year. The expression "qualifying member" is newly defined in subsection 248(1) of the Act as being a person that would at the relevant time be determined to be a qualifying member of the partnership under paragraph 95(2)(o) of the Act. For more detail, see the commentary to paragraphs 95(2)(o) and (q) and subsection 248(1) of the Act.

- Consistent with the amendments to clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act, clause (d)(ii)(H) of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is proposed to be amended to modify the requirement that the second affiliate, the third affiliate and "each other affiliate relevant for the purpose of determining whether the shares of the third affiliate are excluded property" must each be resident in, and subject to income taxation in, the same designated treaty country (sub-subclause (d)(ii)(H)(I)2. of the definition). That requirement is replaced with a requirement that
  - the second affiliate and the third affiliate must be resident in the same designated treaty country for each of their taxation years (each of which taxation years is referred to as a "relevant taxation year" of the second affiliate or of the third affiliate, as the case may be) that end in the year, and
  - in respect of each of the second affiliate and the third affiliate for each relevant taxation year of that affiliate, either that affiliate must be subject to income taxation in that country in that relevant taxation year, or, alternatively, the members or shareholders of that affiliate at the end of that relevant taxation year must be subject to income taxation in that country on, in aggregate, all or substantially all of the income of that affiliate for that relevant taxation year in their taxation years in which that relevant taxation year ends, or would be so subject to income taxation in that country if that affiliate had income for that relevant taxation year and the income of those members or shareholders for their taxation years in which that relevant taxation year ends consisted only of their share of income of that affiliate for that relevant taxation year.

- Further, clause (d)(ii)(H) of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) is proposed to be amended to delete the Shares Assumption. The Shares Assumption is no longer relevant as that clause no longer contains a reference to "each other affiliate relevant for the purpose of determining whether the shares of the third affiliate are excluded property".

- Consequential to the introduction of new subparagraph 95(2)(a)(v) of the Act, new clause (d)(ii)(L) of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) is proposed to be added. New clause (d)(ii)(L) ensures that income of a foreign affiliate, of a corporation, for a year that, because of new subparagraph 95(2)(a)(v) of the Act, is included in computing the affiliate's active business income for the year, is included in computing the "exempt earnings" of the affiliate. In making the determination of this income, new subparagraph 95(2)(a)(v) is to be read as if it applies to the income or loss derived from the disposition of excluded property that is not capital property if
  - that property is used or held by the particular foreign affiliate for the purpose of gaining or producing income from property that would, because of this paragraph, be included in computing the particular foreign affiliate's income from an active business if this paragraph were read without reference to this subparagraph, and
  - that income or loss is derived, directly or indirectly, from amounts paid or payable to the particular foreign affiliate by another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, or by a non-resident corporation related to the particular foreign affiliate and the taxpayer, that is in respect of an active business carried on in a designated treaty country (as defined for the purpose of Part LIX of the Regulations).

- Consequential to the introduction of new subparagraph 95(2)(a)(vi) of the Act, new clause (d)(ii)(M) of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) is proposed to be added. New clause (d)(ii)(M) ensures that income of a foreign affiliate, of a corporation, for a year that, because of new subparagraph 95(2)(a)(vi) of the Act, is included in computing the affiliate's active business income for the year, is included in computing the "exempt earnings" of the affiliate. This is determined by reading new subparagraph 95(2)(a)(vi) as the income or loss derived from the disposition of excluded property that is not capital property if derived by the particular foreign affiliate under or as a result of an agreement that provides for the purchase, sale or exchange of currency and that can reasonably be considered to have been made by the particular foreign affiliate to reduce its risk, of fluctuations in the value of the denominated currency, with respect to — income or loss from property that is

- because of this paragraph included in computing the particular foreign affiliate's income or loss from an active business if this paragraph were read without reference to this subparagraph, and
- derived, directly or indirectly, from amounts paid or payable to the particular foreign affiliate by another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, or by a non-resident corporation related to the particular foreign affiliate and the taxpayer, that is in respect of an active business carried on in a designated treaty country (as defined for the purpose of Part LIX of the Regulations), or

— excluded property the income or loss from which, if there were income or a loss, described in subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i).

For more detail, see the commentary to subsection 95(2) of the Act.

The amendments to paragraph (a.1), and subparagraph (d)(ii), of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1) apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that these amendments are included in the Global Section 95 Election package described in the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act and that, in the event of a Global Section 95 Election, the Qualifying Member Amendments apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that end after 1999.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5907(1)"exempt loss" opening words

"exempt loss", of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation for a taxation year of the affiliate, is the total of all amounts each of which is

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(8), will amend the opening words of the definition "exempt loss" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: The definition "exempt loss" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the affiliate.

The definition "exempt loss" in subsection 5907(1) is proposed to be amended in the following ways.

First, consequential to the proposed amendments to paragraph (c) of that definition, the "preamble" of that definition is proposed to be amended to refer to the foreign affiliate as the "particular" foreign affiliate.

The amendments to the definition "exempt loss" in subsection 5907(1) apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that these amendments are included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act, and that, in the event of a Global Section 95 Election, in its application to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that end before 2000, the Member Criteria Condition will, instead of containing the Qualifying Member Requirement, contain the requirement that the partnership have a relevant person as a member of the partnership (otherwise than as a specified member of the partnership).

The expression "specified member" is defined in existing subsection 248(1) of the Act. For more detail, see the commentary to the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1).

(a) the amount by which the capital losses of the affiliate for the year exceed the total of

(i) the amount of the allowable capital losses for the year referred to in the description of E in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act,

(ii) the amount of the allowable capital losses for the year referred to in subparagraphs (c)(i) and (d)(iii) of the definition "net loss" in this subsection, and

(iii) the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year to the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of the amount by which the capital losses of the affiliate for the year exceed the total of the amounts referred to in subparagraphs (i) and (ii),

(b) where the year is the 1975 or any preceding taxation year of the affiliate, the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) the affiliate's net loss for the year from an active business carried on by it in a country, or

(ii) the amount, if any, for the year by which

(A) the amount determined under the description of D in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act for the year

exceeds

(B) the amount determined under the description of A in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act for the year,

(c) where the year is the 1976 or any subsequent taxation year of the affiliate and the affiliate is resident in a designated treaty country, each amount that is the affiliate's net loss for the year from an active business carried on by it in Canada or in a designated treaty country, or

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"exempt loss"(c)

(c) where the year is the 1976 or any subsequent taxation year of the affiliate (referred to in this paragraph as the "particular affiliate") and the particular affiliate is resident in a designated treaty country, each amount that is

(i) the particular affiliate's net loss for the year from an active business carried on by it in Canada or in a designated treaty country, or

(ii) the losses of the particular affiliate for the year from an active business to the extent that they derive from

(A) amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) of the Act that are derived by the particular affiliate from activities that can reasonably be considered to be directly related to business activities carried on by a non-resident corporation, to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, in the course of an active business carried on by the non-resident corporation the income or loss from which would, if the non-resident corporation were a foreign affiliate of a corporation, be included in computing the non-resident corporation's exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(B) if the particular corporation is a life insurance corporation resident in Canada throughout the year and the particular affiliate is a foreign affiliate in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) of the Act that are derived by the particular affiliate from activities that can reasonably be considered to be directly related to business activities carried on by the particular corporation in the course of an active business carried on by the particular corporation in a country other than Canada, the income or loss from which would, if the particular corporation were a foreign affiliate of another corporation and were resident in the country other than Canada in which that active business of the particular corporation is carried on, be included in computing the particular corporation's exempt earnings or exempt loss,

(C) amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to a partnership of which it is a member by a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that, if the non-resident corporation were a foreign affiliate of a corporation, the amounts paid or payable by the non-resident corporation would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(D) if a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year is a qualifying member of a particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year, amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the non-resident corporation is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(E) amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to a partnership of which it is a member by another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, to the extent that the amounts paid or payable by the other foreign affiliate are deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(F) if another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year is a qualifying member of a particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year, amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership, to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the other foreign affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(G) if the particular affiliate is a qualifying member of a particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year, amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(C) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership, to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the particular affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(H) amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to a partnership of which it is a member by another foreign affiliate (in this clause referred to as the "second affiliate") of the particular corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that the amounts paid or payable, in respect of a particular period in the year, are on account of interest on borrowed money used for the purpose of earning income from property or interest on an amount payable for property, if

(I) the property is, throughout the particular period, excluded property of the second affiliate that is shares of a corporation (in this clause referred to as the "third affiliate") and the third affiliate is, throughout the particular period, a foreign affiliate (other than the particular foreign affiliate) of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest or to which the taxpayer is related, and

(II) the second affiliate and the third affiliate are resident in the same designated treaty country for each of their taxation years (each of which is referred to in this subclause as a "relevant taxation year") that end in the year and, in respect of each of the second affiliate and the third affiliate for each relevant taxation year of that affiliate, either

1. the affiliate is subject to income taxation in that country in the relevant taxation year, or

2. the members or shareholders of the affiliate at the end of the relevant taxation year are subject to income taxation in that country on, in aggregate, all or substantially all of the income of the affiliate for the relevant taxation year in their taxation years in which that relevant taxation year ends or would be so subject to income taxation in that country if the affiliate had income for the relevant taxation year and the income of those members or shareholders for their taxation years in which the relevant taxation year ends consisted only of their share of income of the affiliate for the relevant taxation year

where, for the purpose of this clause,

(III) "excluded property" has the meaning assigned to that expression for the purpose of clause (d)(ii)(H) of the definition "exempt earnings", and

(IV) the particular corporation has a qualifying interest in respect of another corporation if the particular corporation has, because of paragraph 95(2)(m) or (m.1) of the Act, a qualifying interest in respect of that other corporation for the purpose of subdivision i of Division B of Part I of the Act,

(I) if the particular corporation is a life insurance corporation resident in Canada (in this clause referred to as the "insurer"), a corporation controlled by the insurer or a corporation that controls the insurer and the particular affiliate is a foreign affiliate in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year, amounts required to be included in computing the particular affiliate's loss from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(E) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to a partnership of which it is a member by the insurer in the course of carrying on its life insurance business outside Canada, to the extent that, if the insurer were a foreign affiliate of another corporation resident in Canada and were resident in the country in which the insurer carried on its life insurance business outside Canada, the amounts paid or payable by the insurer would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,

(J) amounts required to be included in computing the particular affiliate's loss from an active business for the year because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(iii) of the Act that are derived from the factoring of trade accounts receivable acquired by the particular affiliate, or by a partnership of which the particular affiliate was a member, from a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that the trade accounts receivable arose in the course of an active business carried on by the non-resident corporation any income from which would be included in computing the exempt earnings of the non-resident corporation if it were a foreign affiliate of a corporation,

(K) amounts required to be included in computing the particular affiliate's loss from an active business for the year because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(iv) of the Act that are derived from loans or lending assets acquired by the particular affiliate, or by a partnership of which the particular affiliate was a member, from a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year, to the extent that the loans or lending assets arose in the course of an active business carried on by the non-resident corporation any income from which would be included in the exempt earnings of the non-resident corporation if it were a foreign affiliate of a corporation,

(L) amounts that would be required, because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(v) of the Act, to be included in computing the particular affiliate's loss for the year from an active business if that subparagraph were read as follows:

"(v) the income or loss is derived from the disposition of excluded property that is not capital property if

(A) that property is used or held by the particular foreign affiliate for the purpose of gaining or producing income from property that would, because of this paragraph, be included in computing the particular foreign affiliate's income from an active business if this paragraph were read without reference to this subparagraph, and

(B) that income or loss is derived, directly or indirectly, from amounts paid or payable to the particular foreign affiliate by another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, or by a non-resident corporation related to the particular foreign affiliate and to the taxpayer, that is in respect of an active business carried on in a designated treaty country (as defined for the purpose of Part LIX of the Regulations), or",

(M) amounts that would be required, because of subparagraph 95(2)(a)(vi) of the Act, to be included in computing the particular affiliate's loss for the year from an active business if that subparagraph were read as follows:

"(vi) the income or loss is derived by the particular foreign affiliate under or as a result of an agreement that provides for the purchase, sale or exchange of currency and that can reasonably be considered to have been made by the particular foreign affiliate to reduce its risk, of fluctuations in the value of the denominated currency, with respect to

(A) income or loss from property that

(I) would, because of this paragraph, be included in computing the particular foreign affiliate's income or loss from an active business if this paragraph were read without reference to this subparagraph, and

(II) is derived, directly or indirectly, from amounts paid or payable to the particular foreign affiliate by another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, or by a non-resident corporation related to the particular foreign affiliate and to the taxpayer, that is in respect of an active business carried on in a designated treaty country (as defined for the purpose of Part LIX of the Regulations), or

(B) excluded property the income or loss from which would, if there were income or a loss, be described in clause (A);", or

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(9), will amend para. (c) of the definition "exempt loss" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002.

S. 9 of the draft regulations provides if that a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer referred to in the above amendment makes a valid "Global Section 95 Election" under subsec. 133(68) of the February 27, 2004 draft legislation (see Application and Technical Notes to Proposed Amendment to ITA 95(2)(a)), then the amendment is applicable to taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that begin after 1994, except that

(a) cl. (c)(ii)(D) is, for the taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that end before 2000, to be read as follows:

"(D) if a non-resident corporation to which the particular affiliate and the particular corporation are related throughout the year is a member of a particular partnership (other than where the non-resident corporation would be a specified member of the particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year if the definition "specified member" of a partnership in subsection 248(1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraph (a) of that definition), amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(A) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the non-resident corporation is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,"

(b) where the taxpayer has not made a valid election under subsec. 133(37) of the February 27, 2004 draft amendments, subcl. (c)(ii)(H)(I) is to be read as follows:

"(I) the property is shares of a foreign affiliate (in this clause referred to as the "third affiliate") of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest and those shares are excluded property, and"

(c) cls. (c)(ii)(F) and (G) are for the taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that end before 2000, to be read as follows:

"(F) if another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation in respect of which the particular corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year is a member of a particular partnership (other than where the other foreign affiliate would be a specified member of the particular partnership at any time in a fiscal period of the particular partnership that ends in the year if the definition "specified member" of a partnership in subsection 248(1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraph (a) of that definition), amounts required to be included in computing the loss of the particular affiliate from an active business for the year because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(B) of the Act that are derived from amounts paid or payable, directly or indirectly, to it or to another partnership of which it is a member by the particular partnership, to the extent that, if the particular partnership were a foreign affiliate of a corporation and were resident in the country in which the other foreign affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year, taxation, the amounts paid or payable by the particular partnership would be deductible in computing its exempt earnings or exempt loss for the year or for a subsequent taxation year,".

Technical Notes: Second, amendments are proposed to be made to paragraph (c) of the definition "exempt loss" in subsection 5907(1). Under existing paragraph (c) of the definition, where a particular foreign affiliate of a particular corporation is resident in a designated treaty country, the affiliate's losses for a year from an active business carried on by it in Canada or in a designated treaty country are included in computing its "exempt loss" for the year. Consequential to the amendments made to paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act, paragraph (c) of the definition is proposed to be amended to ensure that losses from sources in a country, other than Canada, that would otherwise be property losses but are re-characterized by paragraph 95(2)(a) to be losses from an active business, are included in computing the "exempt loss" of the affiliate. The provisions to deal with these re-characterized losses are set out in new subparagraph (c)(ii) of the definition "exempt loss" and are modelled after the analogous provisions in proposed amended subparagraph (d)(ii) of the definition "exempt income" in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations.

The amendments to the definition "exempt loss" in subsection 5907(1) apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that these amendments are included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act, and that, in the event of a Global Section 95 Election, in its application to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that end before 2000, the Member Criteria Condition will, instead of containing the Qualifying Member Requirement, contain the requirement that the partnership have a relevant person as a member of the partnership (otherwise than as a specified member of the partnership).

The expression "specified member" is defined in existing subsection 248(1) of the Act. For more detail, see the commentary to the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1).

(d) where the year is the 1976 or any subsequent taxation year of the affiliate, each amount that is included in the affiliate's exempt loss for the year because of subsection (10);

Proposed Addition — 5907(1)"exempt loss" closing words

minus the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year to the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of amounts of losses referred to in subparagraph (c)(ii);

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(10), will add the above after para. (d) of the definition "exempt loss" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: Third, a "postamble" to the definition "exempt loss" in subsection 5907(1) is proposed to be added to ensure that the amount that would otherwise be the "exempt loss" of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation is reduced by the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year to the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of losses referred to in new subparagraph (c)(ii) of the definition "exempt loss" in subsection 5907(1).

The amendments to the definition "exempt loss" in subsection 5907(1) apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that these amendments are included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act, and that, in the event of a Global Section 95 Election, in its application to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that end before 2000, the Member Criteria Condition will, instead of containing the Qualifying Member Requirement, contain the requirement that the partnership have a relevant person as a member of the partnership (otherwise than as a specified member of the partnership).

The expression "specified member" is defined in existing subsection 248(1) of the Act. For more detail, see the commentary to the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection 5907(1).

Related Provisions: ITA 95(2)(n) — Deemed FA and deemed qualifying interest for para. (c); Reg. 5910(1) — FA carrying on foreign oil & gas business deemed to have paid income or profits tax.

"exempt surplus" of a foreign affiliate (in this definition referred to as the "subject affiliate") of a corporation in respect of the corporation is, at any particular time, the amount determined by the formula

in respect of the period beginning with the time that is the latest of

(a) the first day of the taxation year of the subject affiliate in which it last became a foreign affiliate of the corporation,

(b) where the corporation is an acquiring corporation referred to in subsection 5905(5) and the subject affiliate is a particular affiliate referred to in that subsection or another foreign affiliate in which such a particular affiliate had an equity percentage at the time referred to in that subsection, the last time at which that subsection was applicable in respect of the affiliate, and

(c) where the subject affiliate is a foreign affiliate referred to in subsection 5905(1), (2), (8) or (9) or paragraph 5905(3)(b), the last time at which any of those subsections or that paragraph was applicable in respect of the subject affiliate and ending with the particular time, where

A is the total of all amounts, in respect of the period, each of which is

(i) the opening exempt surplus of the subject affiliate as determined under subsection 5905(1), (2), (3), (5), (8) or (9), at the time established in paragraph (a), (b) or (c),

(ii) the exempt earnings of the subject affiliate for any of its taxation years ending in the period,

(iii) the portion of any dividend received in the period and before the particular time by the subject affiliate from another foreign affiliate of the corporation (including, for greater certainty, any dividend deemed by subsection 5905(7) to have been received by the subject affiliate) that was prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the payer affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation,

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"exempt surplus"A(iii)

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(1), will amend subpara. (iii) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsec. 5907(1) by replacing the reference to "subsection 5905(7)" with "subsections 5905(7) to (7.4)", applicable to dissolutions that occur after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: The definition "exempt surplus" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the affiliate. The definition is amended in three ways.

Firstly, the Regulations are proposed to be amended by replacing, with any grammatical changes that the circumstances require, every reference to "subsection 5905(7)" with a reference to "subsections 5905(7) to (7.4)" in the following subparagraphs of the description of A in the following definitions in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations:

- subparagraph (iii) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus";
- subparagraph (iii) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus"; and
- subparagraph (iv) of the description of A in the definition "underlying foreign tax".

This amendment to the Regulations is to be effected by way of a global provision in the amending Regulation rather than by having the amending Regulation amend, provision by provision, each specific provision in the Regulations where a reference to subsection 5905(7) appears. This amendment to the Regulations is consequential to the division of subsection 5905(7) of the Regulations into subsections 5905(7) to (7.4). For more detail, refer to the commentary to subsections 5905(7), (7.1) and (7.2) to (7.4).

Secondly, the definition "exempt surplus" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) is amended to include each amount determined under subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(iv), (4)(a)(iv), (6)(a)(iv) or (8)(a)(iv) in the period and before the particular time in the description of A of the definition.

Thirdly, the definition "exempt surplus" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is amended to include each amount determined under subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(i), (4)(a)(i), (6)(a)(i) or (8)(a)(i) in the period and before the particular time, in the description of B of the definition.

(iv) the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by or the amount of a tax credit paid by the government of a country to the subject affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as having been refunded or paid in respect of any amount referred to in subparagraph (iii) and that was not deducted in determining any amount referred to in subparagraph (iii) of the description of B,

(v) the portion of any taxable dividend received in the period and before the particular time by the subject affiliate that would, if the dividend were received by the corporation, be deductible by it under section 112 of the Act,

(vi) an amount added to the exempt surplus of the subject affiliate or deducted from its exempt deficit in the period and before the particular time under any provision of subsection (1.1) or (1.2), or

(vii) an amount added, in the period and before the particular time, to the exempt surplus of the subject affiliate under paragraph (7.1)(d), and

Proposed Addition — 5907(1)"exempt surplus"A(viii)

(viii) an amount that is determined under subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(iv), (4)(a)(iv), (6)(a)(iv) or (8)(a)(iv) in the period and before the particular time, and

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(11), will add subpara. (viii) to the description of A in the definition "exempt loss" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See under "exempt surplus"(A)(iii) above.

B is the total of those of the following amounts that apply in respect of the period:

(i) the opening exempt deficit of the subject affiliate as determined under subsection 5905(1), (2), (3), (5), (8) or (9), at the time established in paragraph (a), (b) or (c),

(ii) the exempt loss of the subject affiliate for any of its taxation years ending in the period,

(iii) the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country by the subject affiliate that may reasonably be regarded as having been paid in respect of any amount referred to in subparagraph (iii), (iv) or (v) of the description of A,

(iv) the portion of any whole dividend paid by the subject affiliate in the period and before the particular time deemed by paragraph 5901(1)(a) to have been paid out of the subject affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation,

(v) each amount that is determined under paragraph 5902(4)(a) or subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(i), (6)(a)(i) or (8)(a)(i) in the period and before the particular time, or

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"exempt surplus"B(v)

(v) each amount that is determined under subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(i), (4)(a)(i), (6)(a)(i) or (8)(a)(i) in the period and before the particular time, or

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(12), will amend subpara. (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See under "exempt surplus"(A)(iii) above.

(vi) an amount, in the period and before the particular time, deducted from the exempt surplus of the subject affiliate or added to its exempt deficit under any provision of subsection (1.1) or (1.2);

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 5905(2)(a)(i), (iv), (2)(b) — Inclusion in exempt surplus on acquisition or cancellation of share; Reg. 5905(4)(a)(i), (4)(b) — Inclusion in exempt surplus on disposition of share; Reg. 5905(5.1) — Exempt surplus after amalgamation of corporation holding foreign affiliate; Reg. 5905(5.2) — Exempt surplus after windup of corporation holding foreign affiliate; Reg. 5905(6)(a)(i) — Computation of exempt surplus; Reg. 5910(1) — FA carrying on foreign oil & gas business deemed to have paid income or profits tax.

"loss" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year of the affiliate from an active business carried on by it in a country is the amount of its loss for the year from that active business carried on in that country computed by applying the provisions of paragraph (a) of the definition "earnings" in this subsection respecting the computation of earnings from that active business carried on in that country, with any modifications that the cricumstances require;

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"loss"

"loss", of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year of the affiliate from an active business, means

(a) in the case of an active business carried on by it in a country, the amount of its loss for the year from the active business carried on in the country computed by applying the provisions of paragraph (a) of the definition "earnings" in this subsection respecting the computation of earnings from that active business carried on in that country, with any modifications that the circumstances require, and

(b) in any other case, the total of the amounts required by paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act to be included in computing the affiliate's loss from an active business for the year;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(13), will amend the definition "loss" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: The definition "loss" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the foreign affiliate.

Consequential to the amendments to paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act, the definition "loss" in subsection 5907(1) is proposed to be amended to add new paragraph (b) to ensure that losses from sources in a country other than Canada, that would otherwise be property losses but are re-characterized by paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act to be losses from an active business, are included in computing the "loss" of the affiliate.

The amendment to the definition "loss" in subsection 5907(1) is proposed to apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that these amendments are included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

"net earnings" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation for a taxation year of the affiliate

(a) from an active business carried on by it in a country is the amount of its earnings for the year from that active business carried on in that country minus the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country for the year by the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of those earnings,

(b) in respect of foreign accrual property income is the amount that would be its foreign accrual property income for the year, if the formula in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act were read without reference to the variable F in that formula, minus the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country for the year by the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of that income,

(c) from dispositions of property used or held by it principally for the purpose of gaining or producing income from an active business carried on by it in a country that is not a designated treaty country (other than Canada) is the amount, if any, by which

(i) the portion of the affiliate's taxable capital gains for the year from those dispositions that can reasonably be considered to have accrued after November 12, 1981

exceeds

(ii) the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country for the year by the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the amount determined under subparagraph (i), and

(d) from dispositions of

(i) shares of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation that were excluded property of the affiliate (other than dispositions to which paragraph 95(2)(c), (d) or (e) of the Act was applicable), or

(ii) partnership interests that were excluded property of the affiliate

is the amount, if any, by which

(iii) the portion of the affiliate's taxable capital gains for the year from such dispositions that can reasonably be considered to have accrued after its 1975 taxation year

exceeds

(iv) the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country for the year by the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the amount determined under subparagraph (iii);

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"net earnings"(d)

(d) from dispositions of

(i) shares of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation that were excluded property of the affiliate (other than dispositions to which any of subsection 88(3) or paragraphs 95(2)(c), (c.2), (d), (d.1), (e), (e.1), (e.3) to (e.5) and (f.4) of the Act applied), or

(ii) partnership interests that were excluded property of the affiliate

is the amount, if any, by which

(iii) the portion of the affiliate's taxable capital gains for the year from those dispositions that can reasonably be considered to have accrued after its 1975 taxation year

exceeds

(iv) the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country for the year by the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the amount determined under subparagraph (iii);

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(14), will amend para. (d) of the definition "net earnings" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: The definition "net earnings" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the foreign affiliate.

It is proposed to amend paragraph (d) of the definition "net earnings". The amendment is to subparagraph (d)(i) and is consequential to the amendments to the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act. Those amendments to the definition "foreign accrual property income" ensure that capital gains and losses from dispositions of "excluded property" to which subsection 88(3) of the Act applies are included in computing foreign accrual property income. This amendment to the definition "net earnings" ensures that, in computing net earnings, those capital gains are not double-counted.

The proposed amendment to the definition "net earnings" in subsection 5907(1) applies to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that this amendment is included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5910(1) — FA carrying on foreign oil & gas business deemed to have paid income or profits tax.

"net loss" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation for a taxation year of the affiliate

(a) from an active business carried on by it in a country is the amount of its loss for the year from that active business carried on in that country minus the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year to the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of that loss,

(b) in respect of foreign accrual property income is the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of the amounts determined under the descriptions of D, E and G in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act for the year

exceeds

(B) the total of the amounts determined under the descriptions of A, A.1, A.2, B and C in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act for the year

exceeds

(ii) the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year to the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of the amount determined under subparagraph (i),

(c) from dispositions of property used or held by it principally for the purpose of gaining or producing income from an active business carried on by it in a country that is not a designated treaty country (other than Canada) is the amount, if any, by which

(i) the portion of the affiliate's allowable capital losses for the year from those dispositions that can reasonably be considered to have accrued after November 12, 1981

exceeds

(ii) the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year to the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of the amount determined under subparagraph (i), and

(d) from dispositions of

(i) shares of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation that were excluded property of the affiliate (other than dispositions to which paragraph 95(2)(c), (d) or (e) of the Act was applicable), or

(ii) partnership interests that were excluded property of the affiliate

is the amount, if any, by which

(iii) the portion of the affiliate's allowable capital losses for the year from those dispositions that can reasonably be considered to have accrued after its 1975 taxation year

exceeds

(iv) the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year to the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of the amount determined under subparagraph (iii);

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"net loss"(d)

(d) from dispositions of

(i) shares of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation that were excluded property of the affiliate, or

(ii) partnership interests that were excluded property of the affiliate

is the amount, if any, by which

(iii) the portion of the affiliate's allowable capital losses for the year from those dispositions that can reasonably be considered to have accrued after its 1975 taxation year

exceeds

(iv) the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year to the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of the amount determined under subparagraph (iii);

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(15), will amend para. (d) of the definition "net loss" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: The definition "net loss" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the foreign affiliate.

It is proposed to amend paragraph (d) of the definition "net loss". The amendment is to subparagraph (d)(i) of the definition "net loss". The amendment removes the reference to the words in parentheses that were previously contained in that subparagraph. They were not necessary and caused confusion.

The proposed amendment to the definition "net loss" in subsection 5907(1) applies to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that this amendment is included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5910(1) — FA carrying on foreign oil & gas business deemed to have paid income or profits tax.

"net surplus" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada in respect of the corporation is, at any particular time,

(a) if the affiliate has no exempt deficit and no taxable deficit, the amount that is the total of its exempt surplus and taxable surplus in respect of the corporation,

(b) if the affiliate has no taxable surplus, the amount, if any, by which its exempt surplus exceeds its taxable deficit in respect of the corporation, or

(c) if the affiliate has no exempt surplus, the amount, if any, by which its taxable surplus exceeds its exempt deficit in respect of the corporation, as the case may be, at that time;

"taxable deficit" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation in respect of the corporation at any time is the amount, if any, by which

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined at that time under any of subparagraphs (i) to (v) of the description of A in that definition;

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"taxable deficit"(b)

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount determined at that time under any of subparagraphs (i) to (vi) of the description of A in that definition;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(16), will amend para. (b) of the definition "taxable deficit" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: The definition "taxable deficit" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses of the foreign affiliate.

The amendment to the definition "taxable deficit" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) is to insert a reference to new subparagraph (vi) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations.

The proposed amendment to the definition "taxable deficit" in subsection 5907(1) applies to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that this amendment is included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(2)(a)(v), (2)(b) — Inclusion in exempt deficit on acquisition or cancellation of share; Reg. 5905(4)(a)(v), (4)(b) — Inclusion in taxable deficit on disposition of share; Reg. 5905(5.1) — Taxable deficit after amalgamation of corporation holding foreign affiliate; Reg. 5905(5.2) — Taxable deficit after windup of corporation holding foreign affiliate; Reg. 5905(6)(a)(v) — Computation of exempt deficit.

"taxable earnings" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation for a taxation year of the affiliate is

(a) where the year is the 1975 or any preceding taxation year of the affiliate, nil, and

(b) in any other case, the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) the affiliate's net earnings for the year from an active business carried on by it in a country,

(ii) the affiliate's net earnings for the year in respect of its foreign accrual property income,

(iii) to the extent that they have not been included under subparagraph (i) or deducted in determining an amount included under subparagraph (b)(i) of the definition "taxable loss" in this subsection, the earnings for the year as determined under paragraph (b) of the definition "earnings" in this subsection minus the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country for the year by the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of those earnings,

(iv) the affiliate's net earnings for the year from dispositions of property used or held by it principally for the purpose of gaining or producing income from an active business carried on by it in a country that is not a designated treaty country (other than Canada), or

(v) the affiliate's net earnings for the year from dispositions of shares of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation that were excluded property of the affiliate (other than dispositions to which paragraph 95(2)(c), (d) or (e) of the Act was applicable) or dispositions of partnership interests that were excluded property of the affiliate,

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"taxable earnings"(b)(v)

(v) the affiliate's net earnings for the year from dispositions of shares of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation that were excluded property of the affiliate (other than dispositions to which any of subsection 88(3) or paragraphs 95(2)(c), (c.2), (d), (d.1), (e), (e.1), (e.3) to (e.5) and (f.4) of the Act applied) or dispositions of partnership interests that were excluded property of the affiliate,

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(17), will amend subpara. (b)(v) of the definition "taxable earnings" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: The definition "taxable earnings" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses of the foreign affiliate.

The proposed amendment of the definition "taxable earnings" in subsection 5907(1) is to subparagraph (b)(v) and is consequential to the amendments to the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act. The amendments to the definition "foreign accrual property income" ensure that capital gains and losses from dispositions of "excluded property" to which subsection 88(3) of the Act applies are included in computing foreign accrual property income. This amendment to the definition "taxable earnings" ensures that, in computing taxable earnings, those capital gains are not double-counted.

This amendment to the definition "taxable earnings" in subsection 5907(1) applies to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that this amendment is included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

but does not include any amount included in the affiliate's exempt earnings for the year;

"taxable loss" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation for a taxation year of the affiliate is

(a) where the year is the 1975 or any preceding taxation year of the affiliate, nil, and

(b) in any other case, the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) the affiliate's net loss for the year from an active business carried on by it in a country,

Proposed Addition — 5907(1)"taxable loss"(b)(i.1)

(i.1) the affiliate's net loss for the year in respect of losses included in computing income from an active business because of subparagraphs 95(2)(a)(v) and (vi) of the Act,

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(18), will add subpara. (b)(i.1) to the definition "taxable loss" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: See under 5907(1)"taxable loss"(b)(iv), (v) below.

(ii) the affiliate's net loss for the year in respect of foreign accrual property income,

(iii) the affiliate's net loss for the year from dispositions of property used or held by it principally for the purpose of gaining or producing income from an active business carried on by it in a country that is not a designated treaty country (other than Canada), or

(iv) the affiliate's net loss for the year from dispositions of shares of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation that were excluded property of the affiliate (other than dispositions to which paragraph 95(2)(c), (d) or (e) of the Act was applicable) or dispositions of partnership interests that were excluded property of the affiliate,

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"taxable loss"(b)(iv), (v)

(iv) the affiliate's net loss for the year from the disposition of shares of the capital stock of another foreign affiliate of the corporation that were excluded property of the affiliate or from the disposition of partnership interests that were excluded property of the affiliate, or

(v) to the extent that they have not otherwise been included under subparagraph (i) or deducted in computing an amount under subparagraph (b)(i) of the definition "taxable earnings", the loss for the year as determined under paragraph (b) of the definition "loss" minus the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of that loss,

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(19), will amend subpara. (b)(iv) of "taxable loss" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above and add subpara (b)(v), applicable on the same basis as the amendment to Reg. 5907(1)"earnings"(b).

Technical Notes: The definition "taxable loss" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the foreign affiliate.

As noted in the commentary to the proposed amendments to the definition "loss" in subsection 5907(1), a property loss recharacterized by paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act as loss from an active business is described in new paragraph (b) of the definition "loss" and is included in computing "loss".

The amendment to the definition "taxable loss" in subsection 5907(1) proposes to add new subparagraph (b)(v). That subparagraph ensures that, to the extent that the loss for the year determined under paragraph (b) of the definition "loss" has not been included under existing subparagraph (b)(i) of the definition "taxable loss" or deducted in computing an amount under existing subparagraph (b)(i) of the definition "taxable earnings", that loss (minus the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country for the year that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of that loss) is to be included in computing "taxable loss" for the year. Note, also, that the existing "postamble" to the definition "taxable loss" ensures that "taxable loss" does not include any amount included in the affiliate's "exempt loss" for the year.

This proposed amendment to the definition "taxable loss" in subsection 5907(1) applies to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that this amendment is included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

but does not include any amount included in the affiliate's exempt loss for the year;

"taxable surplus" of a foreign affiliate (in this definition referred to as the "subject affiliate") of a corporation in respect of the corporation is, at any particular time, the amount determined by the formula

A – B

in respect of the period beginning with the time that is the latest of

(a) the first day of the taxation year of the affiliate in which it last became a foreign affiliate of the corporation,

(b) where the corporation is an acquiring corporation referred to in subsection 5905(5) and the subject affiliate is a particular affiliate referred to in that subsection or another foreign affiliate in which such a particular affiliate had an equity percentage at the time referred to in that subsection, the last time at which that subsection was applicable in respect of the subject affiliate, and

(c) where the subject affiliate is a foreign affiliate referred to in subsection 5905(1), (2), (8) or (9) or paragraph 5905(3)(b), the last time at which any of those subsections or that paragraph was applicable in respect of the subject affiliate

and ending with the particular time, where

A is the total of all amounts, in respect of the period, each of which is

(i) the opening taxable surplus of the subject affiliate as determined under subsection 5905(1), (2), (3), (5), (8) or (9) at the time established in paragraph (a), (b) or (c),

(ii) the taxable earnings of the subject affiliate for any of its taxation years ending in the period,

(iii) the portion of any dividend received in the period and before the particular time by the subject affiliate from another foreign affiliate of the corporation (including, for greater certainty, any dividend deemed by subsection 5905(7) to have been received by the subject affiliate) that was prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the payer affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation,

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"taxable surplus"A(iii)

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(1), will amend subpara. (iii) of the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsec. 5907(1) by replacing the reference to "subsection 5905(7)" with "subsections 5905(7) to (7.4)", applicable to dissolutions that occur after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See 5907(1)"exempt surplus"A(iii) above.

(iv) an amount added to the taxable surplus of the subject affiliate or deducted from its taxable deficit in the period and before the particular time under any provision of subsection (1.1) or (1.2),

(v) an amount added, in the period and before the particular time, to the subject affiliate's taxable surplus under paragraph (7.1)(e), and

Proposed Addition — 5907(1)"taxable surplus"A(vi)

(vi) each amount that is determined under subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(v), (4)(a)(v), (6)(a)(v) or (8)(a)(v) in the period and before that particular time, and

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(20), will add subpara. (vi) to the description of A in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which proposed subsec. 5902(1) applies.

Technical Notes: The definition "taxable surplus" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the foreign affiliate.

The definition "taxable surplus" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1) is proposed to be amended in three ways.

Firstly, in the description of A in the definition of "taxable surplus" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1), there is to be included a new subparagraph (vi) which will include in the description of A of the definition each amount determined under subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(v), (4)(a)(v), (6)(a)(v) or (8)(a)(v) in the period and before that particular time.

Secondly, in subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year in subsection 5907(1), the reference to "paragraph 5902(4)(b) or subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(ii), (6)(a)(ii) or (8)(a)(ii)" is replaced by a reference to "subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(ii), (4)(a)(ii), (6)(a)(ii) or (8)(a)(ii)".

For details on the third amendment, refer to the commentary to the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1).

B is the total of those of the following amounts that apply in respect of the period:

(i) the opening taxable deficit of the subject affiliate as determined under subsection 5905(1), (2), (3), (5), (8) or (9), at the time established in paragraph (a), (b) or (c),

(ii) the taxable loss of the subject affiliate for any of its taxation years ending in the period,

(iii) the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country by the subject affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as having been paid in respect of that portion of a dividend referred to in subparagraph (iii) of the description of A,

(iv) the portion of any whole dividend paid by the subject affiliate in the period and before the particular time deemed by paragraph 5901(1)(b) to have been paid out of the subject affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation,

(v) each amount that is determined under paragraph 5902(4)(b) or subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(ii), (6)(a)(ii) or (8)(a)(ii) in the period and before the particular time, or

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"taxable surplus"B(v)

(v) each amount that is determined under subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(ii), (4)(a)(ii), (6)(a)(ii) or (8)(a)(ii) in the period and before the particular time, or

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(21), will add subpara. (v) to the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which proposed subsec. 5902(1) applies.

Technical Notes: See 5907(1)"taxable surplus"A(vi) above.

(vi) an amount, in the period and before the particular time, deducted from the taxable surplus of the subject affiliate or added to its taxable deficit under any provision of subsection (1.1) or (1.2);

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 5905(2)(a)(ii), (v), 5905(2)(b) — Inclusion in taxable surplus on acquisition or cancellation of share; Reg. 5905(4)(a)(ii), 5905(4)(b) — Inclusion in taxable surplus on disposition of share; Reg. 5905(5.1) — Taxable surplus after amalgamation of corporation holding foreign affiliate; Reg. 5905(5.2) — Taxable surplus after windup of corporation holding foreign affiliate\; Reg. 5905(6)(a)(ii) — Computation of taxable surplus; Reg. 5910(1) — FA carrying on foreign oil & gas business deemed to have paid income or profits tax.

"underlying foreign tax" of a foreign affiliate (in this definition referred to as the "subject affiliate") of a corporation in respect of the corporation is, at any particular time, the amount, determined by the formula

in respect of the period beginning with the time that is the latest of

(a) the first day of the taxation year of the subject affiliate in which it last became a foreign affiliate of the corporation,

(b) where the corporation is an acquiring corporation referred to in subsection 5905(5) and the subject affiliate is a particular affiliate referred to in that subsection or another foreign affiliate in which such a particular affiliate had an equity percentage at the time referred to in that subsection, the last time at which that subsection was applicable in respect of the subject affiliate, and

(c) where the subject affiliate is a foreign affiliate referred to in subsection 5905(1), (2), (8) or (9) or paragraph 5905(3)(b), the last time at which any of those subsections or that paragraph was applicable in respect of the subject affiliate

and ending with the particular time, where

A is the total of all amounts, in respect of the period, each of which is

(i) the opening underlying foreign tax of the subject affiliate as determined under subsection 5905(1), (2), (3), (5), (8) or (9), at the time established in paragraph (a), (b) or (c),

(ii) the portion of any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country by the subject affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as having been paid in respect of the taxable earnings of the affiliate for a taxation year ending in the period,

(iii) the portion of any income or profits tax referred to in subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in this subsection paid by the subject affiliate in respect of a dividend received from any other foreign affiliate of the corporation,

(iv) each amount that was prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(d) to have been the foreign tax applicable to the portion of any dividend received in the period and before the particular time by the subject affiliate from another foreign affiliate of the corporation (including, for greater certainty, any dividend deemed by subsection 5905(7) to have been received by the subject affiliate) that was prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the payer affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation, or

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"underlying foreign tax"A(iv)

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(1), will amend subpara. (iv) of the description of A in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsec. 5907(1) by replacing the reference to "subsection 5905(7)" with "subsections 5905(7) to (7.4)", applicable to dissolutions that occur after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See "exempt surplus"A(iii) above.

(v) the amount by which the subject affiliate's underlying foreign tax is required to be increased by any provision of subsection (1.1) or (1.2),

B is the total of those of the following amounts that apply in respect of the period:

(i) the portion of any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country to the affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as having been refunded in respect of the taxable loss of the subject affiliate for a taxation year ending in the period,

(ii) the underlying foreign tax applicable to any whole dividend paid by the subject affiliate in the period and before the particular time deemed by paragraph 5901(1)(b) to have been paid out of the subject affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation before that time,

(iii) each amount that is required by paragraph 5902(4)(c) or subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(iii), (6)(a)(iii) or (8)(a)(iii) to be deducted in the period and before the particular time in computing the subject affiliate's underlying foreign tax, or

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"underlying foreign tax"B(iii)

(iii) each amount that is required by subparagraph 5905(2)(a)(iii), (4)(a)(iii), (6)(a)(iii) or (8)(a)(iii) to be deducted in the period and before the particular time in computing the subject affiliate's underlying foreign tax, or

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(22), will amend subpara. (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which proposed subsec. 5902(1) applies.

Technical Notes: The definition "underlying foreign tax" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, in respect of a corporation, in subsection 5907(1) is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the foreign affiliate.

Subparagraph (iii) of the description of B of the definition "underlying foreign tax" has been amended to remove the reference to paragraph 5902(4)(c), and to add a reference to subparagraph 5905(4)(a)(iii).

(iv) the amount by which the subject affiliate's underlying foreign tax is required to be decreased in the period and before the particular time by any provision of subsection (1.1) or (1.2);

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 5905(2)(a)(iii), (2)(b) — Inclusion in underlying foreign tax on acquisition or cancellation of share; Reg. 5905(4)(a)(iii), (b) — Inclusion in UFT on disposition of share; Reg. 5905(5.1) — UFT after amalgamation of corporation holding foreign affiliate; Reg. 5905(5.2) — UFT after windup of corporation holding foreign affiliate; Reg. 5905(6)(a)(iii) — Computation of UFT; Reg. 5910(1) — FA carrying on foreign oil & gas business deemed to have paid income or profits tax.

"underlying foreign tax applicable" in respect of a corporation to a whole dividend paid at any time on the shares of any class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation by the affiliate is the total of

(a) the proportion of the underlying foreign tax of the affiliate at that time in respect of the corporation that

(i) the portion of the whole dividend deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation is of

(ii) the affiliate's taxable surplus at that time in respect of the corporation, and

(b) except with respect to any whole dividend referred to in section 5902, in any case where throughout the taxation year of the affiliate in which the whole dividend was paid

(i) there is no more than one class of shares of the capital stock of the affiliate issued and outstanding,

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the affiliate is 100 per cent, or

(iii) there is not more than one shareholder who owns shares of the capital stock of the affiliate, any additional amount in respect of the whole dividend that the corporation claims in its return of income under Part I of the Act in respect of the whole dividend, not exceeding the amount that is the lesser of

(iv) the amount by which the portion of the whole dividend deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation exceeds the amount determined under paragraph (a), and

(v) the amount by which the underlying foreign tax of the affiliate in respect of the corporation immediately before the whole dividend was paid exceeds the amount determined under paragraph (a);

"whole dividend" paid at any time on the shares of a class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada is the total of all amounts each of which is the dividend paid at that time on a share of that class except that

(a) where a dividend is paid at the same time on shares of more than one class of the capital stock of an affiliate, for the purpose only of section 5900, the whole dividend referred to in section 5901 paid at that time on the shares of a class of the capital stock of the affiliate is deemed to be the total of all amounts each of which is the dividend paid at that time on a share of the capital stock of the affiliate,

(b) where a whole dividend is deemed by paragraph 5902(1)(c) to have been paid at the same time on shares of more than one class of the capital stock of an affiliate, for the purpose only of that paragraph, the whole dividend deemed to have been paid at that time on the shares of a class of the capital stock of the affiliate is deemed to be the total of all amounts each of which is a whole dividend deemed to have been paid at that time on the shares of a class of the capital stock of the affiliate, and

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1)"whole dividend"(b)

(b) where a whole dividend is deemed by paragraph 5902(1)(g) to have been paid at the same time on shares of more than one class of the capital stock of an affiliate, for the purpose only of that paragraph, the whole dividend deemed to have been paid at that time on the shares of a class of the capital stock of the affiliate is deemed to be the total of all amounts each of which is a whole dividend deemed to have been paid at that time on the shares of a class of the capital stock of the affiliate, and

dend" in subsec. 5907(1) to read as above, applicable in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which proposed subsec. 5902(1) applies.

Technical Notes: The definition "whole dividend" paid at any time on the shares of a class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada in subsection 5907(1) is relevant for the purposes of computing the surpluses and deficits of the foreign affiliate.

The proposed amendment to paragraph (b) of the definition "whole dividend" in subsection 5907(1) replaces a reference to "5902(1)(c)" with a reference to "5902(1)(g)".

This proposed amendment to the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1) applies in respect of dispositions in respect of which an election was made in respect of which proposed new subsection 5902(1) applies.

(c) where more than one whole dividend is deemed by paragraph 5900(2)(b) to have been paid at the same time on shares of a class of the capital stock of an affiliate, for the purposes only of paragraph 5900(1)(d) and the definitions "underlying foreign tax" and "underlying foreign tax applicable" in this subsection, the whole dividend deemed to have been paid at that time on the shares of a class of the capital stock of the affiliate is deemed to be the total of all amounts each of which is a whole dividend deemed to have been paid at that time on the shares of a class of the capital stock of the affiliate and all of that whole dividend shall be deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation.

History: Subsec. 5907(1) definitions amended and rearranged by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(1), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the definitions apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate; and

(b) in applying the definitions for taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin before 1996 and in respect of which subsecs. 5907(11)–(11.2) (as amended) do not apply, the references to "designated treaty country" shall be read as "country listed in subsection (11)".

(1.01) [Interpretation for ITA 113] — For the purpose of section 113 of the Act, "exempt surplus" and "taxable surplus" have the meanings assigned by subsection (1).

History: Subsec. 5907(1.01) added by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(1), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

(1.02) ["Qualifying interest", "related"] — In paragraph (d) of the definition "exempt earnings" in subsection (1), the determination of whether a corporation

(a) has a "qualifying interest" in respect of a foreign affiliate throughout a taxation year, or

(b) is related to another corporation throughout a taxation year shall be made as it would for the purpose of paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act.

History: Subsec. 5907(1.02) added by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(2), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(1.1) [Where FA is member of consolidated group] — For the purposes of this Part, where, pursuant to the income tax law of a country other than Canada, a group of two or more foreign affiliates (in this subsection referred to as the "consolidated group") of a corporation resident in Canada that are resident in that country determine their liabilities for income or profits tax payable to the government of that country for a taxation year on a consolidated or combined basis and one of the affiliates (in this subsection referred to as the "primary affiliate") is responsible for paying, or claiming a refund of, such tax on behalf of itself and the other members of the consolidated group (hereinafter referred to as the "secondary affiliates"), the following rules apply:

(a) in respect of the primary affiliate,

(i) any such income or profits tax paid by the primary affiliate for the year shall be deemed not to have been paid and any refund to the primary affiliate of income or profits tax otherwise payable by it for the year shall be deemed not to have been made,

(ii) any such income or profits tax that would have been payable by the primary affiliate for the year if the primary affiliate had no other taxation year and had not been a member of the consolidated group shall be deemed to have been paid for the year,

(iii) to the extent that

(A) the income or profits tax that would otherwise have been payable by the primary affiliate for the year on behalf of the consolidated group is reduced by virtue of any loss of the primary affiliate for the year or any previous taxation year, or

(B) the primary affiliate receives, in respect of a loss of the primary affiliate for the year or a subsequent taxation year, a refund of income or profits tax otherwise payable for the year by the primary affiliate on behalf of the consolidated group, the amount of such reduction or refund, as the case may be, shall be deemed to have been received by the primary affiliate as a refund for the year of the loss of income or profits tax in respect of the loss,

(iv) any such income or profits tax that would have been payable by a secondary affiliate for the year if the secondary affiliate had no other taxation year and had not been a member of the consolidated group shall at the end of the year,

(A) to the extent that such income or profits tax would otherwise have reduced the net earnings included in the exempt earnings of the secondary affiliate, be deducted from the exempt surplus or added to the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate, and

(B) to the extent that such income or profits tax would otherwise have reduced the net earnings included in the taxable earnings of the secondary affiliate,

(I) be deducted from the taxable surplus or added to the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate, and

(II) be added to the underlying foreign tax of the primary affiliate,

(v) to the extent that

(A) the income or profits tax that would otherwise have been payable by the primary affiliate for the year on behalf of the consolidated group is reduced by virtue of a loss of a secondary affiliate for the year or a previous taxation year, or

(B) the primary affiliate receives, in respect of a loss of a secondary affiliate for the year or a subsequent taxation year, a refund of income or profits tax otherwise payable for the year by the primary affiliate on behalf of the consolidated group, the amount of such reduction or refund, as the case may be, shall at the end of the year of the loss,

(C) where such loss reduces the exempt surplus or increases the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the secondary affiliate, be added to the exempt surplus or deducted from the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate, and

(D) where such loss reduces the taxable surplus or increases the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the secondary affiliate,

(I) be added to the taxable surplus or deducted from the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate, and

(II) be deducted from the underlying foreign tax of the primary affiliate; and

(b) where by virtue of the primary affiliate being responsible for paying, or claiming a refund of, income or profits tax for the year on behalf of the consolidated group,

(i) an amount is paid to the primary affiliate by a secondary affiliate in respect of the income or profits tax that would have been payable by the secondary affiliate for the year had it not been a member of the group,

(A) in respect of the secondary affiliate, the amount so paid shall be deemed to be a payment of such income or profits tax for the year, and

(B) in respect of the primary affiliate,

(I) such portion of the amount so paid as may reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount included in the exempt surplus or deducted from the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the secondary affiliate shall at the end of the year be added to the exempt surplus or deducted from the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate, and

(II) such portion of the amount so paid as may reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount included in the taxable surplus or deducted from the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the secondary affiliate shall at the end of the year be added to the taxable surplus or deducted from the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate and be deducted from the underlying foreign tax of the primary affiliate, or

(ii) an amount is paid by the primary affiliate to a secondary affiliate in respect of a reduction or refund by virtue of a loss of the secondary affiliate for a taxation year of the income or profits tax that would otherwise have been payable by the primary affiliate for the year on behalf of the consolidated group,

(A) in respect of the primary affiliate,

(I) such portion of the amount so paid as may reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount deducted from the exempt surplus or included in the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the secondary affiliate shall at the end of the year of the loss be deducted from the exempt surplus or added to the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate, and

(II) such portion of the amount so paid as may reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount deducted from the taxable surplus or included in the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the secondary affiliate shall at the end of the year of the loss be deducted from the taxable surplus or added to the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate and be added to the underlying foreign tax of the primary affiliate, and

(B) in respect of the secondary affiliate, the amount shall be deemed to be a refund to the secondary affiliate for the year of the loss of income or profits tax in respect of the loss,

Proposed Amendment — 5907(1.1)(b)(ii)

(ii) an amount is paid by the primary affiliate to a secondary affiliate in respect of a reduction or refund because of a loss or a tax credit of the secondary affiliate for a taxation year of the income or profits tax that would otherwise have been payable by the primary affiliate for the year on behalf of the consolidated group,

(A) in respect of the primary affiliate,

(I) the portion of the amount so paid that can reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount deducted from the exempt surplus or included in the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the secondary affiliate shall at the end of the year to which the loss or the tax credit relates be deducted from the exempt surplus or added to the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate, and

(II) the portion of the amount so paid that can reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount deducted from the taxable surplus or included in the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the secondary affiliate shall at the end of the year to which the loss or the tax credit relates be deducted from the taxable surplus or added to the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the primary affiliate and be added to the underlying foreign tax of the primary affiliate, and

(B) in respect of the secondary affiliate, the amount is deemed to be a refund to the secondary affiliate for the year to which the loss or the tax credit relates of income or profits tax in respect of the loss or the tax credit,

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(24), will amend subpara. 5907(1.1)(b)(ii) to read as above, applicable to payments made after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5907(1.1) contains rules for the calculation of the surpluses and deficits of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada where the affiliate is a member of a group (the "consolidated group") of foreign affiliates of the corporation that files a consolidated or combined return in a foreign country such as the United States and one of the affiliates (the "primary affiliate") in the group is responsible, on behalf of the group, for paying, or claiming a refund of, the tax payable in that country by the primary affiliate and the other members of the group (those other members being referred to as the "secondary affiliates").

Subparagraph 5907(1.1)(b)(ii) applies where a secondary affiliate has a loss and the primary affiliate pays an amount to a secondary affiliate in respect of a reduction or refund, by virtue of the loss of the secondary affiliate, of the tax that would otherwise have been payable in the country by the primary affiliate for the year on behalf of the consolidated group. In general terms, that subparagraph results in a reduction of the primary affiliate's surplus balances, and an increase of the secondary affiliate's surplus balances, by the amount of the payment.

The proposed amendments to subparagraph 5907(1.1)(b)(ii) deal with the case where a secondary affiliate has a tax credit and the primary affiliate pays an amount to the secondary affiliate in respect of a reduction or refund, by virtue of the tax credit of the secondary affiliate, of the tax that would otherwise have been payable in the country by the primary affiliate for the year on behalf of the consolidated group. In general terms, the amendments ensure that the primary affiliate's surplus balances are reduced, and the secondary affiliate's surplus balances are increased, by the amount of the payment.

and, for the purposes of this paragraph, any amount paid by a particular secondary affiliate to another secondary affiliate in respect of any income or profits tax that would have been payable by the particular secondary affiliate for the year had it not been a member of the consolidated group shall be deemed to have been paid in respect of such tax by the particular secondary affiliate to the primary affiliate and to have been paid in respect of such tax by the primary affiliate to the other secondary affiliate.

History: Subsec. 5907(1.1) added by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(23), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, applicable to the 1982 and subsequent taxation years of foreign affiliates.

(1.2) [Where FA deducts loss of loss affiliate] — For the purposes of this Part, where, pursuant to the income tax law of a country other than Canada, a corporation resident in that country that is a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada (in this subsection referred to as the "taxpaying affiliate") deducts, in computing its income or profits tax payable for a taxation year to a government of that country, a loss of another corporation resident in that country that is a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada (in this subsection referred to as the "loss affiliate"), the following rules apply:

(a) any such income or profits tax paid by the taxpaying affiliate for the year shall be deemed not to have been paid;

(b) any such income or profits tax that would have been payable by the taxpaying affiliate for the year if the taxpaying affiliate had not been allowed to deduct such loss shall be deemed to have been paid for the year;

(c) to the extent that the income or profits tax that would otherwise have been payable by the taxpaying affiliate for the year is reduced by virtue of such loss, the amount of such reduction shall at the end of the year,

(i) where such loss reduces the exempt surplus or increases the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the loss affiliate, be added to the exempt surplus or deducted from the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the taxpaying affiliate, and

(ii) where such loss reduces the taxable surplus or increases the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the loss affiliate,

(A) be added to the taxable surplus or deducted from the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the taxpaying affiliate, and

(B) be deducted from the underlying foreign tax of the taxpaying affiliate; and

(d) where an amount is paid by the taxpaying affiliate to the loss affiliate in respect of the reduction, by virtue of such loss, of the income or profits tax that would otherwise have been payable by the taxpaying affiliate for the year,

(i) in respect of the taxpaying affiliate,

(A) such portion of the amount as may reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount deducted from the exempt surplus or included in the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the loss affiliate shall at the end of the year be deducted from the exempt surplus or added to the exempt deficit, as the case may be, of the taxpaying affiliate, and

(B) such portion of the amount as may reasonably be regarded as relating to an amount deducted from the taxable surplus or included in the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the loss affiliate shall at the end of the year be deducted from the taxable surplus or added to the taxable deficit, as the case may be, of the taxpaying affiliate and be added to the underlying foreign tax of the taxpaying affiliate, and

(ii) in respect of the loss affiliate, the amount shall be deemed to be a refund to the loss affiliate of income or profits tax in respect of the loss for the taxation year of the loss.

History: Subsec. 5907(1.2) added by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(23), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, applicable to the 1982 and subsequent taxation years of foreign affiliates.

(1.3) [Prescribed foreign accrual tax] — For the purposes of paragraph (b) of the definition "foreign accrual tax" in subsection 95(1) of the Act,

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5907(1.3) opening words

(1.3) For the purpose of paragraph (b) of the definition "foreign accrual tax" in subsection 95(1) of the Act and subject to subsection (1.4), Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (foreign affiliates — FAPI), subsec. 2(1), will amend the opening words of subsec. 5907(1.3) to read as above, applicable to taxation years that begin after November 1999.

Technical Notes: Subsection 91(4) of the Act provides for a deduction in the computation of a taxpayer's income in respect of foreign accrual tax that is attributable to an amount of foreign accrual property income included in the computation of the taxpayer's income. Subsection 95(1) of the Act defines foreign accrual tax to include amounts prescribed to be foreign accrual tax.

In circumstances where the loss of another corporation in a particular group of foreign affiliates of a taxpayer is relevant in the computation of the tax liability of the group to a foreign government, paragraphs 5907(1.3)(a) and (b) of the Regulations provides that an amount paid by the particular corporation to the other corporation in the group in respect of the use of a loss of any other corporation in the computation of the group's tax liability to the foreign government is foreign accrual tax. These provisions apply where the loss of the other corporation is an active business loss or a capital loss resulting from the disposition of excluded property as well as where the loss is a foreign accrual loss as defined in subsection 5903(3) of the Regulations. Subsection 5907(1.3), which applies to taxation years that begin after November 1999, is amended as a consequence of the introduction of subsection 5907(1.4) of the Regulations.

(a) where, pursuant to the income tax law of the country in which a particular foreign affiliate is resident, the particular affiliate and one or more other corporations, each of which is resident in that country, determine their liabilities for income or profits tax payable to the government of that country for a taxation year on a consolidated or combined basis, any amount paid by the particular affiliate to any of the other corporations to the extent that it may reasonably be regarded as being in respect of income or profits tax that would otherwise have been payable by the particular affiliate in respect of a particular amount included in computing the taxpayer's income by virtue of subsection 91(1) of the Act for a taxation year in respect of the particular affiliate, had the tax liability of the particular affiliate and the other corporations not been determined on a consolidated or combined basis, is hereby prescribed to be foreign accrual tax applicable to the particular amount; and

(b) where, pursuant to the income tax law of the country in which a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer is resident, the particular affiliate, in computing its income or profits subject to tax in that country for a taxation year, deducts an amount in respect of a loss of another corporation resident in that country, any amount paid by the particular affiliate to the other corporation to the extent that it may reasonably be regarded as being in respect of income or profits tax that would otherwise have been payable by the particular affiliate in respect of a particular amount included in computing the taxpayer's income by virtue of subsection 91(1) of the Act for a taxation year in respect of the particular affiliate, had the tax liability of the particular affiliate been determined without deducting the loss of the other corporation, is hereby prescribed to be foreign accrual tax applicable to the particular amount.

History: Subsec. 5907(1.3) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(3), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. as amended applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

Subsec. 5907(1.3) added by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(23), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, applicable to the 1982 and subsequent taxation years of foreign affiliates.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5907(1.4)

(1.4) [Prescribed foreign accrual tax] — Any amount paid by a particular affiliate described in paragraph (1.3)(a) or (b) does not include any amount paid by the particular affiliate to any other corporation where the amount paid can reasonably be considered to be in respect of a loss of any other corporation and such loss would not be a foreign accrual property loss of the other corporation (as defined in subsection 5903(3)) without taking into account the particular payment.

Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (foreign affiliates — FAPI), subsec. 2(2), will add subsec. 5907(1.4), applicable to taxation years that begin after November 1999.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5907(1.4) ensures that in such circumstances the amount paid by the particular affiliate to the other corporation will only be foreign accrual tax to the extent that the amount paid is in respect of a foreign accrual property loss of any other corporation. This is consistent with the fact that, under section 5903 of the Regulations, active business losses and capital losses resulting from the disposition of excluded property of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer are not included in the computation of a deductible loss which may be used to reduce foreign accrual property income of that affiliate in a particular taxation year.

(2) [FA carrying on active business] — In computing the earnings of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year of the affiliate from an active business carried on by it in a country, there shall be added to the amount thereof determined under subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii) of the definition "earnings" in subsection (1) (in this subsection referred to as the "earnings amount") such portion of the following amounts as was deducted or was not included, as the case may be, in computing the earnings amount,

(a) any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country by the affiliate so deducted,

(b) if established by the taxpayer, the amount by which any amount so deducted in respect of an expenditure made by the affiliate exceeds the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount of the expenditure

exceeds

(ii) the aggregate of all other deductions in respect of that expenditure made by the affiliate in computing the earnings amounts for preceding taxation years,

(c) any loss of the affiliate referred to in the description of D in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act so deducted,

(d) any capital loss of the affiliate in respect of the disposition of capital property so deducted (for greater certainty, capital property of the affiliate for the purposes of this paragraph includes all the property of the affiliate other than property referred to in subparagraph 39(1)(b)(i) or (ii) of the Act on the assumption for this purpose that the affiliate is a corporation resident in Canada),

(e) any loss of the affiliate for a preceding or a subsequent taxation year so deducted,

(f) any revenue, income or profit (other than an amount referred to in paragraph (f.1), (h) or (i)) of the affiliate derived in the year from such business carried on in that country to the extent that such revenue, income or profit

(i) is not otherwise required to be included in computing the earnings amount of the affiliate for any taxation year by the income tax law that is relevant in computing that amount, and

(ii) does not arise with respect to a disposition (other than a disposition to which subsection (9) applies) by the affiliate of property to another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer or to a person with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length, to which a tax deferral, rollover or similar tax postponement provision of the income tax law that is relevant in computing the earnings amount of the affiliate applied, and

Proposed Amendment — 5907(2)(f)

(f) any revenue, income or profit (other than an amount referred to in paragraph (f.1), (h), or (i)) of the affiliate derived in the year from such business carried on in that country to the extent that such revenue, income or profit is not otherwise required to be included in computing the earnings amount of the affiliate for any taxation year by the income tax law that is relevant in computing the earnings amount, and

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(25), will amend para. 5907(2)(f) to read as above, applicable in respect of a disposition made after December 20, 2002, other than dispositions made under a written agreement made by the foreign affiliate before December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5907(2) provides special rules for computing earnings of a foreign affiliate from an active business carried on by it in a country. It is proposed to amend paragraph 5907(2)(f) to delete subparagraph (ii) consequential to the introduction of the rules in paragraphs 95(2)(c.2) to (c.6), and 95(2) (f.3) to (f.8) of the Act.

The amendment to paragraph 5907(2)(f) applies in respect of dispositions by a foreign affiliate after December 20, 2002, other than a disposition made after December 20, 2002 under a written agreement made by the foreign affiliate before December 20, 2002.

(f.1) any assistance from a government, municipality or other public authority (other than any such assistance that reduced the amount of an expenditure for purposes of computing the earnings amount for any taxation year) that the affiliate received or became entitled to receive in the year in connection with such business carried on in that country that is not otherwise required to be included in computing the earnings amount for the year or for any other taxation year, and there shall be deducted such portion of the following amounts as were included or were not deducted, as the case may be, in computing the earnings amount,

(g) any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country to the affiliate so included;

(h) any capital gain of the affiliate in respect of the disposition of capital property so included (for greater certainty, capital property of the affiliate for the purposes of this paragraph includes all the property of the affiliate other than property referred to in any of subparagraphs 39(1)(a)(i) to (iv) of the Act on the assumption for this purpose that the affiliate is a corporation resident in Canada);

(i) any amount that is included in the foreign accrual property income of the affiliate so included;

(j) any loss, outlay or expense made or incurred in the year by the affiliate for the purpose of gaining or producing such earnings amount to the extent that

(i) such loss, outlay or expense is not otherwise permitted to be deducted in computing the earnings amount of the affiliate for any taxation year by the income tax law that is relevant in computing that amount, or

(ii) such outlay or expense can reasonably be regarded as applicable to any revenue added to the earnings amount of the affiliate under paragraph (f),

where such loss, outlay or expense

(iii) does not arise with respect to a disposition (other than a disposition to which subsection (9) applies) by the affiliate of property to another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer or to a person with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length, to which a loss deferral or similar loss postponement provision of the income tax law that is relevant in computing the earnings amount of the affiliate applied, and

(iv) is not

(A) a loss referred to in paragraph (c) or (d),

(B) a capital expenditure other than interest, or

(C) income or profits tax paid to the government of a country;

(k) any outlay made in the year in repayment of an amount referred to in paragraph (f.1); and

(l) where any property of the affiliate acquired from another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer or from any foreign affiliate of a person resident in Canada with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length has been disposed of, such amount in respect of that property as may reasonably be considered as having been included by virtue of paragraph (f) in computing the earnings amount of any foreign affiliate of the taxpayer or of a person resident in Canada with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length.

History: Subsec. 5907(2) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 8(4), (5), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

Para. 5907(2)(h) substituted by P.C. 1989-321, subsec. 3(9), March 2, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 15, 1989, applicable in respect of taxation years commencing after 1984.

Paras. 5907(2)(f) and (j) substituted, para. 5907(2)(l) added by P.C. 1985-467, subsecs. 4(24)–(26), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, applicable to 1976 et seq.

Paras. 5907(2)(f.1), (k) added, 5907(2)(f), (j) substituted by P.C. 1980-503, subsecs. 5(4), (5), February 8, 1980, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 27, 1980, effective in respect of 1976 et seq.

Proposed Addition — 5907(2.01)

(2.01) [Determining earnings of FA] — Notwithstanding any other provision of the Regulations, in determining the earnings of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada

(a) that are derived from a disposition to which any of subsection 88(3) and paragraphs 95(2)(c.2), (d), (d.1), (e), (e.1), (e.3) to (e.5) and (f.4) of the Act applies, those earnings are to be determined using the rules in those paragraphs; and

(b) from a disposition of property acquired in a transaction to which any of subsection 88(3) and paragraphs 95(2)(c.2), (d), (d.1), (e), (e.1), (e.3) to (e.5) and (f.4) of the Act applies, the cost to the foreign affiliate of the property is to be determined using the rules in those paragraphs.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(26), will add subsec. 5907(2.01), applicable on the same basis as 5907(2)(f) above.

Technical Notes: New subsection 5907(2.01) provides that, notwithstanding any other provision of the Regulations, in determining the earnings of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, the cost of a property that was acquired by a particular person or partnership from another person or partnership (the "vendor") in respect of which any of paragraphs 5907(2)(c.2), (d), (e), (e.3) to (e.5) and (f.4) of the Regulations applied to the vendor in respect of the disposition of the property to the particular person or partnership, is to be determined using the rules in those paragraphs.

New subsection 5907(2.01) applies in respect of dispositions made by a foreign affiliate after December 20, 2002, other than a disposition made after December 20, 2002 under a written agreement made by the foreign affiliate before December 20, 2002.

(2.1) [FA carrying on active business in Canada or treaty country] — In computing the earnings of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada for a taxation year of the affiliate from an active business carried on by it in Canada or in a designated treaty country, where the affiliate is resident in a designated treaty country and the corporation, together with all other corporations resident in Canada with which the corporation does not deal at arm's length and in respect of which the affiliate is a foreign affiliate, have so elected in respect of the business for the taxation year or any preceding taxation year of the affiliate, the following rules apply:

(a) there shall be added to the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) of the definition "earnings" in subsection (1) after adjustment in accordance with the provisions of subsection (2) (in this subsection and in subsection (2.2) referred to as the "adjusted earnings amount") the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount that can reasonably be regarded as having been deducted in respect of the cost of a capital property or foreign resource property of the affiliate in computing the adjusted earnings amount

exceeds

(ii) the amount that may reasonably be regarded as having been deducted in respect of the cost of that capital property or foreign resource property in computing income or profit of the affiliate for the year from that business in its financial statements prepared in accordance with the laws of the country in which the affiliate is resident;

(b) there shall be deducted from the adjusted earnings amount the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(ii) in respect of that capital property or foreign resource property

exceeds

(ii) the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) in respect of that capital property or foreign resource property;

(c) where any capital property or foreign resource property of the affiliate has been disposed of in the taxation year,

(i) there shall be added to the adjusted earnings amount the aggregate of the amounts deducted pursuant to paragraphs (b) and (2.2)(b) for preceding taxation years of the affiliate in respect of that capital property or foreign resource property, and

(ii) there shall be deducted from the adjusted earnings amount the aggregate of the amounts added pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (2.2)(a) for the preceding taxation years of the affiliate in respect of that capital property or foreign resource property; and

(d) for the purposes of paragraph (c), where the affiliate has merged with one or more corporations to form a new corporation, any capital property or foreign resource property of the affiliate that becomes a property of the new corporation shall be deemed to have been disposed of by the affiliate in its last taxation year before the merger.

Related Provisions: ITA 220(3.2), Reg. 600(d) — Late filing of election or revocation; Reg. 5907(2.2), (2.4) — Application rules; Reg. 5907(2.6) — Corporation deemed to have elected.

History: The opening words of subsec. 5907(2.1) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(6), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a corporation that begin after 1995, except that, where the corporation notifies the Minister of National Revenue in its return of income for its first taxation year that begins after 1994 or for a taxation year in which a dividend was paid by the foreign affiliate of its election to have subsections 5907(11) (as amended), (11.1) and (11.2) apply to a taxation year of the foreign affiliate of the corporation that begins before 1996,

(a) subsection 8(6) of the amending Regulations applies to that taxation year and each subsequent taxation year of the foreign affiliate of the corporation; and

(b) any reference in s. 5907 to "country listed in subsection (11)" shall be read as "designated treaty country" and any reference to "country not listed in subsection (11)" shall be read as "country that is not a designated treaty country" for that taxation year and those subsequent taxation years of the foreign affiliate of the corporation.

The portion of para. 5907(2.1)(a) before subpara. (ii), paras. (c), (d), amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 8(7) to (9), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) those provisions apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

Paras. 5907(2.1)(a) to (d) substituted by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(27), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, applicable in respect of elections made after 1983.

Subsec. 5907(2.1) added by P.C. 1978-3599, s. 2, November 30, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 13, 1978, effective for 1978 et seq.

Information Circulars: 77-9R: Books, records and other requirements for taxpayers having foreign affiliates.

(2.2) [Where election made under Reg. 5907(2.1)] — Where the taxation year of a foreign affiliate of a particular corporation resident in Canada for which the particular corporation has made an election under subsection (2.1) in respect of an active business carried on by the affiliate is not the first taxation year of the affiliate in which it carried on the business and in which it was a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation or of another corporation resident in Canada with which the particular corporation was not dealing at arm's length at any time (hereinafter referred to as the "non-arm's length corporation"), in computing the earnings of the affiliate from the business for the taxation year for which the election is made, the following rules, in addition to those set out in subsection (2.1), apply:

(a) there shall be added to the adjusted earnings amount the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that would have been determined under paragraph (2.1)(a) or subparagraph (2.1)(c)(i)

(i) for any preceding taxation year of the affiliate in which it was a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation if the particular corporation had made an election under subsection (2.1) for the first taxation year of the affiliate in which it was a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation and carried on the business, and

(ii) for any preceding taxation year of the affiliate (other than a taxation year referred to in subparagraph (i)) in which it was a foreign affiliate of the non-arm's length corporation if the non-arm's length corporation had made an election under subsection (2.1) for the first taxation year of the affiliate in which it was a foreign affiliate of the non-arm's length corporation and carried on the business; and

(b) there shall be deducted from the adjusted earnings amount the aggregate of all amounts each of which is an amount that would have been determined under paragraph (2.1)(b) or subparagraph (2.1)(c)(ii)

(i) for any preceding taxation year of the affiliate in which it was a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation if the particular corporation had made an election under subsection (2.1) for the first taxation year of the affiliate in which it was a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation and carried on the business, and

(ii) for any preceding taxation year of the affiliate (other than a taxation year referred to in subparagraph (i)) in which it was a foreign affiliate of the non-arm's length corporation if the non-arm's length corporation had made an election under subsection (2.1) for the first taxation year of the affiliate in which it was a foreign affiliate of the non-arm's length corporation and carried on the business.

History: Subsec. 5907(2.2) substituted by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(28), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, applicable in respect of elections made after November 4, 1982.

Subsec. 5907(2.2) added by P.C. 1978-3599, s. 2, November 30, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 13, 1978, effective for 1978 et seq.

(2.3) [Where election made under Reg. 5907(2.1)] — For the purposes of this subsection and subsections (2.1) and (2.2), where an election under subsection (2.1) has been made by a corporation resident in Canada (in this subsection and in subsection (2.4) referred to as the "electing corporation") in respect of an active business of a foreign affiliate of the electing corporation and the affiliate subsequently becomes a foreign affiliate of another corporation resident in Canada (in this subsection and in subsection (2.4) referred to as the "subsequent corporation") that does not deal at arm's length with the electing corporation, in computing the earnings of the affiliate from such business in respect of the subsequent corporation for any taxation year of the affiliate ending after the affiliate so became a foreign affiliate of the subsequent corporation, the subsequent corporation shall be deemed to have made an election under subsection (2.1) in respect of the business of the affiliate for the first such taxation year and for the purposes of paragraph (2.1)(d), the earnings of the affiliate for all of the preceding taxation years shall be deemed to have been adjusted in accordance with subsections (2.1) and (2.2) in the same manner as if the subsequent corporation had been the electing corporation.

History: Subsec. 5907(2.3) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(10), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the amendment applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

Subsecs. 5907(2.3)–(2.6) added by P.C. 1978-3599, s. 2, November 30, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 13, 1978, effective for 1978 et seq.

(2.4) ["Subsequent corporation" for Reg. 5907(2.3)] — For the purposes of subsection (2.3)

(a) a corporation formed as a result of a merger, to which section 87 of the Act applies, of the electing corporation and one or more other corporations, or

(b) a corporation that has acquired shares of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate, in respect of which an election under subsection (2.1) has been made, from the electing corporation in a transaction in respect of which an election under section 85 of the Act was made shall be deemed to be a subsequent corporation that does not deal at arm's length with the electing corporation.

(2.5) [Repealed]

History: Subsec. 5907(2.5) repealed by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(11), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the repeal applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

(2.6) [Corporations deemed to have elected under Reg. 5907(2.1)] — A corporation resident in Canada, and all other corporations resident in Canada with which the corporation does not deal at arm's length, shall each be considered to have elected under subsection (2.1) in respect of an active business carried on by a non-resident corporation that is a foreign affiliate of each such corporation for a taxation year if there is filed with the Minister on or before the day that is the later of

(a) June 30, 1986, and

(b) the earliest of the days on or before which any one of the said corporations is required to file a return of income pursuant to section 150 of the Act for its taxation year following the taxation year in which the taxation year of the affiliate in respect of which the election is made ends, the following information:

(c) a description of the active business sufficient to identify the business, and

(d) a statement on behalf of each such corporation, signed by an authorized official of the corporation on behalf of which the statement is made, that the corporation is electing under subsection (2.1) in respect of the business.

History: Subsec. 5907(2.6) substituted by P.C. 1989-321, subsec. 3(10), applicable in respect of elections made under subsec. 5907(2.1) for 1982 et seq.

(2.7) [Where ITA 95(2)(a)(i) or (ii) applies] — Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, where

(a) an amount is included in computing the income or loss from an active business of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year under subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) or (ii) of the Act, and

(b) the amount included is in respect of an amount paid or payable (other than an amount paid or payable that is described in clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act) by another non-resident corporation described in subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) or (ii) of the Act or by a partnership of which such a corporation is a member, the amount (in respect of which an amount was included in the income or loss from an active business of the particular affiliate for the paticular year) paid or payable by the non-resident corporation or the partnership shall, except where it has been deducted under paragraph (2)(j) in computing the non-resident corporation's earnings or loss from an active business, be deducted in computing the earnings or loss of the non-resident corporation or the partnership, as the case may be, from the active business for its earliest taxation year in which the amount was paid or paybable and shall not be deducted in computing its earnings or loss from the active business for any other taxation year.

Proposed Amendment — 5907(2.7)

(2.7) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, if an amount is included in computing the income or loss from an active business of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a particular taxation year under paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act and is in respect of a particular amount paid or payable (other than an amount paid or payable described in clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act) by another non-resident corporation described in paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act or by a partnership of which such a corporation is a member, the particular amount is to, except where it has been deducted under paragraph (2)(j) in computing the other non-resident corporation's earnings or loss from an active business, be deducted in computing the earnings or loss of the other non-resident corporation or the partnership, as the case may be, from the active business for its earliest taxation year in which the particular amount was paid or payable. The particular amount may not be deducted in computing its earnings or loss from the active business for any other taxation year.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(27), will amend subsec. 5907(2.7) to read as above, applicable to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 19, 2002.

S. 9 of the draft regulations provides that if a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer referred to in the above amendment makes a valid "Global Section 95 Election" under subsec. 133(68) of the February 27, 2004 draft legislation (see Application and Technical Notes to Proposed Amendment to ITA 95(2)(a)), then the amendment is applicable to taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that begin after 1994.

Technical Notes: In general terms, subsection 5907(2.7) provides that, where amounts are included by subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) or (ii) of the Act in computing the income or loss from an active business of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer and these amounts are in respect of amounts paid or payable to the particular affiliate by another non-resident corporation or partnership in the group, the amounts paid or payable to the particular affiliate by the other non-resident corporation or partnership are required to be deducted in computing the other non-resident corporation's or partnership's earnings or loss from an active business (unless they have already been deducted under paragraph 5907(2)(j) of the Regulations) for the earliest taxation year in which the amounts were paid or payable.

Subsection 5907(2.7) is proposed to be amended so that it applies to amounts included in computing the income or loss from an active business of the particular affiliate under paragraph 95(2)(a) of the Act, rather than just under subparagraph 95(2)(a)(i) or (ii).

The proposed amendments to subsection 5907(2.7) apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin on or after December 20, 2002. Note that these amendments are included in the Global Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

History: Subsec. 5907(2.7) added by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(12), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

(2.8) [Where ITA 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) applies] — Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, where

(a) an amount is included in computing the income from an active business of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer or a person related to the taxpayer for a particular taxation year under clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act, and

(b) the amount included is in respect of an amount of interest paid or payable by another non-resident corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "second affiliate") to which the particular affiliate and the taxpayer are related

the following rules apply:

(c) that amount of interest shall be deducted in computing the second affiliate's income or loss, from an active business carried on by it in a country in which it is resident and subject to income taxation, for its earliest taxation year in which the amount was paid or payable,

(d) the second affiliate is deemed to have carried on an active business in a country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation for each taxation year referred to in paragraph (c) in which such an active business was not otherwise carried on by it, and

(e) in computing the second affiliate's income for a taxation year from any source, no amount shall be deducted in respect of an amount paid or payable by it that is referred to in paragraph (c) except as is required under that paragraph.

Proposed Amendment — 5907(2.8)–(2.83)

Technical Notes: Under clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act, the income of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada (the "first affiliate") that is derived from amounts paid or payable to it by another foreign affiliate of the corporation or a non-resident corporation to which the first affiliate and the corporation resident in Canada are related (referred to in subsections 5907(2.8) to (2.83) as the "second affiliate") is included in the active business income of the first affiliate.

The amounts paid or payable by the second affiliate must be in respect of interest on borrowed money used for the purpose of earning income from property or on an amount payable for property where the property consists of shares of another foreign affiliate of the corporation in respect of which the corporation has a qualifying interest throughout the year (in subsections 5907(2.8) to (2.83), the "third affiliate") that are excluded property of the second affiliate within the meaning assigned by section 95 of the Act in the country in which the second affiliate is resident and subject to income taxation.

It is proposed that existing subsection 5907(2.8) be replaced by proposed new subsections 5907(2.8) to (2.83) because of the proposed amendments to clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act. These are essentially rules for reducing exempt surplus of foreign affiliates of a taxpayer resident in Canada in respect of interest referred to in 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act. The proposed new subsections apply to taxation year, of foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, to which proposed new clauses 95(2)(a)(ii)(D)(III) to (V) of the Act apply.

(2.8) [Where ITA 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) applies] — Subsection (2.81) applies, in respect of a particular amount of interest, to the specified foreign affiliates of a corporation resident in Canada, if

(a) an amount in respect of the particular amount of interest is included, because of clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act, in computing the income or loss for a particular taxation year from an active business of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada or a particular foreign affiliate of a person related to that corporation; and

(b) the particular amount of interest is an amount of interest paid or payable to the particular foreign affiliate, by another foreign affiliate (in this subsection and in subsections (2.81) to (2.83) referred to as the "second affiliate") of the corporation resident in Canada to which the particular foreign affiliate and the corporation resident in Canada are related, under a legal obligation to pay interest on borrowed money used for the purpose of earning income from property, or on an amount payable for property acquired for the purpose of gaining or producing income from property, and

(i) the property is excluded property of the second affiliate that is shares of the third affiliate referred to in subclause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D)(III) of the Act (which third affiliate is referred to in this subsection and in subsections (2.81) to (2.83) as the "third affiliate"), and

(ii) the requirements set out in subclauses 95(2)(a)(ii)(D)(IV) and (V) of the Act are satisfied in respect of the second and third affiliates for their respective applicable taxation years.

Technical Notes: Proposed subsection 5907(2.8) sets out, in respect of a particular amount of interest referred to in 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act, the requirements for new subsection 5907(2.81) to apply.

Proposed subsection 5907(2.8) provides that subsection 5907(2.81) applies to the specified foreign affiliates of a corporation resident in Canada, if

- an amount in respect of the particular amount of interest is included, under clause 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) of the Act, in computing the income or loss for a particular taxation year from an active business of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada or a person related to the corporation resident in Canada, and
- the particular amount of interest is an amount of interest paid or payable to the particular foreign affiliate, by the second affiliate, under a legal obligation to pay interest on borrowed money used for the purpose of earning income from property, or on an amount payable for property acquired for the purpose of gaining or producing income from property, if
  - the property is exluded property of the second affiliate that is shares of the third affiliate, and
  - the requirements set out in clauses 95(2)(a)(ii)(D)(IV) and (V) of the Act are satisfied in respect of the second and third affiliates for their respective applicable taxation years.

(2.81) [Where ITA 95(2)(a)(ii)(D) applies] — If this subsection applies, in respect of the particular amount of interest, to the specified foreign affiliates of the corporation resident in Canada, the following rules apply:

(a) where the specified foreign affiliate is the second affiliate, the particular amount is to be deducted in computing the second affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate, to the extent of the second affiliate's available exempt surplus amount in respect of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate;

(b) where the specified foreign affiliate is the third affiliate, there is to be deducted in computing the third affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the applicable taxation year of the third affiliate, the lesser of the third affiliate's available exempt surplus amount in respect of its applicable taxation year and the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times C$$

where

A is the particular amount of interest,

B is the amount deducted because of paragraph (a) in computing the second affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate, and

C is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the third affiliate, in respect of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate;

(c) where the specified foreign affiliate is a group foreign affiliate, there is to be deducted, in computing the group foreign affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the applicable taxation year of the group foreign affiliate, the lesser of the group foreign affiliate's available exempt surplus in respect of its applicable taxation year and the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B - C) \times D$$

where

A is the particular amount of interest,

B is the amount deducted because of paragraph (a) in computing the second affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate,

C is the amount determined when the amount deducted because of paragraph (b) in computing the third affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the applicable taxation year of the third affiliate is divided by the amount determined for C in the formula in paragraph (b) in respect of the third affiliate, and

D is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the specified foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate;

(d) amounts in respect of the particular amount of interest must be deducted under paragraphs (a) to (c) in computing the exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the specified foreign affiliates of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of each of their applicable taxation years to the extent of the total of all amounts each of which is the available exempt surplus amount of a specified foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of that specified foreign affiliate's applicable taxation year;

(e) paragraph (a) is to be applied to the second affiliate before paragraph (b) is applied to the third affiliate and paragraph (b) is to be applied to the third affiliate before paragraph (c) is applied to a group foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada; and

(f) there is to be added in computing the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the second affiliate the amount determined by the formula:

$$K - (L + M + N)$$

where

K is the particular amount of interest,

L is the amount determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the particular amount of interest in respect of the second affiliate,

M is the amount determined when the amount determined under paragraph (b) in respect of the particular amount of interest in respect of the third affiliate is divided by the amount determined for C in the formula in that paragraph, and

N is the amount determined when the amount determined under paragraph (c) in respect of the particular amount of interest in respect of the group foreign affiliate is divided by the amount determined for D in the formula in that paragraph.

Technical Notes: If subsection 5907(2.81) applies, in respect of the particular amount of interest referred to in subsection 5907(2.8), to the specified foreign affiliates of the corporation resident in Canada, the following rules apply:

- Where the specified foreign affiliate is the second affiliate referred to in subsection 5907(2.8), the particular amount of interest is to be deducted in computing the specified foreign affiliate's exempt surplus at the end of the applicable taxation year of the specified foreign affiliate, to the extent of the specified foreign affiliate's available exempt surplus amount in respect of the applicable taxation year of the specified foreign affiliate.

- Where the specified foreign affiliate is the third affiliate referred to in subsection 5907(2.8), there shall be deducted in computing the specified foreign affiliate's exempt surplus at the end of the applicable taxation year of the specified foreign affiliate, the lesser of the specified foreign affiliate's available exempt surplus amount in respect of the applicable taxation year of the specified foreign affiliate and the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times C$$

where

A is the particular amount of interest,

B is the amount deducted because of paragraph 5907(2.81)(a) in computing the second affiliate's exempt surplus at the end of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate, and

C is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the specified foreign affiliate, in respect of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate.

- Where the specified foreign affiliate is a group foreign affiliate (defined in subsection referred to in subsection 5907(2.84)), there shall be deducted in computing the specified foreign affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the applicable taxation year of the specified foreign affiliate, the lesser of the specified foreign affiliate's available exempt surplus (defined in subsection referred to in subsection 5907(2.83)) in respect of its applicable taxation year and the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B - C) \times D$$

where

A is the particular amount of interest,

B is the amount deducted because of paragraph 5907(2.81)(a) in computing the second affiliate's exempt surplus at the end of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate,

C is the amount determined when the amount deducted because of paragraph 5907(2.81)(b) in computing the third affiliate's exempt surplus at the end of the applicable taxation year of the third affiliate is divided by the amount determined for C in the formula in paragraph 5907(2.81)(b) in respect of the third affiliate, and

D is the specified adjustment factor, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the specified foreign affiliate, in respect of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate.

- Amounts in respect of the particular amount of interest must be deducted under paragraph 5907(2.81)(a) to (c) that subsection in computing the exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the specified foreign affiliates of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of each of their applicable taxation years to the extent of the total of all amounts each of which is the available exempt surplus amount of a specified foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the applicable taxation year of that specified foreign affiliate.

- An exempt surplus reduction is to be applied against the second affiliate before it is applied against the third affiliate and is to be applied against the third affiliate before it is applied against a group foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada.

- There is to be added in computing the exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the second affiliate the amount determined by the formula:

$$K - (L + M + N)$$

where

K is the particular amount of interest,

L is the amount determined under paragraph 5907(2.81)(a) in respect of the particular amount of interest in respect of the second affiliate,

M is the amount determined when the amount determined under paragraph 5907(2.81)(b) in respect of the particular amount of interest in respect of the third affiliate is divided by the amount determined for C in the formula in that paragraph, and

N is the amount determined when the amount determined under paragraph 5907(2.81)(c) in respect of the particular amount of interest in respect of the group foreign affiliate is divided by the amount determined for D in the formula in that paragraph.

(2.82) [Application rule for Reg. 5907(2.81)] — In computing the second affiliate's income or loss for a taxation year from any source, no amount may be deducted in respect of an amount paid or payable by it that is referred to in paragraph (2.81)(a).

Technical Notes: Proposed subsection 5907(2.82) provides that, in computing the second affiliate's income or loss for a taxation year from any source, no amount is to be deducted in respect of an amount paid or payable by it that is referred to in paragraph 5907(2.81)(a).

Related Provisions: Reg. 5907(2.83) — Definitions.

(2.83) [Definitions for Reg. 5907(2.8)–(2.92)] — The following definitions apply in this subsection and subsections (2.8) to (2.82).

"applicable taxation year", of a specified foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, means the last taxation year of the specified foreign affiliate that ends in the particular taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate referred to in paragraph (2.8)(a).

Technical Notes: Proposed subsection 5907(2.83) sets out certain definitions used in subsections 5907(2.8) to (2.83).

"Applicable taxation year" of a specified foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in subsection 5907(2.83) of the Regulations, is the last taxation year of the specified foreign affiliate that ends in the particular taxation year of the particular foreign affiliate referred to in paragraph 5907(2.8)(a).

"available exempt surplus amount", of a specified foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the applicable taxation year of the specified foreign affiliate, means the amount determined by the formula

$$(A + B + C) - (D + E + F + G)$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of the specified foreign affiliate's income, for its applicable taxation year, from an active business that is included in computing the exempt earnings of the specified foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

B is the specified foreign affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the specified foreign affiliate's taxation year that immediately precedes its applicable taxation year,

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any dividend received in the applicable taxation year, by the specified foreign affiliate from another foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of that other affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of the specified foreign affiliate's loss, for its applicable taxation year, from an active business that is included in computing the exempt loss of the specified foreign affiliate in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

E is the specified foreign affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the specified foreign affiliate's taxation year that immediately precedes its applicable taxation year,

F is the specified foreign affiliate's taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the specified foreign affiliate's taxation year that immediately precedes its applicable taxation year, and

G is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any dividend paid in the applicable taxation year by the specified foreign affiliate that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of its exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

Technical Notes: "Available exempt surplus amount" of a specified foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in subsection 5907(2.83) of the Regulations in respect of the applicable taxation year of the specified foreign affiliate is the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the total of all amounts of which is this portion the specified foreign affiliate's income, for its applicable taxation year, from an active business that is included in computing the exempt earnings in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the specified foreign affiliate,

B is the specified foreign affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the specified foreign affiliate's taxation year that immediately precedes its applicable taxation year,

C is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any dividend received in the applicable taxation year, by the specified foreign affiliate from another foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of that other affiliate's exempt surplus,

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of the specified foreign affiliate's loss, for its applicable taxation year, from an active business that is included in computing the exempt loss in respect of the corporation resident in Canada of the specified foreign affiliate,

E is the specified foreign affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the specified foreign affiliate's taxation year that immediately precedes its applicable taxation year,

F is the specified foreign affiliate's taxable deficit in respect of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of the specified foreign affiliate's taxation year that immediately precedes its applicable taxation year, and

G is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any dividend paid in the applicable taxation year by the specified foreign affiliate that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of its exempt surplus.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

"group foreign affiliate", at any time of a corporation resident in Canada, means any of its foreign affiliates (other than the second affiliate and the third affiliate) in which the second affiliate has, at that time, an equity percentage.

Technical Notes: "Group foreign affiliate", at any time, of a corporation resident in Canada, in subsection 5907(2.83) of the Regulations, is any of its foreign affiliates (other than the second affiliate and the third affiliate) in which the second affiliate has, at that time, an equity percentage.

"specified adjustment factor", in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of a specified foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate, means the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the second affiliate, immediately before the end of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate, and

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the specified foreign affiliate, immediately before the end of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate.

Technical Notes: "Specified adjustment factor", in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in subsection 5907(2.83) of the Regulations, in respect of a specified foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate, is the amount determined by the formula

$$A/B$$

where

A is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the second affiliate, immediately before the end of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate, and

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the specified foreign affiliate, immediately before the end of the applicable taxation year of the second affiliate.

"specified foreign affiliate", of a corporation resident in Canada, means any foreign affiliate of the corporation that, at the end of the particular taxation year referred to in paragraph (2.8)(a), is

(a) the second affiliate;

(b) the third affiliate; or

(c) another corporation that is

(i) if there is only one group foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of that particular taxation year, that group foreign affiliate, or

(ii) if there is more than one group foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of that particular taxation year, the group foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada with the greatest available exempt surplus amount for the applicable taxation year of that group foreign affiliate.

Technical Notes: "Specified foreign affiliate" of the corporation resident in Canada, in subsection 5907(2.83), is any foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada that, at the end of the particular taxation year referred to in paragraph 5907(2.8)(a) of the Regulations, is

- the second affiliate,
- the third affiliate, or
- another corporation that is
  - if there is only one group foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of that particular taxation year, that group foreign affiliate, or
  - if there is more than one group foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada at the end of that particular taxation year, the group foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada with the greatest available exempt surplus amount for the applicable taxation year of that group foreign affiliate.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(28), will replace subsec. 5907(2.8) with subsecs. (2.8) to (2.83), applicable to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, to which ITA 95(2)(a)(ii)(D)(III) to (V), as proposed by subcl. 133(8) of the February 27, 2004 draft amendments, apply.

S. 9 of the draft regulations provides that if a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer referred to in the above amendment makes a valid "Global Section 95 Election" under subsec. 133(68) of the February 27, 2004 draft legislation (see Application and Technical Notes to Proposed Amendment to ITA 95(2)(a)), then the amendment is applicable to taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that begin after 1994.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5907(2.83) — Definitions.

History: Subsec. 5907(2.8) added by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(12), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

(2.9) [Where fresh start rules apply] — In computing the earnings from an active business of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada for the affiliate's taxation year immediately before the particular taxation year of the affiliate referred to in paragraph 95(2)(k) of the Act,

(a) there shall be added to the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii) of the definition "earnings" in subsection (1) after adjustment in accordance with subsections (2), (2.1) and (2.2) the total of

(i) the amount, if any, by which the total determined in respect of the affiliate in clause (b)(i)(B) for the year exceeds the total determined in respect of the affiliate in clause (b)(i)(A) for the year,

(ii) where, at the end of the year, the affiliate was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have disposed of property owned by it that was used or held by it in the course of a carrying on the active business in the year, the amount that is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which

(A) the lesser of the fair market value and the cost to the affiliate at the end of the year of a capital property (referred to in this subparagraph and subparagraph (b)(ii) as a particular "depreciable asset") owned by it that

(I) was used or held by it in the course of carrying on the active business in the year,

(II) was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have been disposed of at the end of the year, and

(III) was property in respect of the cost of which amounts were, at any time, deductible in computing the earnings from the active business under subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii) of the definition "earnings" in subsection (1)

exceeds

(B) the amount, if any, by which the cost to the affiliate of the particular depreciable asset exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that can reasonably be regarded as having been deducted in respect of the cost of the particular depreciable asset in computing the earnings (as would be defined in subsection (1) if that definition were read as if the reference in that definition to this subsection did not exist) of the affiliate from the active business in the year or in any preceding taxation year of the affiliate in which it was a foreign affiliate of the corporation or of another corporation resident in Canada which the corporation was not dealing with at arm's length at any time, and

(iii) where, at the end of the year, the affiliate was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have disposed of property (other than capital property) owned by it that was used or held by it in the course of carrying on the active business in the year, the amount that is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount, if any, by which the fair market value of such a property exceeds the cost to the affiliate of the property at the time that is immediately before the end of the year; and

(b) there shall be deducted from the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii) of the definition "earnings" in subsection (1) after adjustment in accordance with subsections (2), (2.1) and (2.2) the total of

(i) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the total of all amounts each of which is a maximum amount deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(d) of the Act to have been claimed under subparagraphs 138(3)(a)(i), (ii) and (iv) and paragraphs 20(1)(l) and (l.1) and 20(7)(c) of the Act (each of which provisions is referred to in this subparagraph as a "reserve provision") in the year

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount actually claimed by the affiliate as a reserve in the year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of amounts in respect of which a reserve could have been claimed under a reserve provision on the assumption that the affiliate could have claimed amounts in respect of the reserve provisions in the year,

(ii) the amount that is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which the amount determined under clause (a)(ii)(B) in respect of a particular depreciable asset described in clause (a)(ii)(A) exceeds the fair market value of the particular depreciable asset at the end of the year, and

(iii) where, at the end of the year, the affiliate was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have disposed of propety (other than capital property) owned by it that was used or held by it in the course of carrying on the active business in the year, the amount that is the total of all amounts each of which is an amount, if any, by which the cost to the affiliate of such a property at the time that is immediately before the end of the year exceeds the fair market value of the property at the end of the year.

Proposed Amendment — 5907(2.9), (2.91)

(2.9) — If paragraph 95(2)(k.1) of the Act applies in respect of a particular taxation year of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer or in respect of a particular fiscal period of a partnership at the end of which a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer is a member of the partnership (which foreign affiliate or partnership is referred to in this subsection as the "operator" and which particular taxation year or particular fiscal period is referred to in this subsection as the "specified taxation year"), in computing the affiliate's earnings or loss from the foreign business referred to in that paragraph or from the disposition of property used or held in the course of carrying on the foreign business referred to in that paragraph (which foreign business is referred to in this subsection as the "foreign business") for the affiliate's taxation year (which taxation year is referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b) as the "preceding taxation year") that is the affiliate's preceding taxation year referred to in paragraph 95(2)(k) of the Act or that is the affiliate's taxation year in which the preceding fiscal period referred to in paragraph 95(2)(k) of the Act ended, as the case may be,

(a) there shall be added to the amount determined under paragraph (a) of the definition "earnings" in subsection (1), after adjustment in accordance with subsections (2) to (2.2),

(i) where the operator is the affiliate, the total of

(A) the amount, if any, by which the total determined under subclause (b)(i)(A)(II) in respect of the operator for the preceding taxation year exceeds the total determined under subclause (b)(i)(A)(I) in respect of the operator for that year,

(B) if the operator was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have, at the end of the preceding taxation year, disposed of property owned by it that was used or held by it in the course of carrying on the foreign business in that year, the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which

(I) the lesser of the fair market value and the cost to the operator immediately before the end of that year of a capital property (referred to in this subclause and in subclause (II) as a "particular depreciable asset") owned by it that

1. was used or held by it in the course of carrying on the foreign business in that year,

2. was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have been disposed of at the end of that year, and

3. was property in respect of the cost of which amounts were, at any time, deductible in computing the operator's income or loss for the purpose of computing the affiliate's earnings or loss from the foreign business under paragraph (a) of the definition "earnings", or under paragraph (a) of the definition "loss", in subsection (1)

exceed

(II) the amount, if any, by which the cost to the operator immediately before the end of that year of the particular depreciable asset exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is an amount that can reasonably be regarded as having been deducted in respect of the cost of the particular depreciable asset in computing the operator's income or loss for the purpose of computing the earnings or loss (determined without reference to this subsection) of the affiliate from the foreign business in any taxation year preceding the specified taxation year of the affiliate in which it was a foreign affiliate of the corporation or of another corporation resident in Canada with which the corporation was not dealing at arm's length at any time, and

(C) if the operator was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have, at the end of the preceding taxation year, disposed of property owned by it that was used or held by it in the course of carrying on the foreign business in that year, the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which the fair market value, immediately before the end of that year, of each property (other than capital property, eligible capital property or resource property) deemed because of those paragraphs to have been disposed of exceeds the cost to the operator of the property at that time,

(D) if the operator was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have, at the end of the preceding taxation year, disposed of eligible capital property, the amount, if any, required by subsection 14(1) of the Act to be included in computing the operator's income for that year from the foreign business, and

(E) if the operator was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have, at the end of the preceding taxation year, disposed of resource property, the amount, if any, by which

(I) the total of all amounts included by subsection 59(1) or paragraph 59(3.2)(c) or (c.1) of the Act in computing the operator's income for that year from the foreign business

exceeds

(II) the total of all amounts that were deductible under section 66, 66.1, 66.2, 66.21 or 66.4 of the Act in computing the operator's income for that year from the foreign business, and

(ii) where the operator is the partnership, the proportion of the total determined under subparagraph (i) that the affiliate's share of the partnership's income or loss for the preceding taxation year is of the partnership's income or loss for that year but, for the purpose of this subparagraph, if both the income and loss of the partnership for the preceding taxation year are nil, that proportion is to be determined as if the partnership had income for that year in the amount of $1,000,000; and

(b) there shall be added to the amount determined under paragraph (a) of the definition "loss" in subsection (1)

(i) where the operator is the affiliate, the total of

(A) the amount, if any, by which

(I) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and 138(11.91)(d) of the Act to have been claimed under paragraph 20(1)(l), 20(1)(l.1) or 20(7)(c), or subparagraph 138(3)(a)(i), (ii) or (iv), of the Act (each of which provisions is referred to in this subparagraph as a "reserve provision") in computing the income from the foreign business for the preceding taxation year

(II) the total of all amounts each of which is an amount actually claimed by the operator as a reserve in computing its income from the foreign business for that year that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of amounts in respect of which a reserve could have been claimed under a reserve provision on the assumption that the operator could have claimed amounts in respect of the reserve provisions for that year,

(B) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which the amount determined under subclause (a)(i)(B)(II) in respect of a particular depreciable asset described in subclause (a)(i)(B)(I) exceeds the fair market value, at the end of the preceding taxation year, of the particular depreciable asset,

(C) if the operator was deemed because of paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act to have, at the end of the preceding taxation year, disposed of property owned by it that was used or held by it in the course of carrying on the foreign business in that year, the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which the cost to the operator, immediately before the end of that year, of each property (other than capital property, eligible capital property or resource property) deemed because of those paragraphs to have been disposed of exceeds the fair market value of the property at the end of that year,

(D) if the operator was, because of paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, deemed to have, at the end of the preceding taxation year, disposed of eligible capital property, the amount, if any, that would be permitted by paragraph 24(1)(a) of the Act to be deducted in computing the operator's income for that year from the foreign business if the operator had, immediately before the end of that year, ceased to carry on the foreign business, and

(E) the amount, if any, by which the total determined in respect of the operator in subclause (a)(i)(E)(II) for the preceding taxation year exceeds the total determined in respect of the operator in subclause (a)(i)(E)(I) for that year, and

(ii) where the operator is the partnership, the proportion of the total determined under subparagraph (i) that the affiliate's share of the income or loss of the partnership for the preceding taxation year is of the income or loss of the partnership for that year but, for the purpose of this subparagraph, if both the income and loss of the partnership for the preceding taxation year are nil, that proportion is determined as if the partnership had income for that year in the amount of $1,000,000.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5907(2.9) applies where the fresh start rules in paragraph 95(2)(k) of the Act apply to a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada in respect of a "foreign business".

Subsection 5907(2.9) ensures that appropriate adjustments are made to the surplus accounts of the affiliate.

In general terms, subsection 5907(2.9) provides that there is to be added to the affiliate's "earnings" (as defined in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations), for the last taxation year of the affiliate before the fresh start year, the total of the following amounts:

- the amount by which the actual reserves claimed exceed the maximum reserve allowed under paragraph 95(2)(k) of the Act for that last taxation year;
- where, because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, there is a deemed disposition of depreciable property that was used or held by the affiliate in the course of carrying on the foreign business, the amount by which the lesser of the fair market value and the cost to the affiliate of the property exceeds the undepreciated capital cost (or an analogous concept under the relevant foreign tax law) of the property at the end of that last taxation year; and
- where, because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, there is a deemed disposition of property (other than capital property) that was used or held by the affiliate in the course of carrying on the foreign business, the amount by which the fair market value of the property exceeds the cost of the property to the affiliate at the end of that last taxation year.

These additions to "earnings" result in corresponding increases in the balance of the affiliate's relevant surplus account.

In general terms, subsection 5907(2.9) provides that there is to be deducted from "earnings" for the last taxation year of the affiliate before the fresh start year the total of the following amounts:

- the maximum reserve allowed under paragraph 95(2)(k) of the Act minus the actual reserve claimed at the end of that last taxation year;
- where, because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, there is a deemed disposition of depreciable property that was used or held by the affiliate in the course of carrying on the foreign business, the amount by which the undepreciated capital cost of the property exceeds the lesser of fair market value and cost to the affiliate of the property at the end of that last taxation year; and
- where, because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, there is a deemed disposition of property (other than capital property) that was used or held by the affiliate in the course of carrying on the foreign business, the amount by which the cost of the property to the affiliate exceeds the fair market value of the property at the end of that last taxation year.

These decreases to "earnings" result in corresponding decreases in the balance of the affiliate's relevant surplus account.

Subsection 5907(2.9) is proposed to be amended to reflect the amendments to the Act which are set out in amended paragraph 95(2)(k), new paragraph 95(2)(k.1) and amended subsection 138(11.91) of the Act. In particular, subsection 5907(2.9) is proposed to be amended in the following ways.

First, subsection 5907(2.9) is proposed to be amended to reflect the proposed splitting of paragraph 95(2)(k) of the Act into paragraphs 95(2)(k) and (k.1).

Second, consistent with paragraphs 95(2)(k) and (k.1) of the Act, the proposed amendments to subsection 5907(2.9) ensure that the fresh start rules will apply where the foreign business is carried on by a partnership of which a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer is a member. These amendments to subsection 5907(2.9) ensure, in the case of partnerships, that the fresh start rules will work on the basis of fiscal periods of the partnership and that these rules will therefore be relevant in the computation of the affiliate's foreign accrual property income for the affiliate's taxation year that includes the end of a fiscal period to which the fresh start rules apply. The expression "operator" refers to the affiliate (in the case where the affiliate directly carries on the foreign business) or to the partnership (in the case where the partnership carries on the foreign business). The amounts added by subsection 5907(2.9) to "earnings" or "loss" are used in computing the earnings or loss from the foreign business (when it was an active business) of the affiliate in the preceding taxation year or fiscal period referred to in paragraph 95(2)(k), as the case may be, (which preceding taxation year or preceding fiscal period is referred to as the "preceding taxation year") in which the affiliate is deemed to have disposed of property.

Third, the proposed amendments to subsection 5907(2.9) modify the manner in which any necessary decreases are made to the affiliate's relevant surplus account. As noted above, existing subsection 5907(2.9) provides for the decreases to surplus to be made by way of decreases to "earnings". Amended subsection 5907(2.9) provides, instead, for those amounts to be placed in the "loss" (as defined in subsection 5907(1)) of the affiliate, which result in corresponding decreases in the balance of the surplus account.

Fourth, amended subsection 5907(2.9) contains new rules in respect of eligible capital property and resource property to deal more appropriately with these types of property. As mentioned above, existing subsection 5907(2.9) ensures that where, because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, there is a deemed disposition of property that was used or held by the affiliate in the course of carrying on the foreign business, the affiliate's "earnings" are increased by the total of all amounts each of which is the amount by which the fair market value of the property (other than capital property) to the affiliate exceeds the cost of the property. (There is a corresponding rule in existing subsection 5907(2.9) that provides for a decrease of "earnings" if the cost of the property to the affiliate exceeds the fair market value of the property.)

As proposed to be amended, subsection 5907(2.9) ensures that where, because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, there is a deemed disposition of eligible capital property, the affiliate's "earnings" are increased by the amount, if any, required by subsection 14(1) of the Act to be included in computing the operator's income for that preceding taxation year from the foreign business. Conversely, amended subsection 5907(2.9) also ensures that, if the operator was, because of paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, deemed to have, at the end of that preceding taxation year, disposed of eligible capital property, the affiliate's "loss" is increased by the amount, if any, that would be permitted by paragraph 24(1)(a) of the Act to be deducted in computing the operator's income for that year from the foreign business if the operator had, immediately before the end of that year, ceased to carry on the foreign business.

For more detail about the treatment of the untaxed portion of the gain or loss from the sale of excluded property that is eligible capital property, refer to the commentaries on new paragraph (a.1) of the definition "exempt earnings", and new paragraph (a.1) of the definition "exempt loss", respectively, in subsection 5907(1) of the Regulations.

Amended subsection 5907(2.9) ensures that where, because of paragraphs 95(2)(k) and 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, there is a deemed disposition of resource property, the affiliate's "earnings" are increased by the amount, if any, by which

- the total of all amounts included by subsection 59(1) or paragraph 59(3.2)(c) or (c.1) of the Act in computing the operator's income for that preceding taxation year from the active business

exceeds

- the total of all amounts that were deductible under section 66, 66.1, 66.2, 66.21 or 66.4 of the Act in computing the operator's income for that year from the active business.

Note that there is a corresponding rule in amended subsection 5907(2.9) for an inclusion in "loss" in the converse situation.

Fifth, proposed amendments to subsection 5907(2.9) provide a rule for the determination, where the operator is the partnership, of the amounts required by that subsection to be added to the affiliate's "earnings" or "loss", as the case may be, for the preceding taxation year. The amount of the increase to the affiliate's "earnings" or "loss" is essentially the amount of the increase to the "earnings" or "loss" for the partnership multiplied by the fraction the numerator of which is the affiliate's share of the income or loss of the partnership for that year and the denominator of which is the income or loss of the partnership for that year. For the purpose of this calculation, where both the income and the loss of the partnership for that preceding year are nil, the partnership is assumed to have an income of $1 million for that year.

The amendments to subsection 5907(2.9) are proposed to apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that these amendments are included in the Fresh Start Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

Related Provisions. Reg. 5907(2.91) — Property deemed to have been disposed of and reacquired.

(2.91) Any property of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, or of a partnership of which a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada is a member, that is, for the purposes of subdivision i of Division B of Part I of the Act, deemed because of either paragraph 95(2)(k.1) or (k.3), and paragraph 138(11.91)(e), of the Act to have been disposed of and reacquired by the affiliate or the partnership, as the case may be, is, for the purpose of this section, deemed to have been disposed of and reacquired by the affiliate or the partnership, as the case may be, in the same manner and for the same amounts as if those provisions applied for the purpose of this section.

Technical Notes: Proposed new subsection 5907(2.91) is consequential to the introduction of new paragraphs 95(2)(k.1) and (k.3) of the Act. New subsection 5907(2.91) provides that, for the purposes of section 5907 of the Regulations, any property of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, or of a partnership of which a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada is a member, that is, for the purposes of subdivision i of Division B of Part I of the Act, deemed because of either paragraph 95(2)(k.1) or (k.3), and paragraph 138(11.91)(e), of the Act to have been disposed of and reacquired by the affiliate or the partnership, as the case may be, is, for the purpose of section 5907 of the Regulations, deemed to have been disposed of and reacquired by the affiliate or the partnership, as the case may be, in the same manner and for the same amounts as if those provisions applied for the purpose of section 5907 of the Regulations.

Subsection 5907(2.91) ensures that the deemed disposition and reacquisition are taken into account when calculating a foreign affiliate's surplus accounts.

New subsection 5907(2.91) is proposed to apply to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. Note that this amendment is included in the Fresh Start Section 95 Election package described at the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(28), will replace subsec. (2.9) with subsecs. (2.9) and (2.91) applicable to taxation years, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, that begin after December 20, 2002. However, if a taxpayer referred to in subsection 5907(2.9) makes a valid election under subsec.133(69) of the February 27, 2004 draft mandments, subsecs. 5907(2.9) and (2.91) apply to taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that begin after 1994.

S. 9 of the draft regulations provides that if a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer referred to in the above amendment makes a valid "Global Section 95 Election" under subsec. 133(68) of the February 27, 2004 draft legislation (see Application and Technical Notes to Proposed Amendment to ITA 95(2)(a)), then the amendment is applicable to taxation years, of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer, that begin after 1994.

History: Subsec. 5907(2.9) added by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(12), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

(3) [Pre-1972 foreign affiliate] — For the purposes of this Part, any corporation that was, on January 1, 1972, a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer shall be deemed to have become a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer on that day.

(4) ["Government of a country"] — For the purposes of this Part, "government of a country" includes the government of a state, province or other political subdivision of that country.

(5) [Capital gains and losses] — For the purposes of this section, each capital gain and each capital loss of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer from the disposition of property shall be computed in accordance with the rules set out in subsection 95(2) of the Act and, for the purposes of subsection (6), where any such gain or loss is required to be computed in Canadian currency, the amount of such gain or loss shall be converted from Canadian currency into the currency referred to in subsection (6) at the rate of exchange prevailing on the date of disposition of the property.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5907(5.1) — Exception.

History: Subsec. 5907(5) substituted by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(29), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, applicable in respect of dispositions made after November 12, 1981.

(5.1) [Where no gain or loss recognized by other country] — Notwithstanding subsection (5) and except as provided in subsection (9), where, under the income tax law of a country other than Canada that is relevant in computing the earnings of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada from an active business carried on by it in a country, no gain or loss is recognized in respect of a disposition by the affiliate of a capital property used or held principally for the purpose of gaining or producing income from an active business to a person (in this subsection referred to as the "transferee") that is another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer or that is a foreign affiliate of another person with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length, for the purposes of this section,

(a) the affiliate's proceeds of disposition of the property shall be deemed to be an amount equal to the aggregate of the adjusted cost base to the affiliate of the property immediately before the disposition and any outlays and expenses to the extent they were made or incurred by the affiliate for the purpose of making the disposition;

(b) the cost to the transferee of the property acquired from the affiliate shall be deemed to be an amount equal to the affiliate's proceeds of disposition, as determined under paragraph (a); and

(c) the transferee shall be deemed to have acquired the property on the date that it was acquired by the affiliate.

Proposed Repeal — Reg. 5907(5.1)

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(29), will repeal subsec. 5907(5.1), applicable to dispositions to which ITA 95(2)(f.3) to (f.9), as amended by the February 27, 2004 draft amendments, apply.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5907(5.1) of the Regulations is repealed because of the introduction of the rules in paragraphs 95(2)(c.2) to (c.6) and paragraphs 95(2)(f.3) to (f.8) of the Act. See the commentary for those proposed new paragraphs.

History: Subsec. 5907(5.1) substituted by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(30), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, applicable to 1976 et seq.

Subsec. 5907(5.1) added by P.C. 1980-503, subsec. 5(6), February 8, 1980, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 27, 1980, effective in respect of 1976 et seq.

(6) [Selection of currency] — All amounts referred to in subsections (1) and (2) shall be maintained on a consistent basis from year to year in the currency of the country in which the foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada is itself resident or such currency, other than Canadian currency, as is reasonable in the circumstances.

Information Circulars: 77-9R: Books, records and other requirements for taxpayers having foreign affiliates.

(7) [Stock dividend] — For the purposes of this Part, the amount of any stock dividend paid by a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada on a share of a class of its capital stock shall be deemed to be nil.

(7.1) [Dividend giving rise to credit in other country] — Where, at any time in a taxation year of a corporation resident in Canada, a foreign affiliate of the corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "payor affiliate") pays a dividend on the shares of any class of its capital stock to the corporation (in this subsection referred to as the "particular dividend") and as a result of the payment the corporation is entitled to a tax credit from the government of the country in which the payor affiliate is resident,

(a) if the particular dividend was paid on or after the day on which this subsection comes into force, or

(b) if the particular dividend was paid before the day on which this subsection comes into force and in a taxation year commencing after 1978 and the corporation elects in respect of the tax credit in its return of income for the 1985, 1986, 1987, 1988 or 1989 taxation year required to be filed pursuant to subsection 150(1) of the Act, for the purpose of this Part, the following rules apply:

(c) the tax credit shall be deemed to be a dividend paid at that time by the payor affiliate on the shares of that class of its capital stock to the corporation,

(d) immediately before that time there shall be added to the exempt surplus of the payor affiliate an amount equal to the proportion of the tax credit that

(i) the portion of the particular dividend that would, were the corporation not entitled to the tax credit, be deemed by subsection 5900(1) to have been paid out of the payor affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation

(ii) the particular dividend,

(e) immediately before that time, there shall be added to the taxable surplus of the payor affiliate an amount equal to the proportion of the tax credit that

(i) the portion of the particular dividend that would, were the corporation not entitled to the tax credit, be deemed by subsection 5900(1) to have been paid out of the payor affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation

(ii) the particular dividend, and

(f) the foreign tax applicable to the aggregate of

(i) the portion of the particular dividend determined under subparagraph (e)(i), and

(ii) the portion of any amount deemed to be a dividend by virtue of paragraph (c) that is deemed by subsection 5900(1) to have been paid out of the payor affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation shall, notwithstanding paragraph 5900(1)(d), be equal to the amount determined under paragraph 5900(1)(d) in respect of the amount referred to in subparagraph (i), less the amount determined under paragraph (e).

History: Subsec. 5907(7.1) added by P.C. 1989-321, subsec. 3(11), March 2, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 15, 1989, applicable for purposes of making computations under Part LIX after March 15, 1989 and, where the taxpayer so elects in accordance with para. 5907(7.1)(b), with respect to computations under Part LIX at any time commencing after the time immediately prior to the receipt of the tax credit specified in the election.

(8) [Deemed new taxation year on merger] — For the purposes of computing the various amounts referred to in this section, the first taxation year of a foreign affiliate formed as a result of a merger in the manner described in subsection 5905(3) shall be deemed to have commenced at the time of the merger, and a taxation year of a predecessor corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection 5905(3)) that would otherwise have ended after the merger shall be deemed to have ended immediately before the merger.

(9) [Where FA dissolved] — Where a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada has been dissolved and paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act does not apply, for the purpose of computing the various amounts referred to in this section, the following rules apply:

(a) where, at a particular time in the course of the dissolution, all or substantially all of the property owned by the affiliate immediately before that time was distributed to the shareholders of the affiliate, the taxation year of the affiliate that otherwise would have included the particular time shall be deemed to have ended immediately before the particular time;

(b) except as provided in paragraph 88(3)(a) and subparagraph 95(2)(e)(i) of the Act,

(i) each property of the affiliate that was distributed to the shareholders in the course of the dissolution shall be deemed to have been disposed of immediately before the end of the affiliate's taxation year deemed to have ended by paragraph (a) for proceeds of disposition equal to the fair market value thereof immediately before the particular time, and

(ii) each property of the affiliate that was otherwise disposed of in the course of the dissolution shall be deemed to have been disposed of by the affiliate for proceeds of disposition equal to the fair market value thereof at the time of disposition; and

(c) except as provided in subparagraph 95(2)(e)(i) of the Act, each property of the dissolved affiliate that was disposed of or distributed in the course of the dissolution to another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer resident in Canada shall be deemed to have been acquired by that other foreign affiliate at a cost equal to the proceeds of disposition of that property to the dissolved affiliate, as determined in paragraph (b).

Proposed Amendment — 5907(9), (9.1)

(9) [Where FA liquidated and dissolved] — If a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer resident in Canada has been liquidated and dissolved (otherwise than as a result of a foreign merger within the meaning assigned by subsection 87(8.1) of the Act), subject to subsection 88(3) and to paragraphs 95(2)(e) and (e.1) of the Act

(a) where at a particular time in the course of the liquidation and dissolution, the fair market value of the property that has been disposed of by the affiliate in the course of the liquidation and dissolution equals or is more than 90% of the fair market value of the property that was owned by the affiliate, immediately before the commencement of the liquidation and the dissolution, the taxation year of the affiliate that would have included the particular time is deemed to have ended immediately before that time; and

(b) each property of the affiliate that was distributed or disposed of by the affiliate in the course of the liquidation and the dissolution is deemed

(i) to have been disposed of by the affiliate for proceeds of disposition equal to the fair market value of the property, immediately before it was distributed or disposed of, and

(ii) to have been acquired by the person or partnership to whom the affiliate distributed or disposed of the property at a cost equal to the affiliate's proceeds of disposition of the property.

Technical Notes: Where a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada has been dissolved, subject to the rules in paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act, subsection 5907(9) provides that certain rules apply for the purposes of computing the various amounts referred to in section 5907 of the Regulations.

It is proposed that subsection 5907(9) be amended so that the rules will be subject to the rules in proposed new paragraphs 95(2)(e) and (e.1) and subsection 88(3). See the commentary for the proposed new paragraphs and subsection.

It is also proposed that subsection 5907(9) be amended so that the rules do not apply to dissolutions of a foreign affiliate because of a foreign merger within the meaning assigned by subsection 87(8.1) of the Act.

(9.1) [Where FA liquidated and dissolved] — Subject to subsection (9) and to subsection 88(3) of the Act and paragraphs 95(2)(d) to (e.6) of the Act, if a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada has, as a payment of a dividend or as a distribution of a property, transferred a property to a shareholder of the affiliate (or to a person with whom the shareholder was not dealing at arm's length),

(a) the property of the affiliate that was so transferred is deemed

(i) to have been disposed of by the affiliate for proceeds of disposition equal to the fair market value of the property, immediately before it was so transferred, and

(ii) to have been acquired by the person or partnership to whom the affiliate transferred the property at a cost equal to the affiliate's proceeds of disposition of the property; and

(b) the amount, in respect of the property, of the dividend or distribution made by the affiliate to the person to whom the property was transferred is deemed to be equal to the affiliate's proceeds of disposition of the property.

Technical Notes: Proposed new subsection 5907(9.1) provides rules similar to those contained in proposed amended subsection 5907(9) of the Regulations that apply on transfers of property by a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada as a payment of a dividend or as a distribution of property to a shareholder of the foreign affiliate.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(30), will amend subsec. 5907(9) to read as above and add (9.1), applicable to dissolutions that begin after December 20, 2002 and payments of dividends and distributions of property made after December 20, 2002.

History: Subsec. 5907(9) substituted by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(31), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, applicable to 1976 et seq.

Subsec. 5907(9) substituted by P.C. 1980-503, subsec. 5(7), February 8, 1980, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 27, 1980, effective in respect of 1976 et seq.

(10) [Tax sparing] — Where

(a) the net earnings or net loss for a taxation year of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada from an active business carried on in a country other than Canada would otherwise be included in the affiliate's taxable earnings or taxable loss, as the case may be, for the year,

(b) the rate of the income or profits tax to which any earnings of that active business of the affiliate are subjected by the government of that country is, by virtue of a special exemption from or reduction of tax (other than an export incentive) that is provided under a law of such country to promote investments or projects in pursuance of a program of economic development, less than the rate of such tax that would, but for such exemption or reduction, be paid by the affiliate, and

(c) the affiliate qualified for such exemption from or reduction of tax in respect of an investment made by it in that country before January 1, 1976 or in respect of an investment made by it or a project undertaken by it in that country pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into before January 1, 1976, for the purposes of this Part, such net earnings or net loss shall be included in the affiliate's exempt earnings or exempt loss, as the case may be, for the year and not in the affiliate's taxable earnings or taxable loss, as the case may be, for the year.

(11) ["Designated treaty country"] — For the purposes of this Part, a country is a "designated treaty country" for a taxation year of a foreign affiliate of a corporation where Canada and that country have entered into a comprehensive agreement or convention for the elimination of double taxation on income that has entered into force and has effect for that taxation year of the affiliate but, any territory, possession, department, dependency or area of that country to which that agreement or convention does not apply is not included in that designated treaty country.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5907(11.1) — Effective date of treaty.

(11.1) [Effective date of treaty for Reg. 5907(11)] — For the purpose of subsection (11), where a comprehensive agreement or convention between Canada and another country for the elimination of double taxation on income has entered into force, that convention or agreement is deemed to have entered into force and have effect in respect of a taxation year of a foreign affiliate of a corporation any day of which is in the period that begins on the day on which the agreement or convention was signed and that ends on the last day of the last taxation year of the affiliate for which the agreement or convention is effective.

(11.2) [Whether FA resident in treaty country] — For the purposes of this Part, a foreign affiliate of a corporation is, at any time, deemed not to be resident in a country with which Canada has entered into a comprehensive agreement or convention for the elimination of double taxation on income unless

(a) the affiliate is, at that time, a resident of that country for the purpose of the agreement or convention;

(b) the affiliate would, at that time, be a resident of that country for the purpose of the agreement or convention if the affiliate were treated, for the purpose of income taxation in that country, as a body corporate;

(c) where the agreement or convention entered into force before 1995, the affiliate would, at that time, be a resident of that country for the purpose of the agreement or convention but for a provision in the agreement or convention that has not been amended after 1994 and that provides that the agreement or convention does not apply to the affiliate; or

(d) the affiliate would, at that time, be a resident of that country, as provided by paragraph (a), (b) or (c) if the agreement or convention had entered into force.

History: Subsec. 5907(11) amended, subsecs. (11.1) and (11.2) added, by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(13), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a corporation that begin after 1995, except that, where the corporation notifies the Minister of National Revenue in its return of income for its first taxation year that begins after 1994 or for a taxation year in which a dividend was paid by the foreign affiliate of its election to have subsections 5907(11) (as amended), (11.1) and (11.2) apply to a taxation year of the foreign affiliate of the corporation that begins before 1996,

(a) the amendment applies to that taxation year and each subsequent taxation year of the foreign affiliate of the corporation; and

(b) any reference in s. 5907 to "country listed in subsection (11)" shall be read as "designated treaty country" and any reference to "country not listed in subsection (11)" shall be read as "country that is not a designated treaty country" for that taxation year and those subsequent taxation years of the foreign affiliate of the corporation.

Subsec. 5907(11) substituted by P.C. 1989-321, subsec. 3(12), March 2, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 15, 1989, applicable to 1982 et seq., except as otherwise noted in the above list. Those exceptions comprise additions and deletions made by subsecs. 3(13) to (18) of the said P.C. 1989-321.

Subsec. 5907(11) amended by P.C. 1980-503, subsecs. 5(8)–(10), February 8, 1980, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 27, 1980, effective as to paras. (a.1) and (d.1), in respect of 1978 et seq., and as to paras. (v) and (w), in respect of 1980 et seq.

Subsec. 5907(11) amended by P.C. 1978-589, March 2, 1978, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 22, 1978, applicable, as to paras. (a), (b.1), (b.2), (c.1), (e.1), (f.1), (h), (s.1), (aa.1), (aa.2), (aa.3) and (ee.1), to 1976 et seq., and as to paras. (u) and (kk), to taxation years commencing on or after January 1, 1978.

I.T. Technical News: No. 16 (U.S. S-Corps and LLCs).

(12) [ACB of partnership interest] — For the purposes of paragraph 95(2)(j) of the Act, the adjusted cost base to a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer of an interest in a partnership at any time is prescribed to be the cost thereof otherwise determined at that time except that

(a) there shall be added to that cost such of the following amounts as are applicable, namely,

(i) any amount included in the earnings of the affiliate for a taxation year ending after 1971 and before that time that may reasonably be considered to relate to profits of the partnership,

(ii) the affiliate's incomes as described by the description of "A" in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act for a taxation year ending after 1971 and before that time that can reasonably be considered to relate to profits of the partnership,

(iii) any amount included in computing the exempt earnings or taxable earnings, as the case may be, of the affiliate for a taxation year ending after 1971 and before that time that may reasonably be considered to relate to a capital gain of the partnership,

(iv) where the affiliate has, at any time before that time and in a taxation year ending after 1971, made a contribution of capital to the partnership otherwise than by way of a loan, such part of the amount of the contribution as cannot reasonably be regarded as a gift made to or for the benefit of any other member of the partnership who was related to the affiliate, and

(v) such portion of any income or profits tax refunded before that time by the government of a country to the partnership as may reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of an amount described in any of subparagraphs (b)(i) to (iii), and

(b) there shall be deducted from that cost such of the following amounts as are applicable, namely,

(i) any amount included in the loss of the affiliate for a taxation year ending after 1971 that may reasonably be considered to relate to a loss of the partnership,

(ii) the affiliate's losses as described by the description of D in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act for a taxation year ending after 1971 and before that time that can reasonably be considered to relate to the losses of the partnership,

(iii) any amount included in computing the exempt loss or taxable loss, as the case may be, of the affiliate for a taxation year ending after 1971 and before that time that may reasonably be considered to relate to a capital loss of the partnership,

(iv) any amount received by the affiliate before that time and in a taxation year ending after 1971 as, on account or in lieu of payment of, or in satisfaction of, a distribution of his share of the partnership profits or partnership capital, and

(v) such portion of any income or profits tax paid before that time to the government of a country by the partnership as may reasonably be regarded as tax paid in respect of an amount described in any of subparagraphs (a)(i) to (iii), and, for greater certainty, where any interest of a foreign affiliate in a partnership was reacquired by the affiliate after having been previously disposed of, no adjustment that was required to be made under this subsection before such reacquisition shall be made under this subsection to the cost to the affiliate of the interest as reacquired property of the affiliate.

History: Subparas. 5907(12)(a)(ii), (b)(ii) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 8(14), (16), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subsec. applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

The opening words of subpara. (b) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(15), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable after November 12, 1981.

Subsec. 5907(12) added by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(32), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, effective commencing November 13, 1981.

(13) [Immigration of FA to Canada] — For the purpose of subparagraph 128.1(1)(d)(ii) of the Act, the amount prescribed to be included in the foreign accrual property income of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer for a taxation year is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the taxpayer at the end of the year other than the affiliate's net earnings for the year in respect of the affiliate's foreign accrual property income

Proposed Amendment — 5907(13)(a)

(a) the taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the taxpayer at the end of the year (other than the affiliate's net earnings for the year in respect of the affiliate's foreign accrual property income), minus the amount, if any, that would have been added to the underlying foreign tax of the affiliate in respect of the taxpayer, if each disposition deemed by paragraph 128.1(1)(b) of the Act had been an actual disposition, and that is not otherwise included in the underlying foreign tax of the affiliate,

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(31), will amend para. 5907(13)(a) to read as above, applicable after 1992, except that if the corporation elected in accordance with para. 111(4)(a) of S.C. 1994, c. 21 [see History to ITA 250(5.1)][see Notes to ITA 250(5.1)], the amendment applies to the corporation from the corporation's time of continuation (within the meaning assigned by the said para. 111(4)(a)).

Technical Notes: Subsection 5907(13) adds a prescribed amount to the foreign accrual property income (FAPI) of a foreign affiliate that immigrates to Canada. The starting-point for the determination of this amount is paragraph 5907(13)(a), which refers to the affiliate's taxable surplus for the taxation year that is deemed under section 128.1 of the Act to have ended before immigration (excluding net earnings in respect of FAPI).

Under section 128.1 of the Act, one of the tax consequences of immigration to Canada is a deemed disposition of most kinds of property. That deemed disposition will often cause an increase in the taxable surplus of an immigrating foreign affiliate. To ensure the appropriate measurement of such an increase, paragraph 5907(13)(a) is amended to exclude, from the taxable surplus amount it describes, any amount that would have been added to the affiliate's underlying foreign tax if the deemed disposition had been an actual disposition. This amendment generally applies after 1992. The sole exception is that if the affiliate continued into Canada before 1993 and elected, under paragraph 111(4)(a) of S.C. 1994, c. 21, to have subsection 250(5.1) of the Act apply in respect of the continuation, this amendment will apply to the affiliate from the time of that continuation.

exceeds the total of

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$(A - B) \times (C - 1)$$

where

A is the total of the underlying foreign tax of the affiliate in respect of the taxpayer at the end of the year and the amount, to the extent that it is not otherwise included in that underlying foreign tax, that would have been added to that underlying foreign tax if each disposition deemed by paragraph 128.1(1)(b) of the Act had been an actual disposition,

B is the part of the value of A that can reasonably be considered to relate to the affiliate's net earnings for the year in respect of the affiliate's foreign accrual property income, and

C is the relevant tax factor, as defined in subsection 95(1) of the Act, and

(c) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts required by paragraph 92(1)(a) of the Act to be added at any time in a preceding taxation year in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the shares of the affiliate owned by the taxpayer at the end of the year

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts required by paragraph 92(1)(b) of the Act to be deducted at any time in a preceding taxation year in computing the adjusted cost base to the taxpayer of the shares of the affiliate owned by the taxpayer at the end of the year.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5907(14) — Interpretation.

History: Subsec. 5907(13) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 8(17), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable after 1992, except that where a corporation elects in accordance with paragraph 111(4)(a) of Statutes of Canada, 1994, chapter 21, the amendment applies to the corporation from the corporation's time of continuation (within the meaning assigned by that paragraph).

Subsec. 5907(13) added by P.C. 1985-467, subsec. 4(32), February 14, 1985, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1985, effective commencing November 13, 1981.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-451R: Deemed disposition and acquisition on ceasing to be or become a registrant in Canada.

Proposed Addition — 5907(14)

(14) [Immigration of FA to Canada] — For the purpose of subsection (13), the amount that would have been added to the underlying foreign tax of the affiliate in respect of the taxpayer at the end of the year if each disposition deemed by paragraph 128.1(1)(b) of the Act had been an actual disposition is deemed to be nil if, had the taxpayer realized a gain from such an actual disposition, that gain would not have been taxable in any country other than Canada.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), subsec. 3(32), will add subsec. 5907(14), applicable after 1992, except that, in its application in respect of dispositions that occur before February 28, 2004, the reference in the subsec. to "subsection (13)" is to be read as "paragraph 13(a)".

Technical Notes: In some instances, the gains that an immigrating affiliate would realize if it had actually disposed of its property would not in fact be subject to any foreign tax. New subsection 5907(14) ensures that in such a case, subsection 5907(13) does not recognize any addition to the affiliate's underlying foreign tax. This new subsection applies after 1992, except that its application is confined to paragraph 5907(13)(a) in respect of dispositions that occur on or before .

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5910

5910. Foreign oil and gas business — (1) If a foreign affiliate of a corporation carries on a foreign oil and gas business in a taxing country in a taxation year of the affiliate, the affiliate is deemed for the purposes of this Part to have paid for the year as an income or profits tax to the government of the taxing country an amount equal to the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) 40% of the amount that would, if the definition "earnings" in subsection 5907(1) were read without reference to its subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii), be the affiliate's earnings from the business in the taxing country for the year

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts that would, but for this subsection, be income or profits taxes paid by the affiliate for the year in respect of the business to the government of the taxing country, and

(b) (b) the affiliate's production tax amount for the business in the taxing country for the year.

(2) In subsection 1[1], "foreign oil and gas business," "production tax amount" and "taxing country" have the meanings assigned by subsection 126(7) of the Act.

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix E, foreign oil and gas business), s.1, will add s. 5910, applicable in respect of production tax amounts that become receivable by the government of a taxing country in taxation years, of a taxpayer's foreign affiliate, that begin after the earlier of December 31, 2002 and the designated date. The designated date is the later of

(a) December 31, 1994; and

(b) any date that the taxpayer designates in writing for the purpose of this section, if the designation is filed with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the taxpayer's filing-due date for the taxpayer's first taxation year that ends after 2002.

Technical Notes: Announced in the 2000 Budget and enacted in 2001, subsection 126(5) of the Income Tax Act deems certain foreign oil and gas levies to be income or profits taxes for purposes of the foreign tax credit rules. Proposed section 5910 of the Income Tax Regulations extends this treatment to the foreign affiliate rules. As a result, the levies can, in certain cases, be included in computing the foreign tax paid by a foreign affiliate.

More specifically, where a foreign affiliate of a corporation carries on a "foreign oil and gas business" in a "taxing country" in the year, subsection 5910(1) of the Regulations will deem the affiliate to have paid for the year as an income or profits tax, the lesser of two amounts. The first amount (paragraph 5910(1)(a)) is the amount by which 40% of the affiliate's "earnings" from the business, read without reference to subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) of that definition, exceeds the amounts that would otherwise have been income or profits taxes that were paid by the affiliate to the country in respect of the business for the year. The second amount (paragraph 5910(1)(b)) is the affiliate's "production tax amount" for the business for the year. Subsection 5910(2) provides that for the purpose of section 5910, "foreign oil and gas business," "production tax amount" and "taxing country" have the meanings assigned by subsection 126(7) of the Act.

Letter from Dept. of Finance, October 23, 2001:

Dear [xxx]:

I am writing in response to your letter of August 15, 2001 to Lawrence Purdy of this Division and subsequent telephone conversations, regarding the recently enacted Income Tax Act provisions relating to foreign oil and gas production sharing contracts.

I understand that your client anticipates acquiring a non-resident corporation that will pay, under one or more such contracts, amounts that the new provisions would treat as foreign taxes if they were paid by a resident of Canada. You have asked whether it would be appropriate to recognize these amounts as foreign tax for purposes of the rules relating to foreign affiliates as well.

I can confirm that, as a policy matter, we consider that such recognition would be appropriate. We are therefore prepared in principle to recommend an amendment, the effect of which would be to import into the foreign affiliate context, with appropriate modifications, the rules that deem certain payments under production sharing contracts to be foreign income or profits taxes for foreign tax credit purposes.

Having said that, I should make clear that the timing of such a recommendation — both in terms of the release of any draft legislation and in terms of its effective date — remains to be determined. While I would not rule out the possibility of including such a measure in the next package of draft technical amendments to the Act, I am not currently in a position to confirm that that will be possible.

Despite these uncertainties, I trust that this expression of our policy views is helpful.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein, Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

Proposed Addition — 5911–5919

5911. (1) The amount prescribed for the purpose of paragraph 92(1.3)(a) of the Act, in respect of a relevant share referred to in that paragraph, in respect of a specified section 93 election related to the relevant share, is the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the fair market value of the relevant share, at the election time, exceeds the adjusted cost base, at the time of the disposition, of the relevant share to the holder, and

(b) the amount determined by the following formula

$$A/C \times (C - B)$$

where

A is the amount that would, if the relevant share was the disposed share and the relevant affiliate was the disposed affiliate in respect of the specified section 93 election, be determined under paragraph 5902(1)(f) to be the attributed net surplus in respect of the relevant share in respect of the specified section 93 election,

B is the amount that would be determined under subparagraph 5907(1)(e)(vi) to be the consolidated net surplus in respect of the relevant affiliate, if

(i) the relevant foreign affiliate was the disposed affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1),

(ii) the relevant share was the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1) that was disposed of, immediately following the disposition of the disposed shares to which the specified section 93 election applied, and

(iii) before that determination, in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate and each foreign affiliate of the particular corporation resident in Canada in which the relevant foreign affiliate had an equity percentage, the adjustments that are required by section 5905 to be made, in respect of the whole dividend referred to in paragraph 5902(1)(g) in respect of the specified section 93 election were made, and

C is the amount that would be determined under subparagraph 5902(1)(e)(vi) to be the consolidated net surplus in respect of the relevant affiliate in respect of the specified section 93 election, if the relevant foreign affiliate was the disposed foreign affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1) and the relevant share was the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1).

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 5911(3) — If amount in formula is nil.

(2) The amount prescribed for the purpose of paragraph 92(1.3)(b) of the Act, in respect of a relevant share referred to in that paragraph, in respect of a relevant specified section 93 election related to the relevant share, is the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the adjusted cost base, at the time of the disposition, of the relevant share to the holder exceeds the fair market value of the relevant share, at the election time, and

(b) the amount determined by the following formula

$$A/C \times (C - B)$$

where

A is the amount that would be determined to be the attributed net surplus in respect of the relevant share under paragraph 5902(1)(f) in respect of the specified section 93 election, if

(i) the relevant share was the disposed share, and the relevant foreign affiliate was the disposed foreign affiliate, in respect of the specified section 93 election, and

(ii) the consolidated net surplus in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate was the amount, if any, determined, in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate, under the description of C,

B is the amount, if any, by which the total that would be determined under clause 5902(1)(e)(vi)(B) exceeds the total that would be determined under clause 5902(1)(e)(vi)(A), in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate, if

(i) the relevant foreign affiliate was the disposed affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1),

(ii) the relevant share was the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1) that was disposed of immediately following the disposition of the disposed shares to which the specified section 93 election applied, and

(iii) before that determination, in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate and each foreign affiliate of the particular corporation resident in Canada in which the relevant foreign affiliate had an equity percentage, the adjustments that are required by section 5905 to be made, in respect the whole dividend referred to in paragraph 5902(1)(g) in respect of the specified section 93 election, were made, and

C is the amount, if any, by which the total that would be determined under clause 5902(1)(e)(vi)(B) exceeds the total that would be determined under clause 5902(1)(e)(vi)(A), in respect of the relevant affiliate in respect of the specified section 93 election, if the relevant foreign affiliate was the disposed foreign affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1) and the relevant share was the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1).

Technical Notes: Proposed new subsections 5911(1) and (2) set out the rules for determining the additions to and the deductions from the adjusted cost base of a share of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada required under paragraphs 92(1.3)(a) and (b) of the Act when there has been a specified section 93 election in respect of a relevant share. Refer to the commentary for proposed new subsections 92(1.1) to (1.4) of the Act for the definitions "election time", "relevant share", "relevant foreign affiliate" and "specified section 93 election", the adjusted cost base adjustment requirements and the purposes for which the adjustments to the cost base of shares are to be made.

Proposed new subsections 5911(1) and (2) apply after December 20, 2002.

New subsection 5911(1) determines the required addition to the adjusted cost base of a relevant share in respect of a specified section 93 election.

The amount prescribed, for the purpose of paragraph 92(1.3)(a) of the Act, in respect of the relevant share referred to in that paragraph, in respect of a specified section 93 election related to the relevant share, is the lesser of

- the amount, if any, by which the fair market value exceeds the adjusted cost base to the holder, at the election time, of the relevant share, and
- the amount determined by the formula

$$A/C \times (C - B)$$

where

A is the amount that would be determined to be the attributed net surplus in respect of the relevant share, in respect of the specified section 93 election, under proposed new paragraph 5902(1)(f) if the relevant share were the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1) and the relevant affiliate were the disposed affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1),

B is the amount that would be determined to be the consolidated net surplus in respect of the relevant affiliate under proposed new subparagraph 5902(1)(e)(vi) if the relevant foreign affiliate was the disposed affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1), the relevant share was the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1) that was disposed of immediately after the disposition of the disposed share to which the specified section 93 election applied and, before that determination, the surplus accounts of the relevant foreign affiliate and each foreign affiliate in which the relevant foreign affiliate had an equity percentage were adjusted in accordance with section 5905, and

C is the amount that would be determined to be the consolidated net surplus in respect of the relevant affiliate, in respect of the specified section 93 election, under proposed new subparagraph 5902(1)(e)(vi) if the relevant foreign affiliate was the disposed affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1) and the relevant share was the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1).

Proposed subsection 5911(2) determines the required deduction to the adjusted cost base of a relevant share in respect of a specified section 93 election.

The amount prescribed, for the purpose of paragraph 92(1.3)(b) of the Act, in respect of the relevant share referred to in that paragraph, in respect of a specified section 93 election related to the relevant share, is the lesser of

- the amount, if any, by which the adjusted cost base to the holder exceeds the fair market value, at the election time, of the relevant share, and
- the amount determined by the formula

$$A/C \times (C - B)$$

where

A is the amount that would be determined to be the attributed net surplus in respect of the relevant share, in respect of the specified section 93 election, under proposed new paragraph 5902(1)(f) if the relevant share was the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1), the relevant affiliate was the disposed affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1) and the consolidated net surplus was the amount determined for C,

B is the amount, if any, by which the amount that would be determined under clause 5902(1)(e)(vi)(B) in respect of the relevant affiliate exceeds the amount that would be determined under clause 5902(1)(e)(vi)(A) in respect of the relevant affiliate if the relevant foreign affiliate was the disposed affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1), the relevant share was the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1) that was disposed of immediately after the disposition of the disposed share to which the specified section 93 election applied and, before the determination, the surplus accounts of the relevant foreign affiliate and each foreign affiliate in which the relevant foreign affiliate had an equity percentage were adjusted in accordance with section 5905, and

C is the amount, if any, by which the amount that would be determined under clause 5902(1)(e)(vi)(B) in respect of the relevant affiliate in respect of the specified section 93 election exceeds the total that would be determined under clause 5902(1)(e)(vi)(A) in respect of the relevant affiliate in respect of the specified section 93 election if the relevant share was the disposed share referred to in subsection 5902(1) and the relevant affiliate was the disposed affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1).

Proposed new subsection 5911(3) determines the required addition to the adjusted cost base of a relevant share in respect of a specified section 93 election amount determined in the formulas in subsections 5911(1) and (2) in respect of the relevant share referred to in paragraph 92(1.3)(a) is nil.

If the amount determined in each of the formulas in paragraphs 5911(1)(b) and 5911(2)(b) in respect of the relevant share referred to in paragraph 92(1.3)(a) of the Act is nil, the amount determined for B in the formula in paragraph 5911(1)(b) in respect of the relevant affiliate is greater than nil and the amount determined for C in the formula in paragraph 5911(2)(b) in respect of the relevant affiliate is greater than nil, the amount prescribed for the purpose of paragraph 92(1.3)(a) of the Act, in respect of the relevant share referred to in that paragraph, in respect of a specified section 93 election related to the relevant share, is the lesser of

- the amount, if any, by which the fair market value of the relevant share, at the election time, exceeds the adjusted cost base, at the time of the disposition, of the relevant share to the holder, and
- the amount that would, if the relevant share was the disposed share and the relevant affiliate was the disposed affiliate in respect of the specified section 93 election, be determined under paragraph 5902(1)(f) to be the attributed net surplus in respect of the relevant share if the consolidated net surplus of the relevant foreign affiliate were the amount determined for B in the formula in paragraph 5911(1)(b).

Example

Facts

1. Canco, a corporation resident in Canada, owns 100% of the issued shares of FA1 (which owns 80% of the issued shares of FA2) and 50% of the issued shares of FA6 (which owns 20% of the issued shares of FA2).

2. FA2 owns 70% of the issued shares of FA3, which owns 100% of the issued shares of FA4 (which owns 100% of the issued shares of FA5).

3. FA1 sells 30 issued shares of FA2 to FA6 and Canco elects under subsection 93(1) of the Act ($123 of sale proceeds to be treated as dividends on the 30 disposed shares of FA2).

4. At the time of the sale, FA2 has an exempt surplus of $200, a taxable surplus of $0, an exempt deficit of $0 and an underlying foreign tax of $0.

5. At the time of the sale, FA3 has an exempt surplus of $100, a taxable surplus of $75, an exempt deficit of $0 and an underlying foreign tax of $10.

6. At the time of the sale, FA4 has an exempt surplus of $0, a taxable surplus of $0, an exempt deficit of $200 and an underlying foreign tax of $0.

7. At the time of the sale, FA5 has an exempt surplus of $0, a taxable surplus of $325, an exempt deficit of $0 and an underlying foreign tax of $200.

8. All the corporations have 100 issued shares of one class of shares.

Application of Sections 5902, 5905 and 5911

For the application of subsection 5902(1) — see the example in the commentary for that subsection.

For the application of subsection 5905(8) — see the example in the commentary for that subsection.

For the application of subsections 5911(1) and (3) — see the calculation below.

Application of Section 5911 of the Regulations

Subsection 5911 provides for adjustments to the cost base to the holder of the share of the relevant foreign affiliate in respect of the adjustments to the surplus balances under section 5905 of the Regulations in respect of a specified section 93 election related to the relevant share.

The calculation is being performed only for the shares of FA4 and FA5 in this example.

Subsection 5911(1) — Additions to the ACB of Shares

For the purposes of the calculations below, it is assumed that the fair market value exceeded the adjusted cost base to the holder of shares of the relevant foreign affiliates.

Calculation — FA5

Under subsection 5911(1), the required addition to the adjusted cost base of a share of FA5, for example, is $0.65 determined by the formula

$$A \times (C–B)/C) = (3.25 \times (325–260)/325) = $0.65$$

where

A is the amount that would be determined to be the attributed surplus in respect of a share of FA5 if the share of FA5 and FA5 were the "disposed share" and the "disposed foreign affiliate" referred to in subsection 5902(1) in respect of the specified section 93 election ($325/100 = $3.25),

B is the amount that would be determined to be the consolidated net surplus (after the application, in respect of the specified section 93 election, of subsection 5905(8) to FA5) under 5902(1) in respect of FA5 if the share of FA5 and FA5 were the disposed share and the disposed foreign affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1) in respect of a disposition, immediately after the disposition to which the specified section 93 election applies, of the FA5 share in respect of which an election was made by Canco under subsection 93(1) ($260), and

C is the amount that would be determined to be consolidated net surplus of FA5, in respect of the specified section 93 election, under 5902(1) in respect of FA5 if the share of FA5 and FA5 were the disposed share and the disposed foreign affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1) ($325).

Calculation — FA4

Under subsection 5911(3), the required addition to the adjusted cost base of a share of FA4, for example, is $2.60. This amount is determined as the amount that would, if the share of FA4 was the disposed share and FA4 was the disposed affiliate, be determined under paragraph 5902(1)(f) to be the attributed net surplus in respect of the FA4 share ($260/100 shares) if the consolidated net surplus of the FA4 were the amount determined in respect of FA4 for B in the formula in subsection 5911(1) ($260).

The amount determined for B in the formula in subsection 5911(1) is the amount that would be determined to be the consolidated net surplus (after the application, in respect of the specified section 93 election, of subsection 5905(8) to FA4) under subsection 5902(1) in respect of FA4 if the share of FA4 and FA4 were the disposed share and the disposed foreign affiliate referred to in subsection 5902(1) in respect of a disposition, immediately after the disposition to which the specified section 93 election applies, of the FA4 share in respect of which an election was made by Canco under subsection 93(1) ($260).

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 5911(3) — If amount in formula is nil.

(3) If the amount determined in each of the formulae in paragraphs (1)(b) and (2)(b) in respect of the relevant share referred to in paragraph 92(1.3)(a) of the Act is nil, the amount determined for B in the formula in paragraph (1)(b) in respect of the relevant affiliate is greater than nil and the amount determined for C in the formula in paragraph (2)(b) in respect of the relevant affiliate is greater than nil, the amount prescribed for the purpose of paragraph 92(1.3)(a) of the Act, in respect of the relevant share referred to in that paragraph, in respect of a specified section 93 election related to the relevant share, is the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the fair market value of the relevant share, at the election time, exceeds the adjusted cost base, at the time of the disposition, of the relevant share to the holder, and

(b) the amount that would, if the relevant share was the disposed share and the relevant affiliate was the disposed affiliate in respect of the specified section 93 election, be determined under paragraph 5902(1)(f) to be the attributed net surplus in respect of the relevant share if the consolidated net surplus of the relevant foreign affiliate were the amount determined for B in the formula in paragraph (1)(b).

5912. (1) The amount prescribed, for the purpose of paragraph 95(2)(c.3) of the Act, to be the adjusted suspended gain in respect of the specified share, of the relevant foreign affiliate referred to in that paragraph, at the earlier of the first times (referred to in this section as the "recognition time"), after the original disposition time, that is described by that paragraph, is the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is the amount of the unadjusted suspended gain in respect of a specified share of the relevant foreign affiliate at the original disposition time,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

(2) The amount prescribed, for the purpose of paragraph 95(2)(c.3) of the Act, to be the adjusted allocable tax in respect of the adjusted suspended gain in subsection (1) in respect of the specified share, of the relevant foreign affiliate referred to in that paragraph, at the recognition time, is the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country by the relevant foreign affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the unadjusted suspended gain in respect of the specified share,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

Technical Notes: Proposed new subsection 5912 determines the amount to be included as the adjusted suspended gain and the adjusted allocable tax in respect of the specified share, of the relevant foreign affiliate (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(c.3) of the Act), at the earlier of the first times (which earlier time is referred to as the "recognition time"), after the original disposition time, that is described by new paragraph 95(2)(c.3) of the Act.

Proposed new subsection 5912 applies after December 20, 2002.

New subsection 5912(1) provides the rules for the calculation of the adjusted suspended gain in respect of the specified share, of the relevant foreign affiliate (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(c.3) of the Act), at the recognition time. This amount is determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is the amount of the unadjusted suspended gain in respect of a specified share of the relevant foreign affiliate at the original disposition time,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined assuming that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined assuming that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

New subsection 5912(2) provides for the calculation of the adjusted allocable tax in respect of the adjusted suspended gain, in respect of the specified share, of the relevant foreign affiliate (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(c.3)) at the recognition time. This amount is determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country by the relevant foreign affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the unadjusted suspended gain in respect of the specified share,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

5913. (1) The amount prescribed, for the purpose of paragraph 95(2)(f.5) of the Act, to be the adjusted suspended income or gain in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate referred to in that paragraph, at the earlier of the first times (referred to in this section as the "recognition time"), after the original disposition time, that is described by that paragraph, is the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is the amount of the unadjusted suspended income or gain in respect of a specified property of the relevant foreign affiliate at the original disposition time,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

(2) The amount prescribed, for the purpose of paragraph 95(2)(f.5) of the Act, to be the adjusted allocable tax in respect of the adjusted suspended income or gain in subsection (1) in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate referred to in that paragraph, at the recognition time, is the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country by the relevant foreign affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the unadjusted suspended income or gain in respect of the specified property,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

Technical Notes: New section 5913 determines the amount to be included as the adjusted suspended income or gain in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(f.5) of the Act), at the earlier of the first times (which earlier time is referred to as the "recognition time"), after the original disposition time (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(f.5) of the Act), that is described by new paragraph 95(2)(f.5) of the Act.

Proposed new subsection 5913 applies after December 20, 2002.

New subsection 5913(1) provides rules for the calculation of the adjusted suspended income or gain in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(f.5)), at the recognition time. This amount is determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is the amount of the unadjusted suspended income or gain in respect of a specified property of the relevant foreign affiliate at the original disposition time,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined assuming that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined assuming that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

New subsection 5913(2) provides for the calculation of the adjusted allocable tax in respect of the adjusted suspended income or gain, in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(f.5)) at the recognition time. This amount is determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is any income or profits tax paid to the government of a country by the relevant foreign affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax in respect of the unadjusted suspended income or gain in respect of the specified property,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

5914. (1) The amount prescribed, for the purpose of paragraph 95(2)(h.2) of the Act, to be the adjusted suspended loss or capital loss in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate referred to in that paragraph, at the earlier of the first times (referred to in this section as the "recognition time"), after the original disposition time, that is described by that paragraph, is the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is the amount of the unadjusted suspended loss or capital loss in respect of a specified property of the relevant foreign affiliate at the original disposition time,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

(2) The amount prescribed, for the purpose of paragraph 95(2)(h.2) of the Act, to be the adjusted allocable tax refund in respect of the adjusted suspended loss or capital loss in subsection (1) in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate referred to in that paragraph, at the recognition time, is the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country to the relevant foreign affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of the unadjusted suspended loss or capital loss in respect of the specified property,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that would otherwise have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

Technical Notes: New section 5914 determines the amount to be included as the adjusted suspended loss or capital loss in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(h.3) of the Act), at the earlier of the first times (which earlier time is referred to as the "recognition time"), after the original disposition time (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(h.3) of the Act), that is described by new paragraph 95(2)(h.3) of the Act.

Proposed new subsection 5914 applies after December 20, 2002.

New subsection 5914(1) provides for the calculation of the adjusted suspended loss or capital loss in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(h.2)), at the recognition time. This amount is determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is the amount of the unadjusted suspended loss or capital loss in respect of a specified property of the relevant foreign affiliate at the original disposition time,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined assuming that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

New subsection 5914(2) provides for the calculation of the adjusted allocable tax refund in respect of the adjusted suspended loss or capital loss, in respect of the specified property, of the relevant foreign affiliate (referred to in new paragraph 95(2)(h.2)) at the recognition time. This amount is determined by the formula

$$A \times B/C$$

where

A is any income or profits tax refunded by the government of a country to the relevant foreign affiliate that can reasonably be regarded as tax refunded in respect of the unadjusted suspended loss or capital loss in respect of the specified property,

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the original disposition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

C is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation resident in Canada in respect of the relevant foreign affiliate immediately before the recognition time determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the relevant foreign affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

5915. An election under paragraph 95(2)(c.2) of the Act in respect of the disposition of a specified share is to be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister, on or before

(a) if a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation resident in Canada was the vendor that disposed of the specified share, the particular corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year in which the disposition was made; and

(b) if a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation resident in Canada is a member of a partnership that was the vendor that disposed of the specified share, the particular corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the last day of the taxation year of the foreign affiliate that includes the last day of the partnership's fiscal period in which the disposition was made.

Technical Notes: Proposed section 5915 sets out the requirements for an election by a corporation resident in Canada under proposed paragraph 95(2)(c.2) of the Act.

Proposed new subsection 5915 applies after December 20, 2002.

Generally, the new section requires the election to be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister of National Revenue on or before

- if a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada was the vendor that disposed of the specified share, the filing-due date of the corporation resident in Canada for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year in which the disposition was made; and
- if a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada is a member of a partnership that was the vendor that disposed of the specified share, the filing-due date of the corporation resident in Canada for its taxation year that includes the last day of the taxation year of the foreign affiliate that includes the last day of the partnership's fiscal period in which the disposition was made by the partnership.

5916. An election under clause 95(2)(d)(iii)(A), (e)(v)(B), (e.3)(iv)(B), (e.4)(v)(B) or (e.5)(v)(B) of the Act in respect of the disposition of one or more shares of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada is to be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister, on or before

(a) if a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada made the disposition, the filing-due date of the corporation resident in Canada for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year in which the disposition was made; and

(b) if a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada is a member of a partnership that made the disposition, the filing-due date of the corporation resident in Canada for its taxation year that includes the last day of the taxation year of the foreign affiliate that includes the last day of the partnership's fiscal period in which the disposition was made.

Technical Notes: Proposed section 5916 sets out the requirements for an election by a corporation resident in Canada under subsection 88(3) or clause 95(2)(d)(iii)(A), (e)(v)(B), (e.3)(iv)(B), (e.4)(v)(B) or (e.5)(v)(B) of the Act.

Proposed new subsection 5916 applies after December 20, 2002.

Generally, the section requires the election to be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister of National Revenue on or before

- if a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada made the disposition, the filing-due date of the corporation resident in Canada for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year in which the disposition was made; and
- if a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada is a member of a partnership and that partnership made the disposition, the filing-due date of the corporation resident in Canada for its taxation year that includes the last day of the taxation year of the foreign affiliate that includes the last day of the partnership's fiscal period in which the disposition was made by the partnership.

5917. An election under paragraph 95(2)(f.4) of the Act is to be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister, on or before

(a) if a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation resident in Canada was the vendor that disposed of the specified property, the particular corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year in which the disposition was made; and

(b) if a foreign affiliate of the particular corporation resident in Canada is a member of a partnership that was the vendor that disposed of the specified property, the particular corporation's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year that includes the last day of the partnership's fiscal period in which the disposition was made.

Technical Notes: Proposed section 5917 sets out the requirements for an election by a corporation resident in Canada under paragraph 95(2)(f.4) of the Act.

Proposed subsection 5917 applies after December 20, 2002.

Generally, the section requires the election to be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister of National Revenue on or before

- if a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada was the vendor that disposed of the specified property, the filing-due date of the corporation resident in Canada for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year in which the disposition was made; and
- if a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada is a member of a partnership that was the vendor that disposed of the specified property, the filing-due date of the corporation resident in Canada for its taxation year that includes the last day of the taxation year of the foreign affiliate that includes the last day of the partnership's fiscal period in which the disposition was made by the partnership.

Definitions [Reg. 5917]: "corporation" — ITA 248(1), Interpretation Act 35(1); "disposition", "filing-due date" — ITA 248(1); "fiscal period" — ITA 249.1; "foreign affiliate" — ITA 95(1), 248(1), Reg. 5907(3); "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "prescribed", "property" — ITA 248(1); "resident in Canada" — ITA 250; "taxation year" — ITA 249.

5918. An election under subparagraph 95(2)(k.3)(iii) of the Act in respect of the dispositions of all properties deemed, by subparagraph 95(2)(k.3)(ii) of the Act and paragraph 138(11.91)(e) of the Act, to have been disposed of by the operator referred to in subparagraph 95(2)(k.3)(iii) of the Act in the operator's specified taxation year referred to in that subparagraph, is to be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister on or before

(a) if a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer was the operator, the taxpayer's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year that is the specified taxation year; and

(b) if a partnership — of which a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer was, or was deemed by paragraph 95(2)(k.7) of the Act to be, a member — was the operator, the taxpayer's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year that includes the last day of the partnership's fiscal period that is the specified taxation year.

Technical Notes: Proposed section 5918 sets out the requirements for an election by a corporation resident in Canada under new subparagraph 95(2)(k.3)(iii) of the Act. For further detail, see the commentary to paragraph 95(2)(k.3) of the Act.

Proposed new subsection 5918 applies after December 20, 2002.

Generally, the section requires the election to be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister of National Revenue on or before

- if a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer was the operator, the taxpayer's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the last day of the foreign affiliate's taxation year that is the specified taxation year; and
- if a partnership — of which a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer was, or was deemed by new paragraph 95(2)(k.7) of the Act to be, a member — was the operator, the taxpayer's filing-due date for its taxation year that includes the last day of the taxation year of the foreign affiliate that includes the last day of the partnership's fiscal period that is the specified taxation year.

5919. An election under paragraph 88(3)(a) of the Act in respect of the disposition of one or more shares of the capital stock of the foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada by another foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada is to be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister on or before the filing-due date of the corporation resident in Canada for its taxation year that includes the last day of the other foreign affiliate's taxation year in which the other foreign affiliate made the disposition.

Technical Notes: New section 5919 sets out the requirements for an election, under paragraph 88(3)(a) of the Act, by a corporation resident in Canada in respect of the disposition of shares in the capital of one of the foreign affiliates of the corporation resident in Canada by another of the foreign affiliates of the corporation resident in Canada. The proposed section states that an election under paragraph 88(3)(a) of the Act shall be made by filing the prescribed form with the Minister of National Revenue, on or before the filingdue date of the taxation year of the corporation resident in Canada that includes the last day of the other foreign affiliate's taxation year in which the other foreign affiliate made the disposition.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (foreign affiliates), s. 4, will add ss. 5911–5919, applicable after December 20, 2002.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-479R: Transactions in securities.

6201. Prescribed shares — (1) [Term preferred share] — For the purposes of paragraph (f) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a share last acquired before June 29, 1982 and of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200 is a prescribed share unless more than 10 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of that class are owned by

(a) the owner of that share; or

(b) the owner of that share and persons related to him.

(2) [Term preferred share] — For the purposes of paragraph (f) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a share acquired after June 28, 1982 and of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200 is a prescribed share at any particular time with respect to another corporation that receives a dividend at the particular time in respect of the share unless

(a) where the other corporation is a restricted financial institution,

(i) the share is not a taxable preferred share,

(ii) dividends (other than dividends received on shares prescribed under subsection (5)) are received at the particular time by the other corporation or by the other corporation and restricted financial institutions with which the other corporation does not deal at arm's length, in respect of more than 5 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of that class, and

(iii) a dividend is received at the particular time by the other corporation or a restricted financial institution with which the other corporation does not deal at arm's length, in respect of a share (other than a share prescribed under subsection (5)) of that class acquired after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time;

(b) where the other corporation is a restricted financial institution, the share

(i) is not a taxable preferred share,

(ii) was acquired after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time, and

(iii) was, by reason of subparagraph (h)(i), (ii), (iii) or (v) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, deemed to have been issued after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time; or

(c) in any case, dividends (other than dividends received on shares prescribed under subsection (5)) are received at the particular time by the other corporation or by the other corporation and persons with whom the other corporation does not deal at arm's length in respect of more than 10 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of that class.

(3) [Term preferred share] — For the purposes of paragraph 112(2.2)(g) of the Act and paragraph (f) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a share of any of the following series of preferred shares of the capital stock of Massey-Ferguson Limited issued after July 15, 1981 and before March 23, 1982 is a prescribed share:

(a) $25 Cumulative Redeemable Retractable Convertible Preferred Shares, Series C;

(b) $25 Cumulative Redeemable Retractable Preferred Shares, Series D; or

(c) $25 Cumulative Redeemable Retractable Convertible Preferred Shares, Series E.

(4) [Taxable RFI share] — For the purposes of the definition "taxable RFI share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200 is a prescribed share at any particular time with respect to another corporation that is a restricted financial institution that receives a dividend at the particular time in respect of the share unless dividends (other than dividends received on shares prescribed under subsection (5.1)) are received at that time by the other corporation, or by the other corporation and restricted financial institutions with which the other corporation does not deal at arm's length, in respect of more than

(a) 10 per cent of the shares of that class that were issued and outstanding at the last time, before the particular time, at which the other corporation or a restricted financial institution with which the other corporation does not deal at arm's length acquired a share of that class, where no dividend is received at the particular time by any such corporation in respect of a share (other than a share prescribed under subsection (5.1)) of that class acquired after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time; or

(b) 5 per cent of the shares of that class that were issued and outstanding at the last time, before the particular time, at which the other corporation or a restricted financial institution with which the other corporation does not deal at arm's length acquired a share of that class, where a dividend is received at the particular time by any such corporation in respect of a share (other than a share prescribed under subsection (5.1)) of that class acquired after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time.

(5) [Term preferred share] — For the purposes of paragraph (f) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200 is a prescribed share at any particular time with respect to another corporation that is registered or licensed under the laws of a province to trade in securities and that holds the share as inventory of the business ordinarily carried on by it unless

(5) [Term preferred share] — For the purpose of paragraph (f) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200 is a prescribed share at any particular time with respect to another corporation that is registered or licensed under the laws of a province to trade in securities and that holds the share for the purpose of sale in the course of the business ordinarily carried on by it unless

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), subsec. 6(1), will amend the opening words of subsec. 6201(5) to read as above, applicable to dividends received in taxation years that begin after October 1994.

Technical Notes: Subsections 6201(5) and (5.1) prescribe certain shares held by securities dealers as shares that are excluded from being "term preferred shares" and "taxable RFI shares". One of the requirements for the exclusion to apply to a share is that it be held as inventory of the business ordinarily carried on by the securities dealer. This requirement is replaced by a requirement that the share be held for the purpose of sale in the course of the business ordinarily carried on by the securities dealer. This amendment is made as a consequence of the introduction of subsection 142.6(3) of the Act, which provides that certain property held by a financial institution is considered not to be inventory. The new requirement is intended to be the same, in substance, as the former requirement.

The amendments to subsections 6201(5) and (5.1) apply to dividends received in taxation years that begin after October 1994.

(a) it may reasonably be considered that the share was acquired as part of a series of transactions or events one of the main purposes of which was to avoid or limit the application of subsection 112(2.1) of the Act; or

(b) the share was not acquired by the other corporation in the course of an underwriting of shares of that class to be distributed to the public and

(i) dividends are received at the particular time by the other corporation or by the other corporation and corporations controlled by the other corporation in respect of more than 10 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of that class,

(ii) the other corporation is a restricted financial institution and

(A) the share is not a taxable preferred share,

(B) dividends are received at the particular time by the other corporation or by the other corporation and corporations controlled by the other corporation in respect of more than 5 per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of that class, and

(C) a dividend is received at the particular time by the other corporation or a corporation controlled by the other corporation in respect of a share of that class acquired after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time, or

(iii) the other corporation is a restricted financial institution and the share

(A) is not a taxable preferred share,

(B) was acquired after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time, and

(C) was, by reason of subparagraph (h)(i), (ii), (iii) or (v) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, deemed to have been issued after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time.

Related Provisions: ITA 256(6), (6.1) — Meaning of "controlled".

(5.1) [Taxable RFI share — prescribed share] — For the purposes of the definition "taxable RFI share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation that is listed on a stock exchange referred to in section 3200 is a prescribed share at any particular time with respect to another corporation that is registered or licensed under the laws of a province to trade in securities and that holds the share as inventory of the business ordinarily carried on by it unless Technical Notes: See under Reg. 6201(5) opening words.

(a) it may reasonably be considered that the share was acquired as part of a series of transactions or events one of the main purposes of which was to avoid or limit the application of section 187.3 of the Act; or

(b) the share was not acquired by the other corporation in the course of an underwriting of shares of that class to be distributed to the public and

(i) dividends are received at the particular time by the other corporation, or by the other corporation and corporations controlled by the other corporation, in respect of more than 10 per cent of the shares of that class issued and outstanding at the last time before the particular time at which any such corporation acquired a share of that class,

(ii) the other corporation is a restricted financial institution and

(A) dividends are received at the particular time by the other corporation, or by the other corporation and corporations controlled by the other corporation, in respect of more than 5 per cent of the shares of that class issued and outstanding at the last time before the particular time at which any such corporation acquired a share of that class, and

(B) a dividend is received at the particular time by the other corporation, or a corporation controlled by the other corporation, in respect of a share of that class acquired after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time, or

(iii) the other corporation is a restricted financial institution and the share

(A) was acquired after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time, and

(B) was, because of subparagraph (h)(i), (ii), (iii) or (v) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, deemed to have been issued after December 15, 1987 and before the particular time.

Related Provisions: ITA 256(6), (6.1) — Meaning of "controlled".

(6) [Term preferred share — prescribed share] — For the purposes of paragraph (f) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a share of the capital stock of a corporation that is a member institution of a deposit insurance corporation, within the meaning assigned by section 137.1 of the Act, is a prescribed share with respect to the deposit insurance corporation and any subsidiary wholly-owned corporation of the deposit insurance corporation deemed by subsection 137.1(5.1) of the Act to be a deposit insurance corporation.

(7) [Taxable preferred share — prescribed share] — For the purposes of the definition "taxable preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, the following shares are prescribed shares at any particular time:

(a) the 8.5 per cent Cumulative Redeemable Convertible Class A Preferred Shares of St. Marys Paper Inc. issued on July 7, 1987, where such shares are not deemed, by reason of paragraph (e) of the definition "taxable preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, to have been issued after that date and before the particular time; and

(b) the Cumulative Redeemable Preferred Shares of CanUtilities Holdings Ltd. issued before July 1, 1991, unless the amount of the consideration for which all such shares were issued exceeds $300,000,000 or the particular time is after July 1, 2001.

(8) [Canada Cement Lafarge] — For the purposes of paragraph 112(2.2)(d) of the Act, paragraph (i) of the definition "short-term preferred share", the definition "taxable preferred share" and paragraph (f) of the definition "term preferred share" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, the Exchangeable Preference Shares of Canada Cement Lafarge Ltd. (in this subsection referred to as the "subject shares"), the Exchangeable Preference Shares of Lafarge Canada Inc. and the shares of any corporation formed as a result of an amalgamation or merger of Lafarge Canada Inc. with one or more other corporations are prescribed shares at any particular time where the terms and conditions of such shares at the particular time are the same as, or substantially the same as, the terms and conditions of the subject shares as of June 18, 1987 and, for the purposes of this subsection, the amalgamation or merger of one or more corporations with another corporation formed as a result of an amalgamation or merger of Lafarge Canada Inc. with one or more other corporations shall be deemed to be an amalgamation of Lafarge Canada Inc. with another corporation.

(9) [Time when share acquired] — For the purposes of determining under subsections (2), (4), (5) and (5.1) the time at which a share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation was acquired by a taxpayer, shares of that class acquired by the taxpayer at any particular time before a disposition by the taxpayer of shares of that class shall be deemed to have been disposed of before shares of that class acquired by the taxpayer before that particular time.

(10) [Trusts and partnerships] — For the purposes of subsections (2), (4), (5) and (5.1) and this subsection,

(a) where a taxpayer is a beneficiary of a trust and an amount in respect of the beneficiary has been designated by the trust in a taxation year pursuant to subsection 104(19) of the Act, the taxpayer shall be deemed to have received the amount so designated at the time it was received by the trust; and

(b) where a taxpayer is a member of a partnership and a dividend has been received by the partnership, the taxpayer's share of the dividend shall be deemed to have been received by the taxpayer at the time the dividend was received by the partnership.

(11) [Grandfathering] — For the purposes of subsections (2), (4), (5) and (5.1),

(a) a share of the capital stock of a corporation acquired by a person after December 15, 1987 pursuant to an agreement in writing entered into before December 16, 1987 shall be deemed to have been acquired by that person before December 16, 1987;

(b) a share of the capital stock of a corporation acquired by a person after December 15, 1987 and before July, 1988 as part of a distribution to the public made in accordance with the terms of a prospectus, preliminary prospectus, registration statement, offering memorandum or notice filed before December 16, 1987 with a public authority pursuant to and in accordance with the securities legislation of the jurisdiction in which the shares were distributed shall be deemed to have been acquired by that person before December 16, 1987;

(c) where a share that was owned by a particular restricted financial institution on December 15, 1987 has, by one or more transactions between related restricted financial institutions, been transferred to another restricted financial institution, the share shall be deemed to have been acquired by the other restricted financial institution before that date and after June 28, 1982 unless at any particular time after December 15, 1987 and before the share was transferred to the other restricted financial institution the share was owned by a shareholder who, at that particular time, was a person other than a restricted financial institution related to the other restricted financial institution; and

(d) where at any particular time there has been an amalgamation (within the meaning assigned by section 87 of the Act) and

(i) each of the predecessor corporations (within the meaning assigned by section 87 of the Act) was a restricted financial institution throughout the period beginning December 16, 1987 and ending at the particular time and the predecessor corporations were related to each other throughout that period, or

(ii) each of the predecessor corporations and the new corporation (within the meaning assigned by section 87 of the Act) is a corporation described in any of paragraphs (a) to (d) of the definition "restricted financial institution" in subsection 248(1) of the Act,

a share acquired by the new corporation from a predecessor corporation on the amalgamation shall be deemed to have been acquired by the new corporation at the time it was acquired by the predecessor corporation.

6202. [Resource expenditures — prescribed share] — (1) For the purposes of paragraph 66(15)(d.1) [66(15)"flow-through share"] and subparagraphs 66.1(6)(a)(v) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"(i)], 66.2(5)(a)(v) [66.2(5)"Canadian development expense"(g)] and 66.4(5)(a)(iii) [66.4(5)"Canadian oil and gas property expense"(c)] of the Act, a share of a class of the capital stock of a corporation (in this section referred to as the "issuing corporation") is a prescribed share if it was issued after December 31, 1982 and

(a) the issuing corporation, any person related to the issuing corporation or of whom the issuing corporation has effective management or control or any partnership or trust of which the issuing corporation or a person related thereto is a member or beneficiary (each of which is referred to in this section as a "member of the related issuing group") is or may be required to redeem, acquire or cancel, in whole or in part, the share or to reduce its paid-up capital at any time within five years from the date of its issue,

(b) a member of the related issuing group provides or may be required to provide any form of guarantee, security or similar indemnity with respect to the share (other than a guarantee, security or similar indemnity with respect to any amount of assistance or benefit from a government, municipality or other public authority in Canada or with respect to eligibility for such assistance or benefit) that could take effect within five years from the date of its issue,

(c) the share (referred to in this section as the "convertible share") is convertible under its terms or conditions at any time within five years from the date of its issue directly or indirectly into debt, or into a share (referred to in this section as the "acquired share") that is, or if issued would be, a prescribed share,

(d) immediately after the share was issued, the person to whom the share was issued or a person related to the person to whom the share was issued (either alone or together with a related person, a related group of persons of which he is a member or a partnership or trust of which he is a member or beneficiary) controls directly or indirectly, or has an absolute or contingent right to control directly or indirectly or to acquire direct or indirect control of, the issuing corporation and the issuing corporation has the right under the terms and conditions in respect of which the share was issued to redeem, purchase or otherwise acquire the share within five years from the date of its issue,

(e) at the time the share was issued, the existence of the issuing corporation was, or there was an arrangement (other than an amalgamation within the meaning assigned by subsection 87(1) of the Act) under which the existence of the issuing corporation could be, limited to a period that ends within five years from the date of its issue, or

(f) the terms or conditions of the share (referred to in this paragraph as the "first share") or of an agreement in existence at the time of its issue provide that a share (referred to in this section as the "substituted share") that is, or if issued would be, a prescribed share may be substituted or exchanged for the first share within five years from the date of issue of the first share, but does not include a share of the capital stock of a corporation

(g) that was issued after December 31, 1982 pursuant to an agreement or offering in writing made on or before December 31, 1982 or in accordance with a prospectus, registration statement or similar document that was filed with and, where required by law, accepted for filing by, a public authority in Canada pursuant to and in accordance with the laws of Canada or of any province on or before December 31, 1982,

(h) that would be a prescribed share solely by virtue of one or more of the terms or conditions of an agreement if such terms or conditions are not effective or exercisable until the death, disability or bankruptcy of the person to whom the share is issued,

(i) that is

(i) convertible under its terms into one or more shares of a class of the capital stock of the corporation for no consideration other than the share or shares,

(ii) described in paragraph (a) solely because

(A) it is to be cancelled on the conversion within five years from the date of its issue,

(B) its paid-up capital is to be reduced on the conversion within five years from the date of its issue, or

(C) both clauses (A) and (B) apply, and

(iii) not described in paragraph (c), or

(j) that

(i) may have a share substituted or exchanged for it pursuant to its terms or the terms or conditions of an agreement in existence at the time of its issue and no consideration is to be received or receivable for it in respect of the substitution or exchange other than the share substituted or exchanged for it,

(ii) is described in paragraph (a) solely because it is to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled on the substitution or exchange within five years from the date of its issue, and

(iii) is not a share to which paragraph (f) applies, and for the purposes of this section,

(k) where a person has an interest in a trust, whether directly or indirectly, through an interest in any other trust or in any other manner whatever, the person shall be deemed to be a beneficiary of the trust;

(l) in determining whether an acquired share would be a prescribed share if issued,

(i) the references in paragraphs (a), (b), (d) and (e) to "date of its issue" shall be read as "date of the issue of the convertible share",

(ii) the reference in paragraph (f) to "issue of the first share" shall be read as "issue of the convertible share", and

(iii) this section shall be read without reference to paragraph (g) and to the words "after December 31, 1982";

(m) in determining whether a substituted share would be a prescribed share if issued,

(i) the references in paragraphs (a) to (e) to "date of its issue" shall be read as "date of the issue of the first share", and

(ii) this section shall be read without reference to paragraph (g) and to the words "after December 31, 1982";

(m.1) an excluded obligation in relation to a share of a class of the capital stock of the issuing corporation and an obligation that would be an excluded obligation in relation to the share if the share had been issued after June 17, 1987, shall be deemed not to be a guarantee, security or similar indemnity with respect to the share for the purposes of paragraph (b);

(n) a guarantee, security or similar indemnity referred to in paragraph (b) shall, for greater certainty, not be considered to take effect within five years from the date of issue of a share if the effect of the guarantee, security or indemnity is to provide that a member of the related issuing group will be able to redeem, acquire or cancel the share at a time that is not within five years from the date of issue of the share; and

(o) where an expense is incurred partly in consideration for shares (referred to in this section as "first corporation shares") of the capital stock of one corporation and partly in consideration for an interest in, or right to, shares (referred to in this paragraph as "second corporation shares") of the capital stock of another corporation, in determining whether the second corporation shares are prescribed shares, the references in paragraphs (a), (d) and (e) to "date of its issue" shall be read as "date of the issue of the first corporation shares".

(2) For the purposes of paragraph 66(15)(d.1) [66(15)"flow-through share"] of the Act, subsection (1) does not apply in respect of a share of the capital stock of an issuing corporation that is a new share.

6202.1 [Flow-through shares — prescribed share] — (1) For the purposes of the definition "flow-through share" in subsection 66(15) of the Act, a new share of the capital stock of a corporation is a prescribed share if, at the time it is issued,

(a) under the terms or conditions of the share or any agreement in respect of the share or its issue,

(i) the amount of the dividends that may be declared or paid on the share (in this section referred to as the "dividend entitlement") may reasonably be considered to be, by way of a formula or otherwise,

(A) fixed,

(B) limited to a maximum, or

(C) established to be not less than a minimum (including any amount determined on a cumulative basis), where with respect to the dividends that may be declared or paid on the share there is a preference over any other dividends that may be declared or paid on any other share of the capital stock of the corporation,

(ii) the amount that the holder of the share is entitled to receive in respect of the share on the dissolution, liquidation or winding-up of the corporation, on a reduction of the paid-up capital of the share or on the redemption, acquisition or cancellation of the share by the corporation or by specified persons in relation to the corporation (in this section referred to as the "liquidation entitlement") may reasonably be considered to be, by way of a formula or otherwise, fixed, limited to a maximum or established to be not less than a minimum,

(iii) the share is convertible or exchangeable into another security issued by the corporation unless

(A) it is convertible or exchangeable only into

(I) another share of the corporation that, if issued, would not be a prescribed share,

(II) a right, including a right conferred by a warrant that, if exercised, would allow the person exercising it to acquire only a share of the corporation that, if issued, would not be a prescribed share, or

(III) both a share described in subclause (I) and a right or warrant described in subclause (II), and

(B) all the consideration receivable by the holder on the conversion or exchange of the share is the share described in subclause (A)(I) or the right or warrant described in subclause (A)(II), or both, as the case may be, or

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 6202.1(1)(a)(iii)

(II) a right (including a right conferred by a warrant) that

1. if it were issued, would not be a prescribed right, and

2. if it were exercised, would allow the person exercising it to acquire only a share of the corporation that, if the share were issued, would not be a prescribed share, or

(III) both a share described in subclause (I) and a right described in subclause (II), and

(B) all the consideration receivable by the holder on the conversion or exchange of the share is the share described in subclause (A)(I) or the right described in subclause (A)(II), or both, as the case may be, or

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix F, flow-through shares — prescribed right), subsec. 1(1), will amend the portion of subpara. 6202.1(1)(a)(iii) after subcl. (A)(I) to read as above, applicable to shares and rights issued under an agreement made after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: Section 6202.1 of the Income Tax Regulations defines certain shares ("prescribed shares") for the purpose of the definition "flow-through share" in subsection 66(15) of the Act. A prescribed share does not qualify as a flow-through share. The purpose of these rules is to ensure that flow-through shares represent genuine risk capital.

Generally speaking, a share will be a prescribed share if the share has fixed or limited rights to dividends or an obligation exists to reduce the paid-up capital of the share or to confer a benefit or guarantee in respect of the share. The restrictions imposed on shares do not apply to rights to acquire shares.

Section 6202.1 is amended, applicable to shares and rights issued under an agreement made after December 20, 2002, to include a definition of a prescribed right. A "prescribed right" is defined in new subsections 6202.1(1.1) and (2.1). This amendment ensures that restrictions on the type of shares that may qualify as flow-through shares currently found in subsections 6202.1(1) and (2) also apply to rights to acquire shares.

(iv) the corporation has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation to reduce, or any person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation to cause the corporation to reduce, the paid-up capital in respect of the share (other than pursuant to a conversion or exchange of the share, where the right to so convert or exchange does not cause the share to be a prescribed share under subparagraph (iii));

(b) any person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation (other than an excluded obligation in relation to the share)

(i) to provide assistance,

(ii) to make a loan or payment,

(iii) to transfer property, or

(iv) otherwise to confer a benefit by any means whatever, including the payment of a dividend, either immediately or in the future, that may reasonably be considered to be, directly or indirectly, a repayment or return by the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation of all or part of the consideration for which the share was issued or for which a partnership interest was issued in a partnership that acquires the share;

(c) any person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation (other than an excluded obligation in relation to the share) to effect any undertaking, either immediately or in the future, with respect to the share or the agreement under which the share is issued (including any guarantee, security, indemnity, covenant or agreement and including the lending of funds to or the placing of amounts on deposit with, or on behalf of, the holder of the share or, where the holder is a partnership, the members thereof or specified persons in relation to the holder or the members of the partnership, as the case may be) that may reasonably be considered to have been given to ensure, directly or indirectly, that

(i) any loss that the holder of the share and, where the holder is a partnership, the members thereof or specified persons in relation to the holder or the members of the partnership, as the case may be, may sustain by reason of the holding, ownership or disposition of the share or any other property is limited in any respect, or

(ii) the holder of the share and, where the holder is a partnership, the members thereof or specified persons in relation to the holder or the members of the partnership, as the case may be, will derive earnings, by reason of the holding, ownership or disposition of the share or any other property;

(d) the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation may reasonably be expected

(i) to acquire or cancel the share in whole or in part otherwise than on a conversion or exchange of the share that meets the conditions set out in clauses (a)(iii)(A) and (B),

(ii) to reduce the paid-up capital of the corporation in respect of the share otherwise than on a conversion or exchange of the share that meets the conditions set out in clauses (a)(iii)(A) and (B), or

(iii) to make a payment, transfer or other provision (otherwise than pursuant to an excluded obligation in relation to the share), directly or indirectly, by way of a dividend, loan, purchase of shares, financial assistance to any purchaser of the share or, where the purchaser is a partnership, the members thereof or in any other manner whatever, that may reasonably be considered to be a repayment or return of all or part of the consideration for which the share was issued or for which a partnership interest was issued in a partnership that acquires the share, within 5 years after the date the share is issued, otherwise than as a consequence of an amalgamation of a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation, a winding-up of a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation to which subsection 88(1) of the Act applies or the payment of a dividend by a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation to its parent;

(e) any person or partnership can reasonably be expected to effect, within 5 years after the date the share is issued, any undertaking which, if it were in effect at the time the share was issued, would result in the share being a prescribed share by reason of paragraph (c); or

(f) it may reasonably be expected that, within 5 years after the date the share is issued,

(i) any of the terms or conditions of the share or any existing agreement relating to the share or its issue will thereafter be modified, or

(ii) any new agreement relating to the share or its issue will be entered into,

in such a manner that the share would be a prescribed share if it had been issued at the time of the modification or at the time when the new agreement is entered into.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 6202.1(1.1)

(1.1) For the purpose of the definition "flow-through share" in subsection 66(15) of the Act, a new right to acquire a share of the capital stock of a corporation is a prescribed right if, at the time the right is issued,

(a) the amount that the holder of the right is entitled to receive in respect of the right on the dissolution, liquidation or winding-up of the corporation or on the redemption, acquisition or cancellation of the right by the corporation or by specified persons in relation to the corporation (referred to in this section as the "liquidation entitlement" of the right) can reasonably be considered to be, by way of a formula or otherwise, fixed, limited to a maximum or established to be not less than a minimum;

(b) the right is convertible or exchangeable into another security issued by the corporation unless

(i) the right is convertible or exchangeable only into

(A) a share of the corporation that, if issued, would not be a prescribed share,

(B) another right (including a right conferred by a warrant) that

(I) if it were issued, would not be a prescribed right, and

(II) if it were exercised, would allow the person exercising it to acquire only a share of the corporation that, if the share were issued, would not be a prescribed share, or

(C) both a share described in clause (A) and a right described in clause (B), and

(ii) all the consideration receivable by the holder on the conversion or exchange of the right is the share described in clause (A) or the right described in clause (B), or both, as the case may be;

(c) any person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation (other than an excluded obligation in relation to the right)

(i) to provide assistance,

(ii) to make a loan or payment,

(iii) to transfer property, or

(iv) to otherwise confer a benefit by any means whatever, including the payment of a dividend, either immediately or in the future, that can reasonably be considered to be, directly or indirectly, a repayment or return by the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation of all or part of the consideration for which the right was issued or for which a partnership interest was issued in a partnership that acquires the right;

(d) any person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation (other than an excluded obligation in relation to the right) to effect any undertaking, either immediately or in the future, with respect to the right or the agreement under which the right is issued (including any guarantee, security, indemnity, covenant or agreement and) including the lending of funds to or the placing of amounts on deposit with, or on behalf of, the holder of the right or where the holder is a partnership, the members of the partnership or specified persons in relation to the holder or the members of the partnership, as the case may be) that can reasonably be considered to have been given to ensure, directly or indirectly, that

(i) any loss that the holder of the right and, where the holder is a partnership, the members of the partnership or specified persons in relation to the holder or the members of the partnership, as the case may be, may sustain because of the holding, ownership or disposition of the right or any other property is limited in any respect, or

(ii) the holder of the right and, where the holder is a partnership, the members of the partnership or specified persons in relation to the holder or the members of the partnership, as the case may be, will derive earnings, because of the holding, ownership or disposition of the right or any other property;

(e) the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation can reasonably be expected

(i) to acquire or cancel the right in whole or in part otherwise than on a conversion or exchange of the right that meets the conditions set out in subparagraphs (b)(i) and (ii), or

(ii) to make a payment, transfer or other provision (otherwise than pursuant to an excluded obligation in relation to the right), directly or indirectly, by way of a dividend, loan, purchase of shares, financial assistance to any purchaser of the right or, where the purchaser is a partnership, the members of the partnership or in any other manner whatever, that can reasonably be considered to be a repayment or return of all or part of the consideration for which the right was issued or for which a partnership interest was issued in a partnership that acquires the right, within 5 years after the day the right is issued, otherwise than as a consequence of an amalgamation of a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation, a winding-up of a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation to which subsection 88(1) of the Act applies or the payment of a dividend by a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation to its parent;

(f) any person or partnership can reasonably be expected to effect, within 5 years after the day the right is issued, any undertaking which, if it were in effect at the time the right was issued, would result in the right being a prescribed right because of paragraph (d);

(g) it can reasonably be expected that, within 5 years after the day the right is issued,

(i) any of the terms or conditions of the right or any existing agreement relating to the right or its issue will be modified, or

(ii) any new agreement relating to the right or its issue will be entered into,

in such a manner that the right would be a prescribed right if it had been issued at the time of the modification or at the time the new agreement is entered into; or

(h) it can reasonably be expected that the right, if exercised, would allow the person exercising the right to acquire a share in a corporation that, if that share were issued, would become a prescribed share within 5 years after the day the right was issued.

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations Appendix F, (flow-through shares — prescribed right), subsec. 1(2), will add subsec. 6202.1(1.1), applicable to shares and rights issued under an agreement made after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 6202.1(1)(a)(iii).

Related Provisions: Reg. 6202.1(3) — Dividend entitlement and liquidation entitlement; Reg. 6202.1(4) — Agreement deemed not to be undertaking.

(2) [Flow-through shares — prescribed share] — For the purposes of the definition "flow-through share" in subsection 66(15) of the Act, a new share of the capital stock of a corporation is a prescribed share if

(a) the consideration for which the share is to be issued is to be determined more than 60 days after entering into the agreement pursuant to which the share is to be issued;

(b) the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation, directly or indirectly,

(i) provided assistance,

(ii) made or arranged for a loan or payment,

(iii) transferred property, or

(iv) otherwise conferred a benefit by any means whatever, including the payment of a dividend,

for the purpose of assisting any person or partnership in acquiring the share or any person or partnership in acquiring an interest in a partnership acquiring the share (otherwise than by reason of an excluded obligation in relation to the share); or

(c) the holder of the share or, where the holder is a partnership, a member thereof, has a right under any agreement or arrangement entered into under circumstances where it is reasonable to consider that the agreement or arrangement was contemplated at or before the time when the agreement to issue the share was entered into,

(i) to dispose of the share, and

(ii) through a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events contemplated by the agreement or arrangement, to acquire a share (referred to in this paragraph as the "acquired share") of the capital stock of another corporation that would be a prescribed share under subsection (1) if the acquired share were issued at the time the share was issued, other than a share that would not be a prescribed share if subsection (1) were read without reference to subparagraphs (a)(iv) and (d)(i) and (ii) thereof where the acquired share is a share

(A) of a mutual fund corporation, or

(B) of a corporation that becomes a mutual fund corporation within 90 days after the acquisition of the acquired share.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 6202.1(2.1)

(2.1) [Prescribed right] — For the purpose of the definition "flow-through share" in subsection 66(15) of the Act, a new right is a prescribed right if

(a) the consideration for which the new right is to be issued is to be determined more than 60 days after entering into the agreement pursuant to which the new right is to be issued;

(b) the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation, directly or indirectly,

(i) provided assistance,

(ii) made or arranged for a loan or payment,

(iii) transferred property, or

(iv) otherwise conferred a benefit by any means whatever, including the payment of a dividend,

for the purpose of assisting any person or partnership to acquire the new right or any person or partnership to acquire an interest in a partnership acquiring the new right (otherwise than because of an excluded obligation in relation to the new right); or

(c) the holder of the new right or, where the holder is a partnership, a member of the partnership, has a right under any agreement or arrangement entered into under circumstances where it is reasonable to consider that the agreement or arrangement was contemplated at or before the time the agreement to issue the new right was entered into,

(i) to dispose of the new right, and

(ii) through a transaction or event or a series of transactions or events contemplated by the agreement or arrangement, to acquire

(A) a share (referred to in this paragraph as the "acquired share") of the capital stock of another corporation that would be a prescribed share under subsection (1) if the acquired share were issued at the time the new right was issued, other than a share that would not be a prescribed share if subsection (1) were read without reference to subparagraphs (1)(a)(iv) and (1)(d)(i) and (ii) where the acquired share is a share

(I) of a mutual fund corporation, or

(II) of a corporation that becomes a mutual fund corporation within 90 days after the acquisition of the acquired share, or

(B) a right (referred to in this paragraph as the "acquired right") to acquire a share of the capital stock of another corporation that would, if it were issued at the time the new right was issued, be a prescribed right, other than a right that would not be a prescribed right if subsection (1.1) were read without reference to subparagraphs (1.1)(e)(i) and (ii) where the acquired right is a right to acquire a share of the capital stock

(I) of a mutual fund corporation, or

(II) of a corporation that becomes a mutual fund corporation within 90 days after the acquisition of the acquired right.

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix F, flow-through shares — prescribed right), subsec. 1(3), will add subsec. 6202.1(2.1), applicable to shares and rights issued under an agreement made after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 6202.1(1)(a)(iii).

(3) [Dividend entitlement and liquidation entitlement] — For the purposes of subsection (1),

(a) the dividend entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be fixed, limited to a maximum or established to be not less than a minimum where all dividends on the share are determined solely by reference to a multiple or fraction of the dividend entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation, or of another corporation that controls the corporation, where the dividend entitlement of that other share is not described in subparagraph (1)(a)(i); and

(b) the liquidation entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be fixed, limited to a maximum or established to be not less than a minimum where all the liquidation entitlement is determinable solely by reference to the liquidation entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation, or of another corporation that controls the corporation, where the liquidation entitlement of that other share is not described in subparagraph (1)(a)(ii).

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 6202.1(3)

(3) [Dividend entitlement and liquidation entitlement] — For the purposes of subsections (1) and (1.1),

(a) the dividend entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation is deemed not to be fixed, limited to a maximum or established to be not less than a minimum where all dividends on the share are determined solely by reference to a multiple or fraction of the dividend entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation, or of another corporation that controls the corporation, where the dividend entitlement of that other share is not described in subparagraph (1)(a)(i); and

(b) the liquidation entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation, or of a right to acquire a share of the capital stock of the corporation, as the case may be, is deemed not to be fixed, limited to a maximum or established to be not less than a minimum where

(i) all the liquidation entitlement is determinable solely by reference to

(A) the liquidation entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation (or a share of the capital stock of another corporation that controls the corporation), or

(B) the liquidation entitlement of a right to acquire the capital stock of the corporation (or another corporation that controls the corporation),

(ii) the liquidation entitlement described in clause (i)(A), if any, is not described in subparagraph (1)(a)(ii), and

(iii) the liquidation entitlement described in clause (i)(B), if any, is not described in subparagraph (1.1)(a)(i).

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix F, flow-through shares — prescribed right), subsec. 1(4), will amend subsec. 6202.1(3) to read as above, applicable to shares and rights issued under an agreement made after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 6202.1(1)(a)(iii).

(4) [Agreement deemed not to be undertaking] — For the purposes of paragraphs (1)(c) and (e), an agreement entered into between the first holder of a share and another person or partnership for the sale of the share to that other person or partnership for its fair market value at the time the share is acquired by the other person or partnership (determined without regard to the agreement) shall be deemed not to be an undertaking with respect to the share.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 6202.1(4)

(4) For the purposes of paragraphs (1)(c) and (e) and (1.1)(d) and (f), an agreement entered into between the first holder of a share or right and another person or partnership for the sale of the share or right to that other person or partnership for its fair market value at the time the share or right is acquired by the other person or partnership (determined without regard to the agreement) is deemed not to be an undertaking with respect to the share or right, as the case may be.

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix F, flow-through shares — prescribed right), subsec. 1(4), will amend subsec. 6202.1(4) to read as above, applicable to shares and rights issued under an agreement made after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 6202.1(1)(a)(iii).

(5) For the purposes of section 6202 and this section,

"excluded obligation", in relation to a share issued by a corporation, means

(a) an obligation of the corporation

(i) with respect to eligibility for, or the amount of, any assistance under the Canadian Exploration and Development Incentive Program Act, the Canadian Exploration Incentive Program Act, the Ontario Mineral Exploration Program Act, 1989, Statutes of Ontario 1989, c. 40, or the Mineral Exploration Incentive Program Act (Manitoba), Statutes of Manitoba 1990-91, c. 45, or

(ii) with respect to the making of an election respecting such assistance and the flowing out of such assistance to the holder of the share in accordance with any of those Acts,

(a.1) an obligation of the corporation, in respect of the share, to distribute an amount that represents a payment out of assistance to which the corporation is entitled

(i) under section 25.1 of the Income Tax Act, Revised Statutes of British Columbia, 1996, c. 215, and

(ii) as a consequence of the corporation making expenditures funded by consideration received for shares issued by the corporation in respect of which the corporation purports to renounce an amount under subsection 66(12.6) of the Act, and

(b) an obligation of any person or partnership to effect an undertaking to indemnify a holder of the share or, where the holder is a partnership, a member thereof, for an amount not exceeding the amount of any tax payable under the Act or the laws of a province by the holder or the member of the partnership, as the case may be, as a consequence of

(i) the failure of the corporation to renounce an amount to the holder in respect of the share, or

(ii) a reduction, under subsection 66(12.73) of the Act, of an amount purported to be renounced to the holder in respect of the share;

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 6202.1(5)"excluded obligation"

"excluded obligation" in relation to a share or new right issued by a corporation, means

(a) an obligation of the corporation

(i) with respect to eligibility for, or the amount of, any assistance under the Canadian Exploration and Development Incentive Program Act, the Canadian Exploration Incentive Program Act, the Ontario Mineral Exploration Program Act, 1989, Statutes of Ontario 1989, c. 40, or the Mineral Exploration Incentive Program Act (Manitoba), Statutes of Manitoba 1990-91, c. 45, or

(ii) with respect to the making of an election respecting such assistance and the flowing out of such assistance to the holder of the share or the new right in accordance with any of those Acts,

(b) an obligation of the corporation, in respect of the share or the new right, to distribute an amount that represents a payment out of assistance to which the corporation is entitled

(i) as a consequence of the corporation making expenditures funded by consideration received for shares or new rights issued by the corporation in respect of which the corporation purports to renounce an amount under subsection 66(12.6) of the Act, and

(ii) under section 25.1 of the Income Tax Act, Revised Statutes of British Columbia, 1996, c. 215, or

(c) an obligation of any person or partnership to effect an undertaking to indemnify a holder of the share or the new right or, where the holder is a partnership, a member of the partnership, for an amount not exceeding the amount of any tax payable under the Act or the laws of a province by the holder or the member of the partnership, as the case may be, as a consequence of

(i) the failure of the corporation to renounce an amount to the holder in respect of the share or the new right, or

(ii) a reduction, under subsection 66(12.73) of the Act, of an amount purported to be renounced to the holder in respect of the share or the new right;

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix F, flow-through shares — prescribed right), subsec. 1(5), will amend the definition "excluded obligation" in subsec. 6202.1(5) to read as above, applicable to shares and rights issued under an agreement made after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 6202.1(1)(a)(iii).

Proposed Addition — Reg. 6202.1(5)"new right"

"new right" means a right that is issued after December 20, 2002 to acquire a share of the capital stock of a corporation, other than a right that is issued at a particular time before 2003,

(a) pursuant to an agreement in writing made on or before December 20, 2002,

(b) as part of a distribution of rights to the public made in accordance with the terms of a prospectus, preliminary prospectus, registration statement, offering memorandum or notice, required by law to be filed before distribution of the rights begins, filed on or before December 20, 2002 with a public authority in Canada in accordance with the securities legislation of the province in which the rights are distributed, or

(c) to a partnership interests in which were issued as part of a distribution to the public made in accordance with the terms of a prospectus, preliminary prospectus, registration statement, offering memorandum or notice, required by law to be filed before distribution of the interests begins, filed on or before December 20, 2002 with a public authority in Canada in accordance with the securities legislation of the province in which the interests are distributed, where all interests in the partnership issued at or before the particular time were issued

(i) as part of the distribution, or

(ii) before the beginning of the distribution;

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix F, flow-through shares — prescribed right), subsec. 1(6), will add the definition "new right" to subsec. 6202.1(5), applicable to shares and rights issued under an agreement made after December 20, 2002.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 6202.1(1)(a)(iii).

"new share" means a share of the capital stock of a corporation issued after June 17, 1987, other than a share issued at a particular time before 1989

6203. (1) [Share-purchase tax credit] — For the purposes of subsection 192(6) of the Act, a prescribed share of the capital stock of a taxable Canadian corporation is a share (other than a share acquired by a taxpayer under circumstances referred to in section 66.3 of the Act, a share acquired as consideration for a disposition of property in respect of which an election was made under subsection 85(1) or (2) of the Act and a share that can be considered to have been issued, directly or indirectly, for consideration that includes other shares of the capital stock of the corporation) where, at the time it is issued,

(a) under the terms or conditions of the share or any agreement in respect of the share or its issue,

(i) the amount of the dividends (in this section referred to as the "dividend entitlement") that the corporation may declare or pay on the share is not limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount at that time or any time thereafter by way of a formula or otherwise,

(ii) the amount (in this section referred to as the "liquidation entitlement") that the holder of the share is entitled to receive on the share on the dissolution, liquidation or winding-up of the corporation is not limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount by way of a formula or otherwise,

(iii) the share cannot be converted into any other security, other than into another security of the corporation that would, if it were issued for consideration that does not include other shares of the capital stock of the corporation, be a prescribed share,

(iv) the holder of the share cannot at that time or at any time thereafter cause the share to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the corporation or any specified person in relation to the corporation, except where the redemption, acquisition or cancellation is required pursuant to a conversion that is not prohibited by subparagraph (iii),

(v) no person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation to reduce, or to cause the corporation to reduce, at that time or at any time thereafter, the paid-up capital in respect of the share, except where the reduction is required pursuant to a conversion that is not prohibited by subparagraph (iii),

(vi) no person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation at that time or at any time thereafter to

(A) provide assistance to acquire the share,

(B) make a loan or payment,

(C) transfer property, or

(D) otherwise confer a benefit by any means whatever, including the payment of a dividend, that may reasonably be considered to be, directly or indirectly, a repayment or return by the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation of all or part of the consideration for which the share was issued,

(vii) neither the corporation nor any specified person in relation to the corporation has, either absolutely or contingently, the right or obligation to redeem, acquire or cancel, at that time or at any time thereafter, the share in whole or in part other than for an amount that approximates the fair market value of the share (determined without reference to any such right or obligation), and

(viii) no person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation to provide, at that time or at any time thereafter, any form of undertaking with respect to the share (including any guarantee, security, indemnity, covenant or agreement and including the lending of funds to or the placing of amounts on deposit with, or on behalf of, the holder of the share or any specified person in relation to holder) that may reasonably be considered to have been given to ensure that

(A) any loss that the holder of the share may sustain by virtue of the holding, ownership or disposition of the share is limited in any respect, or

(B) the holder of the share will derive earnings by virtue of the holding, ownership or disposition of the share;

(b) the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation cannot reasonably be expected to, within two years after the time the share is issued,

(i) acquire or cancel the share in whole or in part,

(ii) reduce the paid-up capital of the corporation in respect of the share, or

(iii) make a payment, transfer or other provision, directly or indirectly, by way of a dividend, loan, purchase of shares, financial assistance to any purchaser of the share or in any other manner whatever, that may reasonably be considered to be a repayment or return of all or part of the consideration for which the share was issued otherwise than as a consequence of the payment of a dividend paid by a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation to its parent, of an amalgamation of a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation or of a winding-up to which subsection 88(1) of the Act applies;

(c) no person or partnership can reasonably be expected to provide, within two years after the time the share is issued, any form of undertaking with respect to the share (including any guarantee, security, indemnity, covenant or agreement and including the lending of funds to, or the placing of amounts on deposit with,

or on behalf of, the holder of the share or any specified person in relation to the holder); and

(d) it cannot reasonably be expected that any of the terms or conditions of the share or any existing agreement in respect of the share or its issue will thereafter be modified or amended, or that any new agreement in respect of the share or its issue will be entered into, within two years after the time the share is issued, in such a manner that the share would not be a prescribed share if it had been issued at the time of such modification or amendment or at the time the new agreement is entered into.

(2) [Interpretation] — For the purposes of subsection (1),

(a) the dividend entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount where it may reasonably be considered that all or substantially all of the dividend entitlement is determinable by reference to the dividend entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation that meets the requirements of subparagraph (1)(a)(i);

(b) the liquidation entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount where it may reasonably be considered that all or substantially all of the liquidation entitlement is determinable by reference to the liquidation entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation that meets the requirements of subparagraph (1)(a)(ii);

(c) where a corporation has merged or amalgamated with one or more other corporations, the corporation formed as a result of the merger or amalgamation shall be deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, each of its predecessor corporations and a share issued on the merger or amalgamation as consideration for another share shall be deemed to be the same share as the share for which it was issued but this paragraph does not apply if the share issued on the merger or amalgamation is not a prescribed share at the time of its issue; and

(d) an agreement entered into between the first purchaser of a share and another person or partnership, other than a specified person in relation to the corporation issuing the share, for the sale of the share to that other person or partnership shall be deemed not to be an undertaking with respect to the share.

(3) ["Specified person"] — For the purposes of subsections (1) and (2), "specified person", in relation to a corporation or a holder of a share, as the case may be (in this subsection referred to as the "taxpayer"), means any person or partnership with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length or any partnership or trust of which the taxpayer (or a person or partnership with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length) is a member or beneficiary, respectively.

6204. (1) [Employee stock option deduction — prescribed share] — For the purposes of paragraph 110(1)(d) of the Act, a share is a prescribed share of the capital stock of a corporation at the time of its sale or issue, as the case may be, where, at that time,

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 6204(1) opening words

(1) For the purposes of paragraph 110(1)(d) and section 44.1 of the Act, a share is a prescribed share of the capital stock of a corporation at the time of its sale or issue, as the case may be, where, at that time,

Application: The March 16, 2001 draft regulations (capital gains deferral — eligible small business investments), subsec. 1(1), will amend the opening words of subsec. 6204(1) to read as above, applicable in respect of dispositions that occur after February 27, 2000.

Technical Notes: Subsection 6204(1) prescribes a common share for the purposes of paragraph 110(1)(d) of the Act. The subsection is amended to have it also apply for the purposes of section 44.1 of the Act [small business share rollover — ed.].

(a) under the terms or conditions of the share or any agreement in respect of the share or its issue,

(i) the amount of the dividends (in this section referred to as the "dividend entitlement") that the corporation may declare or pay on the share is not limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount at that time or at any time thereafter by way of a formula or otherwise,

(ii) the amount (in this section referred to as the "liquidation entitlement") that the holder of the share is entitled to receive on the share on the dissolution, liquidation or winding-up of the corporation is not limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount by way of a formula or otherwise,

(iii) the share cannot be converted into any other security, other than into another security of the corporation or of another corporation with which it does not deal at arm's length that is, or would be at the date of conversion, a prescribed share,

(iv) the holder of the share cannot at that time or at any time thereafter cause the share to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the corporation or any specified person in relation to the corporation, except where the redemption, acquisition or cancellation is required pursuant to a conversion that is not prohibited by subparagraph (iii),

(v) no person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation to reduce, or to cause the corporation to reduce, at that time or at any time thereafter, the paid-up capital in respect of the share, except where the reduction is required pursuant to a conversion that is not prohibited by subparagraph (iii), and

(vi) neither the corporation nor any specified person in relation to the corporation has, either absolutely or contingently, the right or obligation to redeem, acquire or cancel, at that time or any later time, the share in whole or in part other than for an amount that approximates the fair market value of the share (determined without reference to any such right or obligation) or a lesser amount;

(b) the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation cannot reasonably be expected to, within two years after the time the share is sold or issued, as the case may be, redeem, acquire or cancel the share in whole or in part, or reduce the paid-up capital of the corporation in respect of the share, otherwise than as a consequence of

(i) an amalgamation of a subsidiary wholly-owned corporation,

(ii) a winding-up to which subsection 88(1) of the Act applies, or

(iii) a distribution or appropriation to which subsection 84(2) of the Act applies; and

(c) it cannot reasonably be expected that any of the terms or conditions of the share or any existing agreement in respect of the share or its sale or issue will be modified or amended, or that any new agreement in respect of the share, its sale or issue will be entered into, within two years after the time the share is sold or issued, in such a manner that the share would not be a prescribed share if it had been sold or issued at the time of such modification or amendment or at the time the new agreement is entered into.

(2) [Rules] — For the purposes of subsection (1),

(a) the dividend entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount where it may reasonably be considered that all or substantially all of the dividend entitlement is determinable by reference to the dividend entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation that meets the requirements of subparagraph (1)(a)(i);

(b) the liquidation entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount where it may reasonably be considered that all or substantially all of the liquidation entitlement is determinable by reference to the liquidation entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation that meets the requirements of subparagraph (1)(a)(ii); and

(c) the determination of whether a share of the capital stock of a corporation is a prescribed share shall be made without reference to a right or obligation to redeem, acquire or cancel the share or to cause the share to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled where

(i) the share was issued or sold pursuant to an employee share purchase agreement (in this paragraph referred to as "the agreement") to an employee (in this paragraph referred to as "the holder") of the corporation or of another corporation with which the corporation was not dealing at arm's length,

(ii) the holder was dealing at arm's length with each corporation referred to in subparagraph (i) at the time the share was issued or sold, and

(iii) having regard to all the circumstances, including the terms of the agreement, it can reasonably be considered that

(A) the amount payable on the redemption, acquisition or cancellation (in this clause and in clause (B) referred to as the "acquisition") of the share will not exceed

(I) the adjusted cost base to the holder of the share immediately before the acquisition, where the acquisition was provided for in the agreement and the principal purpose for its provision was to protect the holder against any loss in respect of the share, or

(II) the fair market value of the share immediately before the acquisition, where the acquisition was provided for in the agreement and the principal purpose for its provision was to provide the holder with a market for the share, and

(B) no portion of the amount payable on the acquisition of the share is directly determinable by reference to the profits of the corporation, or of another corporation with which the corporation does not deal at arm's length, for all or any part of the period during which the holder owned the share or had a right to acquire the share, unless the reference to the profits of the corporation or the other corporation is only for the purpose of determining the fair market value of the share pursuant to a formula set out in the agreement.

(3) ["Specified person"] — For the purposes of subsection (1), "specified person", in relation to a corporation, means

(a) any person or partnership with whom the corporation does not deal at arm's length otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph 251(5)(b) of the Act that arises as a result of an offer by the person or partnership to acquire all or substantially all of the shares of the capital stock of the corporation, or

(b) any partnership or trust of which the corporation (or a person or partnership with whom the corporation does not deal at arm's length) is a member or beneficiary, respectively.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (3), the Act shall be read without reference to subsection 256(9) of the Act.

6205. (1) [Capital gains deduction — prescribed share] — For the purposes of subsections 110.6(8) and (9) of the Act and subject to subsection (3), a prescribed share is a share of the capital stock of a corporation where

(a) under the terms or conditions of the share or any agreement in respect of the share or its issue,

(i) at the time the share is issued,

(A) the amount of the dividends (in this section referred to as the "dividend entitlement") that the corporation may declare or pay on the share is not limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount at that time or at any time thereafter by way of a formula or otherwise,

(B) the amount (in this section referred to as the "liquidation entitlement") that the holder of the share is entitled to receive on the share on the dissolution, liquidation or winding-up of the corporation is not limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount by way of a formula or otherwise,

(C) the share cannot be converted into any other security, other than into another security of the corporation that is, or would be at the date of conversion, a prescribed share,

(D) the holder of the share does not, at that time or at any time thereafter, have the right or obligation to cause the share to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation, except where the redemption, acquisition or cancellation is required pursuant to a conversion that is not prohibited by clause (C),

(E) no person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation to reduce, or to cause the corporation to reduce, at that time or at any time thereafter, the paid-up capital in respect of the share, otherwise than by way of a redemption, acquisition or cancellation of the share that is not prohibited by this section,

(F) no person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation (other than an excluded obligation in relation to the share, as defined in subsection 6202.1(5)) at that time or any time thereafter to

(I) provide assistance to acquire the share,

(II) make a loan or payment,

(III) transfer property, or

(IV) otherwise confer a benefit by any means whatever, including the payment of a dividend,

that may reasonably be considered to be, directly or indirectly, a repayment or return by the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation of all or part of the consideration for which the share was issued, and

(G) neither the corporation nor any specified person in relation to the corporation has, either absolutely or contingently, the right or obligation to redeem, acquire or cancel, at that time or at any time thereafter, the share in whole or in part, except where the redemption, acquisition or cancellation is required pursuant to a conversion that is not prohibited by clause (C),

(ii) no person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation (other than an excluded obligation in relation to the share, as defined in subsection 6202.1(5)) to provide, at any time, any form of undertaking with respect to the share (including any guarantee, security, indemnity, covenant or agreement and including the lending of funds to or the placing of amounts on deposit with, or on behalf of, the holder of the share or any specified person in relation to that holder) that may reasonably be considered to have been given to ensure that

(A) any loss that the holder of the share may sustain by virtue of the holding, ownership or disposition of the share is limited in any respect, or

(B) the holder of the share will derive earnings by virtue of the holding, ownership or disposition of the share; and

(b) at the time the share is issued, it cannot reasonably be expected, having regard to all the circumstances, that any of the terms or conditions of the share or any existing agreement in respect of the share or its issue will thereafter be modified or amended or that any new agreement in respect of the share or its issue will be entered into, in such a manner that the share would not be a prescribed share if it had been issued at the time of such modification or amendment or at the time the new agreement is entered into.

Related Provisions: Reg. 6205(4) — Interpretation.

(2) [Capital gains deduction — prescribed share] — For the purposes of subsections 110.6(8) and (9) of the Act and subject to subsection (3), a prescribed share is a share of the capital stock of a particular corporation where

(a) it is a particular share that is owned by a person and that was issued by the particular corporation as part of an arrangement to that person, to a spouse, common-law partner or parent of that person or, if the person is a trust described in paragraph 104(4)(a) of the Act, to the person who created the trust or by whose will the trust was created or, if the person is a corporation, to another person owning all of the issued and out-standing shares of the capital stock of the corporation or to a spouse, common-law partner or parent of that other person, and

(i) the main purpose of the arrangement was to permit any increase in the value of the property of the particular corporation to accrue to other shares that would, at the time of their issue, be prescribed shares if this section were read without reference to this subsection, and

(ii) at the time of the issue of the particular share or at the end of the arrangement,

(A) the other shares were owned by

(I) the person to whom the particular share was issued (in this paragraph referred to as the "original holder"),

(II) a person who did not deal at arm's length with the original holder,

(III) a trust none of the beneficiaries of which were persons other than the original holder or a person who did not deal at arm's length with the original holder, or

(IV) any combination of persons described in subclause (I), (II) or (III),

(B) the other shares were owned by employees of the particular corporation or of a corporation controlled by the particular corporation, or

(C) the other shares were owned by any combination of persons each of whom is described in clause (A) or (B); or

(b) it is a share that was issued by a mutual fund corporation.

Related Provisions: ITA 256(6), (6.1) — Meaning of "controlled"; Reg. 6205(4) — Interpretation.

(3) [Capital gains deduction — prescribed share] — For the purposes of subsections 110.6(8) and (9) of the Act, a prescribed share does not include a share of the capital stock issued by a mutual fund corporation (other than an investment corporation) the value of which can reasonably be considered to be, directly or indirectly, derived primarily from investments made by the mutual fund corporation in one or more corporations (in this subsection referred to as an "investee corporation") connected with it (within the meaning of subsection 186(4) of the Act on the assumption that the references in that subsection to "payer corporation" and "particular corporation" were read as references to "investee corporation" and "mutual fund corporation", respectively).

Related Provisions: ITA 186(7) — Interpretation of "connected".

(4) [Rules] — For the purposes of this section,

(a) the dividend entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount where it may reasonably be considered that

(i) all or substantially all of the dividend entitlement is determinable by reference to the dividend entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation that meets the requirements of clause (1)(a)(i)(A), or

(ii) the dividend entitlement cannot be such as to impair the ability of the corporation to redeem another share of the capital stock of the corporation that meets the requirements of paragraph (2)(a);

(b) the liquidation entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount where it may reasonably be considered that all or substantially all of the liquidation entitlement is determinable by reference to the liquidation entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation that meets the requirements of clause (1)(a)(i)(B);

(c) where two or more corporations (each of which is referred to in this paragraph as a "predecessor corporation") have merged or amalgamated, the corporation formed as a result of the merger or amalgamation (in this paragraph referred to as the "new corporation") shall be deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, each of the predecessor corporations and a share of the capital stock of the new corporation issued on the merger or amalgamation as consideration for a share of the capital stock of a predecessor corporation shall be deemed to be the same share as the share of the predecessor corporation for which it was issued, but this paragraph does not apply if the share issued on the merger or amalgamation is not a prescribed share at the time of its issue and either

(i) the terms and conditions of that share are not identical to those of the share of the predecessor corporation for which it was issued, or

(ii) at the time of its issue the fair market value of that share is not the same as that of the share of the predecessor corporation for which it was issued;

(d) a reference in clauses (1)(a)(i)(D) and (G) and subparagraph (1)(a)(ii) to a right or obligation of the corporation or a person or partnership does not include a right or obligation provided in a written agreement among shareholders of a private corporation owning more than 50% of its issued and outstanding share capital having full voting rights under all circumstances to which the corporation, person or partnership is a party unless it may reasonably be considered, having regard to all the circumstances, including the terms of the agreement and the number and relationship of the shareholders, that one of the main reasons for the existence of the agreement is to avoid or limit the application of subsection 110.6(8) or (9) of the Act;

(e) where at any particular time after November 21, 1985, the terms or conditions of a share are changed or any existing agreement in respect thereof is changed or a new agreement in respect of the share is entered into, the share shall, for the purpose of determining whether it is a prescribed share, be deemed to have been issued at that particular time; and

(f) the determination of whether a share of the capital stock of a corporation is a prescribed share for the purposes of subsection (1) shall be made without reference to a right or obligation to redeem, acquire or cancel the share or to cause the share to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled where

(i) the share was issued pursuant to an employee share purchase agreement (in this paragraph referred to as "the agreement") to an employee (in this paragraph referred to as "the holder") of the corporation or of a corporation with which it did not deal at arm's length,

(ii) the holder was dealing at arm's length with each corporation referred to in subparagraph (i) at the time the share was issued, and

(iii) having regard to all the circumstances including the terms of the agreement, it may reasonably be considered that

(A) the amount payable on the redemption, acquisition or cancellation (in this clause and in clause (B) referred to as the "acquisition") of the share will not exceed

(I) the adjusted cost base of the share to the holder immediately before the acquisition, where the acquisition was provided for in the agreement and the principal purpose for its provision was to protect the holder against any loss in respect of the share, or

(II) the fair market value of the share immediately before the acquisition, where the acquisition was provided for in the agreement and the principal purpose for its provision was to provide the holder with a market for the share, and

(B) no portion of the amount payable on the acquisition of the share is directly determinable by reference to the profits of the corporation, or of another corporation with which it does not deal at arm's length, for all or any part of the period during which the holder owned the share or had a right to acquire the share, unless the reference to the profits of the corporation or the other corporation is only for the purpose of determining the fair market value of the share pursuant to a formula set out in the agreement.

(5) ["Specified person"] — For the purposes of this section, "specified person", in relation to a corporation or a holder of a share, as the case may be (in this subsection referred to as the "taxpayer"), means any person or partnership with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length or any partnership or trust of which the taxpayer (or a person or partnership with whom the taxpayer does not deal at arm's length) is a member or beneficiary, respectively.

6206. [Prescribed share for ITA 84(8)] — The Class I Special Shares of Reed Stenhouse Companies Limited, issued before January 1, 1986, are prescribed for the purposes of subsection 84(8) of the Act.

History: S. 6206 added by P.C. 1986-2770, s. 8, December 11, 1986, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 24, 1986, effective from May 23, 1985.

6207. (1) For the purposes of paragraph 183.1(4)(c) of the Act (as it read in its application to transactions entered into before September 13, 1988), a share is a prescribed share of the capital stock of an acquiring corporation where, at the time the share is issued

(a) under the terms or conditions of the share or any agreement in respect of the share or its issue,

(i) the amount of the dividends (in this section referred to as the "dividend entitlement") that the corporation may declare or pay on the share is not limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount at that time or at any time thereafter by way of a formula or otherwise,

(ii) the amount (in this section referred to as the "liquidation entitlement") that the holder of the share is entitled to receive on the share on the dissolution, liquidation or winding-up of the corporation is not limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount by way of a formula or otherwise,

(iii) the share cannot be converted into any other security, other than into another security of the corporation or of another corporation with which it does not deal at arm's length that is, or would be at the date of conversion, a prescribed share,

(iv) the holder of the share does not, at that time or at any time thereafter, have the right or obligation to cause the share to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled by the corporation or any specified person in relation to the corporation, except where the redemption, acquisition or cancellation is required pursuant to a conversion that is not prohibited by subparagraph (iii),

(v) no person or partnership has, either absolutely or contingently, an obligation to reduce, or to cause the corporation to reduce, at that time or at any time thereafter, the paid-up capital in respect of the share, otherwise than by way of a redemption, acquisition or cancellation of the share that is not prohibited by this section, and

(vi) neither the corporation nor any specified person in relation to the corporation has, either absolutely or contingently, the right or obligation to redeem, acquire or cancel, at that time or at any time thereafter, the share in whole or in part, except where the redemption, acquisition or cancellation is required pursuant to a conversion that is not prohibited by subparagraph (iii); and

(b) it cannot reasonably be expected, having regard to all the circumstances, that any of the terms or conditions of the share or any existing agreement in respect of the share or its issue will be modified or amended, or that any new agreement in respect of the share or its issue will be entered into, in such a manner that the share would not be a prescribed share if it had been issued at the time of such modification or amendment or at the time the new agreement is entered into.

(2) For the purposes of this section,

(a) the dividend entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount where it may reasonably be considered that all or substantially all the dividend entitlement is determinable by reference to the dividend entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation that meets the requirements of subparagraph (1)(a)(i);

(b) the liquidation entitlement of a share of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed not to be limited to a maximum amount or fixed at a minimum amount where it may reasonably be considered that all or substantially all of the liquidation entitlement is determinable by reference to the liquidation entitlement of another share of the capital stock of the corporation that meets the requirements of subparagraph (1)(a)(ii);

(c) where at any particular time after June 3, 1987, the terms or conditions of a share are changed or any existing agreement in respect of the share is changed or a new agreement in respect of the share is entered into, the share shall, for the purpose of determining whether it is a prescribed share, be deemed to have been issued at that particular time;

(d) the determination of whether a share of the capital stock of a corporation owned by an employee of the corporation or another corporation with which it does not deal at arms' length is a prescribed share shall be made without reference to a right or obligation with respect to an acquisition of the share, the consideration for which is described in subparagraph 183.1(4)(c)(i) or (ii) of the Act (as those subparagraphs read in their application to transactions entered into before September 13, 1988) where no portion of the amount payable on the acquisition of the share is directly determinable by reference to the profits of the corporation or the other corporation for all or any part of the period during which the employee owned the share or had a right to acquire the share, unless the reference to the profits of the corporation or the other corporation is only for the purpose of determining the fair market value of the share pursuant to a formula set out in the employee share purchase agreement under which the employee acquired the share; and

(e) a reference in subparagraphs (1)(a)(iv) and (vi) to a right or obligation of the corporation or a person or partnership does not include a right or obligation provided in a written agreement among shareholders of a private corporation owning more than 50% of its issued and outstanding share capital having full voting rights under all circumstances to which the corporation, person or partnership is a party unless it may reasonably be considered, having regard to all the circumstances including the terms of the agreement and the number and relationship of the shareholders, that one of the main reasons for the existence of the agreement is to avoid or limit the application of subsection 183.1(1) of the Act.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1), "specified person" in relation to a corporation means any person or partnership with whom the corporation does not deal at arm's length or any partnership or trust of which the corporation (or a person or partnership with whom the corporation does not deal at arm's length) is a member or beneficiary, respectively.

6208. (1) [Non-resident withholding tax — prescribed security] — For the purposes of clause 212(1)(b)(vii)(E) of the Act, a prescribed security with respect to an obligation of a corporation is

(a) a share of the capital stock of the corporation unless

(i) under the terms and conditions of the share, any agreement relating to the share or any modification of such terms, conditions or agreement, the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation is or may, at any time within 5 years after the date of the issue of the obligation, be required to redeem, acquire or cancel, in whole or in part, the share (unless the share is or may be required to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled by reason only of a right to convert the share into, or exchange the share for, another share of the corporation that, if issued, would be a prescribed security) or to reduce its paid-up capital,

(ii) as a result of the modification or establishment of the terms or conditions of the share or the changing or entering into of any agreement in respect of the share, the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation may, within 5 years after the date of the issue of the obligation, reasonably be expected to redeem, acquire or cancel, in whole or in part, the share (unless the share is or may be required to be redeemed, acquired or cancelled by reason only of a right to convert the share into, or exchange the share for, another share of the corporation that, if issued, would be a prescribed security) or to reduce its paid-up capital, or

(iii) as a result of the terms or conditions of the share or any agreement entered into by the corporation or a specified person in relation to the corporation or any modification of such terms, conditions or agreement, any person is required, either absolutely or contingently, within 5 years after the date of the issue of the obligation, to effect any undertaking, including any guarantee, covenant or agreement to purchase or repurchase the share, and including a loan of funds to or the placing of amounts on deposit with, or on behalf of, the shareholder or a specified person in relation to the shareholder given

(A) to ensure that any loss that the shareholder or a specified person in relation to the shareholder may sustain, by reason of the ownership, holding or disposition of the share or any other property, is limited in any respect, and

(B) as part of a transaction or event or series of transactions or events that included the issuance or acquisition of the obligation, and for the purposes of this subparagraph, where such an undertaking in respect of a share is given at any particular time after the date of the issue of the obligation, the obligation shall be deemed to have been issued at the particular time and the undertaking shall be deemed to have been given as part of a series of transactions that included the issuance or acquisition of the obligation, and

(b) a right or warrant to acquire a share of the capital stock of the corporation that would, if issued, be a prescribed security with respect to the obligation, where all the consideration receivable upon a conversion or exchange of the obligation or the prescribed security, as the case may be, is a share of the capital stock of the corporation described in paragraph (a) or a right or warrant described in paragraph (b), or both, as the case may be.

Related Provisions: Reg. 6208(2) — Consideration for fractional share.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-361R3: Exemption from Part XIII tax on interest payments to non-residents.

(2) [Consideration for fraction of a share] — For the purposes of this section, where a taxpayer may become entitled upon the conversion or exchange of an obligation or a prescribed security to receive consideration in lieu of a fraction of a share, that consideration shall be deemed not to be consideration unless it may reasonably be considered to be receivable as part of a series of transactions or events one of the main purposes of which is to avoid or limit the application of Part XIII of the Act.

(3) ["Specified person"] — In this section, "specified person", in relation to a corporation or a shareholder, means any person with whom the corporation or the shareholder, as the case may be, does not deal at arm's length or any partnership or trust of which the corporation or the shareholder, as the case may be, or the person is a member or beneficiary, respectively.

History: S. 6208 added by P.C. 1990-854, s. 1, May 10, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 23, 1990, applicable after December 19, 1986.

6209. [Lending assets — prescribed shares and property] — For the purposes of the definition "lending asset" in subsection 248(1) of the Act,

(a) a share owned by a bank is a prescribed share for a taxation year where it is a preferred share of the capital stock of a corporation that is dealing at arm's length with the bank that may reasonably be considered to be, and is reported as, a substitute or alternative for a loan to the corporation, or another corporation with whom the corporation does not deal at arm's length, in the bank's annual report for the year to the relevant authority or, where the bank was throughout the year subject to the supervision of the relevant authority but was not required to file an annual report for the year with the relevant authority, in its financial statements for the year; and

(b) a property is a prescribed property for a taxation year where

(i) in the case of a security held by a bank, the security is reported as part of the bank's trading account in its annual report for the year to the relevant authority or, where the bank was throughout the year subject to the supervision of the relevant authority but was not required to file an annual report for the year with the relevant authority, in its financial statements for the year,

(ii) in the case of a security held by a taxpayer other than a bank, the security is at any time in the year a property described in an inventory of the taxpayer, or

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 6209(b)(i), (ii)

(i) the security is a mark-to-market property (as defined in subsection 142.2(1) of the Act) for the year of a financial institution (as defined in that subsection), or

(ii) the security is at any time in the year a property described in an inventory of a taxpayer.

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), s. 7, will amend subparas. 6209(b)(i) and (ii) to read as above, applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994.

Technical Notes: Section 6209 prescribes certain shares and other securities for the purpose of the definition of "lending asset" in subsection 248(1) of the Act. Securities prescribed by paragraph 6209(b) are excluded from being lending assets. Paragraph 6209(b) prescribes a security if it is included in the trading account of a bank or in the inventory of a taxpayer other than a bank.

Paragraph 6209(b) is amended to provide that a security is prescribed if it is a mark-to-market property or is included in a taxpayer's inventory. "Mark-to-market property", which is defined in new subsection 142.2(1) of the Act, includes most shares and some debt obligations.

As a consequence of this amendment, a specified debt obligation (as defined in subsection 142.2(1) of the Act) held by a bank in its trading account will be treated as a lending asset if it is not a mark-to-market property. This observation applies, in particular, to the debt obligations of a country that has been designated by the Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions and to the United Mexican States Collateralized Par or Discount Bonds Due 2019.

(iii) the property is a direct financing lease, or is any other financing arrangement, of a taxpayer that is reported as a loan in the taxpayer's financial statement for the year prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and an amount is deductible under paragraph 20(1)(a) of the Act in respect of the property that is the subject of the lease or arrangement in computing the taxpayer's income for the year.

History: The opening words of para. 6209(b) amended and subpara. (iii) added by P.C. 1999-195, s. 1, February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable

(a) to taxation years that end after September 1997; and

(b) to taxation years that end after 1995 and before October 1997 where the taxpayer elects in writing to have para. 20(1)(l) of the Act, as amended, apply to the year and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue before October 1998.

S. 6209 added by P.C. 1990-2779, s. 3, December 20, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 16, 1991, applicable to taxation years and fiscal periods commencing after June 17, 1987 that end after 1987.

6210. [Prescribed debt obligation — donation of listed shares] — For the purposes of paragraph 38(a.1) of the Act, a prescribed debt obligation is a bond, debenture, note, mortgage or similar obligation

(a) of or guaranteed by the Government of Canada; or

(b) of the government of a province or an agent of that government.

History: S. 6210 added by P.C. 2001-954, s. 6, May 31, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 20, 2001, applicable after February 18, 1997.

PART LXIII — CHILD TAX BENEFITS

History: Part LXIII (ss. 6300–6302) enacted by P.C. 1992-2714, December 29, 1992, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 13, 1993, applicable after 1992.

6300. Interpretation — In this Part, "qualified dependant" has the meaning assigned by section 122.6 of the Act.

6301. Non-application of presumption — (1) For the purposes of paragraph (g) of the definition "eligible individual" in section 122.6 of the Act, the presumption referred to in paragraph (f) of that definition does not apply in the circumstances where

(a) the female parent of the qualified dependant declares in writing to the Minister that the male parent, with whom she resides, is the parent of the qualified dependant who primarily fulfils the responsibility for the care and upbringing of each of the qualified dependants who reside with both parents;

(b) the female parent is a qualified dependant of an eligible individual and each of them files a notice with the Minister under subsection 122.62 (1) of the Act in respect of the same qualified dependant;

(c) there is more than one female parent of the qualified dependant who resides with the qualified dependant and each female parent files a notice with the Minister under subsection 122.62 (1) of the Act in respect of the qualified dependant; or

(d) more than one notice is filed with the Minister under subsection 122.62 (1) of the Act in respect of the same qualified dependant who resides with each of the persons filing the notices if such persons live at different locations.

History: Paras. 6301(1)(a) to (d) amended by 1998-2270, subsec. 9(1), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after August 27, 1995.

Subsec. 6301(1) amended by 1996, c. 11, s. 96, to substitute "Minister of Human Resources Development" for "Minister of National Health and Welfare", in force July 12, 1996.

(2) For greater certainty, a person who files a notice referred to in paragraph (1)(b), (c) or (d) includes a person who is not required under subsection 122.62(3) of the Act to file such a notice.

History: Subsec. 6301(2) amended by 1998-2270, subsec. 9(2), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after August 27, 1995.

Subsec. 6301(2) amended by 1996, c. 11, s. 96, to substitute "Minister of Human Resources Development" for "Minister of National Health and Welfare", in force July 12, 1996.

Definitions [Reg. 6301]: "individual", "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "parent" — ITA 252(2); "person" — ITA 248(1); "qualified dependant" — Reg. 6300; "writing" — Interpretation Act 35(1).

6302. Factors — For the purposes of paragraph (h) of the definition "eligible individual" in section 122.6 of the Act, the following factors are to be considered in determining what constitutes care and upbringing of a qualified dependant:

(a) the supervision of the daily activities and needs of the qualified dependant;

(b) the maintenance of a secure environment in which the qualified dependant resides;

(c) the arrangement of, and transportation to, medical care at regular intervals and as required for the qualified dependant;

(d) the arrangement of, participation in, and transportation to, educational, recreational, athletic or similar activities in respect of the qualified dependant;

(e) the attendance to the needs of the qualified dependant when the qualified dependant is ill or otherwise in need of the attendance of another person;

(f) the attendance to the hygienic needs of the qualified dependant on a regular basis;

(g) the provision, generally, of guidance and companionship to the qualified dependant; and

(h) the existence of a court order in respect of the qualified dependant that is valid in the jurisdiction in which the qualified dependant resides.

Definitions [Reg. 6302]: "person" — ITA 248(1); "qualified dependant" — Reg. 6300.

Definitions [Reg. 6703]: "corporation" — ITA 248(1), Interpretation Act 35(1).

6704. [Prescribed qualifying corporation] — For the purposes of section 186.2 of the Act, a corporation is a prescribed qualifying corporation in respect of dividends received by a shareholder on shares of its capital stock if, when the shares were acquired by the shareholder, they constituted

(a) an investment described in sections 33 and 34 of the Act referred to in subparagraph 6700(a)(i);

(b) an eligible investment under the provisions of an Act referred to in subparagraph 6700(a)(ii), (iv), (v), (vi) or (viii) or the regulation referred to in subparagraph 6700(a)(iii);

(c) a qualified investment under the provisions of the Act referred to in subparagraph 6700(a)(vii); or

(d) an investment in an eligible business under the Venture Capital Policy and Directive referred to in paragraph 6700(c).

Proposed Addition — Reg. 6704(e)

(e) an investment in an eligible entity described in sections 17 and 18 of An Act constituting Capital régional et coopératif Desjardins, R.S.Q., c. C-6.1.

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix H, prescribed venture capital corporations), s. 2, will add para. 6704(e), applicable to 2001 et seq.

Technical Notes: Section 6704 sets out the criteria for determining if a corporation is a "prescribed qualifying corporation" in respect of dividends received by a shareholder on shares of its capital stock for the purposes of section 186.2 of the Act. Section 6704 is to be amended to include a corporation whose shares, at the time that they are acquired by a shareholder, are an investment in an eligible entity described in An Act constituting Capital régional et coopératif Desjardins, R.S.Q., c. C-6.1 as a "qualifying corporation".

History: Para. 6704(b) amended applicable to dividends received after February 18, 1987, and para. (d) substituted for paras. (d) and (e) applicable to dividends received after September 26, 1989, by P.C. 1993-1549, s. 5, July 21, 1993, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 11, 1993.

Para. 6704(d) added and former para. (d) redesignated as (e) by P.C. 1992-1306, s. 5, June 18, 1992, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 1, 1992, applicable in respect of dividends received after September 26, 1989.

S. 6704 added by P.C. 1989-2306, s. 5, November 23, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 6, 1989, applicable in respect of dividends received after February 18, 1987.

6707. [Provincially registered LSVCCs] — For the purpose of subsection 204.82(5) of the Act, a "prescribed provision of a law of a province" means section 25.1 of the Community Small Business Investment Funds Act, chapter 18 of the Statutes of Ontario, 1992.

History: S. 6707 added by P.C. 1999-249, s. 7, February 18, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable after May 7, 1997.

PART LXVIII — PRESCRIBED PLANS, ARRANGEMENTS AND CONTRIBUTIONS

History: The heading to Part LXVIII amended by P.C. 1996-911, s. 1, June 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 10, 1996, applicable after October 8, 1986. The heading formerly read: Prescribed Funds or Plans.

Part LXVIII (s. 6800) added by P.C. 1981-1789, July 2, 1981, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 22, 1981, effective from January 1, 1980.

6800. [Prescribed arrangement — employee benefit plan] — For the purpose of paragraph (e) of the definition "employee benefit plan" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, each of the following is a prescribed arrangement:

(a) the Major League Baseball Players Benefit Plan;

(b) an arrangement under which all contributions are made pursuant to a law of Canada or a province, where one of the main purposes of the law is to enforce minimum standards with respect to wages, vacation entitlement or severance pay; and

(c) an arrangement under which all contributions are made in connection with a dispute regarding the entitlement of one or more persons to benefits to be received or enjoyed by the person or persons.

History: S. 6800 amended by P.C. 1996-911, s. 2, June 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 10, 1996, applicable after 1979.

6801. [Prescribed plan or arrangement — salary deferral arrangement] — For the purposes of paragraph (l) of the definition "salary deferral arrangement" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a prescribed plan or arrangement is an arrangement in writing

(a) between an employer and an employee that is established on or after July 28, 1986 where

(i) it is reasonable to conclude, having regard to all the circumstances, including the terms and conditions of the arrangement and any agreement relating thereto, that the arrangement is not established to provide benefits to the employee on or after retirement but is established for the main purpose of permitting the employee to fund, through salary or wage deferrals, a leave of absence from the employee's employment of not less than

(A) where the leave of absence is to be taken by the employee for the purpose of permitting the full-time attendance of the employee at a designated educational institution (within the meaning assigned by subsection 118.6(1) of the Act, three consecutive months, or

(B) in any other case, six consecutive months that is to commence immediately after a period (in this section referred to as the "deferral period") not exceeding six years after the date on which the deferrals for the leave of absence commence,

(ii) the amount of salary or wages deferred by the employee under all such arrangements for the services rendered by the employee to the employer in a taxation year does not exceed 33⅓ per cent of the amount of the salary or wages that the employee would, but for the arrangements, reasonably be expected to have received in the year in respect of the services,

(iii) the arrangement provides that throughout the period of the leave of absence the employee does not receive any salary or wages from the employer, or from any other person or partnership with whom the employer does not deal at arm's length, other than

(A) the amount by which the employee's salary or wages under the arrangement was deferred or is to be reduced or, amounts that are based on a percentage of the salary or wage scale of employees of the employer, which percentage is fixed in respect of the employee for the deferral period and the leave of absence, and

(B) the reasonable fringe benefits that the employer usually pays to or on behalf of employees,

(iv) the arrangement provides that the amounts deferred in respect of the employee under the arrangement

(A) are held by or for the account of a trust governed by a plan or arrangement that is an employee benefit plan within the meaning of the definition thereof in subsection 248(1) of the Act, and provides that the amount that may reasonably be considered to be the income of the trust for a taxation year that has been earned by it for the benefit of the employee shall be paid in the year to the employee, or

(B) are held by or for the account of any person other than a trust referred to in clause (A), and provides that the amount in respect of interest or other additional amounts that may reasonably be considered to have accrued to or for the benefit of the employee to the end of a taxation year shall be paid in the year to the employee,

(v) the arrangement provides that the employee is to return to his regular employment with the employer or an employer that participates in the same or a similar arrangement after the leave of absence for a period that is not less than the period of the leave of absence, and

(vi) subject to subparagraph (iv), the arrangement provides that all amounts held for the employee's benefit under the arrangement shall be paid to the employee out of or under the arrangement no later than the end of the first taxation year that commences after the end of the deferral period;

Proposed Amendment — Recontribution of income from employees' leave of absence plan

Letter from Dept. of Finance, June 30, 2000: [See under ITA 81(1).]

(b) between an employer and an employee that is established before July 28, 1986 where it is reasonable to conclude, having regard to all the circumstances, including the terms and conditions of the arrangement and any agreement relating thereto, that the arrangement is not established to provide benefits on or after retirement but is established for the main purpose of permitting the employee to fund, through salary or wage deferrals, a leave of absence from the employment and under which the deferrals in respect of the leave of absence commenced before 1987;

(c) that is established for the purpose of deferring the salary or wages of a professional on-ice official for his services as such with the National Hockey League if, in the case of an official resident in Canada, the trust or other person who has custody and control of any funds, investments or other property under the arrangement is resident in Canada; or

(d) between a corporation and an employee of the corporation or a corporation related thereto under which the employee (or, after the employee's death, a dependant or relation of the employee or the legal representative of the employee) may or shall receive an amount that may reasonably be attributable to duties of an office or employment performed by the employee on behalf of the corporation or a corporation related thereto where

(i) all amounts that may be received under the arrangement shall be received after the time of the employee's death or retirement from, or loss of, the office or employment and no later than the end of the first calendar year commencing thereafter, and

(ii) the aggregate of all amounts each of which may be received under the arrangement depends on the fair market value of shares of the capital stock of the corporation or a corporation related thereto at a time within the period that commences one year before the time of the employee's death or retirement from, or loss of, the office or employment and ends at the time the amount is received,

unless, by reason of the arrangement or a series of transactions that includes the arrangement, the employee or a person with whom the employee does not deal at arm's length is entitled, either immediately or in the future, either absolutely or contingently, to receive or obtain any amount or benefit granted or to be granted for the purpose of reducing the impact, in whole or in part, of any reduction in the fair market value of the shares of the corporation or a corporation related thereto.

6803. [Prescribed plan or arrangement — foreign retirement arrangement] — For the purposes of the definition "foreign retirement arrangement" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a prescribed plan or arrangement is a plan or arrangement to which subsection 408(a), (b) or (h) of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended from time to time, applies.

History: S. 6803 added by P.C. 1992-2416, November 26, 1992, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 16, 1992, applicable to 1990 et seq.

Definitions [Reg. 6803]: "prescribed" — ITA 248(1); "United States" — Interpretation Act 35(1).

6804. Contributions to foreign plans — (1) Definitions — The definitions in this subsection apply in this section.

"foreign non-profit organization" means,

(a) at any time before 1995, an organization

(i) that at that time meets the conditions in subparagraphs (b)(i) to (iii), or

(ii) that at that time is not operated for the purpose of profit, and whose assets are situated primarily outside Canada throughout the calendar year that includes that time, and

(b) at any time after 1994, an organization that at that time

(i) is not operated for the purpose of profit,

(ii) has its main place of management outside Canada, and

(iii) carries on its activities primarily outside Canada.

"foreign plan" means a plan or arrangement (determined without regard to subsection 207.6(5) of the Act) that would, but for paragraph (l) of the definition "retirement compensation arrangement" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, be a retirement compensation arrangement.

"qualifying entity" means a non-resident entity that holds all or part of the assets of a foreign plan where the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) the entity is resident in a country under the laws of which an income tax is imposed, and

(b) where those laws provide an exemption from tax, a reduced rate of tax or other favourable tax treatment for entities that hold assets of pension or other retirement plans, the entity qualifies for the favourable treatment.

(2) Electing employer — For the purposes of this section, an employer is an electing employer for a calendar year with respect to a foreign plan where

(a) the employer has sent or delivered to the Minister a letter stating that the employer elects to have this section apply with respect to contributions to the foreign plan, and

(b) the letter was sent or delivered on or before

(i) the last day of February in the year following the first calendar year after 1991 in which a contribution that is or would be if subsection 207.6(5.1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraph (a) of that subsection, a resident's contribution (as defined in that subsection) was made under the foreign plan in respect of services rendered by an individual to the employer, or

(ii) any later date that is acceptable to the Minister, except that an employer is not an electing employer for a year with respect to a foreign plan if the Minister has granted written permission for the employer to revoke, for the year or a preceding calendar year, the election made under paragraph (a) in respect of the foreign plan.

(3) Election by union — Except as otherwise permitted in writing by the Minister, an election made by a trade union for the purpose of subsection (2) is valid only if it is made by the highest-level structural unit of the union.

(4) Contributions made before 1992 — For the purpose of paragraph 207.6(5.1)(a) of the Act, a contribution made under a foreign plan by a person or body of persons in a calendar year before 1992 is a prescribed contribution where

(a) the contribution is paid to a qualifying entity;

(b) each employer (in this subsection referred to as a "contributor") that makes a contribution under the foreign plan in the year is

(i) a non-resident corporation throughout the year,

(ii) a partnership that makes contributions under the foreign plan primarily in respect of services rendered outside Canada to the partnership by non-resident employees, or

(iii) a foreign non-profit organization throughout the year;

(c) if a corporation or partnership (other than a corporation or partnership that is a foreign non-profit organization throughout the year) is a contributor, no individual who is entitled (either absolutely or contingently) to benefits under the foreign plan is a member of a registered pension plan, or a beneficiary under a deferred profit sharing plan, to which a contributor, or a person or body of persons not dealing at arm's length with a contributor, makes, or is required to make, contributions in relation to the year;

(d) contributions made in the year under the foreign plan for the benefit of individuals resident in Canada are reasonable in relation to contributions made under the plan for the benefit of non-resident individuals; and

(e) the foreign plan is not a pension plan the registration of which under the Act has been revoked.

(5) Contributions made in 1992, 1993 or 1994 — For the purpose of paragraph 207.6(5.1)(a) of the Act, a contribution made under a foreign plan by a person or body of persons at any time in 1992, 1993 or 1994 in respect of services rendered by an individual to an employer is a prescribed contribution where

(a) the contribution is paid to a qualifying entity;

(b) the employer is an electing employer for the year with respect to the foreign plan;

(c) if the employer is not at that time a foreign non-profit organization, the individual is not a member of a registered pension plan (other than a specified multi-employer plan, as defined in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act), or a deferred profit sharing plan, in which the employer, or a person or body of persons that does not deal at arm's length with the employer, participates; and

(d) either

(i) the employer is

(A) a corporation that is not resident in Canada at that time,

(B) a partnership that makes contributions under the foreign plan primarily in respect of services rendered outside Canada to the partnership by non-resident employees, or

(C) a foreign non-profit organization at that time, or

(ii) the individual was non-resident at any time before the contribution is made and became a member of the foreign plan before the end of the month after the month in which the individual became resident in Canada.

(6) Contributions made after 1994 — For the purposes of paragraph 207.6(5.1)(a) of the Act, a contribution made under a foreign plan by a person or body of persons at any time in a calendar year after 1994 in respect of services rendered by an individual to an employer is a prescribed contribution where

(a) the contribution is paid to a qualifying entity;

(b) the employer is an electing employer for the year with respect to the foreign plan;

(c) if the employer is at that time a foreign non-profit organization,

(i) the amount that, if subsection 8301(1) were read without reference to paragraph (b) of that subsection, would be the individual's pension adjustment for the year in respect of the employer is nil, or

(ii) the amount that would be the individual's pension adjustment for the year in respect of the employer if

(A) all contributions made under the foreign plan in the year in respect of the individual were prescribed by this subsection,

(B) where the year is 1996, section 8308.1 were read without reference to subsection (4.1), and

(C) where the year is 1997, subparagraph 8308.1(2)(b)(v) were read as:

"(v) the amount, if any, by which 18% of the individual's resident compensation from the employer for the year exceeds $1,000, and"

does not exceed the lesser of

(D) the money purchase limit for the year, and

(E) 18% of the individual's compensation (as defined in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act) for the year from the employer;

(d) if

(i) the employer is at that time a foreign non-profit organization, and

(ii) a period in the year throughout which the individual rendered services to the employer would be, under paragraph 8507(3)(a), a qualifying period of the individual with respect to another employer if that paragraph were read without reference to subparagraph (iv) of that paragraph, subsection 8308(7) applies with respect to the determination of the individual's pension adjustment for the year with respect to each employer; and

(e) if the employer is not at that time a foreign non-profit organization,

(i) the individual was non-resident at any time before the contribution is made,

(ii) the individual became a member of the foreign plan before the end of the month after the month in which the individual became resident in Canada, and

(iii) the individual is not a member of a registered pension plan, or a deferred profit sharing plan, in which the employer, or a person or body of persons that does not deal at arm's length with the employer, participates.

(7) Replacement plan — For the purposes of subparagraphs (5)(d)(ii) and (6)(e)(ii), where benefits provided to an individual under a particular plan or arrangement are replaced by benefits under another plan or arrangement, the other plan or arrangement is deemed, in respect of the individual, to be the same plan or arrangement as the particular plan or arrangement.

PART LXX — ACCRUED INTEREST ON DEBT OBLIGATIONS

History: Part LXX (s. 7000) added by P.C. 1983-3529, November 17, 1983, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 24, 1983, effective for taxation years commencing after 1981.

7000. (1) Prescribed debt obligations — For the purpose of subsection 12(9) of the Act, each of the following debt obligations (other than a debt obligation that is an indexed debt obligation) in respect of which a taxpayer has at any time acquired an interest is a prescribed debt obligation:

(a) a particular debt obligation in respect of which no interest is stipulated to be payable in respect of its principal amount;

(b) a particular debt obligation in respect of which the proportion of the payments of principal to which the taxpayer is entitled is not equal to the proportion of the payments of interest to which he is entitled;

(c) a particular debt obligation, other than one described in paragraph (a) or (b), in respect of which it can be determined, at the time the taxpayer acquired the interest therein, that the maximum amount of interest payable thereon in a year ending after that time is less than the maximum amount of interest payable thereon in a subsequent year; and

(d) a particular debt obligation, other than one described in paragraph (a), (b) or (c), in respect of which the amount of interest to be paid in respect of any taxation year is, under the terms and conditions of the obligation, dependent on a contingency existing after the year, and, for the purposes of this subsection, a debt obligation includes, for greater certainty, all of the issuer's obligations to pay principal and interest under that obligation.

Related Provisions: ITA 18.1(14) — Right to receive production deemed to be debt obligation.

History: The opening words of subsec. 7000(1) amended by P.C. 1996-1419, subsec. 3(1), September 11, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 2, 1996, applicable to debt obligations issued after October 16, 1991.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-61: Interest accrual rules.

(2) [Deemed interest on prescribed debt obligation] — For the purposes of subsection 12(9) of the Act, the amount determined in prescribed manner that is deemed to accrue to a taxpayer as interest on a prescribed debt obligation in each taxation year during which he holds an interest in the obligation is,

(a) in the case of a prescribed debt obligation described in paragraph (1)(a), the amount of interest that would be determined in respect thereof if interest thereon for that year were computed on a compound interest basis using the maximum of all rates each of which is a rate computed

(i) in respect of each possible circumstance under which an interest of the taxpayer in the obligation could mature or be surrendered or retracted, and

(ii) using assumptions concerning the interest rate and compounding period that will result in a present value, at the date of purchase of the interest, of all the maximum payments thereunder, equal to the cost thereof to the taxpayer;

(b) in the case of a prescribed debt obligation described in paragraph (1)(b), the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of interest that would be determined in respect of his interest in a payment under the obligation if interest thereon for that year were computed on a compound interest basis using the specified cost of his interest therein and the specified interest rate in respect of his total interest in the obligation, and for the purposes of this paragraph,

(i) the "specified cost" of his interest in a payment under the obligation is its present value at the date of purchase computed using the specified interest rate, and

(ii) the "specified interest rate" is the maximum of all rates each of which is a rate computed

(A) in respect of each possible circumstance under which an interest of the taxpayer in the obligation could mature or be surrendered or retracted, and

(B) using assumptions concerning the interest rate and compounding period that will result in a present value, at the date of purchase of the interest, of all the maximum payments to the taxpayer in respect of his total interest in the obligation, equal to the cost of that interest to the taxpayer;

(c) in the case of a prescribed debt obligation described in paragraph (1)(c), other than an obligation in respect of which paragraph (c.1) applies, the greater of

(i) the maximum amount of interest thereon in respect of the year, and

(ii) the maximum amount of interest that would be determined in respect thereof if interest thereon for that year were computed on a compound interest basis using the maximum of all rates each of which is a rate computed

(A) in respect of each possible circumstance under which an interest of the taxpayer in the obligation could mature or be surrendered or retracted, and

(B) using assumptions concerning the interest rate and compounding period that will result in a present value, at the date of issue of the obligation, of all the maximum payments thereunder, equal to its principal amount;

(c.1) in the case of a prescribed debt obligation described in paragraph (1)(c) for which

(i) the rate of interest stipulated to be payable in respect of each period throughout which the obligation is outstanding is fixed at the date of issue of the obligation, and

(ii) the stipulated rate of interest applicable at each time is not less than each stipulated rate of interest applicable before that time, the amount of interest that would be determined in respect of the year if interest on the obligation for that year were computed on a compound interest basis using the maximum of all rates each of which is the compound interest rate that, for a particular assumption with respect to when the taxpayer's interest in the obligation will mature or be surrendered or retracted, results in a present value (at the date the taxpayer acquires the interest in the obligation) of all payments under the obligation after the acquisition by the taxpayer of the taxpayer's interest in the obligation equal to the principal amount of the obligation at the date of acquisition; and

(d) in the case of a prescribed debt obligation described in paragraph (1)(d), the maximum amount of interest thereon that could be payable thereunder in respect of that year.

Related Provisions: ITA 18.1(14) — Right to receive production deemed to be debt obligation.

History: Para. 7000(2)(c) amended, para. (c.1) added, by P.C. 1996-570, subsecs. 1(1), (2), April 23, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 1, 1996, applicable to 1993 et seq.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-61: Interest accrual rules.

(3) [Bonus or premium] — For the purpose of this section, any bonus or premium payable under a debt obligation is considered to be an amount of interest payable under the obligation.

History: Subsec. 7000(3) amended by P.C. 1996-1419, subsec. 3(2), September 11, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 2, 1996, applicable to debt obligations issued after October 16, 1991.

Advance Tax Rulings: ATR-61: Interest accrual rules.

(4) [Conversion privilege or option to extend] — For the purposes of this section, where

(a) a taxpayer has an interest in a debt obligation (in this subsection referred to as the "first interest") under which there is a conversion privilege or an option to extend its term upon maturity, and

(b) at the time the obligation was issued (or, if later, at the time the conversion privilege or option was added or modified), circumstances could reasonably be foreseen under which the holder of the obligation would, by exercising the conversion privilege or option, acquire an interest in a debt obligation with a principal amount less than its fair market value at the time of acquisition, the subsequent interest in any debt obligation acquired by the taxpayer by exercising the conversion privilege or option shall be considered to be a continuation of the first interest.

History: Subsec. 7000(4) amended by P.C. 1996-570, subsec. 1(3), April 23, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 1, 1996, applicable with respect to debt obligations acquired by reason of the exercise after August 11, 1993 of a conversion privilege or an option to extend the term of another debt obligation.

(5) [Interest computations] — For the purposes of making the computations referred to in paragraphs (2)(a),

(b), (c) and (c.1), the compounding period shall not exceed one year and any interest rate used shall be constant from the date of acquisition or issue, as the case may be, until the time of maturity, surrender or retraction.

History: Subsec. 7000(5) amended by P.C. 1996-570, subsec. 1(4), April 23, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 1, 1996, applicable to 1993 et seq.

(6) [Prescribed contract] — For the purpose of the definition "investment contract" in subsection 12(11) of the Act, a registered retirement savings plan or a registered retirement income fund, other than a plan or fund to which a trust is a party, is a prescribed contract throughout a calendar year where an annuitant (as defined in subsection 146(1) or 146.3(1) of the Act, as the case may be) under the plan or fund is alive at any time in the year or was alive at any time in the preceding calendar year.

Related Provisions: ITA 142.3(1)(c) — No income accrual from specified debt obligation.

7001. Indexed debt obligations — (1) For the purpose of subparagraph 16(6)(a)(i) of the Act, where at any time in a taxation year a taxpayer holds an interest in an indexed debt obligation, there is prescribed as interest receivable and received by the taxpayer in the year in respect of the obligation the total of

(a) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount by which the amount payable in respect of the taxpayer's interest in an indexed payment under the obligation (other than a payment that is an excluded payment with respect to the taxpayer for the year) has, because of a change in the purchasing power of money, increased over an inflation adjustment period of the obligation that ends in the year

exceeds the total of

(ii) that portion of the total, if any, determined under subparagraph (i) that is required, otherwise than by subsection 16(6) of the Act, to be included in computing the taxpayer's income for the year or a preceding taxation year, and

(iii) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount by which the amount payable in respect of the taxpayer's interest in an indexed payment under the obligation (other than a payment that is an excluded payment with respect to the taxpayer for the year) has, by reason of a change in the purchasing power of money, decreased over an inflation adjustment period of the obligation that ends in the year, and

(b) where the non-indexed debt obligation associated with the indexed debt obligation is an obligation that is described in any of paragraphs 7000(1)(a) to (d), the amount of interest that would be determined under subsection 7000(2) to accrue to the taxpayer in respect of the non-indexed debt obligation in the particular period that

(i) begins at the beginning of the first inflation adjustment period of the indexed debt obligation in respect of the taxpayer that ends in the year, and

(ii) ends at the end of the last inflation adjustment period of the indexed debt obligation in respect of the taxpayer that ends in the year

if the particular period were a taxation year of the taxpayer and the taxpayer's interest in the indexed debt obligation were an interest in the non-indexed debt obligation.

(2) For the purposes of subparagraph 16(6)(a)(ii) of the Act, where at any time in a taxation year a taxpayer holds an interest in an indexed debt obligation, there is prescribed as interest payable and paid by the taxpayer in the year in respect of the obligation the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of the amounts, if any, determined under subparagraphs (1)(a)(ii) and (iii) for the year in respect of the taxpayer's interest in the obligation

exceeds

(b) the amount, if any, determined under subparagraph (1)(a)(i) for the year in respect of the taxpayer's interest in the obligation.

(3) For the purposes of subparagraph 16(6)(b)(i) of the Act, where at any time in a taxation year an indexed debt obligation is an obligation of a taxpayer, there is prescribed as interest payable in respect of the year by the taxpayer in respect of the obligation the amount, if any, that would be determined under paragraph (1)(a) in respect of the taxpayer for the year if, at each time at which the obligation is an obligation of the taxpayer, the taxpayer were the holder of the obligation and not the debtor under the obligation.

(4) For the purposes of subparagraph 16(6)(b)(ii) of the Act, where at any time in a taxation year an indexed debt obligation is an obligation of a taxpayer, there is prescribed as interest receivable and received by the taxpayer in the year in respect of the obligation the amount, if any, that would be determined under subsection (2) in respect of the taxpayer for the year if, at each time at which the obligation is an obligation of the taxpayer, the taxpayer were the holder of the obligation and not the debtor under the obligation.

(5) For the purpose of determining the amount by which an indexed payment under an indexed debt obligation has increased or decreased over a period because of a change in the purchasing power of money, the amount of the indexed payment at any time shall be determined using the method for computing the amount of the payment at the time it is to be made, adjusted in a reasonable manner to take into account the earlier date of computation.

(6) For the purposes of this section, the non-indexed debt obligation associated with an indexed debt obligation is the debt obligation that would result if the indexed debt obligation were amended to eliminate all adjustments determined by reference to changes in the purchasing power of money.

(7) In this section,

"excluded payment" with respect to a taxpayer for a taxation year means an indexed payment under an indexed debt obligation where

(a) the non-indexed debt obligation associated with the indexed debt obligation provides for the payment, at least annually, of interest at a single fixed rate, and

(b) the indexed payment corresponds to one of the interest payments referred to in paragraph (a),

but does not include payments under an indexed debt obligation where, at any time in the year, the taxpayer's proportionate interest in a payment to be made under the obligation after that time differs from the taxpayer's proportionate interest in any other payment to be made under the obligation after that time;

"indexed payment" means, in relation to an indexed debt obligation, an amount payable under the obligation that is determined by reference to the purchasing power of money;

"inflation adjustment period" of an indexed debt obligation means, in relation to a taxpayer,

(a) where the taxpayer acquires and disposes of the taxpayer's interest in the obligation in the same regular adjustment period of the obligation, the period that begins when the taxpayer acquires the interest in the obligation and ends when the taxpayer disposes of the interest, and

(b) in any other case, each of the following consecutive periods:

(i) the period that begins when the taxpayer acquires the taxpayer's interest in the obligation and ends at the end of the regular adjustment period of the obligation in which the taxpayer acquires the interest in the obligation,

(ii) each succeeding regular adjustment period of the obligation throughout which the taxpayer holds the interest in the obligation, and

(iii) where the taxpayer does not dispose of the interest in the obligation at the end of a regular adjustment period of the obligation, the period that begins immediately after the last period referred to in subparagraphs (i) and (ii) and that ends when the taxpayer disposes of the interest in the obligation;

"regular adjustment period" of an indexed debt obligation means

(a) where the terms or conditions of the obligation provide that, while the obligation is outstanding, indexed payments are to be made at regular intervals not exceeding 12 months in length, each of the following periods:

(i) the period that begins when the obligation is issued and ends when the first indexed payment is required to be made, and

(ii) each succeeding period beginning when an indexed payment is required to be made and ending when the next indexed payment is required to be made,

(b) where paragraph (a) does not apply and the obligation is outstanding for less than 12 months, the period that begins when the obligation is issued and ends when the obligation ceases to be outstanding, and

(c) in any other case, each of the following periods:

(i) the 12-month period that begins when the obligation is issued,

(ii) each succeeding 12-month period throughout which the obligation is outstanding, and

(iii) where the obligation ceases to be outstanding at a time other than the end of a 12-month period referred to in subparagraph (i) or (ii), the period that commences immediately after the last period referred to in those subparagraphs and that ends when the obligation ceases to be outstanding.

7304. (1) In this section,

"member of the taxpayer's household" includes the taxpayer;

"designated city" means St. John's, Halifax, Moncton, Quebec City, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, North Bay, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver.

(2) [Trip cost] — For the purposes of this section, the trip cost to a taxpayer in respect of a trip made by an individual who, at the time the trip was made, was a member of the taxpayer's household is the least of

(a) the aggregate of

(i) the value of travel assistance, if any, provided by the taxpayer's employer in respect of travelling expenses for the trip, and

(ii) the amount, if any, received by the taxpayer from his employer in respect of travelling expenses for the trip,

(b) the aggregate of

(i) the value of travel assistance, if any, provided by the taxpayer's employer in respect of travelling expenses for the trip, and

(ii) travelling expenses incurred by the taxpayer for the trip, and

(c) the lowest return airfare ordinarily available, at the time the trip was made, to the individual for flights between the place in which the individual resided immediately before the trip, or the airport nearest thereto, and the designated city that is nearest to that place.

(3) [Period travel cost] — For the purposes of subsection (4), the "period travel cost" to a taxpayer for a period in a taxation year, in respect of an individual who was a member of the taxpayer's household at any time during the period, is the total of the trip costs to the taxpayer in respect of all trips that were made by the individual at a time when the individual was a member of the taxpayer's household where the trips may reasonably be considered to relate to the period.

(4) [Travel assistance — prescribed amount] — For the purposes of clause 110.7(1)(a)(i)(A) of the Act, the prescribed amount in respect of a taxpayer for a period in a taxation year is the lesser of

(a) the total of

(i) the value of travel assistance, if any, provided in the period by the taxpayer's employer in respect of travelling expenses for trips, each of which was made by an individual who, at the time the trip was made, was a member of the taxpayer's household, where the trips may reasonably be considered to relate to the period, and

(ii) the amount, if any, received in the period by the taxpayer from the taxpayer's employer in respect of travelling expenses for trips, each of which was made by an individual who, at the time the trip was made, was a member of the taxpayer's household, where the trips may reasonably be considered to relate to the period; and

(b) the total of all the period travel costs to the taxpayer for the period in respect of all individuals who were members of the taxpayer's household at any time in the period.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 7305 — Western Canada (for 2003)

Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada news release, December 19, 2003: Tax Deferral to Benefit Farmers in Western Canada

Owners of breeding livestock in designated areas of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba who were forced to sell all or part of their breeding herd this year because of drought conditions will be eligible for a one-year tax deferral on 2003 income from these sales.

Agriculture and Agri-Food Minister Bob Speller made the announcement today.

"This tax deferral offers producers who choose to sell breeding livestock a real tax saving on the income received from these sales and will allow them to use these savings when restocking their herds in the spring," said Mr. Speller. "Although current market conditions are creating challenges, some producers are proceeding to sell off cattle in response to unfavourable conditions due to drought."

The initial deferral was made after reviewing precipitation levels, soil moisture and forage yield for the 2003 growing season, and provides a management option to breeding livestock owners who were forced to sell all or part of their herd due to drought conditions affecting feed or water supplies.

To defer income, the breeding herd must have been reduced by at least 15 per cent. Thirty per cent of income from net sales can be deferred if the breeding herd has been reduced by at least 15 per cent, but less than 30 per cent. Where the herd has been reduced by 30 per cent or more, 90 per cent of income from net sales can be deferred.

The deferral allows eligible producers in designated areas to defer income tax on the sale of breeding livestock for one year to help replenish breeding stock in the following year. In the case of consecutive years of drought designation, producers may defer sales income to the first year in which the area is no longer designated.

Eligible producers will be able to request this deferral when filing their 2003 income tax returns. Livestock producers are advised to contact their local Canada Customs and Revenue Agency Tax Services Office for details on the income tax provisions.

A backgrounder of designated areas eligible for 2003 is attached.

For more information, media may contact: Media Relations, Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada, Ottawa, (613) 759-7972.

Backgrounder — Designated Tax Deferral Areas by Province

[List of initial designations not reproduced — ed.]

Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada news release, January 27, 2004: Minister Speller Announces Tax Provisions for Farmers

The 2003 income tax deferral for cattle producers on sales breeding livestock because of drought has been extended to include additional areas of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Agriculture and Agri-Food Minister Bob Speller announced the extension today to the areas initially designated in December 2003.

Mr. Speller also highlighted for producers the fact that the Income Tax Act gives the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) the authority to cancel or waive penalties and interest to those who are unable to meet their tax or duty obligations due to extraordinary circumstances, such as those created by the current situation with bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE). These are known as "fairness provisions."

The CRA has the flexibility to use a common sense approach to help those with problems arising through no fault of their own. Individuals and businesses can contact their local tax services offices to ask about submitting a fairness request. Applications are reviewed and decisions made on a case-by-case basis.

The drought-related tax deferral was made after reviewing soil moisture, precipitation levels and forage yield for the 2003 growing season, and provides a management option to owners of breeding livestock who were forced to sell all or part of their herd due to drought conditions affecting feed or water supplies.

"Because the effects of the drought have been extensive across the West, we have designated a further 74 areas to the 168 previously designated for tax deferral on 2003 income from drought-induced sales of breeding livestock," Mr. Speller said. "While market conditions present ongoing challenges, some producers continue to sell cattle in response to the unfavourable conditions due to drought."

Eligibility for deferral was determined on the advice of Mr. Speller to Ralph Goodale, Minister of Finance.

The deferral allows eligible producers in the designated areas to defer income tax on the sale of breeding livestock for one year to help replenish breeding stock in the following year. In the case of consecutive years of drought designation, producers may defer sales income to the first year in which the area is no longer designated.

Eligible producers will be able to request this deferral when filing their 2003 income tax returns. Livestock producers are advised to contact their local Canada Revenue Agency office for details on the income tax provisions.

Please see attached list of final designated areas eligible for 2003.

Definitions [Reg. 7305]: "prescribed" — ITA 248(1).

7305.01 [Prescribed drought regions — surrounded areas] — For the purposes of subsection 80.3(4) of the Act, the prescribed drought regions in respect of a year include any particular area that is surrounded by a region or regions prescribed under section 7305 in respect of the year.

History: S. 7305.01 added by P.C. 2000-1769, s. 2, December 13, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 3, 2001, applicable after 1987.

7305.1 [Automobile operating expenses] — For the purpose of subparagraph (v) of the description of A in paragraph 6(1)(k) of the Act, the amount prescribed for a taxation year is

(a) if a taxpayer is employed in a taxation year by a particular person principally in selling or leasing automobiles and an automobile is made available in the year to the taxpayer or a person related to the taxpayer by the particular person or a person related to the particular person, 14 cents; and

(b) in any other case, 17 cents.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 7305.1

Department of Finance news release, December 23, 2003: 2004 Automobile Deduction Limits and Expense Benefit Rates for Business

...

The general prescribed rate used to determine the taxable benefit relating to the personal portion of automobile operating expenses paid by employers will remain at 17¢ per kilometre. For taxpayers employed principally in selling or leasing automobiles, the prescribed rate will remain at 14¢ per kilometre. The amount of the benefit reflects the costs of operating an automobile. The additional benefit of having an employer-provided vehicle available for personal use (i.e., the automobile standby charge) is calculated separately and is also included in the employee's income.

History: Para. 7305.1(a) amended to add the words "or a person related to the taxpayer" and replace "13 cents" with "14 cents" by P.C. 2003-1110, s. 1, July 24, 2003, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 13, 2003, applicable to taxation years ending after 2002.

Para. 7305.1(b) amended by the said P.C. 2003-1110, s. 1, to replace "16 cents" with "17 cents", applicable to taxation years ending after 2002.

Para. 7305.1(a) amended to replace "12 cents" with "13 cents", and para. 7305.1(b) amended to replace "15 cents" with "16 cents", by P.C. 2001-1235, s. 1, July 12, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 1, 2001, applicable to taxation years ending after 2000.

7306. [Tax-free car allowances] — For the purposes of paragraph 18(1)(r) of the Act, the amount in respect of the use of one or more automobiles in a taxation year by an individual for kilometres driven in the year for the purpose of earning income of the individual is the total of

(a) the product of 36 cents multiplied by the number of those kilometres;

(b) the product of 6 cents multiplied by the lesser of 5,000 and the number of those kilometres; and

(c) the product of 4 cents multiplied by the number of those kilometres driven in the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories or Nunavut.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 7306

Department of Finance news release, December 23, 2003: 2004 Automobile Deduction Limits and Expense Benefit Rates for Business

...

The limit on the deduction of tax-exempt allowances paid by employers to employees will remain at 42¢ per kilometre for the first 5,000 kilometres driven and 36¢ for each additional kilometre. For the Yukon Territory, Northwest Territories and Nunavut, the tax-exempt allowance will remain at 46¢ for the first 5,000 kilometres driven and 40¢ for each additional kilometre. The allowance amounts reflect the key cost components of owning and operating an automobile, such as depreciation, financing, insurance, maintenance and fuel costs.

History: Para. 7306(a) amended to replace "35 cents" with "36 cents" by P.C. 2003-1110, s. 2, July 24, 2003, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 13, 2003, applicable to kilometres driven after 2002.

7307. (1) [Automobiles — CCA cost limit] — For the purposes of subsection 13(2), paragraph 13(7)(g), subparagraph 13(7)(h)(iii), subsections 20(4) and (16.1), the description of B in paragraph 67.3(d) and subparagraph 85(1)(e.4)(i) of the Act, the amount prescribed is

(a) with respect to an automobile acquired, or leased under a lease entered into, after August 1989 and before 1991, $24,000; and

(b) with respect to an automobile acquired, or leased under a lease entered into, after 1990, the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B$$

where

A is, with respect to an automobile acquired, or leased under a lease entered into,

(i) before 1997, $24,000,

(ii) in 1997, $25,000,

(iii) in 1998 or 1999, $26,000,

(iv) in 2000, $27,000, or

(v) after 2000, $30,000, and

B is the sum that would have been payable in respect of federal and provincial sales taxes on the acquisition of the automobile if it had been acquired, at a cost equal to A before the application of the federal and provincial sales taxes, if the automobile

(i) was acquired, at the time of the acquisition, or

(ii) was leased, at the time the lease was entered into.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 7307(1)

Department of Finance news release, December 23, 2003: 2004 Automobile Deduction Limits and Expense Benefit Rates for Business

Ralph Goodale, Minister of Finance, confirmed today that the automobile expense deduction limits and the prescribed rates for the automobile operating expense benefit will remain at the current levels for 2004. Specifically:

The ceiling on the capital cost of passenger vehicles for capital cost allowance (CCA) purposes will remain at $30,000 (plus applicable federal and provincial sales taxes) for purchases after 2003. This ceiling restricts the cost of a vehicle on which CCA may be claimed for business purposes.

...

The Government reviews these rates and limits annually and announces any planned changes prior to the end of the calendar year. This practice ensures that businesses are aware of the new rates before the beginning of the year in which they apply.

(2) [Automobiles — interest expense limit] — For the purpose of the description of A in section 67.2 of the Act, the amount prescribed in respect of an automobile that is acquired either after August 1989 and before 1997 or after 2000 is $300.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 7307(2)

Department of Finance news release, December 23, 2003: 2004 Automobile Deduction Limits and Expense Benefit Rates for Business

...

The maximum allowable interest deduction for amounts borrowed to purchase an automobile will remain at $300 per month for loans related to vehicles acquired after 2003. This limit reflects the reasonable cost of financing a vehicle for business purposes.

I.T. Technical News: No. 10 (1997 deduction limits and benefit rates for automobiles); No. 12 (1998 deduction limits and benefit rates for automobiles).

(3) [Automobiles — leasing limit] — For the purpose of the description of A in paragraph 67.3(c) of the Act, the amount prescribed in respect of a taxation year of a lessee is, with respect to an automobile leased under a lease entered into

(a) after August 1989 and before 1991, $650; and

(b) after 1990, the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B$$

where

A is

(i) for leases entered into after 1990 but before 1997, $650,

(ii) for leases entered into in 1997, $550,

(iii) for leases entered into in 1998 or 1999, $650,

(iv) for leases entered into in 2000, $700, and

(v) for leases entered into after 2000, $800, and

B is the sum of the federal and provincial sales taxes that would have been payable on a monthly payment under the lease in the taxation year of the lessee if, before those taxes, the lease had required monthly payments equal to A.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 7307(3)

Department of Finance news release, December 23, 2003: 2004 Automobile Deduction Limits and Expense Benefit Rates for Business

...

The limit on deductible leasing costs will remain at $800 per month (plus applicable federal and provincial sales taxes) for leases entered into after 2003. This limit, which ensures that the level of deductions for leased and purchased vehicles is consistent, is one of two restrictions on the deduction of automobile lease payments. A separate restriction prorates deductible lease costs where the value of the vehicle exceeds the capital cost ceiling.

I.T. Technical News: No. 10 (1997 deduction limits and benefit rates for automobiles); No. 12 (1998 deduction limits and benefit rates for automobiles).

(4) For the purpose of the description of C in paragraph 67.3(d) of the Act, the amount prescribed in respect of an automobile leased under a lease entered into after August 1989 is the amount equal to 100/85 of the amount determined in accordance with subsection (1) in respect of the automobile.

7308. (1) In this section, "carrier" has the meaning assigned by subsection 146.3(1) of the Act.

(2) For the purposes of this section, a retirement income fund is a qualifying retirement income fund at a particular time if

(a) the fund was entered into before 1993 and the carrier has not accepted any property as consideration under the fund after 1992 and at or before the particular time, or

(b) the carrier has not accepted any property as consideration under the fund after 1992 and at or before the particular time, other than property transferred from a retirement income fund that, immediately before the time of the transfer, was a qualifying retirement income fund.

(3) For the purposes of the definition "minimum amount" in subsection 146.3(1) of the Act, the prescribed factor in respect of an individual for a year in connection with a retirement income fund that was a qualifying retirement income fund at the beginning of the year is the factor, determined pursuant to the following table, that corresponds to the age in whole years (in the table referred to as "X") attained by the individual at the beginning of that year or that would have been so attained by the individual if the individual had been alive at the beginning of that year.

(4) For the purposes of the definition "minimum amount" in subsection 146.3(1) of the Act, the prescribed factor in respect of an individual for a year in connection with a retirement income fund other than a fund that was a qualifying retirement income fund at the beginning of the year is the factor, determined pursuant to the following table, that corresponds to the age in whole years (in the table referred to as "Y") attained by the individual at the beginning of that year or that would have been so attained by the individual if the individual had been alive at the beginning of that year.

Proposed Amendment — 7308(4) opening words

(4) For the purposes of the definition "minimum amount" in subsection 146.3(1) of the Act and subsection 8506(5), the prescribed factor in respect of an individual for a year in connection with a retirement income fund (other than a fund that was a qualifying retirement income fund at the beginning of the year) or the designated factor in respect of an individual for a year in connection with an account under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan, as the case may be, is the factor, determined in accordance with the following table, that corresponds to the age in whole years (in the table referred to as "Y") attained by the individual at the beginning of the year or that would have been so attained by the individual if the individual was alive at the beginning of the year.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), s. 5, will amend the opening words of subsec. 7308(4) to read as above, applicable after 2003.

Technical Notes: Subsection 7308(4) applies for the purpose of determining the minimum amount that an annuitant under a RRIF is required to withdraw each year from the fund. In general, the minimum amount for a year is the fair market value of the RRIF assets at the beginning of the year, multiplied by a prescribed factor corresponding to the attained age of the RRIF annuitant (or, on election, the annuitant's spouse or common-law partner). The factors are set out in the table contained in subsection 7308(4).

Subsection 7308(4) is amended so that the factors also apply for the purpose of determining the minimum amount in connection with the new variable benefit under money purchase provisions of registered pension plans (RPPs). For details, refer to the commentary on section 8506.

Other references — Every reference made to the Minister of Communications, the Minister of Multiculturalism and Citizenship and the Secretary of State of Canada in relation to any matter to which the powers, duties and functions of the Minister of Canadian Heritage extend by virtue of this Act, in any other Act of Parliament or in any order, regulation or other instrument made under any Act of Parliament shall, unless the context otherwise requires, be read as a reference to the Minister of Canadian Heritage.

PART LXXVI — CARVED-OUT PROPERTY EXCLUSION

History: Part LXXVI (s. 7600) added by P.C. 1989-1793, s. 2, September 21, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 11, 1989, applicable to property acquired after July 19, 1985.

7600. [Prescribed property] — For the purposes of paragraph (g) of the definition "carved-out property" in subsection 209(1) of the Act, a prescribed property at any time is

(a) any right, licence or privilege to prospect, explore, drill or mine for minerals in a mineral resource (other than a bituminous sands deposit, oil sands deposit or oil shale deposit) in Canada;

(b) any rental or royalty computed by reference to the amount or value of production of minerals from a mineral resource (other than a bituminous sands deposit, oil sands deposit or oil shale deposit) in Canada;

(c) any real property in Canada the principal value of which depends on its mineral resource content (other than a bituminous sands deposit, oil sands deposit or oil shale deposit);

(d) any right to or interest in any property described in any of paragraphs (a) to (c); or

(e) a property acquired before that time by a taxpayer in the circumstances described in paragraph (c) of the definition "carved-out property" in subsection 209(1) of the Act, except where it is reasonable to consider that one of the main reasons for the acquisition of the property, or any series of transactions or events in which the property was acquired, by the taxpayer was to reduce or postpone tax that would, but for this paragraph, be payable by another taxpayer under Part XII.1 of the Act.

PART LXXVIII — PRESCRIBED PROVINCIAL PENSION PLANS

History: Part LXXVIII (s. 7800) added by P.C. 1989-1924, September 28, 1989, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 11, 1989, applicable to 1987 et seq. except that, for the 1987 taxation year, the reference to "paragraph 118(8)(e)" in subsection 7800(1) shall be read as a reference to "paragraph 110.2(4)(h)".

7800. (1) For the purposes of clause 56(1)(a)(i)(C), subsection 56(2), paragraph 60(v), subsection 74.1(1) and paragraph 118(8)(e) of the Act, the Saskatchewan Pension Plan is a prescribed provincial pension plan.

History: Subsec. 7800(1) amended to delete reference to subsec. 56(4), by P.C. 2001-1378, s. 8, August 1, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 15, 2001, effective August 15, 2001.

(2) For the purpose of subparagraph 60(v)(ii) of the Act, the prescribed amount for a taxation year in respect of the Saskatchewan Pension Plan is, for the 1987 taxation year, $1,200, and for the 1988 and subsequent taxation years, $600.

PART LXXIX — PRESCRIBED FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

History: Part LXXIX (s. 7900) added by P.C. 1990-854, s. 2, May 10, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 23, 1990, applicable after December 19, 1986.

7900. For the purposes of section 33.1, paragraph 95(2)(a.3), clause 212(1)(b)(iii)(D) and subparagraph 212(1)(b)(xi) of the Act, "prescribed financial institution" means

(a) a corporation that is a member of the Canadian Payments Association; or

(b) a credit union that is a shareholder or member of a body corporate or organization that is a central for the purposes of the Canadian Payments Association Act.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 7900

7900. (1) For the purposes of section 33.1, the definitions "excluded income" and "excluded revenue" and "specified deposit" in subsection 95(2.5), clause 212(1)(b)(iii)(D) and subparagraph 212(1)(b)(xi) of the Act, each of the following is a prescribed financial institution:

(a) a corporation that is a member of the Canadian Payments Association, other than an authorized foreign bank; and

(b) a credit union that is a shareholder or member of a body corporate or organization that is a central for the purposes of the Canadian Payments Association Act.

(2) For the purposes of the definitions "excluded income" and "excluded revenue" and "specified deposit" in subsection 95(2.5) and clause 212(1)(b)(iii)(D) of the Act, an authorized foreign bank is a prescribed financial institution.

Application: The February 13, 2003 draft regulations (foreign bank branches), s. 10, (pre-published in the Canada Gazette, Part I, February 15, 2003), will amend s. 7900 to read as above, applicable after June 27, 1999, except that in applying the section to taxation years that began before 2000, the reference to the phrase "the definitions "excluded income" and "excluded revenue" and "specified deposit" in subsection 95(2.5)" is to be read as a reference to the phrase "paragraph 95(2)(a.3), the definition "specified deposit" in subsection 95(2.5)".

Regulatory Impact Analysis Statement: Prescribed Financial Institutions

Section 7900 defines the meaning of "prescribed financial institution" for the purposes of various provisions in the Act. Section 7900 is re-numbered to be new subsection 7900(1), and new subsection 7900(2) describes that an authorized foreign bank is a prescribed financial institution for the purposes of the definitions "excluded income" and "excluded revenue" and "specified deposit" in subsection 95(2.5) and clause 212(1)(b)(iii)(D) of the Act.

History: The opening words of s. 7900 amended by P.C. 1997-1670, s. 10, November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the sec. applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when

that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

Definitions [Reg. 7900]: "authorized foreign bank" — ITA 248(1); "corporation" — ITA 248(1), Interpretation Act 35(1); "credit union", "shareholder" — ITA 248(1).

PART LXXX — PRESCRIBED RESERVE AMOUNT AND RECOVERY RATE

History: Part LXXX (ss. 8000–8005) added by P.C. 1990-2779, s. 4, December 20, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 16, 1991, applicable to taxation years and fiscal periods commencing after June 17, 1987 that end after 1987.

8000. [Prescribed reserve amount] — For the purpose of clause 20(1)(l)(ii)(C) of the Act, the prescribed reserve amount for a taxation year means the aggregate of

(a) where the taxpayer is a bank, an amount equal to the lesser of

(i) the amount of the reserve reported in its annual report for the year that is filed with and accepted by the relevant authority or, where the taxpayer was throughout the year subject to the supervision of the relevant authority but was not required to file an annual report for the year with the relevant authority, in its financial statements for the year, as general provisions or as specific provisions, in respect of exposures to designated countries in respect of loans or lending assets of the taxpayer made or acquired by it in the ordinary course of its business, and

(ii) an amount in respect of the loans or lending assets of the taxpayer at the end of the year that were made or acquired by the taxpayer in the ordinary course of its business and reported for the year by the taxpayer to the relevant authority, in accordance with the guidelines established by the relevant authority, as part of the taxpayer's total exposure to designated countries for the purpose of determining the taxpayer's general provisions or specific provisions referred to in subparagraph (i) or that were acquired by the taxpayer after August 16, 1990 and reported for the year by the taxpayer to the relevant authority, in accordance with the guidelines established by the relevant authority, as an exposure to a designated country (in this subparagraph referred to as the "loans") equal to the positive or negative amount, as the case may be, determined by the formula

$$45\% (A + B) - (B + C)$$

where

A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount that would be the amortized cost of a loan to the taxpayer at the end of the year if the definition "amortized cost" in section 248 of the Act were read without reference to paragraphs (e) and (i) thereof,

B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, by which the principal amount of a loan outstanding at the time it was acquired by the taxpayer exceeds the amortized cost of the loan to the taxpayer immediately after the time it was acquired by the taxpayer, and

C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

(A) an amount deducted in respect of a loan under clause 20(1)(l)(ii)(B) of the Act in computing the taxpayer's income for the year, or

(B) an amount in respect of a loan determined as the amount, if any, by which

(I) the aggregate of all amounts in respect of the loan deducted under paragraph 20(1)(p) of the Act in computing the taxpayer's income for the year or a preceding taxation year

exceeds

(II) the aggregate of all amounts in respect of the loan included under paragraph 12(1)(i) of the Act in computing the taxpayer's income for the year or a preceding taxation year, and

(a.1) where the taxpayer is a bank, the positive or negative amount that would be determined under the formula in subparagraph (a)(ii) in respect of the specified loans owned by the taxpayer at the end of the year if that subparagraph applied to those loans.

(b) [Repealed]

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

History: The opening words of s. 8000 amended and para. (b) repealed by P.C. 1999-195, subsecs. 2(1) and (3), February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable

(a) to taxation years that end after September 1997; and

(b) to taxation years that end after 1995 and before October 1997 where the taxpayer elects in writing to have para. 20(1)(l) of the Act, as amended, apply to the year and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue before October 1998.

Para. 8000(a.1) added by P.C. 1999-195, subsec. 2(2), February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable

(a) to 1997 et seq.; and

(b) to taxation years that end after 1991 and before 1997 where the taxpayer elects in writing to have para. 8000(a.1) apply to those years and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue before July 1999.

8001. [Repealed]

History: S. 8001 repealed by P.C. 1999-195, s. 3, February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable

(a) to taxation years that end after September 1997; and

(b) to taxation years that end after 1995 and before October 1997 where the taxpayer elects in writing to have para. 20(1)(l) of the Act, as amended, to apply to the year and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue before October 1998.

8002. [Principal amount, amortized cost] — For the purposes of paragraph 8000(a),

(a) the principal amount outstanding at any time of a lending asset of a taxpayer that is a share of the capital stock of a corporation is the part of the consideration received by the corporation for the issue of the share that is outstanding at that time;

(b) where

(i) a taxpayer realizes a loss from the disposition of a loan or lending asset described in subparagraph 8000(a)(ii) or a specified loan described in paragraph 8000(a.1) (in this paragraph referred to as the "former loan") for consideration that included another loan or lending asset that was a loan or lending asset described in subparagraph 8000(a)(ii) or paragraph 8000(a.1) (in this paragraph referred to as the "new loan"), and

(ii) in the case of a former loan that is not a specified loan, the loss is included in computing the taxpayer's provisionable assets as reported for the year to the relevant authority, in accordance with the guidelines established by the relevant authority, for the purpose of determining the taxpayer's general provisions or specific provisions in respect of exposures to designated countries, the principal amount of the new loan outstanding at the time it was acquired by the taxpayer is deemed to be equal to the principal amount of the former loan outstanding immediately before that time; and

(c) where at the end of a particular taxation year a taxpayer owns a specified loan that, at the end of the preceding taxation year, was described in an inventory of the taxpayer, the amortized cost of the specified loan to the taxpayer at the end of the particular year is its value determined under section 10 of the Act at the end of the preceding year for the purpose of computing the taxpayer's income for the preceding year.

History: Para. 8002(b) amended and para. (c) added by P.C. 1999-195, s. 4, February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable

(a) to 1997 et seq.; and

(b) to taxation years that end after 1991 and before 1997 where the taxpayer elects in writing to have para. 8000(a.1) apply to those years and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue before July 1999.

8003. [Election] — Where a taxpayer elects to have this section apply by notifying the Minister in writing within 90 days after the day on which this section is published in the Canada Gazette, the loans or lending assets of the taxpayer that are described in subparagraph 8000(a)(ii) shall not include any loan or lending asset acquired by the taxpayer before November 1988 from a person with whom the taxpayer was dealing at arm's length.

Definitions [Reg. 8003]: "arm's length" — ITA 251(1); "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "lending asset", "Minister", "person", "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1); "writing" — Interpretation Act 35(1).

8004. [Repealed]

History: S. 8004 repealed by P.C. 1999-195, s. 5, February 11, 1999, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 3, 1999, applicable

(a) to taxation years that end after September 1997; and

(b) to taxation years that end after 1995 and before October 1997 where the taxpayer elects in writing to have para. 20(1)(l) of the Act, as amended, to apply to the year and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue before October 1998.

8005. [Rules — loans and lending assets] — For the purposes of subparagraph 8000(a)(ii), where a loan or lending asset of a person (in this section referred to as the "holder") related to a taxpayer

(a) was reported for the year by the taxpayer to the relevant authority, in accordance with the guidelines established by the relevant authority, as an exposure to a designated country,

(b) was acquired by the holder or another person related to the taxpayer after August 16, 1990 as part of a series of transactions or events in which the taxpayer or a person related to the taxpayer disposed of a loan or lending asset that

(i) for the taxation year immediately preceding the particular year in which it was disposed of, was a loan or lending asset that was reported by the taxpayer to the relevant authority, in accordance with the guidelines established by the relevant authority, as an exposure to a designated country, and

(ii) was a loan or lending asset a loss arising on the disposition of which would be a loss in respect of which a deduction is permitted under Part I of the Act to the taxpayer or a person related to the taxpayer, and

(c) had an amortized cost to the holder, immediately after the time it was acquired by the holder, that was less than 55 per cent of its principal amount,

the following rules apply:

(d) the loan or lending asset shall be deemed

(i) to be a loan or lending asset of the taxpayer at the end of the year,

(ii) to be a loan or lending asset of the taxpayer that was acquired by the taxpayer at the time it was acquired by the holder, and

(iii) to have an amortized cost to the taxpayer, at any time, that is equal to its amortized cost to the holder at that time, and

(e) any amount in respect of the loan or lending asset deducted under paragraph 20(1)(p) of the Act or included under paragraph 12(1)(i) of the Act in computing the holder's income for a particular year shall be deemed to have been so deducted or included, as the case may be, in computing the income of the taxpayer for the year in which the particular year ends.

PART LXXXI — TRANSITION FOR FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

History: Part LXXXI (ss. 8100–8105) added by P.C. 1990-2779, s. 4, December 20, 1990, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 16, 1991, applicable to taxation years and fiscal periods commencing after June 17, 1987 that end after 1987.

8100. Transition deduction in respect of unpaid claims reserve — For the purpose of subsection 20(26) of the Act, an insurer's unpaid claims reserve adjustment for its taxation year that includes February 23, 1994 is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that, because of paragraph 1400(e), was deductible under paragraph 20(7)(c) of the Act in respect of an insurance policy in computing the insurer's income for its last taxation year that ended before February 23, 1994

(b) where the insurer elects, by notifying the Minister in writing, to have this paragraph apply, the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would, because of paragraph 1400(e), have been deductible under paragraph 20(7)(c) of the Act in respect of an insurance policy in computing the insurer's income for its last taxation year that ended before February 23, 1994 if the amount "1/3" in the formula in subparagraph 1400(e)(ii), as it read for that year, were replaced by the amount "1", and

(c) in any other case, the total of all amounts each of which is the maximum amount that would, because of paragraph 1400(e) or (e.1), have been deductible under paragraph 20(7)(c) of the Act in respect of an insurance policy in computing the insurer's income for its last taxation year that ended before February 23, 1994 if paragraph 1400(e.1) had applied to that year and paragraphs 1400(e) and (e.1) were read in their application to that year as they read in their application to the insurer's taxation year that includes February 23, 1994.

History: Ss. 8100 and 8101 substituted for ss. 8100 to 8105 by P.C. 1996-1452, s. 3, September 17, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 2, 1996, applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994.

Definitions [Reg. 8100]: "amount", "insurance policy", "insurer", "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "taxation year" — ITA 249; "writing" — Interpretation Act 35(1).

8101. Inclusion of transition amount in respect of unpaid claims reserve

— (1) In this section, "transition deduction" of an insurer means the amount deducted under subsection 20(26) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for its taxation year that includes February 23, 1994.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), there is prescribed for the purpose of section 12.3 of the Act in respect of an insurer for a taxation year that ends after February 22, 1994 the amount determined by the formula

$$\left(\frac{(0.05A + 0.10B + 0.15C)}{365}\right) \times D$$

where

A is the total of

(a) the number of days in the taxation year that are in 1994 or 1995, and

(b) where the taxation year includes February 23, 1994, the number of days in 1994 that are before the first day of the taxation year,

B is the number of days in the taxation year (other than February 29) that are in any of 1996 to 2001,

C is the number of days in the taxation year that are in 2002 or 2003, and

D is the insurer's transition deduction minus the amount, if any, required by subsection (4) or paragraph (5)(b) to be subtracted.

(3) Where subsection 88(1) of the Act has applied to the winding-up of an insurer (in this subsection referred to as the "subsidiary"),

(a) the values of A, B, and C in subsection (2) shall be determined in respect of the subsidiary without including any days that are after the day on which the sub-

sidiary's assets were distributed to its parent on the winding-up; and

(b) there is prescribed for the purpose of section 12.3 of the Act in respect of the parent for its taxation year that includes the day referred to in paragraph (a) the total of

(i) the amount that would be determined under subsection (2) in respect of the parent for the year if the parent's transition deduction did not include the subsidiary's transition deduction, and

(ii) the amount that would be determined under subsection (2) in respect of the parent for the year if

(A) the values of A, B, and C in that subsection were determined without including the day referred to in paragraph (a) and any days before that day, and

(B) the value of D in that subsection were equal to the subsidiary's transition deduction.

(4) Where subsection 138(11.5) or (11.94) of the Act has applied to the transfer of an insurance business by an insurer, there shall be subtracted, in determining the value of D in subsection (2) in respect of the insurer for a taxation year ending after the insurer ceased to carry on all or substantially all of the business, the part of the insurer's transition deduction that can reasonably be attributed to the business.

(5) Where an insurer ceases to carry on all or substantially all of an insurance business, otherwise than as a result of a merger to which subsection 87(2) of the Act applies, a winding-up to which subsection 88(1) of the Act applies or a transfer of the business to which subsection 138(11.5) or (11.94) of the Act applies,

(a) there is prescribed for the purpose of section 12.3 of the Act in respect of the insurer for its taxation year in which the cessation of business occurs, in addition to the amount prescribed by subsection (2), the amount, if any, by which

(i) the part of the insurer's transition deduction that can reasonably be attributed to the business

exceeds

(ii) that part of the total of the amounts included under section 12.3 of the Act in computing the income of the insurer for preceding taxation years that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the amount determined under subparagraph (i); and

(b) there shall be subtracted, in determining the value of D in subsection (2) in respect of the insurer for the year or a subsequent taxation year, the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i).

8102–8105. [Repealed]

History: Ss. 8100 and 8101 substituted for ss. 8100 to 8105 by P.C. 1996-1452, s. 3, September 17, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 2, 1996, applicable to taxation years that end after February 22, 1994.

S. 8102, subparas. 8103(a)(i), (ii), amended by P.C. 1992-2335, Sched. II, ss. 17, 18, November 19, 1992, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 2, 1992, applicable to taxation years and fiscal periods beginning after June 17, 1987 and ending after 1987.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 8102–8105

Technical Notes: Part LXXXI contains transition rules for the 1987 tax reform changes to the reserves available to financial institutions. On December 8, 1994, draft amendments were announced that would repeal these rules and introduce (in sections 8100 and 8101) new transition rules relating to unpaid claims reserves for non-life insurance policies.

New transition rules are added in sections 8102 to 8105 in connection with the introduction of the mark-to-market requirement for shares and certain debt obligations held by financial institutions. These new rules apply to taxation years ending after October 30, 1994.

Section 8102 prescribes the maximum transition deduction that may be claimed under subsection 142.5(4) of the Act in respect of non-capital properties.

8102. Mark-to-market — transition deduction — (1) In this section,

"excluded property" of a taxpayer means a mark-to-market property used in a business of the taxpayer in its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994 where it is reasonable to expect that the property would have been valued at its fair market value for the purpose of computing the taxpayer's income from the business for the year if

(a) the Act were read without reference to subsection 142.5(2), and

(b) the property were held at the end of the year;

Technical Notes: "Excluded property" of a taxpayer is property that it is reasonable to consider would have been marked to market for tax purposes in the taxpayer's taxation year that includes October 31, 1994, even if a requirement to do so had not been introduced. The determination of whether property that has been sold during the year is excluded property is to be made assuming that the taxpayer continued to hold the property throughout the year.

"mark-to-market property" has the meaning assigned by subsection 142.2(1) of the Act.

Technical Notes: "Mark-to-market property" of a taxpayer has the meaning given by subsection 142.2(1) of the Act. In general terms, it comprises most shares held by the taxpayer and debt obligations that are marked to market for financial statement purposes.

(2) For the purpose of subsection 142.5(4) of the Act, the prescribed amount for a taxpayer's taxation year that includes October 31, 1994 is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's profit from the disposition in the year, because of subsection 142.5(2) of the Act, of a property other than a capital property or an excluded property

exceeds the total of

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's loss from the disposition in the year, because of subsection 142.5(2) of the Act, of a property other than a capital property or an excluded property, and

(c) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's loss from the disposition in the year of a mark-to-market property (other than a capital property, an excluded property or a property disposed of because of subsection 142.5(2) of the Act)

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxpayer's profit from the disposition in the year of a mark-to-market property (other than a capital property, an excluded property or a property disposed of because of subsection 142.5(2) of the Act).

Technical Notes: Subsection 142.5(4) of the Act contains a transition deduction in respect of the introduction of the requirement that certain property be marked to market for tax purposes. It permits a taxpayer to deduct an amount not exceeding a prescribed amount in its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994. Subsection 8102(2) prescribes the following maximum amount for this purpose:

- the taxpayer's total profits from the disposition of non-capital mark-to-market properties (other than excluded properties, as defined in subsection 8102(1)) that the mark-to-market rules deem the taxpayer to have disposed of in the year

- the taxpayer's total losses from the disposition of non-capital mark-to-market properties (other than excluded properties) that the mark-to-market rules deem the taxpayer to have disposed of in the year, and
- the taxpayer's net losses (i.e., losses minus profits) from actual dispositions in the year of non-capital mark-to-market properties (other than excluded properties) and from deemed dispositions of such properties otherwise than because of the mark-to-market rules.

Definitions: "amount", "business" — ITA 248(1); "capital property" — ITA 54, 248(1); "disposed" — ITA 248(1)"disposition"; "disposition" — ITA 248(1); "excluded property" — Reg. 8102(1); "mark-to-market property" — ITA 142.2(1), Reg. 8102(1); "prescribed", "property" — ITA 248(1); "taxation year" — ITA 249; "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1).

8103. Mark-to-market — transition inclusion — (1) In this section, "transition deduction" of a taxpayer means the amount deducted under subsection 142.5(4) of the Act in computing the taxpayer's income for its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994.

Technical Notes: Section 8103 applies where a taxpayer has claimed a deduction under subsection 142.5(4) of the Act in respect of the introduction of the mark-to-market requirement. It prescribes the amount to be included in income each year under subsection 142.5(5) of the Act in respect of the deducted amount. Generally, the deducted amount is required to be included in income over a 5-year period. Section 8103 also contains rules for the income inclusion after certain corporate reorganizations have occurred or where a taxpayer ceases to carry on a business or to be a financial institution.

Subsection 8103(1) defines the "transition deduction" of a taxpayer to be the amount deducted under subsection 142.5(4) of the Act in computing the taxpayer's income for its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994.

Where a taxpayer has been formed by amalgamation, the continuity rule in paragraph 87(2)(g.2) of the Act ensures that any amount deducted by a predecessor corporation under subsection 142.5(4) of the Act is considered to have been deducted by the taxpayer. Therefore, the taxpayer's transition deduction is the sum of the transition deductions of its predecessors.

Similarly, the transition deduction of a taxpayer to which a business has been transferred in a transaction to which subsection 88(1) (winding-up), 138(11.5) (transfer of insurance business by a non-resident insurer) or 138(11.94) (transfer of insurance business by a resident insurer) of the Act applies will include the amount deducted by the transferor under subsection 142.5(4) in respect of the business. The relevant continuity rules are in paragraph 87(2)(g.2) (which applies to a winding-up by reason of paragraph 88(1)(e.2)) and paragraph 138(11.5)(k).

(2) Subject to subsections (3), (5) and (7), there is prescribed for the purpose of subsection 142.5(5) of the Act in respect of a taxpayer for a taxation year that ends after October 30, 1994 the amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{A}{1825} \times B$$

where

A is the number of days (other than February 29) in the year that are before the day that is 5 years after the first day of the taxation year of the taxpayer that includes October 31, 1994, and

B is the taxpayer's transition deduction minus the amount, if any, required by subsection (4) or paragraph (6)(b) to be subtracted.

Technical Notes: Subsection 8103(2) prescribes the amount to be included in income each year under subsection 142.5(5) of the Act by a taxpayer that has claimed a transition deduction under subsection 142.5(4). The first taxation year for which an amount is prescribed is the taxation year that includes October 31, 1994. The prescribed amount for a taxation year is given by the formula:

$$\frac{A}{1825} \times B$$

where

A = the number of days in the year that are not more than 5 years after the start of the taxpayer's taxation year that includes October 31, 1994 — February 29th is disregarded for this purpose, and

B = the taxpayer's transition deduction minus the amounts specified by subsection 8103(4) and paragraph 8103(6)(b).

Subsections 8103(3), (5) and (7) contain rules that override the determination of the prescribed amount under subsection 8103(2) when a taxpayer undergoes a reorganization, ceases to be a financial institution or ceases to carry on a business.

(3) Where subsection 88(1) of the Act has applied to the winding-up of a taxpayer (in this subsection referred to as the "subsidiary"),

(a) the value of A in subsection (2) shall be determined in respect of the subsidiary without including any days that are after the day on which the subsidiary's assets were distributed to its parent on the winding-up; and

(b) there is prescribed for the purpose of subsection 142.5(5) of the Act in respect of the parent for its taxation year that includes the day referred to in paragraph (a) the total of

(i) the amount that would be determined under subsection (2) in respect of the parent for the year if the parent's transition deduction did not include the subsidiary's transition deduction, and

(ii) the amount that would be determined under subsection (2) in respect of the parent for the year if

(A) the value of A in that subsection were determined without including the day referred to in paragraph (a) and any days before that day, and

(B) the value of B in that subsection were equal to the subsidiary's transition deduction.

Technical Notes: As noted in the commentary on subsection 8103(1), where a subsidiary is wound up into its parent corporation and subsection 88(1) of the Act applies to the winding-up, the parent will be considered to have deducted the amount deducted by the subsidiary under subsection 142.5(4) of the Act. Thus, this amount will be taken into account in determining the amounts prescribed by subsection 8103(2) in respect of the parent.

Subsection 8103(3) contains additional rules relating to the winding-up of a subsidiary. These rules ensure that no part of the subsidiary's transition deduction is required to be included in both the parent's and the subsidiary's income.

Paragraph 8103(3)(a) provides that the amounts prescribed by subsection 8103(1) for the subsidiary are to be determined ignoring any days after the day on which the subsidiary's assets are distributed to its parent. This rule is relevant only if the subsidiary has a taxation year that ends after the day on which the distribution occurs.

Paragraph 8103(3)(b) prescribes the amount to be included in the parent's income under subsection 142.5(5) of the Act for the taxation year in which it receives the subsidiary's assets. The prescribed amount is equal to the sum of

- the amount that would otherwise be prescribed by subsection 8103(2) if the parent's transition deduction did not include any amount in respect of the subsidiary's transition deduction, and
- the part of the subsidiary's transition deduction that must be recognized in respect of the days in the taxation year after the parent receives the subsidiary's assets.

(4) Where subsection 138(11.5) or (11.94) of the Act has applied to the transfer of an insurance business by an insurer, there shall be subtracted, in determining the value of B in subsection (2) in respect of the insurer for a taxation year that ends after the insurer ceased to carry on all or substantially all of the business, the part of the insurer's transition deduction that is included, because of paragraph 138(11.5)(k) of the Act, in the transition deduction of the person to whom the business was transferred.

Technical Notes: Subsection 8103(4) applies where an insurer has transferred an insurance business to another corporation on a rollover basis pursuant to subsection 138(11.5) or (11.94) of the Act. It provides that after the transfer of the business, the portion of the transferor's transition deduction that is considered a transition deduction of the transferee because of paragraph 138(11.5)(k) of the Act is to be disregarded in determining the amount prescribed by subsection 8103(2) in respect of the transferor. Paragraph 138(11.5)(k) contains a continuity rule for the portion of the transition amount that is reasonably attributable to the transferred business. Since paragraph 138(11.5)(h) of the Act deems the transferor and transferee to have taxation year ends immediately before the business is transferred, special rules are not required for the taxation year of transfer.

(5) Where subsection 98(6) of the Act deems a partnership (in this subsection referred to as the "new partnership") to be a continuation of another partnership (in this subsection referred to as the "predecessor partnership"),

(a) the value of A in subsection (2) shall be determined in respect of the predecessor partnership without including any days that are after the day on which the predecessor partnership's property was transferred to the new partnership; and

(b) there is prescribed for the purpose of subsection 142.5(5) of the Act in respect of the new partnership for its taxation year that includes the day referred to in paragraph (a) the total of

(i) the amount that would be determined under subsection (2) in respect of the new partnership for the year if its transition deduction did not include the predecessor partnership's transition deduction, and

(ii) the amount that would be determined under subsection (2) in respect of the new partnership for the year if

(A) the value of A in that subsection were determined without including the day referred to in paragraph (a) and any days before that day, and

(B) the value of B in that subsection were equal to the predecessor partnership's transition deduction.

Technical Notes: Subsection 8103(5) contains rules that apply where a partnership ceases to exist and another partnership replaces it, in circumstances such that the continuity rule in subsection 98(6) of the Act applies. The rules are similar to those in subsection 8103(3) for the winding-up of a taxpayer into its parent corporation.

(6) Where a taxpayer ceases to carry on all or substantially all of a business, otherwise than as a result of a merger to which subsection 87(2) of the Act applies, a winding-up to which subsection 88(1) of the Act applies or a transfer of the business to which subsection 98(6) or 138(11.5) or (11.94) of the Act applies,

(a) there is prescribed for the purpose of subsection 142.5(5) of the Act in respect of the taxpayer for its taxation year in which the cessation of business occurs, in addition to the amount prescribed by subsection (2), the amount, if any, by which

(i) the part of the taxpayer's transition deduction that can reasonably be attributed to the business

exceeds

(ii) that part of the total of the amounts included under subsection 142.5(5) of the Act in computing the income of the taxpayer for preceding taxation years that can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the amount determined under subparagraph (i); and

(b) there shall be subtracted, in determining the value of B in subsection (2) in respect of the taxpayer for the year or a subsequent taxation year, the amount determined under subparagraph (a)(i).

Technical Notes: Subsection 8103(6) applies where a taxpayer ceases to carry on all or substantially all of a business otherwise than because of a merger, winding-up or transfer of the business to which the rollover rules in subsection 87(2), 88(1), 98(6) or 138(11.5) or (11.94) of the Act apply. In general terms, it accelerates the inclusion in income of the portion of the taxpayer's transition deduction that relates to the business.

Subsection 8103(6) prescribes an amount for inclusion, under subsection 142.5(5) of the Act, in the taxpayer's income for its taxation year in which it ceases to carry on the business. The prescribed amount, which is in addition to the amount prescribed for the year by subsection 8103(2), is equal to the portion of the taxpayer's transition deduction that is attributable to the business minus the amount of that portion that has already been included in the taxpayer's income. Subsection 8103(6) also provides that the portion of the taxpayer's transition deduction that is attributable to the business is to be disregarded in determining the amount prescribed by subsection 8103(2) in respect of the taxpayer for the taxation year in which it ceases to carry on the business and for subsequent taxation years.

(7) Where a taxpayer ceases at any time to be a financial institution otherwise than because it ceases to carry on a business,

(a) there is prescribed for the purpose of subsection 142.5(5) of the Act in respect of the taxpayer for its taxation year that ended immediately before that time, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the taxpayer's transition deduction

exceeds

(ii) the total of the amounts included under subsection 142.5(5) of the Act in computing the taxpayer's income for preceding taxation years; and

(b) the amount prescribed for the purpose of subsection 142.5(5) of the Act in respect of the taxpayer for taxation years after the taxation year referred to in paragraph (a) is nil.

Technical Notes: Subsection 8103(7) applies where a taxpayer ceases to be a financial institution (as defined in subsection 142.2(1) of the Act) otherwise than because it has ceased to carry on a business. This subsection would apply, for example, where a taxpayer ceases to be a financial institution because of a change in control. Subsection 8103(7) requires the taxpayer to include the remaining amount of its transition deduction in income in the taxation year that ends immediately before it ceases to be a financial institution. (There will always be such a taxation year because of paragraph 142.6(1)(a) of the Act.)

8104. Mark-to-market — transition capital loss — (1) In this section,

"excluded property" of a taxpayer means a mark-to-market property of the taxpayer for its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994 where

(a) the taxpayer had a taxable capital gain or an allowable capital loss for the year from the disposition of the property to which section 142 of the Act applied, or

(b) in the case of a taxpayer that was non-resident in the year, the property was a capital property other than a taxable Canadian property;

Technical Notes: Section 8104 prescribes the maximum amount that a taxpayer may claim under subsection 142.5(6) of the Act as an allowable capital loss in respect of the introduction of the mark-to-market requirement.

"Excluded property" of a taxpayer is certain mark-to-market property held by the taxpayer in its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994. This definition is relevant for a taxpayer that is a resident multinational life insurer or a non-resident insurer. In the case of a resident multinational life insurer, excluded property is capital property disposed of by the insurer in the year that was used by the insurer in a foreign insurance business. Excluded property of a non-resident insurer is capital property that is not taxable Canadian property (as defined in subsection 115(1) of the Act). Taxable capital gains and allowable capital losses from excluded property are disregarded in determining the insurer's income.

"mark-to-market property" has the meaning assigned by subsection 142.2(1) of the Act.

Technical Notes: "Mark-to-market property" of a taxpayer has the meaning given by subsection 142.2(1) of the Act. In general terms, it comprises most shares held by the taxpayer and debt obligations that are marked to market for financial statement purposes.

(2) For the purpose of subsection 142.5(6) of the Act, the prescribed amount for a taxpayer's taxation year that includes October 31, 1994 is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital gain of the taxpayer for the year from the disposition, because of subsection 142.5(2) of the Act, of a property other than an excluded property

exceeds the total of

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the allowable capital loss of the taxpayer for the year from the disposition, because of subsection 142.5(2) of the Act, of a property other than an excluded property, and

(c) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the allowable capital loss of the taxpayer for the year from the disposition of a mark-to-market property (other than an excluded property or a property disposed of because of subsection 142.5(2) of the Act)

exceeds

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is the taxable capital gain of the taxpayer for the year from the disposition of a mark-to-market property (other than an excluded property or a property disposed of because of subsection 142.5(2) of the Act).

Technical Notes: Subsection 142.5(6) of the Act contains a transition rule in respect of the introduction of the requirement that certain property be marked to market for tax purposes. It permits a taxpayer to claim, for its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994, an allowable capital loss not exceeding a prescribed amount. Subsection 8104(2) prescribes the following maximum amount for this purpose:

- the taxpayer's total taxable capital gains from the disposition of mark-to-market properties (other than excluded properties, as defined in subsection 8101(1)) that the mark-to-market rules deem the taxpayer to have disposed of in the year

- the taxpayer's total allowable capital losses from the disposition of mark-to-market properties (other than excluded properties) that the mark-to-market rules deem the taxpayer to have disposed of in the year, and
- the taxpayer's net allowable capital losses (i.e., allowable capital losses minus taxable capital gains) from actual dispositions in the year of mark-to-market properties (other than excluded properties) and from deemed dispositions of such properties otherwise than because of the mark-to-market rules.

8105. Mark-to-market — transition capital gains — (1) In this section, "transition loss" of a taxpayer means the amount elected by the taxpayer under subsection 142.5(6) of the Act to be an allowable capital loss of the taxpayer for its taxation year that includes October 31, 1994.

Technical Notes: Section 8105 applies where a taxpayer has elected to claim an allowable capital loss under subsection 142.5(6) of the Act in respect of the introduction of the mark-to-market requirement. It prescribes the amount that is deemed by subsection 142.5(7) of the Act to be a taxable capital gain for each year. Generally, the prescribed amount for a year is a proportionate amount of the allowable capital loss that was claimed, based on a 5-year transition period.

Subsection 8105(1) defines the "transition loss" of a taxpayer to be the amount claimed by the taxpayer under subsection 142.5(6) of the Act as an allowable capital loss for the taxation year that includes October 31, 1994. The commentary on subsection 8103(1) regarding the effect of various restructurings on the "transition deduction" also applies to the transition loss.

(2) There is prescribed for the purpose of subsection 142.5(7) of the Act in respect of a taxpayer for a taxation year that ends after October 30, 1994 the amounts that would be prescribed in respect of the taxpayer for the year by section 8103 if the references in subsections 8103(2) to (7) to

(a) "subsection 142.5(5)" were read as "subsection 142.5(7)", and

(b) "transition deduction" were read as "transition loss (as defined in subsection 8105(1))".

Technical Notes: Subsection 8105(2) provides that prescribed amounts are determined using the rules in section 8103. For this purpose, the references in that section to "transition deduction" are replaced by "transition loss" and to "142.5(5)" are replaced by "142.5(7)". For information on section 8103, see the commentary on that provision.

Application: The June 1, 1995 draft regulations (securities held by financial institutions), s. 8, will add ss. 8102 to 8105, applicable to taxation years that end after October 30, 1994.

Regulatory Impact Analysis Statement: Permanent Establishment

Section 8201 defines the meaning of "permanent establishment" for the purposes of various provisions in the Act. This section is amended to prescribe the meaning of "permanent establishment" to various amended provisions including the ones relevant to the taxation regime of foreign bank branches.

(a) where the person carries on business through an employee or agent, established in a particular place, who has general authority to contract for the person or who has a stock of merchandise owned by the person from which the employee or agent regularly fills orders, the person shall be deemed to have a permanent establishment at that place,

(b) where the person is an insurance corporation, the person is deemed to have a permanent establishment in each country in which the person is registered or licensed to do business,

(c) where the person uses substantial machinery or equipment at a particular place at any time in a taxation year, the person shall be deemed to have a permanent establishment at that place,

(d) the fact that the person has business dealings through a commission agent, broker or other independent agent or maintains an office solely for the purchase of merchandise shall not of itself be held to mean that the person has a permanent establishment, and

(e) where the person is a corporation, the fact that the person has a subsidiary controlled corporation at a place or a subsidiary controlled corporation engaged in trade or business at a place shall not of itself be held to mean that the person is operating a permanent establishment at that place, except that, where the person is resident in a country with which the Government of Canada has concluded an agreement or convention for the avoidance of double taxation that has the force of law in Canada and in which the expression "permanent establishment" is given a particular meaning, that meaning shall apply.

8201.1 [Repealed]

History: S. 8201.1 repealed by P.C. 2000-183, subsec. 5(2), February 17, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 1, 2000, applicable to 1995 et seq. For the period from December 5, 1985 through the 1994 taxation year, read:

8201.1 For the purpose of subsection 206(1.3) of the Act, "permanent establishment" of a corporation means a fixed place of business of the corporation, including an office, a branch, a mine, an oil well, a farm, a timberland, a factory, a workshop or a warehouse and, where the corporation does not have any fixed place of business, the principal place at which the corporation's business is conducted, and

(a) where the corporation carries on business through an employee or agent, established in a particular place, who has general authority to contract for the corporation or who has a stock of merchandise owned by the corporation from which the employee or agent regularly fills orders, the corporation shall be deemed to have a permanent establishment at that place,

(b) where the corporation is an insurance corporation, the corporation is deemed to have a permanent establishment in each country in which the corporation is registered or licensed to do business,

(c) where the corporation uses substantial machinery or equipment at a particular place at any time in a taxation year, the corporation shall be deemed to have a permanent establishment at that place,

(d) the fact that the corporation has business dealings through a commission agent, broker or other independent agent or maintains an office solely for the purchase of merchandise shall not of itself be held to mean that the corporation has a permanent establishment, and

(e) the fact that the corporation has a subsidiary controlled corporation at a place or a subsidiary controlled corporation engaged in trade or business at a place shall not of itself be held to mean that the corporation is operating a permanent establishment at that place, except that, where the corporation is resident in a country with which the Government of Canada has concluded an agreement or convention for the avoidance of double taxation that has the force of law in Canada and in which the expression "permanent establishment" is given a particular meaning, that meaning shall apply.

S. 8201.1 added by P.C. 2000-183, subsec. 5(1), February 17, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 1, 2000, applicable after December 4, 1985.

Proposed Addition — 8202

8202. (1) ["Permanent establishment"] — For the purposes of the definition "investment business" in subsection 95(1), and of subparagraph 95(2)(l)(iii) and paragraphs 95(2.3)(b) and (2.4)(a), of the Act, a "permanent establishment" of a person or partnership (which person or partnership is referred to in this subsection and subsection (3) as the "person") means

(a) a fixed place of business of the person, including an office, a branch, a mine, an oil well, a farm, a timberland, a factory, a workshop or a warehouse; or

(b) if the person does not have any fixed place of business, the principal place at which the person's business is conducted.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8201 — Definition of PE for other purposes; Reg. 8202(2) — Tax treaty definition takes priority; Reg. 8202(3) — Interpretation.

(2) [Tax treaty definition overrides] — Notwithstanding subsection (1), for the purposes of the definition "investment business" in subsection 95(1), and of subparagraph 95(2)(l)(iii) and paragraphs 95(2.3)(b) and (2.4)(a), of the Act, a "permanent establishment" of a person or partnership (which person or partnership is referred to in this subsection as the "person") has the meaning given to the expression "permanent establishment" in an agreement or a convention for the avoidance of double taxation that the Government of Canada has concluded with a country and that has the force of law in Canada if the person is a resident of that country for the purpose of the agreement or convention.

(3) [Permanent establishment — interpretation] — For the purpose of subsection (1),

(a) if a person carries on business through an employee or agent, established in a particular place, who has general authority to contract for the person or who has a stock of merchandise owned by the person from which the employee or agent regularly fills orders, the person is deemed to have a fixed place of business at that place,

(b) if a person is an insurance corporation, the person is deemed to have a fixed place of business in each country in which the person is registered or licensed to do business,

(c) if a person uses substantial machinery or equipment at a particular place at any time in a taxation year, the person is deemed to have a fixed place of business at that place,

(d) the fact that a person has business dealings through a commission agent, broker or other independent agent or maintains an office solely for the purchase of merchandise at a particular place does not of itself mean that the person has a fixed place of business at that place, and

(e) the fact that a corporation has a subsidiary controlled corporation at a place or a subsidiary controlled corporation engaged in trade or business at a place does not of itself mean that the corporation is operating a fixed place of business at that place.

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (prescribed properties and permanent establishments), s. 1, will add s. 8202, applicable to 1999 et seq. However, if the taxpayer has made a valid "Global Section 95 Election" under subsec. 133(68) of the amending legislation [see the Application and Technical Notes to ITA 95(2)(a)], to 1994 et seq.

Technical Notes: Part LXXXII of the Regulations prescribes property, and defines the expression "permanent establishment", for various purposes of the Act.

The Regulations are being amended to add new section 8202.

New subsection 8202(1) defines the term "permanent establishment" of a person or partnership for the purposes of the definition "investment business" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, paragraph 95(2)(f)(iii) of the Act, and paragraphs 95(2.3)(b) and (2.4)(a) of the Act to mean

- a fixed place of business of a person or partnership, including an office, a branch, a mine, an oil well, a farm, a timberland, a factory, a workshop or a warehouse, or
- where the person or partnership does not have any fixed place of business, the principal place at which the business of the person or partnership is conducted.

New subsection 8202(2) provides that the definition of permanent establishment in a tax treaty that Canada has with a foreign country takes precedence over subsection 8202(1) if the person or partnership is resident in that foreign country.

New subsection 8202(3) provides other rules for the purposes of determining if a fixed place of business exists for the purposes of subsection 8202(1).

New section 8202 applies to the 1999 and subsequent taxation years. However, where the taxpayer has made a valid Global Section 95 Election, new subsection 8202 applies to 1994 and subsequent taxation years. For information about the Global Section 95 Election, see the beginning of the commentary to section 95 of the Act.

PART LXXXIII — PENSION ADJUSTMENTS, PAST SERVICE PENSION ADJUSTMENTS, PENSION ADJUSTMENT REVERSALS AND PRESCRIBED AMOUNTS

History: The heading to Part LXXXIII amended by P.C. 1998-2256, s. 3, December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1996.

The heading to Part LXXXIII amended by P.C. 1996-911, s. 5, June 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 10, 1996, applicable after 1991. The heading formerly read: Pension Adjustments and Past Service Pension Adjustments.

Part LXXXIII (ss. 8300–8311) added by P.C. 1991-2540, s. 7, December 16, 1991, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 15, 1992, applicable after 1989, except that

(a) in its application in respect of amounts paid to pension plans before 1991, the definition "excluded contribution" in subsec. 8300(1) shall be read as follows:

"excluded contribution" to a registered pension plan means an amount paid to the plan that is

(a) transferred to the plan in accordance with any of subsections 146(16), 147(19) and 147.3(1) to (7) of the Act, or

(b) deductible, as a consequence of the payment, under paragraph 60(j) or (j.1) of the Act in computing the income of a taxpayer for a taxation year;

(b) before 1991, subsecs. 8301(2) and (3) shall be read without reference to the expression "and subsection 147(5.1) of the Act";

(c) subsec. 8307(6) is applicable after 1990; and

(d) subsec. 8307(7) is applicable to 1991 et seq.

8300. Interpretation — (1) In this Part,

"certifiable past service event", with respect to an individual means a past service event that is required, by reason of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act, to be disregarded, in whole or in part, in determining the benefits to be paid under a registered pension plan with respect to the individual until a certification of the Minister in respect of the event has been obtained;

"complete period of reduced services" of an individual means a period of reduced services of the individual that is not part of a longer period of reduced services of the individual;

"excluded contribution" to a registered pension plan means an amount that is transferred to the plan in accordance with any of subsections 146(16), 147(19), 147.3(1) to (4) and 147.3(5) to (7) of the Act;

Proposed Amendment — 8300(1)"excluded contribution"

"excluded contribution" to a registered pension plan means an amount that is transferred to the plan in accordance with any of subsections 146(16), 146.3(14.1), 147(19), 147.3(1) to (4) and 147.3(5) to (7) of the Act;

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), s. 6, will amend the definition "excluded contribution" in subsec. 8300(1) to read as above, applicable after 2003.

Technical Notes: Certain amounts transferred to an RPP are defined in subsection 8300(1) to be "excluded contributions". An excluded contribution is disregarded in determining pension credits under a money purchase provision or under a defined benefit provision of a specified multi-employer plan.

The definition is amended to add to the list of excluded contributions an amount that was transferred to an RPP in accordance with new subsection 146.3(14.1) of the Act. Subsection 146.3(14.1) permits the direct transfer of an amount from an annuitant's RRIF to a money purchase provision of an RPP for the benefit of the annuitant, provided the annuitant was previously a member of the RPP.

History: "Excluded contribution" amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 1(1), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable with respect to transfers occurring after 1990.

Definition "excluded contribution" added by P.C. 1991-2540, s. 7, December 16, 1991, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 15, 1992, applicable after 1989, except that in its application in respect of amounts paid to pension plans before 1991, the definition shall be read as follows:

> "excluded contribution" to a registered pension plan means an amount paid to the plan that is
>
> (a) transferred to the plan in accordance with any of subsections 146(16), 147(19) and 147.3(1) to (7) of the Act, or
> (b) deductible, as a consequence of the payment, under paragraph 60(j) or (j.1) of the Act in computing the income of a taxpayer for a taxation year;

"flat benefit provision" of a pension plan means a defined benefit provision of the plan under which the amount of lifetime retirement benefits provided to each member is based on the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the product of a fixed rate and either the duration of service of the member or the number of units of output of the member, and, for the purposes of this definition, where

(a) the amount of lifetime retirement benefits provided under a defined benefit provision to each member is subject to a limit based on the remuneration received by the member, and

(b) the limit may reasonably be considered to be included to ensure that the amount of lifetime retirement benefits provided to each member does not exceed the maximum amount of such benefits that may be provided by a registered pension plan, the limit shall be disregarded for the purpose of determining whether the provision is a flat benefit provision;

"member", in relation to a deferred profit sharing plan or a benefit provision of a registered pension plan, means an individual who has a right (either immediate or in the future and either absolute or contingent) to receive benefits under the plan or the provision, as the case may be, other than an individual who has such a right only because of the participation of another individual in the plan or under the provision, as the case may be;

History: The definition "member" added to subsec. 8300(1) by P.C.1998-2256, subsec. 4(1), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1989.

"PA offset" for a calendar year means

(a) for years before 1997, $1,000, and

(b) for years after 1996, $600;

History: The definition "PA offset" added to subsec. 8300(1) by P.C.1998-2256, subsec. 4(1), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1989.

"past service event" means any transaction, event or circumstance that occurs after 1989 and as a consequence of which

(a) retirement benefits become provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a pension plan in respect of a period before the time that the transaction, event or circumstance occurs,

(b) there is a change to the way in which retirement benefits provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a pension plan in respect of a period before the time that the transaction, event or circumstance occurs are determined, including a change that is applicable only in specified circumstances, or

(c) there is a change in the value of an indexing or other automatic adjustment that enters into the determination of the amount of an individual's retirement benefits under a defined benefit provision of a pension plan in respect of a period before the time that the value of the adjustment changes;

Related Provisions: Reg. 8300(2) — Definition applies to ITA 147.1(1).

"period of reduced services" of an individual means, in connection with a defined benefit or money purchase provision of a registered pension plan, a period that consists of one or more periods each of which is

(a) an eligible period of reduced pay or temporary absence of the individual with respect to an employer who participates under the provision, or

(b) a period of disability of the individual;

"refund benefit" means

(a) with respect to an individual and a money purchase or defined benefit provision of a pension plan, a return of contributions made by the individual under the provision, and

(b) with respect to an individual and a deferred profit sharing plan, a return of contributions made by the individual to the plan, and includes any interest (computed at a rate not exceeding a reasonable rate) payable in respect of those contributions;

"resident compensation" of an individual from an employer for a calendar year means the amount that would be the individual's compensation from the employer for the year if the definition "compensation" in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraphs (b) and (c) of that definition.

History: The definition "resident compensation" added to subsec. 8300(1) by P.C.1998-2256, subsec. 4(1), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1989.

(2) The definition "past service event" in subsection (1) is applicable for the purposes of subsection 147.1(1) of the Act.

(3) All words and expressions used in this Part that are defined in sections 147 or 147.1 of the Act or in Part LXXXV have the meanings assigned in those provisions unless a definition in this Part is applicable.

(4) For the purposes of this Part, an officer who receives remuneration for holding an office shall, for any period that the officer holds the office, be deemed to render services to, and to be in the service of, the person from whom the officer receives the remuneration.

(5) For the purposes of this Part (other than the definition "member" in subsection (1)), where an individual has received an interest in an annuity contract in full or partial satisfaction of the individual's entitlement to benefits under a defined benefit provision of a pension plan, any rights of the individual under the contract are deemed to be rights under the defined benefit provision.

History: Subsec. 8300(5) amended by P.C.1998-2256, subsec. 4(2), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1989.

(6) For the purposes of this Part and subsection 147.1(10) of the Act, and subject to subsection 8308(1), the following rules apply in respect of the determination of the benefits that are provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a pension plan at a particular time:

(a) where a term of the defined benefit provision, or an amendment to a term of the provision, is not applicable with respect to the individual before a specified date, the term shall be considered to have been added to the provision, or the amendment shall be considered to have been made to the term, on the specified date;

(b) where an alteration to the benefits provided to the individual is conditional on the requirements of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act being met, those requirements shall be assumed to have been met;

(c) benefits that will be reinstated if the individual returns to employment with an employer who participates in the plan shall be considered not to be provided until the individual returns to employment; and

(d) where benefits under the provision depend on the individual's job category or other circumstances, the only benefits provided to the individual are the benefits that are relevant to the individual's circumstances at the particular time.

(7) For the purposes of subsections 8301(3) and (8), paragraph 8302(3)(c), subsections 8302(5) and 8304(5) and (5.1), paragraphs 8304.1(10)(c) and (11)(c), subparagraph 8306(4)(a)(ii) and subsection 8308(3), the benefits to which an individual is entitled at any time under a deferred profit sharing plan or pension plan include benefits to which the individual has only a contingent right because a condition for the vesting of the benefits has not been satisfied.

History: Subsec. 8300(7) amended by P.C.1998-2256, subsec. 4(3), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1989.

(8) For the purposes of this Part, such portion of an amount allocated to an individual at any time under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan as

(a) is attributable to

(i) forfeited amounts under the provision or earnings of the plan that are reasonably attributable to those amounts,

(ii) a surplus under the provision,

(iii) property transferred to the provision in respect of the actuarial surplus under a defined benefit provision of the plan or another registered pension plan, or

(iv) property transferred to the provision in respect of the surplus under another money purchase provision of the plan or under a money purchase provision of another registered pension plan, and

(b) can reasonably be considered to be allocated in lieu of a contribution that would otherwise have been made under the provision by an employer in respect of the individual shall be deemed to be a contribution made under the provision by the employer with respect to the individual at that time and not to be an amount attributable to anything referred to in paragraph (a).

Subsec. 8300(8) added by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 1(2), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable with respect to amounts allocated after April 5, 1994.

(9) For the purposes of this Part and Part LXXXV, where property held in connection with a particular benefit provision of a pension plan is made available at any time to pay benefits under another benefit provision of the plan, the property is deemed to be transferred at that time from the particular benefit provision to the other benefit provision.

History: Subsec. 8300(9) added by P.C.1998-2256, subsec. 4(4), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1989.

(10) For the purposes of this Part and Parts LXXXIV and LXXXV, and subject to subsection (11), an individual is considered to have terminated from a deferred profit sharing plan or a benefit provision of a registered pension plan when the individual has ceased to be a member in relation to the plan or the provision, as the case may be.

History: Subsec. 8300(10) added by P.C.1998-2256, subsec. 4(4), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1989.

(11) Where the benefits provided with respect to an individual under a particular defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan depend on benefits provided with respect to the individual under one or more other defined benefit provisions of registered pension plans (each of the particular provision and the other provisions being referred to in this subsection as a "related provision"), for the purposes of this Part and Parts LXXXIV and LXXXV,

(a) if the individual ceases, at any particular time after 1996, to be a member in relation to a specific related provision and is, at the particular time, a member in relation to another related provision, the individual is deemed

(i) not to terminate from the specific provision at the particular time, and

(ii) to terminate from the specific provision at the earliest subsequent time when the individual is no longer a member in relation to any of the related provisions;

(b) if the conditions in subsection 8304.1(14) (read without reference to the words "after 1996 and") are not satisfied with respect to the individual's termination from a related provision, the conditions in that subsection are deemed not to be satisfied with respect to the individual's termination from each of the other related provisions; and

(c) a specified distribution (as defined in subsection 8304.1(8)) made at any particular time in respect of the individual and a related provision is deemed, for the purpose of subsection 8304.1(5), also to be a specified distribution made at the particular time in respect of the individual and each of the other related provisions, except to the extent that the Minister has waived the application of this paragraph with respect to the distribution.

History: Subsec. 8300(11) added by P.C.1998-2256, subsec. 4(4), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1989.

(12) For the purposes of this Part, where

(a) all or any part of the amounts payable to an individual under a deferred profit sharing plan are paid by a trustee under the plan to a licensed annuities provider to purchase for the individual an annuity described in subparagraph 147(2)(k)(vi) of the Act, or

(b) an individual has acquired, in full or partial satisfaction of the individual's entitlement to benefits under a benefit provision of a registered pension plan (other than benefits to which the individual was entitled only because of the participation of another individual under the provision), an interest in an annuity contract (other than as a consequence of a transfer of property from the provision to a registered retirement savings plan or a registered retirement income fund under which the individual is the annuitant), the individual is deemed to continue, from the time of the payment or acquisition, as the case may be, until the individual's death, to be a member in relation to the plan or provision, as the case may be.

(2) Pension credit — deferred profit sharing plan — For the purposes of subsection (1) and Part LXXXV and subsection 147(5.1) of the Act, and subject to subsections (3) and 8304(2), an individual's pension credit for a calendar year with respect to an employer under a deferred profit sharing plan is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is

(a) a contribution made to the plan in the year by the employer with respect to the individual, or

(b) such portion of an amount allocated in the year to the individual as is attributable to forfeited amounts under the plan and earnings of the plan in respect thereof, except to the extent that such portion is

(i) included in determining the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to any other employer who participates in the plan,

(ii) paid to the individual in the year, or

(iii) where the year is 1990, attributable to amounts forfeited before 1990 or earnings of the plan in respect thereof, except that, where the year is before 1990, the individual's pension credit is nil.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 8301(2), (2.1)

8301. Pension credit — deferred profit sharing plan — (2) For the purposes of subsection (1) and Part LXXXV and subsection 147(5.1) of the Act, and subject to subsection 8304(2), an individual's pension credit for a calendar year with respect to an employer under a deferred profit sharing plan is the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is

(a) a contribution made to the plan in the year by the employer with respect to the individual, or

(b) the portion of an amount allocated in the year to the individual that is attributable to forfeited amounts under the plan or to earnings of the plan

in respect of forfeited amounts, except to the extent that the portion

(i) is included in determining the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to any other employer who participates in the plan, or

(ii) is paid to the individual in the year; and

B is nil, unless the conditions in subsection (2.1) are satisfied, in which case it is the total referred to in paragraph (2.1)(b).

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(2.1) Conditions re — description of B in subsec. (2) — The following are conditions for the purpose of the description of B in subsection (2):

(a) the total of all amounts, each of which would be the individual's pension credit for the calendar year with respect to the employer under a deferred profit sharing plan if the description of B in subsection (2) were read as "is nil.", is

(i) equal to, or less than, 50% of the money purchase limit for the year,

(ii) greater than 18% of the amount that would be the individual's compensation from the employer for the year if the definition "compensation" in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraph (b) of that definition, and

(iii) equal to, or less than, 18% of the amount that would be the individual's compensation from the employer for the preceding year if the definition "compensation" in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraph (b) of that definition; and

(b) the total of all amounts, each of which is an amount that is paid from the plan to the individual or the employer in the calendar year or in the first two months of the following year that can reasonably be considered to derive from an amount included in the value of A in subsection (2) with respect to the individual and the employer for the year, is greater than nil.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8301(15) — Transferred amounts deemed not paid.

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix I, DPSPs), subsec. 1(1), will amend subsec. 8301(2) to read as above and add subsec. (2.1), applicable to the determination of pension credits for the 2002 and subsequent calendar years.

Technical Notes: Subsection 147(5.1) of the Act sets out various limits for deferred profit sharing plans (DPSPs). The most significant limit, in terms of this amendment to subsection 8301(2) of the Income Tax Regulations, is the one in paragraph 147(5.1)(a). In general terms, that paragraph requires that an individual's total DPSP pension credits for a year in respect of an employer not exceed the lesser of: (i) 18% of the individual's compensation from the employer for the year; and (ii) 1/2 of the money purchase limit for the year. For this purpose, "compensation" and "money purchase limit" are generally as defined in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act. If these limits are exceeded, the registration of the plan can be revoked and the employer is denied a deduction for all contributions made in the year, except as expressly permitted in writing by the Minister of National Revenue.

Subsection 8301(2) of the Regulations defines the pension credit of an individual for a calendar year in respect of an employer under a DPSP to be the total of:

- all contributions made to the plan by the employer in the year in respect of the individual; and
- forfeited amounts under the plan, and investment earnings attributable to those amounts, that are reallocated in the year to the individual (and not paid out of the plan to the individual in the year).

It is common practice for an employer to make contributions to a DPSP only after its fiscal year-end, since this is when profits are determined. This can often result in employer contributions being made based (in whole or in part) on employees' earnings in the previous calendar year, but being included in the employees' pension credits for the current calendar year. This will in turn give rise to excess DPSP contributions if an employee's compensation for the current year is for some reason insufficient to support the pension credit. This could occur, for example, where the contributions are made early in the year and the employee goes on leave without pay later in the year.

The proposed amendment to subsection 8301(2) provides a mechanism to deal with over- contributions that arise in these situations. It allows the over-contributions to be ignored for purposes of determining an individual's DPSP pension credit, provided the excess is refunded from the plan in the year or before the end of February of the following year. The amendment also applies to provide relief in similar over-contribution situations, involving employees who terminate employment, that were previously dealt with by repealed subsection 147(5.11) of the Act.

More specifically, amended subsection 8301(2) provides that an individual's pension credit for a calendar year in respect of an employer under a DPSP is the amount determined by the following formula

$$A - B$$

Variable A in the formula is the total employer contributions and forfeited amounts made or reallocated in the year in respect of the individual. This amount corresponds to the pension credit determined under former subsection 8301(2).

Variable B is relevant only where the total employer contributions and forfeited amounts made or reallocated in the year with respect to the individual would not otherwise satisfy the DPSP contribution limit in paragraph 147(5.1)(a), but would have satisfied that limit if it had been based on the individual's compensation for the previous calendar year. (These conditions are set out in new subsection 8301(2.1).) In this case, variable B is equal to the total of all payments made from the plan to the individual or the employer in the year or in the first two months of the following year, to the extent that the payments can be considered to derive from amounts included in determining the value of A.

Example

An employer makes a DPSP contribution for its employees in March 2003 based on profits for its fiscal period that ended on January 31, 2003. $5,000 of the contribution is allocated to Isaac, who earned $60,000 in 2002. Isaac takes a one-year unpaid leave of absence starting in April 2003, after having earned $15,000 in the first three months of 2003. To avoid exceeding the DPSP contribution limits in subsection 147(5.1), the DPSP trustee refunds the $2,300 excess amount ($5,000 – 18% of $15,000) to the employer in February 2004.

Isaac's pension credit for 2003 is $2,700 ($5,000 contribution – $2,300 refund).

Subsection 8301(15) of the Regulations provides that an amount is not considered to be paid to an individual if it is transferred directly to a DPSP, registered pension plan (RPP), registered retirement savings plan (RRSP) or registered retirement income fund (RRIF). Thus, such a transfer from a DPSP will not be included in determining the value of B and consequently will not reduce the individual's pension credit under the DPSP.

(3) Non-vested termination from DPSP — For the purposes of subsection (1) and Part LXXXV and subsection 147(5.1) of the Act, where

(a) an individual ceased in a calendar year after 1989 and before 1997 to be employed by an employer who participated in a deferred profit sharing plan for the benefit of the individual,

(b) as a consequence of the termination of employment, the individual ceased in the year to have any rights to benefits (other than a right to a refund benefit) under the plan,

(c) the individual was not entitled to benefits under the plan at the end of the year, or was entitled only to a refund benefit, and

(d) no benefit has been paid under the plan with respect to the individual, other than a refund benefit, the individual's pension credit under the plan for the year with respect to the employer is nil.

(4) Pension credit — money purchase provision — For the purposes of subsection (1) and Part LXXXV and subsection 147.1(9) of the Act, and subject to subsections (4.1) and (8) and 8304(2), an individual's pension credit for a calendar year with respect to an employer under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan is the total of all amounts each of which is

(a) a contribution (other than an additional voluntary contribution made by the individual in 1990, an excluded contribution or a contribution described in paragraph 8308(6)(e) or (g)) made under the provision in the year by

(i) the individual, except to the extent that the contribution was not made in connection with the individual's employment with the employer and is included in determining the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to any other employer who participates in the plan, or

(ii) the employer with respect to the individual, or

(b) such portion of an amount allocated in the year to the individual as is attributable to

(i) forfeited amounts under the provision or earnings of the plan in respect thereof,

(ii) a surplus under the provision,

(ii.1) property transferred to the provision in respect of the actuarial surplus under a defined benefit provision of the plan or another registered pension plan, or

(ii.2) property transferred to the provision in respect of the surplus under another money purchase provision of the plan or under a money purchase provision of another registered pension plan, except to the extent that that portion is

(iii) included in determining the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to any other employer who participates in the plan,

(iv) paid to the individual in the year, or

(v) where the year is 1990, attributable to amounts forfeited before 1990 or earnings of the plan in respect thereof, except that the individual's pension credit is nil where the year is before 1990, and, for the purposes of this subsection, the plan administrator shall determine the portion of a contribution made by an individual or an amount allocated to the individual that is to be included in determining the individual's pension credit with respect to each employer.

(5) Pension credit — defined benefit provision of a specified multi-employer plan — For the purposes of this Part and Part LXXXV and subsection 147.1(9) of the Act, an individual's pension credit for a calendar year with respect to an employer under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan that is, in the year, a specified multi-employer plan is the aggregate of

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a contribution (other than an excluded contribution) made under the provision by the individual

(i) in the year, in respect of

(A) the year, or

(B) a plan year ending in the year (other than in respect of such portion of a plan year as is before 1990), or

(ii) in January of the year (other than in January 1990) in respect of the immediately preceding calendar year, except to the extent that the contribution was not made in connection with the individual's employment with the employer and is included in determining the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to any other employer who participates in the plan,

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a contribution made in the year by the employer in respect of the provision, to the extent that the contribution may reasonably be considered to be determined by reference to the number of hours worked by the individual or some other measure that is specific to the individual, and

(c) the amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{A}{B} \times (C - B)$$

where

A is the amount determined under paragraph (b) for the purpose of computing the individual's pension credit,

B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount determined under paragraph (b) for the purpose of computing the pension credit of an individual for the year with respect to the employer under the provision, and

C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a contribution made in the year by the employer in respect of the provision, except that, where the year is before 1990, the individual's pension credit is nil.

(6) Pension credit — defined benefit provision — Subject to subsections (7), (8) and (10) and sections 8304 and 8308, for the purposes of this Part and Part LXXXV and subsection 147.1(9) of the Act, an individual's pension credit for a calendar year with respect to an employer under a defined benefit provision of a particular registered pension plan (other than a plan that is, in the year, a specified multi-employer plan) is

(a) if the year is after 1989, the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is 9 times the individual's benefit entitlement under the provision with respect to the employer and the year, and

B is the amount, if any, by which the PA offset for the year exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is the value of B determined under this paragraph for the purpose of computing the individual's pension credit for the year

(i) with respect to the employer under any other defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan,

(ii) with respect to any other employer who at any time in the year does not deal at arm's length with the employer, under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan, or

(iii) with respect to any other employer under a defined benefit provision of the particular plan; and

(b) if the year is before 1990, nil.

(7) Pension credit — defined benefit provision of a multi-employer plan — Where a registered pension plan is a multi-employer plan (other than a specified multi-employer plan) in a calendar year, the following rules apply, except to the extent that the Minister has waived in writing their application in respect of the plan, for the purpose of determining the pension credit of an individual for the year under a defined benefit provision of the plan:

(a) where the individual is employed in the year by more than one participating employer, the pension credit of the individual for the year under the provision with respect to a particular employer shall be determined as if the individual were not employed by any other participating employer;

(b) the description of B in paragraph (6)(a) shall be read as

"B is the amount determined by the formula

$$(C \times D) - E$$

where

C is the PA offset for the year,

D is

(i) where the member rendered services on a full-time basis throughout the year to the employer, one, and

(ii) in any other case, the fraction (not greater than one) that measures the services that, for the purpose of determining the member's lifetime retirement benefits under the provision, the member is treated as having rendered in the year to the employer, expressed as a proportion of the services that would have been rendered by the member in the year to the employer if the member had rendered services to the employer on a full-time basis throughout the year, and

E is the total of all amounts each of which is the value of B determined under this paragraph for the purpose of computing the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to the employer under any other defined benefit provision of the plan; and";

(c) where a period in the year is a period of reduced services of the individual, the pension credit of the individual for the year under the provision with respect to each participating employer shall be determined as the aggregate of

(i) the pension credit that would be determined if no benefits (other than benefits attributable to services rendered by the individual) had accrued to the individual in respect of periods of reduced services, and

(ii) the pension credit that would be determined if the only benefits that had accrued to the individual were benefits in respect of periods of reduced services, other than benefits attributable to services rendered by the individual during such periods; and

(d) subsection (10) shall not apply.

(8) Non-vested termination from RPP — For the purposes of this Part and Part LXXXV and subsection 147.1(9) of the Act, and subject to subsection (9), where

(a) an individual ceased in a calendar year after 1989 and before 1997 to be employed by an employer who participated in a registered pension plan for the benefit of the individual,

(b) as a consequence of the termination of employment, the individual ceased in the year to have any rights to benefits (other than a right to a refund benefit) under a money purchase or defined benefit provision of the plan,

(c) the individual was not entitled to benefits under the provision at the end of the year, or was entitled only to a refund benefit, and

(d) no benefit has been paid under the provision with respect to the individual, other than a refund benefit, the individual's pension credit under the provision for the year with respect to the employer is

(e) where the provision is a money purchase provision, the total of all amounts each of which is a contribution (other than an additional voluntary contribution made by the individual in 1990, an excluded contribution or a contribution described in paragraph 8308(6)(e)) made under the provision in the year by the individual, except to the extent that the contribution was not made in connection with the individual's employment with the employer and is included in determining the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to any other employer who participates in the plan, and

(f) where the provision is a defined benefit provision, the lesser of

(i) the pension credit that would be determined if this subsection were not applicable, and

(ii) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a contribution (other than an excluded contribution) made under the provision by the individual in, and in respect of, the year, except to the extent that the contribution was not made in connection with the individual's employment with the employer and is included in determining the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to any other employer who participates in the plan.

(9) Multi-employer plans — Subsection (8) is not applicable in respect of a registered pension plan that is a multi-employer plan in a calendar year except, where

(a) the plan is not a specified multi-employer plan in the year;

(b) if the plan contains a defined benefit provision, the Minister has waived in writing the application of paragraph (7)(b) in respect of the plan for the year; and

(c) the Minister has approved in writing the application of subsection (8) in respect of the plan for the year.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-124R6: Contributions to registered retirement savings plans.

(10) Transition rule — money purchase offsets — Where,

(a) throughout the period beginning on January 1, 1981 and ending on December 31 of a particular calendar year after 1989 and before 2000, there has been subtracted, in determining the amount of lifetime retirement benefits under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan (other than a specified multi-employer plan), the amount of lifetime retirement benefits under a money purchase provision of the plan or of another registered pension plan,

(b) lifetime retirement benefits under the defined benefit provision are determined, at the end of the particular year, in substantially the same manner as they were determined at the end of 1989, and

(c) for each individual and each calendar year before 1990, the amount of employer contributions made under the money purchase provision for the year with respect to the individual did not exceed $3,500, the pension credit of an individual for the particular year with respect to an employer under the defined benefit provision is equal to the amount, if any, by which

(d) the amount that would, but for this subsection, be the individual's pension credit

exceeds

(e) the lesser of

(i) $2,500, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

$$\frac{1}{10} \times [A - (B \times C)]$$

where

A is the balance in the individual's account under the money purchase provision at the end of 1989,

B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the duration (measured in years, including any fraction of a year) of a period ending before 1990 that is pensionable service of the individual under the defined benefit provision and that is not part of a longer period ending before 1990 that is pensionable service of the individual under the provision, and

C is the amount that would be the individual's pension credit for 1989 with respect to the employer under the defined benefit provision if subsection (6) were read without reference to the words "if the year is after 1989" in paragraph (6)(a) and without reference to paragraph (6)(b).

(11) Timing of contributions — Subject to paragraph (12)(b), for the purposes of this Part, a contribution made by an employer in the first two months of a calendar year to a deferred profit sharing plan, in respect of a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan, or in respect of a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan that was, in the immediately preceding calendar year, a specified multi-employer plan, shall be deemed to have been made by the employer at the end of the immediately preceding calendar year and not to have been made in the year, to the extent that the contribution can reasonably be considered to relate to a preceding calendar year.

Information Circulars: 98-2: Prescribed compensation for RPPs, para. 25.

(12) Indirect contributions — For the purposes of this Part and Part LXXXIV, where a trade union or association of employers (in this subsection and subsections (13) and (14) referred to as the "contributing entity") makes contributions to a registered pension plan,

(a) such portion of a payment made to the contributing entity by an employer or an individual as may reasonably be considered to relate to the plan (determined in accordance with subsection (13), where that subsection is applicable) shall be deemed to be a contribution made to the plan by the employer or individual, as the case may be, at the time the payment was made to the contributing entity; and

(b) subsection (11) shall not apply in respect of a contribution deemed by paragraph (a) to have been made to the plan.

(13) Apportionment of payments — For the purposes of subsection (12), where employers or individuals make payments in a calendar year to a contributing entity to enable the contributing entity to make contributions to a registered pension plan and the payments are not made solely for the purpose of being contributed to the plan, the contributing entity shall

(a) determine, in a manner that is reasonable in the circumstances, the portion of each payment that relates to the plan;

(b) make the determination in such a manner that all contributions made by the contributing entity to the plan, other than contributions made by the contributing entity as an employer or former employer of members of the plan, are considered to be funded by payments made to the contributing entity by employers or individuals;

(c) in the case of payments remitted to the contributing entity by an employer, notify the employer in writing, by January 31 of the immediately following calendar year, of the portion, or of the method for determining the portion, of each such payment that relates to the plan; and

(d) in the case of payments remitted to the contributing entity by an individual, notify the administrator of the plan in writing, by January 31 of the immediately following calendar year, of the total amount of payments made in the year by the individual that relate to the plan.

(14) Non-compliance by contributing entity — Where a contributing entity does not comply with the requirements of subsection (13) as they apply in respect of payments made to the contributing entity in a calendar year to enable the contributing entity to make contributions to a registered pension plan,

(a) the plan becomes, on February 1 of the immediately following calendar year, a revocable plan; and

(b) the Minister may make any determinations referred to in subsection (13) that the contributing entity failed to make, or failed to make in accordance with that subsection.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8301(12) — Meaning of contributing entity.

(15) Transferred amounts — For the purposes of subparagraphs (2)(b)(ii) and (4)(b)(iv), an amount transferred for the benefit of an individual from a registered pension plan or a deferred profit sharing plan directly to a registered pension plan, a registered retirement savings plan, a registered retirement income fund or a deferred profit sharing plan shall be deemed to be an amount that was not paid to the individual.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 8301(15)

(15) Transferred amounts — For the purposes of subparagraph (b)(ii) of the description of A in subsection (2), paragraph (2.1)(b) and subparagraph (4)(b)(iv), an amount transferred for the benefit of an individual from a registered pension plan or a deferred profit sharing plan directly to a registered pension plan, a registered retirement savings plan, a registered retirement income fund or a deferred profit sharing plan is deemed to be an amount that was not paid to the individual.

Application: The December 20, 2002 draft regulations (Appendix I, DPSPs), subsec. 1(2), will amend subsec. 8301(15) to read as above, applicable to the determination of pension credits for the 2002 and subsequent calendar years.

Technical Notes: Paragraphs 8301(2)(b) and (4)(b) provide that certain amounts allocated to an individual under a DPSP or under a money purchase provision of an RPP are not included in the individual's pension credit if paid to the individual in the year in which they are allocated. For this purpose, subsection 8301(15) of the Regulations deems an amount not to be paid to an individual if it is transferred directly to a DPSP, RPP, RRSP or RRIF. As a consequence, such amounts are included in the individual's pension credit.

Subsection 8301(15) is to be amended to replace the reference to paragraph 8301(2)(b) with a reference to subparagraph (b)(ii) of the description of A in subsection 8301(2) and to add a reference to new paragraph 8301(2.1)(b). This amendment is consequential to a restructuring of subsection 8301(2). For further details, see the commentary to that subsection.

(16) Subsequent events — Except as otherwise expressly provided in this Part, each pension credit of an individual for a calendar year shall be determined without regard to transactions, events and circumstances that occur subsequent to the year.

8302. Benefit entitlement — (1) For the purposes of subsection 8301(6), the benefit entitlement of an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in respect of a calendar year and an employer is the portion of the individual's benefit accrual under the provision in respect of the year that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to the individual's employment with the employer.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8302(2) — Meaning of benefit accrual.

(2) Benefit accrual for year — For the purposes of subsection (1), and subject to subsections (6), (8) and (9), the benefit accrual of an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in respect of a calendar year is the amount computed in accordance with the following rules:

(a) determine the portion of the individual's normalized pension under the provision at the end of the year that can reasonably be considered to have accrued in respect of the year;

(b) where the year is after 1989 and before 1995, determine the lesser of the amount determined under paragraph (a) and

(i) for 1990, $1,277.78,

(ii) for 1991 and 1992, $1,388.89,

(iii) for 1993, $1,500.00, and

(iv) for 1994, $1,611.11; and

(c) where, in determining the amount of lifetime retirement benefits payable to the individual under the provision, there is deducted from the amount of those benefits that would otherwise be payable the amount of lifetime retirement benefits payable to the individual under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan or the amount of a lifetime annuity payable to the individual under a deferred profit sharing plan, reduce the amount that would otherwise be determined under this subsection by 1/9 of the total of all amounts each of which is the pension credit of the individual for the year under such a money purchase provision or deferred profit sharing plan.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8302(3) — Meaning of normalized pension.

History: Paras. 8302(2)(b) and (c) amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 3(1), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable after 1991.

(3) Normalized pensions — For the purposes of paragraph (2)(a), and subject to subsection (11), the normalized pension of an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan at the end of a particular calendar year is the amount (expressed on an annualized basis) of lifetime retirement benefits that would be payable under the provision to the individual immediately after the end of the particular year if

(a) where lifetime retirement benefits have not commenced to be paid under the provision to the individual before the end of the particular year, they commenced to be paid immediately after the end of the year;

(b) where the individual had not attained 65 years of age before the time at which lifetime retirement benefits commenced to be paid (or are assumed by reason of paragraph (a) to have commenced to be paid) to the individual, the individual attained that age at that time;

(c) all benefits to which the individual is entitled under the provision were fully vested;

Selected Cases [Reg. 8302(3)(c)]: Osborn v. Canada, [1995] 2 C.T.C. 2215 (TCC) (Non-vested pension amounts treated as if vested for purposes of RRSP contribution limit).

(d) where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits would otherwise be determined with a reduction computed by reference to the individual's age, duration of service or both, or with any other similar reduction, no such reduction were applied;

(d.1) no reduction in the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits were applied in respect of benefits described in any of clauses 8503(2)(a)(vi)(A) to (C);

(d.2) no adjustment that is permissible under subparagraph 8503(2)(a)(ix) were made to the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits;

(e) where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on the remuneration received by the individual in a calendar year (in this paragraph referred to as the "other year") other than the particular year, the remuneration received by the individual in the other year were determined in accordance with the following rules:

(i) where the individual was remunerated for both the particular year and the other year as a person who rendered services on a full-time basis throughout each of the years, the remuneration received by the individual in the other year is identical to the remuneration received by the individual in the particular year,

(ii) where subparagraph (i) is not applicable and the individual rendered services in the particular year, the remuneration received by the individual in the other year is the remuneration that the individual would have received in the other year (or a reasonable estimate thereof determined by a method acceptable to the Minister) had the individual's rate of remuneration in the other year been the same as the individual's rate of remuneration in the particular year, and

(iii) where subparagraph (i) is not applicable and the individual did not render services in the particular year, the remuneration received by the individual in the other year is the remuneration that the individual would have received in the other year (or a reasonable estimate thereof determined by a method acceptable to the Minister) had the individual's rate of remuneration in the other year been the amount that it is reasonable to consider would have been the individual's rate of remuneration in the particular year had the individual rendered services in the particular year;

(f) where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on the individual's remuneration and all or a portion of the remuneration received by the individual in the particular year is treated under the provision as if it were remuneration received in a calendar year preceding the particular year for services rendered in that preceding year, that remuneration were remuneration for services rendered in the particular year;

(g) where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on the individual's remuneration and the particular year is after 1989 and before 1995, benefits, to the extent that they can reasonably be considered to be in respect of the following range of annual remuneration, were excluded:

(i) where the particular year is 1990, the range from $63,889 to $86,111,

(ii) where the particular year is 1991 or 1992, the range from $69,444 to $86,111,

(iii) where the particular year is 1993, the range from $75,000 to $86,111, and

(iv) where the particular year is 1994, the range from $80,556 to $86,111;

(h) where

(i) the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on the individual's remuneration,

(ii) the formula for determining the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits includes an adjustment to the individual's remuneration for one or more calendar years,

(iii) the adjustment to the individual's remuneration for a year (in this paragraph referred to as the "specified year") consists of multiplying the individual's remuneration for the specified year by a factor that does not exceed the ratio of the average wage for the year in which the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits is required to be determined to the average wage for the specified year (or a substantially similar measure of the change in the wage measure), and

(iv) the adjustment may reasonably be considered to be made to increase the individual's remuneration for the specified year to reflect, in whole or in part, increases in average wages and salaries from that year to the year in which the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits is required to be determined, the formula did not include the adjustment to the individual's remuneration for the specified year;

(i) where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on the Year's Maximum Pensionable Earnings for calendar years other than the particular year, the Year's Maximum Pensionable Earnings for each such year were equal to the Year's Maximum Pensionable Earnings for the particular year;

(j) where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on the actual amount of pension (in this paragraph referred to as the "statutory pension") payable to the individual under the Canada Pension Plan or a provincial plan (as defined in section 3 of that Act), the amount of statutory pension (expressed on an annualized basis) were equal to

(i) 25 per cent of the lesser of the Year's Maximum Pensionable Earnings for the particular year and,

(A) in the case of an individual who renders services throughout the particular year on a full-time basis to employers who participate in the plan, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the individual's remuneration for the particular year from such an employer, and

(B) in any other case, the amount that it is reasonable to consider would be determined under clause (A) if the individual had rendered services throughout the particular year on a full-time basis to employers who participate in the plan, or

(ii) at the option of the plan administrator, any other amount determined in accordance with a method for estimating the statutory pension that can be expected to result in amounts substantially similar to amounts determined under subparagraph (i);

(k) where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on a pension (in this paragraph referred to as the "statutory pension") payable to the individual under Part I of the Old Age Security Act, the amount of statutory pension payable for each calendar year were equal to the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the the full monthly pension payable under Part I of the Old Age Security Act for a month in the particular year;

(l) except as otherwise expressly permitted in writing by the Minister, where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on the amount of benefits (other than public pension benefits or similar benefits of a country other than Canada) payable under another benefit provision of a pension plan or under a deferred profit sharing plan, the amounts of the other benefits were such as to maximize the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits;

(m) where the individual's lifetime retirement benefits would otherwise include benefits that the plan is required to provide by reason of a designated provision of the law of Canada or a province (within the meaning assigned by section 8513), or that the plan would be required to provide if each such provision were applicable to the plan with respect to all its members, such benefits were not included;

(n) where

(i) the individual attained 65 years of age before lifetime retirement benefits commenced to be paid (or are to be assumed by reason of paragraph (a) to have commenced to be paid) to the individual, and

(ii) an adjustment is made in determining the amount of those benefits for the purpose of offsetting, in whole or in part, the decrease in the value of lifetime retirement benefits that would otherwise result by reason of the deferral of those benefits after the individual attained 65 years of age,

that adjustment were not made, except to the extent that the adjustment exceeds the adjustment that would be made on an actuarially equivalent basis;

(o) except as otherwise provided by subsection (4), where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on

(i) the form of benefits provided with respect to the individual under the provision (whether or not at the option of the individual), including

(A) the benefits to be provided after the death of the individual,

(B) the amount of retirement benefits, other than lifetime retirement benefits, provided to the individual, or

(C) the extent to which the lifetime retirement benefits will be adjusted to reflect changes in the cost of living, or

(ii) circumstances that are relevant in determining the form of benefits, the form of benefits and the circumstances were such as to maximize the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits on commencement of payment;

(p) where the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on whether the individual is totally and permanently disabled at the time at which retirement benefits commence to be paid to the individual, the individual were not so disabled at that time; and

(q) where lifetime retirement benefits have commenced to be paid under the provision to the individual before the end of the particular year, benefits payable as a consequence of cost-of-living adjustments described in paragraph 8303(5)(k) were disregarded.

(4) Optional forms — Where the terms of a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan permit a member to elect to receive additional lifetime retirement benefits in lieu of benefits that would, in the absence of the election, be payable after the death of the member if the member dies after retirement benefits under the provision commence to be paid to the member, paragraph (3)(o) applies as if the following elections were not available to the member:

(a) an election to receive additional lifetime retirement benefits, not exceeding additional benefits determined on an actuarially equivalent basis, in lieu of all or any portion of a guarantee that retirement benefits will be paid for a minimum period of 10 years or less, and

(b) an election to receive additional lifetime retirement benefits in lieu of retirement benefits that would otherwise be payable to an individual who is a spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner of the member for a period beginning after the death of the member and ending with the death of the individual, where

(i) the election may be made only if the life expectancy of the individual is significantly shorter than normal and has been so certified in writing by a medical doctor licensed to practise under the laws of a province or of the place where the individual resides, and

(ii) the additional benefits do not exceed additional benefits determined on an actuarially equivalent basis and on the assumption that the individual has a normal life expectancy.

(5) Termination of entitlement to benefits — For the purposes of subsection (3), where an individual ceased in a calendar year to be entitled to all or part of the lifetime retirement benefits provided to the individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan, the normalized pension of the individual under the provision at the end of the year shall be determined on the assumption that the individual continued to be entitled to those benefits immediately after the end of the year.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8300(7) — Benefits include contingent benefits.

(6) Defined benefit offset — Where the amount of lifetime retirement benefits provided under a particular defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan to a member of the plan depends on the amount of lifetime retirement benefits provided to the member under one or more other defined benefit provisions of registered pension plans, the benefit accrual of the member under the particular provision in respect of a calendar year is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the amount that would, but for this subsection, be the benefit accrual of the member under the particular provision in respect of the year if the benefits provided under the other provisions were provided under the particular provision

(b) the amount that would be the benefit accrual of the member under the other provisions in respect of the year if the other provisions were a single provision.

(7) Offset of specified multi-employer plan benefits — Where the amount of an individual's lifetime retirement benefits under a defined benefit provision (in this subsection referred to as the "supplemental provision") of a registered pension plan depends on the amount of benefits payable under a defined benefit provision of a specified multi-employer plan, the defined benefit provision of the specified multi-employer plan shall be deemed to be a money purchase provision for the purpose of determining the benefit accruals of the individual under the supplemental provision.

(8) Transition rule — career average benefits — Where

(a) on March 27, 1988 lifetime retirement benefits under a defined benefit provision of a pension plan were determined as the greater of benefits computed on a career average basis and benefits computed on a final or best average earnings basis,

(b) the method for determining lifetime retirement benefits under the provision has not been amended after March 27, 1988 and before the end of a particular calendar year, and

(c) it was reasonable to expect, on January 1, 1990, that the lifetime retirement benefits to be paid under the provision to at least 75 per cent of the members of the plan on that date (other than members to whom benefits do not accrue under the provision after that date) will be determined on a final or best average earnings basis, at the option of the plan administrator, benefit accruals under the provision in respect of the particular year may, where the particular year is before 1992, be determined without regard to the career average formula.

(9) Transition rule — benefit rate greater than 2 per cent — Subject to subsection (6), where

(a) the amount of lifetime retirement benefits provided under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan to a member of the plan is determined, in part, by multiplying the member's remuneration (or a function of the member's remuneration) by one or more benefit accrual rates, and

(b) the largest benefit accrual rate that may be applicable is greater than 2 per cent, the member's benefit accrual under the provision in respect of 1990 or 1991 is the lesser of

(c) the member's benefit accrual otherwise determined, and

(d) 2 per cent of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount that would, if the definition "compensation" in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act were read without reference to subparagraphs (a)(iii) and (iv) and paragraphs (b) and (c) thereof, be the member's compensation for the year from an employer who participated in the plan in the year for the benefit of the member.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8302(10) — Period of reduced remuneration.

(10) Period of reduced remuneration — For the purposes of paragraph (9)(d), where a member of a registered pension plan is provided with benefits under a defined benefit provision of the plan in respect of a period in 1990 or 1991

(a) throughout which, by reason of disability, leave of absence, lay-off or other circumstance, the member rendered no services, or rendered a reduced level of services, to employers who participate in the plan, and

(b) throughout which the member received no remuneration, or a reduced rate of remuneration,

the member's compensation shall be determined on the assumption that the member received remuneration for the period equal to the amount of remuneration that it is reasonable to consider the member would have received if the member had rendered services throughout the period on a regular basis (having regard to the services rendered by the member before the period) and the member's rate of remuneration had been commensurate with the member's rate of remuneration when the member did render services on a regular basis.

(11) Anti-avoidance — Where the terms of a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan can reasonably be considered to have been established or modified so that a pension credit of an individual for a calendar year under the provision would, but for this subsection, be reduced as a consequence of the application of paragraph (3)(g), that paragraph shall not apply in determining the individual's normalized pension under the provision in respect of the year.

8303. Past service pension adjustment — (1) PSPA with respect to employer — For the purpose of subsection 248(1) of the Act, "past service pension adjustment" of an individual for a calendar year in respect of an employer means the total of

(a) the accumulated past service pension adjustment (in this Part referred to as "accumulated PSPA") of the individual for the year with respect to the employer, determined as of the end of the year,

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the foreign plan PSPA (determined under subsection 8308.1(5) or (6)) of the individual with respect to the employer associated with a modification of benefits in the year under a foreign plan (as defined in subsection 8308.1(1)), and

(c) the total of all amounts each of which is the specified retirement arrangement PSPA (determined under subsection 8308.3(4) or (5)) of the individual with respect to the employer associated with a modification of benefits in the year under a specified retirement arrangement (as defined in subsection 8308.3(1)).

(2) Accumulated PSPA for year — For the purposes of this Part, the accumulated PSPA of an individual for a calendar year with respect to an employer, determined as of any time, is the total of all amounts each of which is the individual's provisional past service pension adjustment (in this Part referred to as "provisional PSPA") with respect to the employer that is associated with

(a) a past service event (other than a certifiable past service event with respect to the individual) that occurred in the preceding year; or

(b) a certifiable past service event with respect to the individual where the Minister has, in the year and before that time, issued a certification for the purposes of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act in respect of the event and the individual.

(2.1) 1991 past service events and certifications — For the purposes of subsection (2),

(a) a past service event that occurred in 1991 (including, for greater certainty, a past service event that is deemed by paragraph 8304(3)(b) to have occurred immediately after the end of 1990) shall be deemed to have occurred on January 1, 1992 and not to have occurred in 1991; and

(b) a certification issued by the Minister in 1991 shall be deemed to have been issued on January 1, 1992 and not to have been issued in 1991.

History: Subsec. 8303(2.1) added by P.C. 1995-17, s. 4, January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable after 1990.

(3) Provisional PSPA — Subject to subsections (8) and (10) and sections 8304 and 8308, for the purposes of this Part, the provisional PSPA of an individual with respect to an employer that is associated with a past service event that occurs at a particular time in a particular calendar year is the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B - C + D$$

where

A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is, in respect of a calendar year after 1989 and before the particular year, the amount that would have been the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to the employer under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan (other than a plan that is, at the particular time, a specified multi-employer plan) had the individual's benefit entitlement under the provision in respect of the year and the employer been equal to the individual's redetermined benefit entitlement (determined as of the particular time) under the provision in respect of the year and the employer,

B is the aggregate that would be determined for A if the reference in the description of A to "determined as of the particular time" were read as a reference to "determined as of the time immediately before the particular time",

C is such portion of the amount of the individual's qualifying transfers made in connection with the past service event as is not deducted in computing the provisional PSPA of the individual with respect to any other employer, and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is an excess money purchase transfer in relation to the individual and the past service event that is not included in determining any other provisional PSPA of the individual that is associated with the past service event.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 8303(4) — Meaning of redetermined benefit entitlement; Reg. 8303(6) — Meaning of qualifying transfers; Reg. 8303(7.1) — Excess money purchase transfer amount; Reg. 8500(8)(c) — Non-member benefits ignored in determining pension adjustment.

History: The formula in subsec. 8303(3) amended, and the description of D added, by P.C. 1998-2256, subsecs. 6(2) and (3), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable with respect to past service events that occur after 1997.

(4) Redetermined benefit entitlement — For the purposes of the description of A in subsection (3), an individual's redetermined benefit entitlement under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in respect of a calendar year and an employer, determined as of a particular time, is the amount that would be determined under section 8302 to be the individual's benefit entitlement under the provision in respect of the year and the employer if, for the purpose of computing the benefit accrual of the individual in respect of the year under the provision and, where subsection 8302(6) is applicable, under any other defined benefit provision, the amount determined under paragraph 8302(2)(a) in respect of a specific provision were equal to such portion of the individual's normalized pension (computed in accordance with subsection (5)) under the specific provision at the particular time, determined with reference to the year, as may reasonably be considered to have accrued in respect of the year.

(5) Normalized pension — For the purposes of subsection (4), the normalized pension of an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan at a particular time, determined with reference to a calendar year (in this subsection referred to as the "pension credit year"), is the amount (expressed on an annualized basis) of lifetime retirement benefits, other than excluded benefits, that would be payable to the individual under the provision immediately after the particular time if

(a) where lifetime retirement benefits have not commenced to be paid under the provision to the individual before the particular time, they commenced to be paid immediately after the particular time,

(b) where the individual had not attained 65 years of age before the time at which lifetime retirement benefits commenced to be paid (or are assumed by reason of paragraph (a) to have commenced to be paid) to the individual, the individual attained that age at that time,

(c) the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits were determined with regard to all past service events occurring at or before the particular time and without regard to past service events occurring after the particular time,

(d) paragraphs 8302(3)(c) to (p) (other than paragraph 8302(3)(g), where subsection 8302(11) was applicable in respect of the pension credit year and the provision or would have been applicable had all benefits provided as a consequence of past service events become provided in the pension credit year) were applied for the purpose of determining the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits and, for the purpose of those paragraphs, the pension credit year were the particular year referred to in those paragraphs, and

(e) where

(i) the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits under the provision depends on the individual's remuneration, and

(ii) all or any part of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits in respect of the pension credit year became provided as a consequence of a past service event, pursuant to terms of the provision that enable benefits to be provided to members of the plan in respect of periods of employment with employers who have not participated under the provision, the remuneration received by the individual from each such employer in respect of a period of employment in respect of which the individual is provided with benefits under the provision were remuneration received from an employer who has participated under the provision for the benefit of the individual, and, for the purposes of this subsection, the following benefits are excluded benefits:

(f) where the formula for determining the amount of lifetime retirement benefits payable under the provision to the individual requires the calculation of an amount that is the product of a fixed rate and the duration of all or part of the individual's pensionable service, benefits payable as a direct consequence of an increase in the value of the fixed rate at any time (in this paragraph referred to as the "time of increase") after the pension credit year, other than benefits

(i) provided as a consequence of a second or subsequent increase in the value of the fixed rate after the time that retirement benefits under the provision commenced to be paid to the individual, or

(ii) that would not have become provided had the value of the fixed rate been increased to the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

where

A is the value of the fixed rate immediately before the time of the increase,

B is the average wage for the calendar year that includes the time of the increase, and

C is

(A) if the value of the fixed rate has previously been increased in the calendar year that includes the time of increase, the average wage for the year, or

(B) otherwise, the average wage for the year immediately preceding the calendar year that includes the time of increase,

Proposed Addition — 8303(5)(f.1)

(f.1) benefits payable as a direct consequence of an increase at any time in 2004 or 2005 in the value of a fixed rate under the provision where

(i) except as otherwise expressly permitted in writing by the Minister, only one fixed rate applies in determining the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits provided in respect of periods after 1989,

(ii) there was no other increase in the value of the fixed rate in the calendar year and before that time, and

(iii) the benefits would be excluded benefits because of paragraph (f) if its subparagraph (ii) were read as follows:

(ii) that would not have become provided had the value of the fixed rate been increased to the amount determined by the formula

$$A - B$$

where

A is the value of the fixed rate at the time of increase (not exceeding the defined benefit limit for the calendar year that includes the time of increase), and

B is the amount, if any, by which the defined benefit limit for the pension credit year exceeds the value of the fixed rate immediately before the time of increase,

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), s. 7, will add para. 8303(5)(f.1), applicable with respect to past service events that occur after 2003.

Technical Notes: Section 8303 provides rules for determining the past service pension adjustment (PSPA) of an individual for a year. A PSPA arises when benefits are provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of an RPP on a past service basis, such as by upgrading existing benefits or by crediting additional years of pensionable service. PSPAs reduce an individual's RRSP deduction room.

In general terms, the PSPA is the total of the additional pension credits that would have been determined for each past service year if the past service benefits had been provided to the individual on a current service basis. In recalculating the pension credits, subsection 8303(5) provides that various benefit increases are to be excluded, thus reducing the PSPA otherwise determined.

The benefit exclusion in paragraph 8303(5)(f) applies where the benefit formula includes a flat benefit component. It excludes benefits arising from an increase in the flat benefit rate to the extent of the percentage increase in the average wage from the preceding year to the current year. It applies only to the first flat benefit rate increase each year.

The most common application of the exclusion provided for in paragraph 8303(5)(f) would be with respect to members of earnings-related plans whose earnings are large enough that their benefits are capped by the defined benefit limit. The defined benefit limit, which is defined in subsection 8500(1) as the greater of $1,722.22 and 1/9 of the "money purchase limit" (as defined in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act), is scheduled to be indexed to average wage growth starting in 2006. (This is by virtue of the fact that the money purchase limit, which will prevail after 2003, is indexed to average wage growth after 2005.) By virtue of paragraph 8303(5)(f), no PSPA will be required to be reported for members whose benefits are increased annually as a result of the indexing of the defined benefit limit.

The defined benefit limit is also increased from $1,722 to $1,833 for 2004 and is scheduled to be further increased to $2,000 for 2005. (These amounts equal 1/9 of the money purchase limits of $16,500 and $18,000 for 2004 and 2005, respectively.) However, to the extent that average wage growth is less than the percentage increase in the defined benefit limit in these two years, paragraph 8303(5)(f) would not serve to fully exclude resulting benefit increases from PSPA. To avoid this result, new paragraph 8303(5)(f.1) is introduced to provide an exclusion for such flat benefit rate increases. This will ensure that no PSPA will be required to be reported for members whose benefits are increased simply as a result of the increases to the defined benefit limit in these two years.

If a plan's existing flat benefit rate is less than the defined benefit limit for a year of past service, no exclusion is provided under new paragraph 8303(5)(f.1) for that portion of the increase in the flat benefit rate that is required to bring the rate up to the defined benefit limit for that year. For example, if a plan's flat benefit rate were increased from $1,500 to $1,833 in 2004, paragraph 8303(5)(f.1) would not exclude that portion of the increase that is required to bring the rate up to the defined benefit limit for the year of past service. In other words, of the $333 benefit increase in respect of prior years, only $111 (= $1,833 – $1,722) would be excluded.

Paragraph 8303(5)(f.1) provides no relief for plans that are not amended until after 2005 to reflect the higher defined benefit limit. Furthermore, if a plan sponsor waits until 2005 to amend the plan to reflect the higher defined benefit limit, only partial relief will be provided for benefits in respect of 2004. This is illustrated in the example at the end of the commentary on this paragraph.

As with the exclusion in paragraph 8303(5)(f), paragraph 8303(5)(f.1) applies only with respect to the first flat benefit rate increase each year. Further, the exclusion applies only if a single flat benefit rate enters into the determination of the member's post-1989 lifetime retirement benefits, except as permitted in writing by the Minister of National Revenue. In the case of multiple flat benefit rates, it is expected that the Minister would generally permit the exclusion to apply as long as it would not result in a widening of the scope of the exclusion.

Example

In January 2002, Owen joined a defined benefit RPP providing benefits of 2% of best average earnings per year of service. The maximum pension limit incorporated in the plan terms refers only to the current $1,722 defined benefit limit, without including any future increases. Owen's annual salary for 2002 to 2004 was $110,000, which gave rise to a pension credit of $14,900 for each year (= ($1,722 × 9) – $600).

In January 2005, the plan sponsor amends the plan to replace the $1,722 limit with "$2,000 or such other amount as may be permitted under the Income Tax Act". Since this amendment has the effect of increasing Owen's past service benefits, it is necessary to determine a PSPA.

The PSPA is the total of the additional pension credits that would have been determined for each of 2002, 2003 and 2004 if Owen's benefits had accrued on the basis of a $2,000 plan limit for each pension credit year and if benefits described in new paragraph 8303(5)(f.1) were excluded.

In recalculating the pension credits for 2002 and 2003, the full amount of the $278 benefit increase is excluded, since the plan's flat benefit rate in those years reflected the defined benefit limit for those years. However, in recalculating the 2004 pension credit, only $167 of the benefit increase is excluded, since the remaining $111 was required to bring the plan's existing flat benefit rate of $1,722 up to the defined benefit limit of $1,833 for that year.

Therefore, Owen's PSPA associated with the plan amendment is $1,000 (= $111.11 × 9). This result is consistent with the fact that the amount of RRSP deduction room that became available to Owen in relation to his 2004 earnings was $1,000 higher than it would have been had the 2004 pension credit been determined on the basis of an $1,833 plan limit.

(g) where

(i) the provision is a flat benefit provision,

(ii) at the particular time, the amount (expressed on an annual basis) of lifetime retirement benefits provided under the provision to each member in respect of pensionable service in each calendar year does not exceed 40 per cent of the defined benefit limit for the year that includes the particular time,

(iii) the conditions in subsection 8306(2) are satisfied in respect of the provision and the past service event in connection with which the normalized pension is being calculated, and

(iv) only one fixed rate is applicable in determining the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits, benefits provided as a direct consequence of an increase in the value of the fixed rate at any time (in this paragraph referred to as the "time of increase") after the pension credit year, other than benefits

(v) provided as a consequence of a second or subsequent increase in the value of the fixed rate after the time that retirement benefits under the provision commenced to be paid to the individual, or

(vi) that would not have become provided had the value of the fixed rate been increased to the greater of

(A) the greatest of all amounts each of which is an amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{C}$$

where

A is a value of the fixed rate in the period beginning on January 1, 1984 and ending immediately before the time of increase,

B is the average wage for the calendar year that includes the time of increase, and

C is the average wage for the later of 1984 and the calendar year in which the value of the fixed rate used for A was first effective, and

(B) the amount determined by the formula

$$D + (E \times F)$$

where

D is the value of the fixed rate immediately before the time of increase,

E is the amount by which the value of the fixed rate used for D would have to be increased to provide an increase in the individual's annual lifetime retirement benefits equal to $18 for each year of pensionable service, and

F is the duration (measured in years, including any fraction of a year) of the period beginning on the later of January 1, 1984 and the day on which the value of the fixed rate used for D was first effective and ending on the day that includes the time of increase;

(h) where the provision is a flat benefit provision, benefits provided as a direct consequence of an increase at any time (in this paragraph referred to as the "time of increase") after the pension credit year in the value of a fixed rate under the provision where

(i) the value of the fixed rate was increased pursuant to an agreement made before 1992, and

(ii) at the time the agreement was made, it was reasonable to expect that the percentage increase in the value of the fixed rate would approximate or be less than the percentage increase in the average wage from the calendar year in which the value of the fixed rate was last increased before the time of increase (or, if the increase is the first increase, the calendar year in which the initial value of the fixed rate was first applicable) to the calendar year that includes the time of increase,

(i) where the provision is a flat benefit provision under which the amount of each member's retirement benefits depends on the member's job category or rate of pay in such a manner that the ratio of the amount of lifetime retirement benefits to remuneration does not significantly increase as remuneration increases, benefits provided as a direct consequence of a change, after the pension credit year, in the individual's job category or rate of pay,

(j) where

(i) the individual's pensionable service under the provision ends before the particular time,

(ii) the individual's lifetime retirement benefits under the provision have been adjusted by a cost-of-living or similar adjustment in respect of the period (in this paragraph referred to as the "deferral period") beginning at the latest of

(A) the time at which the individual's pensionable service under the provision ends,

(B) if the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on the individual's remuneration, the end of the most recent period for which the individual received remuneration that is taken into account in determining the individual's lifetime retirement benefits,

(C) if the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits depends on the individual's remuneration and the remuneration is adjusted as described in paragraph 8302(3)(h), the end of the period in respect of which the adjustment is made, and

(D) if the formula for determining the amount of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits requires the calculation of an amount that is the product of a fixed rate and the duration of all or part of the individual's pensionable service (or other measure of services rendered by the individual), the time as of which the value of the fixed rate applicable with respect to the individual was established, and ending at the earlier of the particular time and the time, if any, at which lifetime retirement benefits commenced to be paid under the provision to the individual, and

(iii) the adjustment is warranted, having regard to all prior such adjustments, by the increase in the Consumer Price Index or in the wage measure from the commencement of the deferral period to the time the adjustment was made,

benefits payable as a consequence of the adjustment,

(k) benefits payable as a consequence of a cost-of-living adjustment made after the time lifetime retirement benefits commenced to be paid under the provision to the individual, where the adjustment

(i) is warranted, having regard to all prior such adjustments, by the increase in the Consumer Price Index from that time to the time at which the adjustment was made, or

(ii) is a periodic adjustment described in subparagraph 8503(2)(a)(ii), and

(l) such portion of the individual's lifetime retirement benefits as

(i) would not otherwise be excluded in determining the individual's normalized pension,

(ii) may reasonably be considered to be attributable to cost-of-living adjustments or to adjustments made by reason of increases in a general measure of salaries and wages (other than increases in such a measure after the time at which lifetime retirement benefits commenced to be paid under the provision to the individual), and

(iii) is acceptable to the Minister.

(6) Qualifying transfers — For the purposes of subsections (3) and 8304(5) and (7), and subject to subsection (6.1) and paragraph 8304(2)(h), the amount of an individual's qualifying transfers made in connection with a past service event is the total of all amounts each of which is

(a) the portion of an amount transferred to a registered pension plan

(i) in accordance with any of subsections 146(16), 147(19) and 147.3(2), (5) and (7) of the Act, or

(ii) from a specified multi-employer plan in accordance with subsection 147.3(3) of the Act that is transferred to fund benefits provided to the individual as a consequence of the past service event; or

(b) the amount of any property held in connection with a benefit provision of a registered pension plan that is made available to fund benefits provided to the individual under another benefit provision of the plan as a consequence of the past service event, where the transaction by which the property is made so available is such that, if the benefit provisions were in separate registered pension plans, the transaction would constitute a transfer of property from one plan to the other in accordance with any of subsections 147.3(2), (5) and (7) of the Act.

(6) Qualifying transfers — For the purposes of subsections (3) and 8304(5) and (7), and subject to subsection (6.1), the amount of an individual's qualifying transfers made in connection with a past service event is the total of all amounts each of which is

Subsec. 8303(6) amended by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 6(4), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable

(a) to the determination of an individual's qualifying transfers that occur after June 25, 1998, and

(b) where approved by the Minister of National Revenue, to the determination of an individual's qualifying transfers that occurred before June 26, 1998.

(6.1) Exclusion for pre-1990 benefits — The amount of an individual's qualifying transfers made in connection with a past service event shall be determined under subsection (6) without regard to the portion, if any, of amounts transferred or property made available, as the case may be, that can reasonably be considered to have been transferred or made available to fund benefits provided in respect of periods before 1990.

History: Subsec. 8303(6.1) added by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 6(4), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable to the determination of an individual's qualifying transfers that occur after June 25, 1998.

(7) Deemed payment — Where

(a) an individual has given an irrevocable direction that

(i) an amount be paid to a registered pension plan, or

(ii) property held in connection with a benefit provision of a registered pension plan be made available to fund benefits provided to the individual under another benefit provision of the plan in the event that the Minister issues a certification for the purposes of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act with respect to the individual and to benefits provided under a defined benefit provision of the plan as a consequence of a past service event, and

(b) the amount is to be paid or the property is to be made available, as the case may be,

(i) where subparagraph (ii) does not apply, on or before the day that is 90 days after the day on which the certification is received by the administrator of the plan, and

(ii) where the plan was deemed by paragraph 147.1(3)(a) of the Act to be a registered pension plan at the time the direction was given, on or before the day that is 90 days after the later of

(A) the day on which the certification is received by the administrator of the plan, and

(B) the day on which the administrator of the plan receives written notice from the Minister of the registration of the plan for the purposes of the Act, the amount or property, as the case may be, is deemed, for the purpose of subsection (6), to have been paid or made available, as the case may be, at the time the direction was given.

History: Subsec. 8303(7) amended by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 6(4), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable

(a) to the determination of an individual's qualifying transfers that occur after June 25, 1998, and

(b) where approved by the Minister of National Revenue, to the determination of an individual's qualifying transfers that occurred before June 26, 1998.

(7.1) Excess money purchase transfer — Where lifetime retirement benefits have, as a consequence of a past service event, become provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan (other than a specified multi-employer plan) in respect of a period (in this subsection referred to as the "past service period") that

(a) was previously pensionable service of the individual under a particular defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan (other than a specified multi-employer plan),

(b) ceased to be pensionable service of the individual under the particular provision as a result of the payment of a single amount, all or part of which was transferred on behalf of the individual from the particular provision to a registered retirement savings plan, a registered retirement income fund, a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan or a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan that was, at the time of the transfer, a specified multi-employer plan,

(c) has not, at any time after the payment of the single amount and before the past service event, been pensionable service of the individual under any defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan (other than a specified multi-employer plan), and

(d) is not, for the purpose of subsection 8304(5), a qualifying past service period in relation to the individual and the past service event,

the amount determined by the formula

A – B

is, for the purpose of the description of D in subsection (3), an excess money purchase transfer in relation to the individual and the past service event, where

A is the portion of the amount transferred, as described in paragraph (b), that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to benefits in respect of the portion of the past service period that is after 1989, and

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of a pension credit, or the grossed-up amount of a provisional PSPA, of the individual that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to benefits previously provided under the particular provision in respect of the past service period.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 8304.1(7) — Meaning of grossed-up amount of provisional PSPA.

History: Subsec. 8303(7.1) added by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 6(4), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable with respect to past service events that occur after 1997.

(8) Specified multi-employer plan — Where, in a calendar year, an individual makes a contribution (other than an excluded contribution) in respect of a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan that is, in the year, a specified multi-employer plan, and the contribution

(a) is made in respect of a period after 1989 and before the year, and

(b) is not included in determining the individual's pension credit for the year with respect to any employer under the provision, the individual's provisional PSPA with respect to an employer who participates in the plan, associated with the payment of the contribution, is the portion of the contribution that is not included in the individual's provisional PSPA with respect to any other employer who participates in the plan, and, for the purpose of this subsection, the plan administrator shall determine the portion of the contribution to be included in the provisional PSPA of the individual with respect to each employer.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8303(9) — Contributions include conditional contributions.

(9) Conditional contributions — For the purpose of subsection (8), a contribution includes an amount paid to a registered pension plan where the right of any person to retain the amount on behalf of the plan is conditional on the Minister issuing a certification for the purposes of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act as it applies with respect to the individual and to benefits provided as a consequence of the payment.

(10) Benefits in respect of foreign service — Where as a consequence of a past service event, benefits become provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in respect of a period throughout which the individual was employed outside Canada, and the Minister has consented in writing to the application of this subsection, each provisional PSPA of the individual associated with the past service event shall be determined on the assumption that no benefits were provided in respect of the period.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8503(3)(a)(vii) — Eligible service outside Canada.

8304. Past service benefits — Additional rules — (1) Replacement of defined benefits — Where

(a) an individual ceased, at any time in a calendar year, to have any rights to benefits under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan (in this subsection referred to as the "former provision"),

(b) benefits became provided at that time to the individual under another defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan (in this subsection referred to as the "current provision") in lieu of the benefits under the former provision,

(c) the benefits that became provided at that time to the individual under the current provision in respect of the period in the year before that time are attributable to employment with the same employers as were the individual's benefits in respect of that period under the former provision,

(d) no amount was transferred in the year on behalf of the individual from the former provision to a registered retirement savings plan, a registered retirement income fund or a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan, and

(e) no benefits became provided under the former provision to the individual in the year and after that time, each pension credit of the individual under the former provision for the year is nil.

History: Para. 8304(1)(d) amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 5(1), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable with respect to the determination of pension credits for 1990 et seq.

Forms: T4104: Past service pension adjustment guide.

(2) Replacement of money purchase benefits — Where

(a) an individual ceased, at any time in a calendar year, to have any rights to benefits under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan or under a deferred profit sharing plan (in this subsection referred to as the "former provision"),

(b) benefits became provided at that time to the individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan (in this subsection referred to as the "current provision") in lieu of benefits under the former provision,

(c) the benefits that became provided at that time to the individual under the current provision in respect of the period in the year before that time are attributable to employment with the same employers who made contributions under the former provision in respect of that period on behalf of the individual,

(d) no amount was transferred in the year on behalf of the individual from the former provision to a registered retirement savings plan, a registered retirement income fund, a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan or a deferred profit sharing plan,

(e) no contributions were made under the former provision by or on behalf of the individual, and no other amounts were allocated under the former provision to the individual, in the year and after that time, and

(f) it is reasonable to consider that no excess would, if this subsection did not apply and if the year ended at that time, be determined under any of paragraphs 147(5.1)(a) to (c), 147.1(8)(a) and (b) and (9)(a) and (b) of the Act with respect to the individual for the year,

the following rules apply:

(g) each pension credit of the individual under the former provision for the year is nil, and

(h) the amount, if any, of the individual's qualifying transfers made in connection with the replacement of the individual's benefits shall be determined under subsection 8303(6) without regard to the portion, if any, of amounts transferred from the former provision to the current provision that can reasonably be considered to relate to an amount that, but for paragraph (g), would have been included in determining the individual's pension credit under the former provision for the year.

History: Paras. (f) to (h) substituted for the closing words of subsec. 8304(2) by P.C. 2001-153, subsec. 3(3), January 30, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 14, 2001, applicable to the determination of pension credits for 2000 et seq. and to the determination of an individual's qualifying transfers that occur after April 18, 2000. The closing words formerly read:

> each pension credit of the individual under the former provision for the year is nil.

Paras. 8304(2)(d) and (e) amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 5(2), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995. Para. 8304(2)(d) is applicable with respect to the determination of pension credits for 1990 et seq. Para. 8304(2)(e) is applicable with respect to the determination of pension credits for 1993 et seq., except that amended para. (e) does not apply with respect to the determination of an individual's pension credits for 1993 under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan, or under a deferred profit sharing plan, where the individual ceased, on or before April 5, 1994, to have any rights to benefits under the provision or the plan, as the case may be, and no amounts were allocated to the individual under the provision or the plan, as the case may be, after April 5, 1994.

(3) Past service benefits in year of past service event — Subject to subsection (4), where, as a consequence of a past service event that occurs at a particular time in a calendar year, benefits (in this subsection and subsection (4) referred to as "past service benefits") become provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in respect of a period in the year and before the particular time that, immediately before the past service event, was not pensionable service of the individual under the provision, the following rules apply, except to the extent that the Minister has waived in writing their application in respect of the plan:

(a) each pension credit of the individual under the provision for the year shall be determined as if the past service benefits had not become provided to the individual;

(b) where the year is 1990, the past service event shall be deemed, for the purposes of this Part, to have occurred immediately after the end of the year;

(c) where the year is after 1990, each provisional PSPA of the individual associated with the past service event as a consequence of which the past service benefits became provided shall be determined as if the past service event had occurred immediately after the end of the year;

(d) where information that is required for the computation of a provisional PSPA referred to in paragraph (c) is not determinable until after the time at which the provisional PSPA is computed, reasonable assumptions shall be made in respect of such information; and

(e) subsection 147.1(10) of the Act shall apply in respect of the past service benefits to the extent that that subsection would apply if the past service event had occurred immediately after the end of the year.

(4) Exceptions — Subsection (3) does not apply where

(a) the past service benefits become provided in circumstances where subsection (1) or (2) is applicable; or

(b) the period in respect of which the past service benefits are provided was not, at any time before the past service event,

(i) pensionable service of the individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan, or

(ii) a period in respect of which a contribution was made on behalf of, or an amount (other than an amount in respect of earnings of a plan) was allocated to, the individual under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan or under a deferred profit sharing plan.

(c) [Repealed]

History: Para. 8304(4)(c) repealed, and para. 8304(4)(b) amended by striking out the reference to "(in this subsection referred to as the "past service period")", by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 7(1), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable with respect to past service events that occur after 1996.

Subpara. 8304(4)(b)(ii) and para. 8304(4)(c) amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsecs. 5(3) and (4), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995. Subpara. 8304(4)(b)(ii) is applicable with respect to past service benefits that become provided after April 5, 1994 and para. 8304(4)(c) is applicable with respect to past service benefits that become provided after August 29, 1990.

(5) Modified PSPA calculation — Where

(a) lifetime retirement benefits have, as a consequence of a past service event, become provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in respect of one or more qualifying past service periods in relation to the individual and the past service event, and

(b) the benefits are considered to be attributable to employment of the individual with a single employer, the provisional PSPA of the individual with respect to the employer that is associated with the past service event is the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B + C - D$$

where

A is the provisional PSPA that would be determined if

(a) this subsection did not apply,

(b) all former benefits in relation to the individual and the past service event had ceased to be provided at the time the past service event occurred,

(c) all former benefits in relation to the individual and the past service event were considered to be attributable to employment of the individual with the employer, and

(d) the value of C in subsection 8303(3) were nil;

B is the total of all amounts each of which is a non-vested PA amount in respect of the individual and the past service event;

C is the total of all amounts each of which is a money purchase transfer in relation to the individual and the past service event; and

D is the amount of the individual's qualifying transfers made in connection with the past service event.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 8300(7) — Benefits include contingent benefits; Reg. 8303(6) — Meaning of qualifying transfers.

History: Subsec. 8304(5) amended by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 7(2), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable to the determination of provisional PSPAs that are associated with past service events that occur after 1997.

The description of C in subsec. 8304(5) is amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 5(5), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable with respect to past service events occurring after August 29, 1990.

(5.1) Definitions for subsection (5) — For the purpose of subsection (5), where

(a) lifetime retirement benefits (in this subsection referred to as "past service benefits") have, as a consequence of a past service event occurring at a particular time, become provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in respect of a period that

(i) immediately before the particular time, was not pensionable service of the individual under the provision, and

(ii) is, or was, pensionable service of the individual under another defined benefit provision (in this subsection referred to as the "former provision") of a registered pension plan,

(b) either

(i) the individual has not, at any time after 1996 and before the particular time, been a member in relation to the former provision,

(ii) the individual ceased, at the particular time, to be a member in relation to the former provision, or

(iii) the past service event is a certifiable past service event and the individual is to cease being a member in relation to the former provision no later than 90 days after the day on which a certification of the Minister is issued for the purposes of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act in respect of the past service benefits, and

(c) lifetime retirement benefits to which the individual is or was entitled under the former provision in respect of the period have not been taken into account under subsection (5) as former benefits in determining a provisional PSPA of the individual that is associated with any other past service event,

the following rules apply:

(d) the period is a qualifying past service period in relation to the individual and the past service event,

(e) lifetime retirement benefits to which the individual is or was entitled under the former provision in respect of the period are former benefits in relation to the individual and the past service event,

(f) where subsection 8301(8) has applied in respect of the determination of a pension credit of the individual under the former provision with respect to an employer for a year that includes any part of the period, the amount determined by the formula is a non-vested PA amount in respect of the individual and the past service event, where

$$A - B$$

A is the amount that would have been the individual's pension credit under the former provision for the year with respect to the employer if subsection 8301(8) had not applied, and

B is the individual's pension credit under the former provision for the year with respect to the employer, and

(g) the amount determined by the formula is a money purchase transfer in relation to the individual and the past service event, where

A – B

A is the total of all amounts each of which is

(i) an amount that was transferred, at or before the particular time, on behalf of the individual from the former provision to a registered retirement savings plan, a registered retirement income fund, a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan or a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan that was, at the time of the transfer, a specified multi-employer plan, or

(ii) an amount that is to be paid or otherwise made available under the former provision with respect to the individual after the particular time, other than an amount that is to be transferred to fund the past service benefits or paid directly to the individual, to the extent that the amount can reasonably be considered to be attributable to benefits in respect of the portion of the period that is after 1989, and

B is the total of all amounts each of which is, in respect of an employer with respect to which a provisional PSPA of the individual that is associated with the past service event is determined under subsection (5), the amount, if any, by which

(i) the portion of the value determined for B in subsection 8303(3), for the purpose of determining the individual's provisional PSPA with respect to the employer, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to benefits provided in respect of the period

exceeds

(ii) the portion of the value determined for A in subsection 8303(3), for the purpose of determining the individual's provisional PSPA with respect to the employer, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to benefits provided in respect of the period.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 8300(7) — Benefits include contingent benefits.

History: Subsec. 8304(5.1) added by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 7(2), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable to the determination of provisional PSPAs that are associated with past service events that occur after 1997.

(6) Reinstatement of pre-1997 benefits — Where lifetime retirement benefits have, as a consequence of a past service event, become provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in respect of a period that

(a) was previously pensionable service of the individual under the provision,

(b) ceased to be pensionable service of the individual under the provision as a consequence of the individual ceasing before 1997 to be a member in relation to the provision, and

(c) has not, at any time after 1996 and before the past service event, been pensionable service of the individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan, each provisional PSPA of the individual that is associated with the past service event shall be determined as if all benefits provided to the individual under the provision before 1997 in respect of the period had been provided to the individual under another defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in relation to which the individual has not, at any time after 1996, been a member.

History: Subsec. 8304(6) amended by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 7(2), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable to the determination of provisional PSPAs that are associated with past service events that occur after 1997.

(7) Two or more employers — Where

(a) lifetime retirement benefits (in this subsection referred to as "past service benefits") provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan as a consequence of a past service event are attributable to employment of the individual with two or more employers (each of which is, in this subsection, referred to as a "current employer"), and

(b) subsection (5) would, but for paragraph (5)(b), apply in respect of the determination of each provisional PSPA of the individual that is associated with the past service event, each such provisional PSPA shall be determined in accordance with the formula set out in subsection (5), except that

(c) in determining the amount A,

(i) the former benefits of the individual shall be considered to be attributable to employment of the individual with the individual's current employers, and

(ii) the portion of the former benefits attributable to employment with each current employer shall be determined by the administrator of the pension plan under which the past service benefits are provided in a manner that is consistent with the association of the past service benefits with each current employer,

(d) the amounts B and C shall be included in computing only one provisional PSPA of the individual, as determined by the administrator of the pension plan under which the past service benefits are provided, and

(e) the amount D that is deducted in computing the individual's provisional PSPA with respect to a particular employer shall equal such portion of the individual's qualifying transfers made in connection with the past service event as is not deducted in computing the provisional PSPA of the individual with respect to any other employer.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8303(6) — Meaning of qualifying transfers.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8304.1(2) — Termination during 1997 deemed to be in 1998.

Forms: RC4137: Pension adjustment reversal guide; T4104: Past service pension adjustment guide.

(2) Termination in 1997 — For the purpose of subsection (1) and the description of R in paragraph 8307(2)(b), where an individual terminates in 1997 from a deferred profit sharing plan or from a benefit provision of a registered pension plan, the termination is deemed to have occurred in 1998.

(3) PAR — deferred profit sharing plan — For the purposes of this Part and Part LXXXIV and subject to subsection (12), an individual's PAR determined in connection with the individual's termination from a deferred profit sharing plan is

(a) if the conditions in subsection (13) are satisfied with respect to the termination, the total of all amounts each of which is an amount

(i) included in determining a pension credit of the individual under the plan, and

(ii) to which the individual has ceased, at or before the time of the termination, to have any rights,

but does not include any amount to which a spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner of the individual has acquired rights as a consequence of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership; and

(b) in any other case, nil.

(4) PAR — money purchase provision — For the purposes of this Part and Part LXXXIV and subject to subsection (12), an individual's PAR determined in connection with the individual's termination from a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan is

(a) if the conditions in subsection (14) are satisfied with respect to the termination, the total of all amounts each of which is an amount

(i) included in determining a pension credit of the individual under the provision, and

but does not include any amount to which a spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner of the individual has acquired rights as a consequence of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership; and

(b) in any other case, nil.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8500(8)(c) — Non-member benefits ignored in determining pension adjustment.

(5) PAR — defined benefit provision — For the purposes of this Part and Part LXXXIV and subject to subsections (6) and (12), an individual's PAR determined in connection with the individual's termination from a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan is

(a) where the conditions in subsection (14) are satisfied with respect to the termination, the amount determined by the formula

$$A + B - C - D$$

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is, in respect of a particular year that is the year in which the termination occurs or that is a preceding year, the lesser of

(i) the total of all amounts each of which is the pension credit of the individual under the provision for the particular year with respect to an employer, and

(ii) the RRSP dollar limit for the year following the particular year,

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of the grossed-up amount of a provisional PSPA (other than a provisional PSPA determined in accordance with subsection 8303(8)) of the individual that is associated with a past service event occurring before the time of the termination that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to benefits provided under the provision,

C is the total of all amounts each of which is a specified distribution made in respect of the individual and the provision at or before the time of the termination, and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is a PA transfer amount in relation to the individual's termination from the provision; and

(b) in any other case, nil.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 8300(11)(c) — Deemed specified distribution; Reg. 8304.1(6) — Defined benefit pension credits; Reg. 8304.1(7) — Meaning of grossed-up amount of provisional PSPA; Reg. 8304.1(8) — Meaning of specified distribution; Reg. 8304.1(10) — PA transfer amount; Reg. 8304.1(11) — Special 1997 PA transfer amount; Reg. 8304.1(14) — Terminations conditions; Reg. 8500(8)(c) — Non-member benefits ignored in determining pension adjustment.

(6) Defined benefit pension credits — For the purpose of subparagraph (i) of the description of A in paragraph (5)(a), in determining an individual's PAR in connection with the individual's termination from a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan,

(a) the individual's pension credits under the provision for the year in which the termination occurs shall be determined without regard to benefits provided after the time of the termination; and

(b) the individual's pension credits under the provision for each year in which the plan was a specified multi-employer plan are deemed to be nil.

(7) Grossed-up PSPA amount — For the purposes of the descriptions of B in subsection 8303(7.1) and paragraph (5)(a), the grossed-up amount of an individual's provisional PSPA with respect to an employer that is associated with a past service event is the amount that would be the provisional PSPA if

(a) the values of C and D in subsections 8303(3) and 8304(5) were nil; and

(b) the words "at the time the past service event occurred" in paragraph (b) of the description of A in subsection 8304(5) were read as "immediately before the time the past service event occurred".

(8) Specified distribution — For the purpose of the description of C in paragraph (5)(a), an amount paid under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan with respect to an individual is a specified distribution made in respect of the individual and the provision at the time it is paid, except to the extent that

(a) it can reasonably be considered to be a payment of benefits in respect of any period before 1990;

(b) it is transferred to another registered pension plan (other than a plan that is, at the time of the transfer, a specified multi-employer plan) in accordance with subsection 147.3(3) of the Act;

(c) it is transferred to another defined benefit provision of the plan where the transfer would, if the provision and the other provision were in separate registered pension plans, constitute a transfer in accordance with subsection 147.3(3) of the Act;

(d) it is a payment in respect of an actuarial surplus;

(e) it is

(i) a return of contributions made by the individual under the provision, where the contributions are returned pursuant to an amendment to the plan that also reduces the future contributions that would otherwise be required to be made under the provision by members of the plan and that does not reduce benefits provided under the provision, or

(ii) a payment of interest in respect of contributions that are returned as described in subparagraph (i);

(f) it can reasonably be considered to be a payment of benefits provided in respect of a period throughout which the plan was a specified multi-employer plan; or

(g) it can reasonably be considered to be a payment of benefits provided in respect of a period throughout which the individual was employed outside Canada, where the benefits became provided as a consequence of a past service event in respect of which the Minister had consented to the application of subsection 8303(10) for the purpose of determining the individual's provisional PSPAs.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8304.1(9) — Property made available deemed to be paid; Reg. 8304.1(15) — Marriage breakdown — benefits acquired by spouse.

(9) Property made available — Where property held in connection with a particular defined benefit provision of a pension plan is made available at any time to provide benefits with respect to an individual under another benefit provision of a pension plan, subsection (8) applies as if the amount of the property had been paid under the particular provision at that time with respect to the individual.

(10) PA transfer amount — Where

(a) an individual has terminated, at a particular time after 1996, from a defined benefit provision (in this subsection referred to as the "former provision") of a registered pension plan,

(b) lifetime retirement benefits (in this subsection referred to as the "past service benefits") have, as a consequence of a past service event occurring at or before the particular time, become provided to the individual under another defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan in respect of a period that is or was pensionable service of the individual under the former provision, and

(c) lifetime retirement benefits to which the individual is or was entitled under the former provision in respect of the period have, under subsection 8304(5), been taken into account as former benefits in determining a provisional PSPA of the individual that is associated with the past service event,

for the purposes of subsection 8406(5) and the description of D in paragraph (5)(a), the lesser of

(d) the portion of the value determined for A in subsection 8303(3), for the purpose of determining the provisional PSPA, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to the past service benefits, and is a PA transfer amount in relation to the individual's termination from the former provision.

(e) the portion of the value determined for B in subsection 8303(3), for the purpose of determining the provisional PSPA, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to the former benefits

Related Provisions: Reg. 8300(7) — Benefits include contingent benefits; Reg. 8304.1(11) — Special 1997 PA transfer amount.

(11) Special 1997 PA transfer amount — Where

(a) an individual has terminated, at a particular time in 1997, from a particular defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan,

(b) lifetime retirement benefits (in this subsection referred to as the "past service benefits") have, as a consequence of a past service event that occurred after the particular time and before 1998, become provided to the individual under the particular provision, or under another defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan, in respect of a period that was previously pensionable service of the individual under the particular provision, and

(c) lifetime retirement benefits to which the individual was previously entitled under the particular provision in respect of the period have, under subsection 8304(5), been taken into account as former benefits in determining a provisional PSPA of the individual that is associated with the past service event, for the purposes of subsection 8406(5) and the description of D in paragraph (5)(a), the lesser of

(d) the portion of the value determined for A in subsection 8303(3), for the purpose of determining the provisional PSPA, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to the past service benefits, and is a PA transfer amount in relation to the individual's termination from the particular provision at the particular time.

(e) the portion of the value determined for B in subsection 8303(3), for the purpose of determining the provisional PSPA, that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to the former benefits

Related Provisions: Reg. 8300(7) — Benefits include contingent benefits.

(12) Subsequent membership — Where an individual has ceased at a particular time to be a member in relation to a deferred profit sharing plan or a benefit provision of a registered pension plan and subsequently becomes a member in relation to the plan or the provision, as the case may be, the following rules apply in determining the individual's PAR in connection with any subsequent termination from the plan or the provision, as the case may be:

(a) in the case of a deferred profit sharing plan or money purchase provision, any amounts included in a pension credit of the individual under the plan or provision because of an allocation to the individual before the particular time shall be disregarded; and

(b) in the case of a defined benefit provision,

(i) the value of A in paragraph (5)(a) shall be determined without regard to any pension credit, or portion of a pension credit, that is attributable to benefits provided under the provision before the particular time,

(ii) the value of B in paragraph (5)(a) shall be determined without regard to any provisional PSPA that is associated with a past service event that occurred before the particular time, and

(iii) the value of C in paragraph (5)(a) shall be determined without regard to any specified distribution (as defined in subsection (8)) made at or before the particular time.

(13) Termination conditions — deferred profit sharing plan — For the purpose of paragraph (3)(a), the conditions with respect to an individual's termination from a deferred profit sharing plan are the following

(a) the termination occurs after 1996 and otherwise than because of death; and

(b) no payments described in subparagraph 147(2)(k)(v) of the Act have been made out of or under the plan with respect to the individual.

(14) Termination conditions — registered pension plan — For the purposes of paragraphs (4)(a) and (5)(a), the conditions with respect to an individual's termination from a benefit provision of a registered pension plan are the following:

(a) the termination occurs after 1996 and otherwise than because of death; and

(b) no retirement benefits have been paid under the provision with respect to the individual (other than retirement benefits paid with respect to the individual's spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner as a consequence of a breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership).

Related Provisions: Reg. 8300(11)(b) — Termination conditions deemed not satisfied.

(15) Breakdown of marriage or common-law partnership — Where

(a) before a member terminates from a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan, there has been a breakdown of the member's marriage or common-law partnership, and

(b) as a consequence of the breakdown,

(i) the member has ceased to have rights to all or a portion of the benefits provided under the provision with respect to the member, and

(ii) an individual who is the member's spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner has acquired rights under the provision in respect of those benefits,

for the purpose of subsection (8),

(c) any amount paid under the provision with respect to the rights acquired by the individual (other than a single amount paid under the provision at or before the time of the member's termination in full satisfaction of the rights acquired by the individual) is deemed not to have been paid with respect to the member, and

(d) unless a single amount has been paid under the provision at or before the time of the member's termination in full satisfaction of the rights acquired by the individual, a single amount equal to the present value (at the time the member terminates from the provision) of the benefits to which the member has ceased to have rights as a consequence of the breakdown is deemed to have been paid to the member at that time under the provision in full satisfaction of those benefits.

8305. Association of benefits with employers — (1) Where, for the purposes of this Part, it is necessary to determine the portion of an amount of benefits provided with respect to a member of a registered pension plan under a defined benefit provision of the plan that is attributable to the member's employment with a particular employer, the following rules apply, subject to subsection 8308(7):

(a) the determination shall be made by the plan administrator;

(b) benefits provided as a consequence of services rendered by the member to an employer who participates in the plan shall be regarded as attributable to employment with that employer, whether the benefits become provided at the time the services are rendered or at a subsequent time; and

(c) the determination shall be made in a manner that

(i) is reasonable in the circumstances,

(ii) is not inconsistent with such determinations made previously, and

(iii) results in the full amount of benefits being attributed to employment with one or more employers who participate in the plan.

(2) Where the administrator of a registered pension plan does not comply with the requirements of subsection (1) in connection with the determination of an amount under this Part at any time,

(a) the plan becomes, at that time, a revocable plan; and

(b) the Minister shall make any determinations referred to in subsection (1) that the administrator fails to make, or fails to make in accordance with that subsection.

8306. Exemption from certification — (1) For the purposes of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act as it applies in respect of a past service event and the benefits provided under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan with respect to a particular member of the plan, a certification of the Minister is not required where

(a) each provisional PSPA of the member that is associated with the past service event is nil;

(b) the conditions in subsection (2) or (3) are satisfied;

(c) the conditions in subsection (2) or (3) are substantially satisfied and the Minister waives in writing the requirement for certification; or

(d) the past service event is deemed by paragraph 8304(3)(b) to have occurred immediately after the end of 1990.

(2) The following are conditions for the purposes of paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) and 8303(5)(g):

(a) there are more than 9 active members under the provision,

(b) no more than 25 per cent of the active members under the provision are specified active members under the provision;

(c) for all or substantially all of the active members under the provision, the amount of lifetime retirement benefits accrued under the provision has increased as a consequence of the past service event;

(d) where there is a specified active member under the provision;

(i) the amounts C and D in subparagraph (ii) are greater than nil, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula A/C does not exceed the amount determined by the formula B/D

where

A is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of lifetime retirement benefits accrued under the provision, immediately after the past service event, to a specified active member under the provision,

B is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of lifetime retirement benefits accrued under the provision, immediately after the past service event, to an active member (other than a specified active member) under the provision,

C is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of lifetime retirement benefits accrued under the provision, immediately before the past service event, to a specified active member under the provision, and

D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of lifetime retirement benefits accrued under the provision, immediately before the past service event, to an active member (other than a specified active member) under the provision; and

(e) the benefits provided under the provision as a consequence of the past service event to members of the plan who are not active members under the provision are not more advantageous than such benefits provided to active members under the provision.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8306(4) — Meaning of active member and specified active member.

(3) The following are conditions for the purposes of paragraphs (1)(b) and (c):

(a) the past service event consists of the establishment of the provision;

(b) there are more than 9 active members under the provision;

(c) no more than 25 per cent of the active members under the provision are specified active members under the provision;

(d) the member is not a specified active member under the provision;

(e) if the member is not an active member under the provision, for each of the 5 years immediately preceding the calendar year in which the past service event occurs,

(i) the member was not connected at any time in the year with an employer who participates in the plan, and

(ii) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the remuneration of the member for the year from an employer who participates in the plan did not exceed 2½ times the Year's Maximum Pensionable Earnings for the year; and

(f) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is a provisional PSPA of the member associated with the past service event does not exceed ½ of the money purchase limit for the year in which the past service event occurs.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8306(4) — Meaning of active member and specified active member.

(4) For the purposes of this section as it applies in respect of a past service event,

(a) a member of a pension plan is an active member under a defined benefit provision of the plan if

(i) lifetime retirement benefits accrue under the provision to the member in respect of a period that immediately follows the time the past service event occurs, or

(ii) the member is entitled, immediately after the time the past service event occurs, to lifetime retirement benefits under the provision in respect of a period before that time and it is reasonable to expect, at that time, that lifetime retirement benefits will accrue under the provision to the member in respect of a period after that time; and

(b) an active member under a defined benefit provision of a pension plan is a specified active member under the provision if

(i) the member is connected, at the time of the past service event, with an employer who participates in the plan, or

(ii) it is reasonable to expect, at the time of the past service event, that the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the remuneration of the member for the calendar year in which the past service event occurs from an employer who participates in the plan will exceed 2½ times the Year's Maximum Pensionable Earnings for the year.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8300(7) — Benefits include contingent benefits.

8307. Certification in respect of past service events — (1) Application for certification — Application for a certification of the Minister for the purposes of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act shall be made in prescribed form by the administrator of the registered pension plan to which the certification relates.

Forms: T1004: Applying for the certification of a provisional PSPA.

(2) Prescribed condition — For the purposes of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act in respect of a past service event and benefits with respect to a particular member of a registered pension plan, the prescribed condition is that, at the particular time the Minister issues the certification,

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the member's provisional PSPA with respect to an employer associated with the past service event does not exceed

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$$8{,}000 + A + B + C - D + R$$

where

A is the member's unused RRSP deduction room at the end of the year immediately preceding the calendar year (in this paragraph referred to as the "particular year") that includes the particular time,

B is the amount of the member's qualifying withdrawals made for the purposes of the certification, determined as of the particular time,

C is the amount of the member's PSPA withdrawals for the particular year, determined as of the particular time, and

D is the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the accumulated PSPA of the member for the particular year with respect to an employer, determined as of the particular time.

R is the total of all amounts each of which is a PAR determined in connection with the individual's termination in the particular year from a deferred profit sharing plan, or from a benefit provision of a registered pension plan, and in respect of which an information return has been filed under section 8402.01 with the Minister before the particular time.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 8304.1(2) — Termination during 1997 deemed to be in 1998; Reg. 8307(3) — Meaning of qualifying withdrawals; Reg. 8307(5) — PSPA withdrawals.

History: The formula amended, and the description of R added, in para. 8307(2)(b) by P.C. 1998-2256, subsecs. 9(1), (2), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable to the 1998 and subsequent calendar years.

(3) Qualifying withdrawals — For the purposes of paragraph (5)(a) and the description of B in paragraph (2)(b), the amount of an individual's qualifying withdrawals made for the purposes of a certification in respect of a past service event, determined as of a particular time, is the lesser of

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is such portion of an amount withdrawn by the individual from a registered retirement savings plan under which the individual was the annuitant (within the meaning assigned by subsection 146(1) of the Act) at the time of the withdrawal as

(i) is eligible, pursuant to subsection (4), to be designated for the purposes of the certification, and

(ii) is designated by the individual for the purposes of the certification by filing a prescribed form containing prescribed information with the Minister before the particular time, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the provisional PSPA of the individual with respect to an employer associated with the past service event

exceeds

(ii) the amount, positive or negative, determined by the formula

$$A + C - D + R$$

where A, C, D and R have the same values as they have at the particular time for the purposes of the formula in paragraph (2)(b).

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

History: Subpara. 8307(3)(b)(ii) amended to add formula element R by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 9(3), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable to the 1998 and subsequent calendar years.

Forms: T1006: Designating an RRSP withdrawal as a qualifying withdrawal.

(4) Eligibility of withdrawn amount for designation — An amount withdrawn by an individual from a registered retirement savings plan is eligible to be designated for the purposes of a certification, except to the extent that the following rules provide otherwise:

(a) the amount is not eligible to be designated if the amount was

(i) withdrawn from a registered retirement savings plan in a calendar year other than the year in which the designation would be filed with the Minister or either of the 2 immediately preceding calendar years, or

(ii) withdrawn in circumstances that entitle the individual to a deduction under paragraph 60(l) of the Act; and

(b) the amount is not eligible to be designated to the extent that the amount was

(i) designated by the individual for the purposes of any other certification, or

(ii) deducted under section 60.2 or subsection 146(8.2) or 147.3(13.1) of the Act in computing the individual's income for any taxation year.

History: Subpara. 8307(4)(b)(ii) amended by P.C. 2001-153, subsec. 4(1), January 30, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 14, 2001, applicable to 1992 et seq. It formerly read:

(ii) deducted under section 60.2 or subsection 146(8.2) of the Act in computing the individual's income for any taxation year.

(5) PSPA withdrawals — For the purposes of the description of C in paragraph (2)(b) and the description of G in the definition "net past service pension adjustment" in subsection 146(1) of the Act, the amount of an individual's PSPA withdrawals for a calendar year, determined as of a particular time, is

(a) if the Minister has issued, in the year and before the particular time, a certification for the purposes of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act with respect to the individual, the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount of the individual's qualifying withdrawals made for the purposes of a certification that the Minister has issued in the year and before the particular time; and

(b) in any other case, nil.

(6) Prescribed withdrawal — For the purposes of subsection (7) and subsections 146(8.2) and 147.3(13.1) of the Act, a prescribed withdrawal is the portion of an amount withdrawn by an individual from a registered retirement savings plan under which the individual is the annuitant (within the meaning assigned by subsection 146(1) of the Act) that is designated in accordance with subparagraph (3)(a)(ii) for the purposes of a certification in respect of the individual.

History: Subsec. 8307(6) amended by P.C. 2001-153, subsec. 4(2), January 30, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 14, 2001, applicable to 1992 et seq. It formerly read:

(6) Prescribed withdrawal — For the purposes of subsection (7) and subsection 146(8.2) of the Act, a prescribed withdrawal is such portion of an amount withdrawn by an individual from a registered retirement savings plan under which the individual is the annuitant (within the meaning assigned by subsection 146(1) of the Act) as is designated in accordance with subparagraph (3)(a)(iii) for the purposes of a certification in respect of the individual.

Subsec. 8307(6) added by P.C. 1991-2540, s. 7, December 16, 1991, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 15, 1992, applicable after 1990.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-124R6: Contributions to registered retirement savings plans; IT-528: Transfers of funds between registered plans.

(7) Prescribed premium — For the purpose of subsection 146(6.1) of the Act, a premium paid by a taxpayer under a registered retirement savings plan under which the taxpayer is the annuitant (within the meaning assigned by subsection 146(1) of the Act) at the time the premium is paid is a prescribed premium for a particular taxation year of the taxpayer where the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) the taxpayer withdrew an amount (in this subsection referred to as the "withdrawn amount") in the particular year from a registered retirement savings plan for the purposes of a certification in respect of a past service event;

(b) all or part of the withdrawn amount is a prescribed withdrawal pursuant to subsection (6);

(c) it is subsequently determined that

(i) as a consequence of reasonable error, the taxpayer withdrew a greater amount than necessary for the purposes of the certification, or

(ii) as a consequence of the application of paragraph 147.1(3)(b) of the Act, it was not necessary for the taxpayer to withdraw any amount;

(d) the premium is paid by the taxpayer in the 12-month period immediately following the time at which the determination referred to in paragraph (c) is made;

(e) the amount of the premium does not exceed such portion of the withdrawn amount as is a prescribed withdrawal pursuant to subsection (6) and is determined to have been an unnecessary withdrawal;

(f) the taxpayer files with the Minister, on or before the day on or before which the taxpayer is required (or would be required if tax under Part I of the Act were payable by the taxpayer for the taxation year in which the taxpayer pays the premium) by section 150 of the Act to file a return of income for the taxation year in which the taxpayer pays the premium, a written notice in which the taxpayer designates the premium as a recontribution of all or any portion of the withdrawn amount; and

(g) the taxpayer has not designated, pursuant to paragraph (f), any other premium as a recontribution of all or any portion of the withdrawn amount.

History: Subsec. 8307(7) added by P.C. 1991-2540, s. 7, December 16, 1991, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 15, 1992, applicable to 1991 et seq.

8308. Special rules — (1) Benefits provided before registration — For the purposes of this Part and subsection 147.1(10) of the Act, benefits that became provided under a defined benefit provision of a pension plan before the day as of which the plan becomes a registered pension plan shall be deemed to have become provided as a consequence of an event occurring on that day and not to have been provided before that day.

(2) Prescribed amount for connected persons — Where

(a) at any particular time in a calendar year after 1990,

(i) an individual becomes a member of a registered pension plan, or

(ii) lifetime retirement benefits commence to accrue to the individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan following a period in which lifetime retirement benefits did not accrue to the individual,

(b) the individual is connected at the particular time, or was connected at any time after 1989, with an employer who participates in the plan for the benefit of the individual,

(c) the individual did not have a pension adjustment for 1990 that was greater than nil, and

(d) this subsection did not apply before the particular time to prescribe an amount with respect to the individual, an amount equal to the lesser of $11,500 and 18 per cent of the individual's earned income (within the meaning assigned by paragraph 146(1)(c) [146(1)"earned income"] of the Act) for 1990 is prescribed with respect to the individual for the year for the purpose of the descriptions of B in paragraphs 146(1)(g.1) and (l) [146(1)"RRSP deduction limit" and "unused RRSP deduction room"] and section 204.2(1.1) of the Act.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-124R6: Contributions to registered retirement savings plans.

(3) Remuneration for prior years — Where an individual who is entitled to benefits under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan receives remuneration at a particular time in a particular calendar year no part of which is pensionable service of the individual under the provision and the remuneration is treated for the purpose of determining benefits under the provision as if it were remuneration received in one or more calendar years preceding the particular calendar year for services rendered in those preceding years, the following rules apply:

(a) such portion of the remuneration as is treated under the provision as if it were remuneration received in a preceding calendar year for services rendered in that preceding year shall be deemed, for the purpose of determining, as of the particular time and any subsequent time, a redetermined benefit entitlement of the individual under the provision, to have been received in that preceding year for services rendered in that preceding year; and

(b) the pension credit of the individual for the particular year under the provision with respect to an employer is the aggregate of

(i) the amount that would otherwise be the individual's pension credit for the particular year, and

(ii) the amount that would, if the payment of the remuneration were a past service event, be the provisional PSPA (or a reasonable estimate thereof determined in a manner acceptable to the Minister) of the individual with respect to the employer that is associated with the payment of the remuneration.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8300(7)) — Benefits include contingent benefits.

(4) Period of reduced services — retroactive benefits — Where,

(a) as a consequence of a past service event, retirement benefits (in this subsection referred to as "retroactive benefits") become provided under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan (other than a plan that is a specified multi-employer plan) to an individual in respect of a period of reduced services of the individual,

(b) the period of reduced services was not, before the past service event, pensionable service of the individual under the provision, and

(c) the past service event occurs on or before April 30 of the year immediately following the calendar year in which ends the complete period of reduced services of the individual that includes the period of reduced services,

the following rules apply:

(d) each pension adjustment of the individual with respect to an employer for a year before the calendar year in which the past service event occurs shall be deemed to be, and to always have been, the aggregate of

(i) the amount that would otherwise be the individual's pension adjustment with respect to the employer for the year, and

(ii) such portion of the provisional PSPA of the individual with respect to the employer that is associated with the past service event as may reasonably be considered to be attributable to the provision of retroactive benefits in respect of the year, and

(e) each provisional PSPA of the individual with respect to an employer that is associated with the past service event shall be deemed (except for the purposes of this subsection) to be such portion of the amount that would otherwise be the individual's provisional PSPA as may reasonably be considered not to be attributable to the provision of retroactive benefits.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-363R2: Deferred profit sharing plans — deductibility of employer contributions and taxation of amounts received by a beneficiary (archived).

Information Circulars: 98-2: Prescribed compensation for RPPs, paras. 23–25.

(5) Period of reduced services — retroactive contributions — Where

(a) a contribution (in this subsection referred to as a "retroactive contribution") is made by an individual, or by an employer with respect to the individual, under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan in respect of a period in a particular calendar year that is a period of reduced services of the individual, and

(b) the retroactive contribution is made after the particular year and on or before April 30 of the year immediately following the calendar year in which ends the complete period of reduced services of the individual that includes the period of reduced services,

the following rules apply:

(c) each pension adjustment of the individual for the particular year with respect to an employer shall be deemed to be, and to always have been, the amount that it would have been had the retroactive contribution been made at the end of the particular year, and

(d) the retroactive contribution shall be deemed, for the purpose of determining pension adjustments of the individual for any year after the particular year, to have been made at the end of the particular year and not to have been made at any subsequent time.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-363R2: Deferred profit sharing plans — deductibility of employer contributions and taxation of amounts received by a beneficiary (archived).

Information Circulars: 98-2: Prescribed compensation for RPPs, paras. 23–25.

(6) Commitment to make retroactive contributions — Where

(a) an individual enters into a written commitment to make a contribution under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan,

(b) the commitment is made to the administrator of the plan or to an employer who participates in the plan, and

(c) the rules in subsection (5) would apply in respect of the contribution if the contribution were made at the time at which the individual enters into the commitment,

the following rules apply for the purposes of this Part:

(d) the individual shall be deemed to have made the contribution to the plan at the time at which the individual enters into the commitment,

(e) if the individual subsequently pays all or a part of the contribution to the plan pursuant to the commitment, the amount paid to the plan is, for the purposes of paragraphs 8301(4)(a) and (8)(e), a contribution described in this paragraph,

(f) any contribution that an employer is required to make under the money purchase provision conditional on the individual making the contribution that the individual has committed to pay and in respect of which subsection (5) would apply if the contribution were made by the employer at the time the individual enters into the commitment shall be deemed to have been made by the employer at that time, and

(g) if an employer subsequently pays to the plan all or a part of a contribution in respect of which paragraph (f) applies, the amount paid to the plan is, for the purposes of paragraph 8301(4)(a), a contribution described in this paragraph.

History: Paras. 8308(6)(e) and (g) amended by P.C. 1995-17, s. 6, January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable with respect to amounts paid to registered pension plans after 1989.

Information Circulars: 98-2: Prescribed compensation for RPPs, paras. 23–25.

(7) Loaned employees — Where, pursuant to an arrangement between an employer (in this subsection referred to as the "lending employer") who is a participating employer in relation to a pension plan and an employer (in this subsection referred to as the "borrowing employer") who, but for this subsection, would not be a participating employer in relation to the plan,

(a) an employee of the lending employer renders services to the borrowing employer for which the employee receives remuneration from the borrowing employer, and

(b) while the employee renders services to the borrowing employer, benefits continue to accrue under a defined benefit provision of the plan to the employee, or the lending employer continues to make contributions under a money purchase provision of the plan with respect to the employee,

the following rules apply:

(c) for the purpose of the definition "participating employer" in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act as it applies in respect of the plan, the borrowing employer is a prescribed employer,

(d) the determination, for the purposes of this Part, of the portion of the employee's benefit accrual under a defined benefit provision of the plan in respect of a year that can reasonably be considered to be attributable to the employee's employment with each of the lending and borrowing employers shall be made with regard to the remuneration received by the employee for the year from each employer, and

(e) such portion of the contributions made under a money purchase provision of the plan by the lending employer as may reasonably be considered to be in respect of the employee's remuneration from the borrowing employer shall be deemed, for the purposes of this Part, to be contributions made by the borrowing employer.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8507(5)E(a) — Additional compensation fraction.

(8) Successor plans — Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Part, other than section 8310, where

(a) all benefits with respect to an individual under a defined benefit provision (in this subsection referred to as the "former provision") of a registered pension plan are replaced in a calendar year by identical benefits under a defined benefit provision of another registered pension plan,

(b) the replacement of benefits is consequent on a transfer of the individual's employment from one employer (in this subsection referred to as the "former employer") to another employer (in this subsection referred to as the "successor employer"), and

(c) the Minister consents in writing to the application of this subsection in respect of that replacement of benefits, the individual's pension adjustments for the year with respect to the former employer and the successor employer shall be the amounts that they would be if all benefits with respect to the individual under the former provision had been attributable to employment with the successor employer and not to employment with the former employer.

(9) Special downsizing benefits — Where

(a) lifetime retirement benefits that do not comply with the condition in paragraph 8503(3)(a) are provided to an individual under a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan, and

(b) the benefits are permissible only by reason of subsection 8505(3), each pension credit of the individual under the provision and each provisional PSPA of the individual shall be determined without regard to the lifetime retirement benefits.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-528: Transfers of funds between registered plans.

8308.1 Foreign plans — (1) Definitions — In this section, "foreign plan" means a plan or arrangement (determined without regard to subsection 207.6(5) of the Act) that would, but for paragraph (l) of the definition "retirement compensation arrangement" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, be a retirement compensation arrangement.

(2) Pension credit — Subject to subsections (3) to (4.1), the pension credit of an individual for a calendar year with respect to an employer under a foreign plan is

(a) where paragraph (b) does not apply, nil; and

(b) where

(i) the year is 1992 or a subsequent year,

(ii) the individual became entitled in the year, either absolutely or contingently, to benefits under the foreign plan in respect of services rendered to the employer in a period throughout which the individual was resident in Canada and rendered services to the employer that were primarily services rendered in Canada or services rendered in connection with a business carried on by the employer in Canada, or a combination of those services,

(iii) the individual continued to be entitled at the end of the year, either absolutely or contingently, to all or part of the benefits, and

(iv) either

(A) no contribution was made under the foreign plan in the year in respect of the individual, except where

(I) no contribution was made because the foreign plan had an actuarial surplus, and

(II) had a contribution been made in respect of the benefits referred to in subparagraph (ii), it would have been a resident's contribution (as defined in subsection 207.6(5.1) of the Act), or

(B) a contribution that is not a resident's contribution was made under the foreign plan in the year in respect of the individual,

the lesser of

(v) the amount, if any, by which 18% of the individual's resident compensation from the employer for the year exceeds the PA offset for the year, and

(vi) the amount by which the money purchase limit for the year exceeds the PA offset for the year.

History: The opening words of subsec. 8308.1(2) and the portion of para. 8308.1(2)(b) after subpara. (iv) amended by P.C. 1998-2256, subsecs. 10(1), (2), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable applicable after 1991.

(3) Pension credit — alternative determination — Subject to subsection (4), where the Minister has, on the written application of an employer, approved in writing a method for determining pension credits for a year with respect to the employer under a foreign plan, the pension credits shall be determined in accordance with that method.

(4) Pension credits for 1992, 1993 and 1994 — The pension credit of an individual for 1992, 1993 or 1994 with respect to an employer under a foreign plan is the lesser of

(a) the amount that would, but for this subsection, be determined as the pension credit for the year, and

(b) the amount, if any, by which the lesser of

(i) 18% of the amount that would be the individual's compensation from the employer for the year if the definition "compensation" in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act were read without reference to paragraphs (b) and (c) of that definition, and

(ii) the money purchase limit for the year

exceeds the total of

(iii) $1,000, and

(iv) the amount that would be the pension adjustment of the individual for the year with respect to the employer if subsection 8301(1) were read without reference to paragraph (b) of that subsection.

(4.1) Pension credits — 1996 to 2003 — For the purpose of determining the pension credit of an individual for a calendar year after 1995 and before 2004 with respect to an employer under a foreign plan, subparagraph (2)(b)(vi) shall be read as

"(vi) the money purchase limit for the year.".

Proposed Amendment — 8308.1(4.1)

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), s. 8, will amend subsec. 8308.1(4.1) by replacing the reference to "2004" with "2003" and the heading before it is amended by replacing the reference to "2003" with "2002", applicable after 2002.

Technical Notes: Sections 8308.1 to 8309 set out rules for determining pension credits and prescribed amounts for individuals who participate in foreign pension plans and other unregistered retirement arrangements. These amounts reduce the participant's RRSP deduction room.

These sections provide special transitional rules for determining pension credits from 1996 to 2003 and for determining prescribed amounts from 1997 to 2004. The intent of these rules is that, during those years in which the RRSP dollar limit was scheduled to be less than $15,500, high-income participants would lose all or part of the new RRSP deduction room that would otherwise have become available to them in those years by virtue of the $600 PA offset.

These sections are being amended so that the special rules cease to apply one year earlier than previously scheduled (that is, the rules will not apply in determining 2003 pension credits and 2004 prescribed amounts). These amendments are consequential to amendments to the Act, which provided for increases to the RRSP dollar limit earlier than previously scheduled.

History: Subsec. 8308.1(4.1) added by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 10(3), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1991.

(5) Foreign plan PSPA — Subject to subsection (6), where the benefits to which an individual is entitled, either absolutely or contingently, under a foreign plan are modified, the foreign plan PSPA of the individual with respect to an employer associated with the modification of benefits is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount that, if this section were read without reference to subsection (3), would be the pension credit of the individual with respect to the employer under the foreign plan for a calendar year before the year in which the individual's benefits are modified

exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is

(b) the pension credit of the individual with respect to the employer under the foreign plan for a calendar year before the year in which the individual's benefits are modified, or

(c) the foreign plan PSPA of the individual with respect to the employer associated with a previous modification of the individual's benefits under the foreign plan.

(6) Foreign plan PSPA — alternative determination — Where the Minister has, on the written application of an employer, approved in writing a method for determining the foreign plan PSPA of an individual with respect to the employer associated with a modification of the individual's benefits under a foreign plan, the individual's foreign plan PSPA shall be determined in accordance with that method.

8308.2 Prescribed amount for member of foreign plan — (1) Prescribed amount — Where

(a) throughout a period in a particular calendar year after 1992 an individual resident in Canada rendered services to an employer, other than services that were primarily services rendered in Canada or services rendered in connection with a business carried on by the employer in Canada, or a combination of those services,

(b) the individual became entitled in the particular year, either absolutely or contingently, to benefits under a pension plan that is a foreign plan (as defined in subsection 8308.1(1)) in respect of the services, and

(c) the individual continued to be entitled at the end of the particular year, either absolutely or contingently, to all or part of the benefits, subject to subsection (2), there is prescribed in respect of the individual for the year following the particular year, for the purposes of the descriptions of B in the definitions "RRSP deduction limit" and "unused RRSP deduction room" in subsection 146(1) of the Act and the description of B in paragraph 204.2(1.1)(b) of the Act, the lesser of

(d) the amount by which the money purchase limit for the particular year exceeds the PA offset for the particular year, and

(e) 10% of the portion of the individual's resident compensation from the employer for the particular year that is attributable to services rendered by the individual to the employer in periods throughout which the individual rendered services described in paragraph (a).

(2) Prescribed amounts — 1997 to 2004 — For the purpose of determining the amount prescribed under subsection (1) in respect of an individual for a calendar year after 1996 and before 2005, paragraph (d) of that subsection shall be read as:

"(d) the money purchase limit for the particular year, and".

Proposed Amendment — 8308.2(2)

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), s. 9, will amend subsec. 8308.2(2) by replacing the reference to "2005" with "2004" and the heading before it is amended by replacing the reference to "2004" with "2003", applicable after 2002.

8308.3 Specified retirement arrangements — (1) Definition — In this section, "specified retirement arrangement" means, in respect of an individual and an employer, a plan or arrangement under which payments that are attributable to the individual's employment with the employer are to be, or may be, made to or for the benefit of the individual after the termination of the individual's employment with the employer, but does not include

(a) a plan or arrangement referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (k), (m) and (n) of the definition "retirement compensation arrangement" in subsection 248(1) of the Act;

(b) [Repealed]

(c) a plan or arrangement that does not provide in any circumstances for payments to be made to or for the benefit of the individual after the later of the last day of the calendar year in which the individual attains 69 years of age and the day that is 5 years after the day of termination of the individual's employment with the employer;

(d) a plan or arrangement (in this paragraph referred to as the "arrangement") that is, or would be, but for paragraph (l) of the definition "retirement compensation arrangement" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, a retirement compensation arrangement where

(i) the funding of the arrangement is subject to the Pension Benefits Standards Act, 1985 or a similar law of a province, or

(ii) the arrangement is funded substantially in accordance with the funding requirements that would apply if the arrangement were subject to the Pension Benefits Standards Act, 1985;

(e) a plan or arrangement that is deemed by subsection 207.6(6) of the Act to be a retirement compensation arrangement; or

(f) an arrangement established by the Judges Act or the Lieutenant Governors Superannuation Act.

History: Paras. 8308.3(1)(a) and (c) amended, para. 8308.3(1)(b) repealed, by P.C. 1998-2256, subsecs. 12(1)–(3), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, para. (a) and the repeal applicable after 1991; para. (c) applicable after 1997, except that the amendment does not apply in respect of an individual who attained 69 years of age before 1998.

(2) Pension credit — Subject to subsections (3) and (3.1), the pension credit of an individual for a calendar year with respect to an employer under a specified retirement arrangement is

(a) where paragraph (b) does not apply, nil; and

(b) where

(i) the year is 1993 or a subsequent year,

(ii) the employer is, at any time in the year,

(A) a person who is exempt, because of section 149 of the Act, from tax under Part I of the Act on all or part of the person's taxable income, or

(B) the Government of Canada or the government of a province,

(iii) the individual became entitled in the year, either absolutely or contingently, to benefits under the arrangement in respect of employment with the employer,

(iv) at the end of the year, the individual is entitled, either absolutely or contingently, to benefits under the arrangement, and

(v) the amount determined by the formula

$$0.85A - B$$

is greater than nil where

A is the lesser of

(A) the amount, if any, by which 18% of the individual's resident compensation from the employer for the year exceeds the PA offset for the year, and

(B) the amount by which the money purchase limit for the year exceeds the PA offset for the year, and

B is the amount that would be the pension adjustment of the individual for the year with respect to the employer if subsection 8301(1) were read without reference to paragraph (c) of that subsection, the amount that would be determined by the formula in subparagraph (v) if the reference to "0.85" in the formula were replaced by a reference to "1".

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

History: The opening words of subsec. 8308.3(2) and the portion of subpara. 8308.3(2)(b)(v) before the description of B amended by P.C. 1998-2256, subsecs. 12(4), (5), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1991.

(3) Pension credit — alternative determination — Where the Minister has, on the written application of an employer, approved in writing a method for determining pension credits for a year with respect to the employer under a specified retirement arrangement, the pension credits shall be determined in accordance with that method.

(3.1) Pension credits — 1996 to 2003 — For the purpose of determining the pension credit of an individual for a calendar year after 1995 and before 2004 with respect to an employer under a specified retirement arrangement, the portion of paragraph (2)(b) after subparagraph (iv) shall be read as

"(v) the amount determined by the formula

$$0.85A - B$$

is greater than nil where

A is the lesser of

(A) the amount, if any, by which 18% of the individual's resident compensation from the employer for the year exceeds the PA offset for the year, and

(B) the amount by which $15,500 exceeds the PA offset for the year, and

B is the amount that would be the pension adjustment of the individual for the year with respect to the employer if subsection 8301(1) were read without reference to paragraph (c), the amount that would be determined by the formula in subparagraph (v) if

(vi) the reference to "0.85A" in that formula were read as a reference to "A", and

(vii) clause (B) of the description of A in that subparagraph were read as

"(B) the money purchase limit for the year, and".".

Proposed Amendment — 8308.3(3.1)

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), s. 10, will amend subsec. 8308.3(3.1) by replacing the reference to "2004" with "2003" and the heading before it is amended by replacing the reference to "2003" with "2002", applicable after 2002.

Technical Notes: See under 8308.1(4.1) above.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

History: Subsec. 8308.3(3.1) added by P.C. 1998-2256, subsec. 12(6), December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1991.

(4) Specified retirement arrangement PSPA — Subject to subsection (5), where the benefits to which an individual is entitled, either absolutely or contingently, under a specified retirement arrangement are modified, the specified retirement arrangement PSPA of the individual with respect to an employer associated with the modification of benefits is the amount, if any, by which

(a) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount that, if this section were read without reference to subsection (3), would be the pension credit of the individual with respect to the employer under the arrangement for a calendar year before the year in which the individual's benefits are modified

exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is

(b) the pension credit of the individual with respect to the employer under the arrangement for a calendar year before the year in which the individual's benefits are modified, or

(c) the specified retirement arrangement PSPA of the individual with respect to the employer associated with a previous modification of the individual's benefits under the arrangement.

(5) Specified retirement arrangement PSPA — alternative determination — Where the Minister has, on the written application of an employer, approved in writing a method for determining the specified retirement arrangement PSPA of an individual with respect to the employer associated with a modification of the individual's benefits under a specified retirement arrangement, the individual's specified retirement arrangement PSPA shall be determined in accordance with that method.

8308.4 Government-sponsored retirement arrangements — (1) Definitions — The definitions in this subsection apply in this section.

"administrator" means, in respect of a government-sponsored retirement arrangement, the government or other entity that has ultimate responsibility for the administration of the arrangement.

"government-sponsored retirement arrangement" means a plan or arrangement established to provide pensions directly or indirectly from the public money of Canada or a province to one or more individuals each of whom renders services in respect of which amounts that are included in computing the income from a business of any person or partnership are paid directly or indirectly from the public money of Canada or a province.

(2) Prescribed amount — Where

(a) in a particular calendar year after 1992 an individual renders services in respect of which an amount that is included in computing the income from a business of any person was payable directly or indirectly by the Government of Canada or of a province, and

(b) at the end of the particular year, the individual is entitled, either absolutely or contingently, to benefits under a government-sponsored retirement arrangement that provides benefits in connection with such services,

there is prescribed in respect of the individual for the year following the particular year, for the purposes of the descriptions of B in the definitions "RRSP deduction limit" and "unused RRSP deduction room" in subsection 146(1) of the Act and the description of B in paragraph 204.2(1.1)(b) of the Act,

(c) where the particular year is before 1996, the amount by which the RRSP dollar limit for that following year exceeds $1,000, and

(d) in any other case, the RRSP dollar limit for that following year.

History: Subsec. 8308.4(2) amended by P.C. 1998-2256, s. 13, December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1992.

S. 8308.4 added by P.C. 1996-911, s. 8, June 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 10, 1996, applicable after 1992.

Definitions [Reg. 8308.4]: "administrator" — Reg. 8308.4(1); "amount", "business" — ITA 248(1); "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "government-sponsored retirement arrangement" — Reg. 8308.4(1); "individual" — ITA 248(1); "person", "prescribed" — ITA 248(1); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "RRSP dollar limit" — ITA 146(1), 248(1).

Registered Plans Directorate Newsletters: 91-4R (registration rules for money purchase provisions).

8309. Prescribed amount for lieutenant governors and judges — (1) Subject to subsection (3), where an individual is, at any time in a particular calendar year after 1989, a lieutenant governor of a province (other than a lieutenant governor who is not a contributor as defined in section 2 of the Lieutenant Governors Superannuation Act), there is prescribed in respect of the individual for the year following the particular year, for the purposes of the descriptions of B in the definitions "RRSP deduction limit" and "unused RRSP deduction room" in subsection 146(1) of the Act and the description of B in paragraph 204.2(1.1)(b) of the Act, the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which 18% of the salary received by the individual for the particular year as a lieutenant governor exceeds the PA offset for the particular year, and

(b) the amount by which the money purchase limit for the particular year exceeds the PA offset for the particular year.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), where an individual is, at any time in a particular calendar year after 1990, a judge in receipt of a salary under the Judges Act, there is prescribed in respect of the individual for the year following the particular year, for the purposes of the descriptions of B in the definitions "RRSP deduction limit" and "unused RRSP deduction room" in subsection 146(1) of the Act and the description of B in paragraph 204.2(1.1)(b) of the Act, the lesser of

(a) the amount, if any, by which 18% of the portion of the salary received by the individual for the particular year under the Judges Act in respect of which contributions are required under subsection 50(1) or (2) of that Act exceeds the PA offset for the particular year; and

(b) the amount determined by the formula

$$A \times \frac{B}{12}$$

where

A is the amount by which the money purchase limit for the particular year exceeds the PA offset for the particular year, and

B is the number of months, in the particular year, for which the individual received salary in respect of which contributions were required under subsection 50(1) or (2) of the Judges Act.

(3) For the purpose of determining the amount prescribed under subsection (1) or (2) in respect of an individual for a calendar year after 2000 and before 2005,

(a) paragraph (1)(b) shall be read as follows:

"(b) the money purchase limit for the particular year.", and

(b) the description of A in paragraph (2)(b) shall be read as follows:

"A is the money purchase limit for the particular year, and".

Proposed Amendment — 8309(3)

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), s. 11, will amend subsec. 8309(3) by replacing the reference to "2005" with "2004", applicable after 2002.

Technical Notes: See under 8308.1(4.1) above.

History: Paras. 8309(2)(a) and (b) and subsec. 8309(3) amended by P.C. 2001-1634, s. 1, September 20, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 10, 2001, applicable to the determination of prescribed amounts for 2001 and subsequent calendar years. The paras. and subsec. formerly read:

(a) the amount, if any, by which 18% of the salary (other than salary that was not received under the Judges Act) received by the individual for the particular year as a judge exceeds the PA offset for the particular year, and

(b) the amount by which the money purchase limit for the particular year exceeds the PA offset for the particular year.

(3) For the purpose of determining the amount prescribed under subsection (1) or (2) in respect of an individual for a calendar year after 1996 and before 2005, paragraphs (1)(b) and (2)(b) shall be read as:

"(b) the money purchase limit for the particular year.".

S. 8309 amended by P.C. 1998-2256, s. 14, December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1989.

Definitions [Reg. 8309]: "amount" — ITA 248(1); "Governor" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "individual" — ITA 248(1); "lieutenant governor" — Interpretation Act 35(1); "money purchase limit" — ITA 147.1(1), 248(1); "PA offset" — Reg. 8300(1); "prescribed" — ITA 248(1); "province" — Interpretation Act 35(1).

8310. Minister's powers — (1) Where more than one method for determining an amount under this Part complies with the rules in this Part, only such of those methods as are acceptable to the Minister shall be used.

(2) Where, in a particular case, the rules in this Part require the determination of an amount in a manner that is not appropriate having regard to the provisions of this Part read as a whole and the purposes for which the amount is determined, the Minister may permit or require the amount to be determined in a manner that, in the Minister's opinion, is appropriate.

(3) Where, pursuant to subsection (2), the Minister gives permission or imposes a requirement, the permission or requirement is not effective unless it is given or imposed in writing.

Definitions [Reg. 8310]: "amount", "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "writing" — Interpretation Act 35(1).

8311. Rounding of amounts — Where a pension credit, provisional PSPA or PAR of an individual is not a multiple of one dollar, it shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of one dollar or, if it is equidistant from 2 such consecutive multiples, to the higher of the two multiples.

History: S. 8311 amended by P.C. 1998-2256, s. 15, December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1996.

Definitions [Reg. 8311]: "individual" — ITA 248(1); "PAR" — Reg. 8304.1(1), (3)–(5); "pension credit" — Reg. 8301, 8308.1(2)–(4), 8308.3(2), (3); "provisional PSPA" — Reg. 8303(2), (3), 8308(4)(e).

PART LXXXIV — RETIREMENT AND PROFIT SHARING PLANS — REPORTING AND PROVISION OF INFORMATION

History: The heading to Part LXXXIV amended by P.C. 1996-911, s. 9, June 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 10, 1996, applicable after 1992. The heading formerly read: Registered Plans — Reporting and Provision of Information.

Part LXXXIV (ss. 8400–8410) added by P.C. 1991-2540, s. 7, December 16, 1991, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 15, 1992, ss. 8400 to 8405, 8409 and 8410 applicable after 1989 except that

(a) any return otherwise required to be filed under s. 8402 or 8403 or subsec. 8409(1) before the particular day that is 60 days after January 15, 1992 shall be deemed to have been filed as required if it is filed on or before the particular day;

(b) any copy of a return or form otherwise required under subsec. 8404(2) or (3) to be forwarded to an individual before the particular day that is 60 days after January 15, 1992 shall be deemed to have been forwarded as required if it is forwarded on or before the particular day;

(c) any return otherwise required by reason of s. 8405 to be filed before February 28, 1991 shall be deemed to have been filed as required if it is filed on or before February 28, 1991; and

(d) subsec. 8409(3) is applicable in respect of final distributions of property held in connection with registered pension plans where the distribution is made after 1989 and any return otherwise required to be filed under subsec. 8409(3) before the particular day that is 60 days after January 15, 1992 shall be deemed to have been filed as required if it is filed on or before the particular day.

8400. Definitions — (1) All words and expressions used in this Part that are defined in subsection 8300(1), 8308.4(1) or 8500(1) or in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act have the meanings assigned in those provisions.

History: Subsec. 8400(1) amended by P.C. 1996-911, s. 10, June 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 10, 1996, applicable after 1992.

(2) A reference in this Part to a pension credit of an individual means a pension credit of the individual as determined under Part LXXXIII.

(3) For the purposes of this Part, where the administrator of a pension plan is not otherwise a person, the administrator shall be deemed to be a person.

Definitions [Reg. 8400]: "administrator" — ITA 147.1(1), Reg. 8308.4(1); "individual" — ITA 248(1); "pension credit" — Reg. 8301, 8308.1(2)–(4), 8308.3(2), (3), Reg. 8400(2); "person" — ITA 248(1), Reg. 8400(3).

8401. Pension adjustment — (1) Where the pension adjustment of an individual for a calendar year with respect to an employer is greater than nil, the employer shall, on or before the last day of February in the immediately following calendar year, file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting the pension adjustment, other than the portion, if any, required by subsection (2) or (3) to be reported by the administrator of a registered pension plan.

(2) Where an individual makes a contribution in a particular calendar year to a registered pension plan that is a specified multi-employer plan in the year and the contribution is not remitted to the plan by any participating employer on behalf of the individual, the plan administrator shall, on or before the last day of February in the immediately following calendar year, file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the portion, if any, of the individual's pension adjustment for the particular year with respect to an employer that may reasonably be considered to result from the contribution.

(3) Where the portion of a pension credit of an individual for a calendar year that, pursuant to subsection (4), is reportable by the administrator of a registered pension plan is greater than nil, the administrator shall, on or before the last day of February in the immediately following calendar year, file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting that portion of the pension credit.

(4) For the purpose of subsection (3), where, on application by the administrator of a registered pension plan that is, in a calendar year, a multi-employer plan (other than a specified multi-employer plan), the Minister consents in writing to the application of this subsection with respect to the plan in the year, such portion of each pension credit for the year under a defined benefit provision of the plan as may reasonably be considered to be attributable to benefits provided in respect of a period of reduced services or disability of an individual is, to the extent permitted by the Minister, reportable by the administrator.

(5) Subsections (1) to (3) do not apply to require the reporting of amounts with respect to an individual for the calendar year in which the individual dies.

(6) Where the pension adjustment of an individual for a calendar year with respect to an employer is altered by reason of the application of paragraph 8308(4)(d) or (5)(c) and the amount (in this subsection referred to as the "redetermined amount") that a person would have been required to report based on the pension adjustment as altered exceeds

(a) if the person has not previously reported an amount in respect of the individual's pension adjustment, nil, and

(b) otherwise, the amount reported by the person in respect of the individual's pension adjustment, the person shall, within 60 days after the day on which paragraph 8308(3)(c) or (5)(c), as the case may be, applies to alter the pension adjustment, file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting the redetermined amount.

Definitions [Reg. 8401]: "administrator" — ITA 147.1(1), Reg. 8308.4(1); "amount" — ITA 248(1); "contribution" — Reg. 8302(12); "defined benefit provision" — ITA 147.1(1); "employer", "individual", "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "multi-employer plan", "participating employer" — ITA 147.1(1); "pension adjustment" — ITA 248(1); "pension credit" — Reg. 8301, 8308.1(2)–(4), 8308.3(2), (3), Reg. 8400(2); "person" — ITA 248(1), Reg. 8400(3); "prescribed" — ITA 248(1); "redetermined amount" — Reg. 8401(6); "registered pension plan" — ITA 248(1); "specified multi-employer plan" — ITA 147.1(1), Reg. 8510(2), (3); "writing" — Interpretation Act 35(1).

8402. Past service pension adjustment — (1) Where a provisional PSPA (computed under section 8303, 8304 or 8308) of an individual with respect to an employer that is associated with a past service event (other than a certifiable past service event) is greater than nil, the administrator of each registered pension plan to which the past service event relates shall, within 60 days after the day on which the past service event occurs, file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting such portion of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the individual's PSPA with respect to an employer that is associated with the past service event as may reasonably be considered to be attributable to benefits provided under the plan, except that a return is not required to be filed by an administrator if the amount that would otherwise be reported by the administrator is nil.

(2) Where a foreign plan PSPA (computed under subsection 8308.1(5) or (6)) of an individual with respect to an employer associated with a modification of benefits under a foreign plan (as defined by subsection 8308.1(1)) is greater than nil, the employer shall, on or before the last day of February in the year following the calendar year in which the individual's benefits were modified, file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting the foreign plan PSPA.

(3) Where a specified retirement arrangement PSPA (computed under subsection 8308.3(4) or (5)) of an individual with respect to an employer associated with a modification of benefits under a specified retirement arrangement (as defined by subsection 8308.3(1)) is greater than nil, the employer shall, on or before the last day of February in the calendar year following the calendar year in which the individual's benefits were modified, file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting the specified retirement arrangement PSPA.

History: S. 8402 renumbered as subsec. 8402(1) and subsecs. (2) and (3) added, by P.C. 1996-911, s. 11, June 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 10, 1996, applicable after 1991.

Definitions [Reg. 8402]: "administrator" — ITA 147.1(1), Reg. 8308.4(1); "amount" — ITA 248(1); "associated" — ITA 256; "certifiable past service event" — Reg. 8300(1); "employer", "individual", "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "past service event" — ITA 147.1(1), Reg. 8300(1); "prescribed", "registered pension plan" — ITA 248(1).

8402.01 Pension adjustment reversal — (1) Deferred profit sharing plan — Where the PAR determined in connection with an individual's termination from a deferred profit sharing plan is greater than nil, each trustee under the plan shall file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting the PAR

(a) where the termination occurs in the first, second or third quarter of a calendar year, on or before the day that is 60 days after the last day of the quarter in which the termination occurs, and

(b) where the termination occurs in the fourth quarter of a calendar year, before February of the following calendar year, and, for this purpose, an information return filed by a trustee under a deferred profit sharing plan is deemed to have been filed by each trustee under the plan.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8404(2) — Copy of return must be provided to taxpayer.

Forms: T10: Pension adjustment reversal; T10 Segment; T10 Summ: Summary of PARs.

(2) Deferred profit sharing plan — employer reporting — Where an amount included in an individual's pension credit in respect of an employer under a deferred profit sharing plan is included in determining a PAR in connection with the individual's termination from the plan, the employer is deemed to be a trustee under the plan for the purpose of reporting the PAR.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8404(2) — Copy of return must be provided to taxpayer.

(3) Benefit provision of a registered pension plan — Subject to subsection (4), where the PAR determined in connection with an individual's termination from a benefit provision of a registered pension plan is greater than nil, the administrator of the plan shall file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting the PAR

(a) where the termination occurs in the first, second or third quarter of a calendar year, on or before the day that is 60 days after the last day of the quarter in which the termination occurs; and

(b) where the termination occurs in the fourth quarter of a calendar year, before February of the following calendar year.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8404(2) — Copy of return must be provided to taxpayer.

(4) Extended deadline — PA transfer amount — Where, in determining an individual's PAR in connection with the individual's termination from a defined benefit provision of a registered pension plan, it is reasonable for the administrator of the plan to conclude, on the basis of information provided to the administrator by the administrator of another pension plan or by the individual, that the value of D in paragraph 8304.1(5)(a) in respect of the termination may be greater than nil, the administrator shall file with the Minister an information return in prescribed form reporting the PAR, if it is greater than nil, on or before the later of

(a) the day on or before which it would otherwise be required to be filed; and

(b) the day that is 60 days after the earliest day on which the administrator has all the information required to determine that value.

(5) Calendar year quarter — For the purposes of this section,

(a) the first quarter of a calendar year is the period beginning on January 1 and ending on March 31 of the calendar year;

(b) the second quarter of a calendar year is the period beginning on April 1 and ending on June 30 of the calendar year;

(c) the third quarter of a calendar year is the period beginning on July 1 and ending on September 30 of the calendar year; and

(d) the fourth quarter of a calendar year is the period beginning on October 1 and ending on December 31 of the calendar year.

Subsecs. 8404(1) and (2) amended by P.C. 1996-911, s. 13, June 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 10, 1996, applicable after 1992.

Definitions [Reg. 8404]: "individual", "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "past service event" — ITA 147.1(1), Reg. 8300(1); "person" — ITA 248(1), Reg. 8400(3).

8405. Discontinuance of business — Subsection 205(2) and section 206 are applicable, with such modifications as the circumstances require, in respect of returns required to be filed under this Part.

8406. Provision of information — (1) Where a person who is required to file an information return under section 8401 requires information from another person in order to determine an amount that is to be reported or to otherwise complete the return and makes a written request to the other person for the information, the other person shall provide the person with the information that is available to that other person,

(a) where the information return is required to be filed in the calendar year in which the request is received, within 30 days after receipt of the request; or

(b) in any other case, by January 31 of the year immediately following the calendar year in which the request is received.

(2) Where the administrator of a registered pension plan requires information from a person in order to determine a provisional PSPA of an individual under section 8303, 8304 or 8308 and makes a written request to the person for the information, the person shall, within 30 days after receipt of the request, provide the administrator with the information that is available to the person.

(3) Where the administrator of a registered pension plan requires information from a person in order to complete an information return required to be filed under section 8409 and makes a written request to the person for the information, the person shall, within 30 days after receipt of the request, provide the administrator with the information that is available to that person.

(4) Where a person requires information from another person in order to determine a PAR under section 8304.1 in connection with an individual's termination in a calendar year from a deferred profit sharing plan or from a benefit provision of a registered pension plan (other than information that the other person is required to provide to the person under subsection (5)) and makes a written request to the other person for the information, the other person shall provide the person with the information that is available to the other person on or before

(a) if the request is received before December 17 of the year, the day that is 30 days after the day on which the request is received; and

(b) in any other case, the later of the day that is 15 days after the day on which the request is received and January 15 of the year following the year.

History: Reg. 8406(4) added by P.C. 1998-2256, s. 18, December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1996, except that any information otherwise required by subsec. 8406(4) to be provided before March 7, 1999 is required to be provided on or before that day.

(5) Where benefits provided to an individual under a registered pension plan (in this subsection referred to as the "importing plan") as a consequence of a past service event result in a PA transfer amount in relation to the individual's termination from a defined benefit provision of another registered pension plan (in this subsection referred to as the "exporting plan"),

(a) the administrator of the importing plan shall, in writing on or before the day that is 30 days after the day on which the past service event occurred, notify the administrator of the exporting plan of the occurrence of the past service event and of its relevance in determining the individual's PAR in connection with the individual's termination from the defined benefit provision; and

(b) the administrator of the importing plan shall notify the administrator of the exporting plan of the PA transfer amount in writing on or before the day that is 60 days after

(i) in the case of a certifiable past service event, the day on which the Minister issues a certification for the purposes of subsection 147.1(10) of the Act in respect of the past service event and the individual, and

(ii) in any other case, the day on which the past service event occurred.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8304.1(10) — PA transfer amount; Reg. 8304.1(11) — Special 1997 PA transfer amount.

History: Reg. 8406(5) added by P.C. 1998-2256, s. 18, December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1996, except that

(a) any notification otherwise required by para. 8406(5)(a) to be provided before September 30, 1998 is required to be provided on or before that date; and

(b) any notification otherwise required by para. 8406(5)(b) to be provided is required to be provided on or before March 7, 1999 (60 days after publication in the Canada Gazette).

Forms: T1006: Designating an RRSP withdrawal as a qualifying withdrawal.

8408. Requirement to provide Minister with information — (1) The Minister may, by notice served personally or by registered or certified mail, require that a person provide the Minister, within such reasonable time as is stipulated in the notice, with

(a) information relating to the determination of amounts under Part LXXXIII;

(b) where the person claims that paragraph 147.1(10)(a) of the Act is not applicable with respect to an individual and a past service event by reason of an exemption provided by regulation, information relevant to the claim; or

(c) information for the purpose of determining whether the registration of a pension plan may be revoked.

(2) Where a person fails to provide the Minister with information pursuant to a requirement under subsection (1), each registered pension plan and deferred profit sharing plan to which the information relates becomes a revocable plan as of the day on or before which the information was required to be provided.

Definitions [Reg. 8408]: "amount" — ITA 248(1); "deferred profit sharing plan" — ITA 147(1), 248(1); "individual", "Minister" — ITA 248(1); "past service event" — ITA 147.1(1), Reg. 8300(1); "person" — ITA 248(1), Reg. 8400(3); "registered pension plan" — ITA 248(1).

8409. Annual information returns — (1) The administrator of a registered pension plan that is administered under the supervision of a government regulator shall file an information return for a fiscal period of the plan in prescribed form and containing prescribed information

(a) where an agreement concerning annual information returns has been entered into by the Minister and the regulator, as identified in subsection (2),

(i) in the case of the agreement with the Pension Commission of Ontario, with the Taxation Data Centre of the Ministry of Finance of Ontario, and

(ii) in any other case, with that regulator, on or before the day that an information return required by that regulator is to be filed for the fiscal period; and

(b) in any other case, with the Minister on or before the day that is 180 days after the end of the fiscal period.

History: Subsec. 8409(1) amended by P.C. 1996-213, s. 1, February 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, March 6, 1996, applicable to fiscal periods that end after December 30, 1994. Former s. 8409 does not apply for the 1994 calendar year to a registered pension plan with a fiscal period ending in 1994 before December 31, 1994.

Subsec. 8409(1) amended by P.C. 1995-17, s. 7, January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable after 1989.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 8409(2)

CCRA, Registered Plans Directorate Newsletter No. 03-1 (June 27, 2003): Joint Annual Information Return – New Participating Pension Supervisory Authority

Further to our Newsletter No. 95-4, New Filing Requirements for the Registered Pension Plan Annual Information Return, and our Newsletter No. 01-2, Joint Annual Information Return — New Participating Pension Supervisory Authorities, the CCRA has developed a new joint annual information return with the Régie des rentes du Québec....

In creating the joint annual information return with the Régie des rentes du Québec, we created a new schedule to include with Quebec's annual information return. The new schedule, called RC154, Schedule of Required Information for the Canada Customs and Revenue Agency, is to be filed with Quebec's annual information return....

Subsection 8409(2) of the Income Tax Regulations will be amended to reflect the agreement reached with the province of Quebec concerning the annual information return.

If you need a copy of Quebec's annual information return, or if you have questions concerning the return, contact the Régie des rentes du Québec at (418) 643-8282 or visit their Web site at www.rrq.gouv.qc.ca.

If you have question concerning the RC154 schedule, contact the Registered Plans Directorate [English 613-954-0419; French 613-954-0930; Fax: (613) 952-0199]...

You can get a copy of the RC154 schedule on our Web site at www.ccra.gc.ca or call 1 800 959-3376.

PART LXXXV — REGISTERED PENSION PLANS

History: Part LXXXV (ss. 8500-8520) added by P.C. 1991-2540, s. 7, December 16, 1991, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 15, 1992, applicable after 1988 except that:

(a) subsec. 8512(1) is applicable as of January 15, 1992;

(b) any form or document otherwise required by subsec. 8512(2) to be forwarded to the Deputy Minister of National Revenue for Taxation before the particular day that is 60 days after January 15, 1992 shall be deemed to have been forwarded as required if it is forwarded on or before the particular day; and

(c) subsec. 8515(5) is applicable

(i) in respect of contributions made after 1991 to a pension plan that was registered by the Minister on or before July 31, 1991 for the purposes of the Income Tax Act, and

(ii) in respect of contributions made after 1990 to a pension plan that is registered by the Minister after July 31, 1991 for the purposes of that Act.

8500. Interpretation — (1) In this Part,

"active member" of a pension plan in a calendar year means a member of the plan to whom benefits accrue under a defined benefit provision of the plan in respect of all or any portion of the year or who makes contributions, or on whose behalf contributions are made, in relation to the year under a money purchase provision of the plan;

Related Provisions: Reg. 8500(7) — Amount allocated under money purchase provision deemed to be contribution.

"average Consumer Price Index" for a calendar year means the amount that is obtained by dividing by 12 the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the Consumer Price Index for a month in the 12-month period ending on September 30 of the immediately preceding calendar year;

"beneficiary" of an individual means a person who has a right, by virtue of the participation of the individual in a pension plan, to receive benefits under the plan after the death of the individual;

"benefit provision" of a pension plan means a money purchase or defined benefit provision of the plan;

"bridging benefits" provided to a member under a benefit provision of a pension plan means retirement benefits payable to the member under the provision for a period ending no later than a date determinable at the time the benefits commence to be paid;

"Consumer Price Index" for a month means the Consumer Price Index for the month as published by Statistics Canada under the authority of the Statistics Act;

"defined benefit limit" for a calendar year means the greater of

(a) $1,722.22, and

(b) 1/9 of the money purchase limit for the year;

Related Provisions: Reg. 8509(13), 8516(9) — Grandfathering provisions.

History: "Defined benefit limit" in subsec. 8500(1) amended by P.C. 1998-2256, s. 19, December 16, 1998, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 6, 1999, applicable after 1995, except that paragraph (b) of the definition applies

(a) before March 6, 1996 as though the money purchase limit for each year after 1995 were the amount that it would be if the definition "money purchase limit" in subsec. 147.1(1) of the Act applied as it read on December 31, 1995; and

(b) after March 5, 1996 and before 1997 as though the money purchase limit for each year after 1995 were the amount that it would be if the definition "money purchase limit" in subsec. 147.1(1) of the Act applied as it read on January 1, 1997.

"Defined benefit limit" in subsec. 8500(1) amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 8(1), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable after 1991.

"dependant" of an individual at the time of the individual's death means a parent, grandparent, brother, sister, child or grandchild of the individual who, at that time, is both dependent on the individual for support and

(a) under 19 years of age and will not attain 19 years of age in the calendar year that includes that time,

(b) in full-time attendance at an educational institution, or

(c) dependent on the individual by reason of mental or physical infirmity;

"disabled" means, in relation to an individual, suffering from a physical or mental impairment that prevents the individual from performing the duties of the employment in which the individual was engaged before the commencement of the impairment;

"eligible period of reduced pay" of an employee with respect to an employer means a period (other than a period in which the employee is, at any time after 1990, connected with the employer or a period any part of which is a period of disability of the employee)

(a) that begins after the employee has been employed by the employer or predecessor employers to the employer for not less than 36 months,

(b) throughout which the employee renders services to the employer, and

(c) throughout which the remuneration received by the employee from the employer is less than the remuneration that it is reasonable to expect the employee would have received from the employer had the employee rendered services throughout the period on a regular basis (having regard to the services rendered by the employee to the employer before the period) and had the employee's rate of remuneration been commensurate with the employee's rate of remuneration before the period;

Information Circulars: 98-2: Prescribed compensation for RPPs, para. 10.

"eligible period of temporary absence" of an individual with respect to an employer means a period throughout which the individual does not render services to the employer by reason of leave of absence, layoff, strike, lockout or any other circumstance acceptable to the Minister, other than a period

(a) a part of which is a period of disability of the individual, or

(b) in which the individual is, at any time after 1990, connected with the employer;

"eligible survivor benefit period" in relation to a person who is a dependant of an individual at the time of the individual's death, means the period beginning on the day of death of the individual and ending on the latest of

(a) where the dependant is under 19 years of age throughout the calendar year that includes the day of death of the individual, the earlier of

(i) December 31 of the calendar year in which the dependant attains 18 years of age, and

(ii) the day of death of the dependant,

(b) where the dependant is in full-time attendance at an educational institution on the later of the day of death of the individual and December 31 of the calendar year in which the dependant attains 18 years of age, the day on which the dependant ceases to be in full-time attendance at an educational institution, and

(c) where the dependant is dependent on the individual at the time of the individual's death by reason of mental or physical infirmity, the day on which the dependant ceases to be infirm or, if there is no such day, the day of death of the dependant;

"existing plan" means a pension plan that was a registered pension plan on March 27, 1988 or in respect of which an application for registration was made to the Minister before March 28, 1988, and includes a pension plan that was established before March 28, 1988 pursuant to an Act of Parliament that deems member contributions to be contributions to a registered pension plan;

"forfeited amount" under a money purchase provision of a pension plan means an amount to which a member of the plan has ceased to have any rights, other than the portion thereof, if any, that is payable

(a) to a beneficiary of the member as a consequence of the member's death, or

(b) to a spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner of the member as a consequence of the breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership;

History: Para. (b) of the definition "forfeited amount" in subsec. 8500(1) amended by P.C. 2001-957, subsec. 8(1), May 31, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 20, 2001, applicable to 2001 et seq., except that if a taxpayer and a person have jointly elected pursuant to s. 144 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act (S.C. 2000, c. 12), in respect of the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, the amendment applies to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year et seq.

"grandfathered plan" means

(a) an existing plan that, on March 27, 1988, contained a defined benefit provision, or

(b) a pension plan that was established to provide benefits under a defined benefit provision to one or more individuals in lieu of benefits to which the individuals were entitled under a defined benefit provision of another pension plan that is a grandfathered plan, whether or not benefits are also provided to other individuals;

Related Provisions: Reg. 8509(13) — Grandfathering where plan complied before March 1996 budget date.

"lifetime retirement benefits" provided to a member under a benefit provision of a pension plan means retirement benefits provided to the member under the provision that, after they commence to be paid, are payable to the member until the member's death, unless the benefits are commuted or payment of the benefits is suspended;

"multi-employer plan" in a calendar year means

(a) a pension plan in respect of which it is reasonable to expect, at the beginning of the year (or at the time in the year when the plan is established, if later), that at no time in the year will more than 95 per cent of the active members of the plan be employed by a single participating employer or by a related group of participating employers, other than a plan where it is reasonable to consider that one of the main reasons there is more than one employer participating in the plan is to obtain the benefit of any of the provisions of the Act or these Regulations that are applicable only with respect to multi-employer plans, or

(b) a pension plan that is, in the year, a specified multi-employer plan, and, for the purposes of this definition, 2 corporations that are related to each other solely by reason that they are both controlled by Her Majesty in right of Canada or a province shall be deemed not to be related persons;

Related Provisions: ITA 252.1 — Trade union locals and branches deemed to be a single employer; ITA 256(6), (6.1) — Meaning of "controlled".

Regulations: 8510(2), (3) (meaning of "specified multi-employer plan").

"pensionable service" of a member of a pension plan under a defined benefit provision of the plan means the periods in respect of which lifetime retirement benefits are provided to the member under the provision;

"period of disability" of an individual means a period throughout which the individual is disabled;

"predecessor employer" means, in relation to a particular employer, an employer (in this definition referred to as the "vendor") who has sold, assigned or otherwise disposed of all or part of the vendor's business or undertaking or all or part of the assets of the vendor's business or undertaking to the particular employer or to another employer who, at any time after the sale, assignment or other disposition, becomes a predecessor employer in relation to the particular employer, where one or more employees of the vendor have, in conjunction with the sale, assignment or disposition, become employees of the employer acquiring the business, undertaking or assets;

"public pension benefits" means amounts payable on a periodic basis under the Canada Pension Plan, a provincial pension plan as defined in section 3 of the Canada Pension Plan, or Part I of the Old Age Security Act, but does not include disability, death or survivor benefits provided under those Acts;

"public safety occupation" means the occupation of

(a) firefighter,

(b) police officer,

(c) corrections officer,

(d) air traffic controller, or

(e) commercial airline pilot;

"retirement benefits" provided to an individual under a benefit provision of a pension plan means benefits provided to the individual under the provision that are payable on a periodic basis;

"surplus" under a money purchase provision of a pension plan at any time means such portion, if any, of the amount held at that time in respect of the provision as has not been allocated to members and is not reasonably attributable to

(a) forfeited amounts under the provision or earnings of the plan that are reasonably attributable to those amounts,

(b) contributions made under the provision by an employer that will be allocated to members as part of the regular allocation of such contributions, or

(c) earnings of the plan (other than earnings that are reasonably attributable to the surplus under the provision before that time) that will be allocated to members as part of the regular allocation of such earnings;

Related Provisions: Reg. 8500(1.1) — Definition applies to ITA 147.3(7.1).

History: Paras. (a) and (b) of the definition of "surplus" in subsec. 8500(1) amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 8(2), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable after 1988.

"totally and permanently disabled" means, in relation to an individual, suffering from a physical or mental impairment that prevents the individual from engaging in any employment for which the individual is reasonably suited by virtue of the individual's education, training or experience and that can reasonably be expected to last for the remainder of the individual's lifetime;

"Year's Maximum Pensionable Earnings" for a calendar year has the meaning assigned by section 18 of the Canada Pension Plan.

(1.1) The definition "surplus" in subsection (1) applies for the purpose of subsection 147.3(7.1) of the Act.

History: Subsec. 8500(1.1) added by P.C. 2003-1497, subsec. 7(1), October 2, 2003, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 22, 2003, applicable after 1998.

(2) All words and expressions used in this Part that are defined in subsection 147.1(1) of the Act have the meanings assigned in that subsection.

(3) For the purposes of this Part, a person is connected with an employer at any time where, at that time, the person

(a) owns, directly or indirectly, not less than 10 per cent of the issued shares of any class of the capital stock of the employer or of any other corporation that is related to the employer,

(b) does not deal at arm's length with the employer, or

(c) is a specified shareholder of the employer by reason of paragraph (d) of the definition "specified shareholder" in subsection 248(1) of the Act, and, for the purposes of this subsection,

(d) a person shall be deemed to own, at any time, each share of the capital stock of a corporation owned, at that time, by a person with whom the person does not deal at arm's length,

(e) where shares of the capital stock of a corporation are owned at any time by a trust,

(i) if the share of any beneficiary in the income or capital of the trust depends on the exercise by any person of, or the failure by any person to exercise, any discretionary power, each beneficiary of the trust shall be deemed to own, at that time, all the shares owned by the trust, and

(ii) in any other case, each beneficiary of a trust shall be deemed to own, at that time, that proportion of the shares owned by the trust that the fair market value at that time of the beneficiary's beneficial interest in the trust is of the fair market value at that time of all beneficial interests in the trust,

(f) each member of a partnership shall be deemed to own, at any time, that proportion of all shares of the capital stock of a corporation that are property of the partnership at that time that the fair market value at that time of the member's interest in the partnership is of the fair market value at that time of the interests of all members in the partnership, and

(g) a person who, at any time, has a right under a contract, in equity or otherwise, either immediately or in the future and either absolutely or contingently, to, or to acquire, shares of the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed to own, at that time, those shares if one of the main reasons for the existence of the right may reasonably be considered to be that the person not be connected with an employer.

(6) Where this Part provides that an amount is to be determined by aggregating the durations of periods that satisfy specified conditions, a period shall be included in determining the aggregate only if it is not part of a longer period that satisfies the conditions.

(7) For the purposes of the definition "active member" in subsection (1), subparagraph 8503(3)(a)(v) and paragraphs 8504(7)(d) and 8507(3)(a), such portion of an amount allocated to an individual at any time under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan as is attributable to

Proposed Amendment — 8500(7) opening words

(7) For the purposes of the definition "active member" in subsection (1), subparagraph 8503(3)(a)(v) and paragraphs 8504(7)(d), 8506(2)(c.1) and 8507(3)(a), the portion of an amount allocated to an individual at any time under a money purchase provision of a registered pension plan that is attributable to

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), s. 12, will amend the opening words of subsec. 8500(7) to read as above, applicable after 2003.

Technical Notes: Subsection 8500(7) deems the allocation of surplus and forfeited amounts to an individual under a money purchase provision of an RPP to be a contribution made on behalf of the individual for the purposes of a number of provisions in Part LXXXV that depend on whether money purchase contributions are made on behalf of an individual.

Subsection 8500(7) is amended so that the deeming provision also applies for the purpose of new paragraph 8506(2)(c.1), which prohibits money purchase contributions from being made on behalf of a member at any time after the calendar year in which the member turns 69 years of age.

(a) forfeited amounts under the provision or earnings of the plan that are reasonably attributable to those amounts,

(b) a surplus under the provision,

(c) property transferred to the provision in respect of the actuarial surplus under a defined benefit provision of the plan or another registered pension plan, or

(d) property transferred to the provision in respect of the surplus under another money purchase provision of the plan or under a money purchase provision of another registered pension plan shall be deemed to be a contribution made under the provision on behalf of the individual at that time.

History: Para. 8500(7)(d) added by P.C. 2003-1497, subsec. 7(2), October 2, 2003, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 22, 2003, applicable to allocations that occur after 1998.

Subsec. 8500(7) added by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 8(3), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable after 1988, except that with respect to amounts allocated on or before April 5, 1994, subsec. (7) shall be read without reference to the expression "[of] the definition 'active member' in subsection (1)", and for the purposes of subparagraph 8507(3)(a)(vi), without reference to paragraph (c) thereof.

(8) [Member and non-member benefits] — Where an individual who is entitled to receive benefits (in this subsection referred to as "member benefits") under a pension plan because of the individual's membership in the plan is also entitled to receive other benefits (in this subsection referred to as "non-member benefits") under the plan or under any other pension plan solely because of the participation of another individual in the plan or in the other plan, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purpose of determining whether the member benefits are permissible under this Part, the non-member benefits shall be disregarded;

(b) for the purpose of determining whether the non-member benefits are permissible under this Part, the member benefits shall be disregarded; and

(c) for the purpose of determining a pension adjustment, pension adjustment reversal or provisional past service pension adjustment of the individual under Part LXXXIII, the non-member benefits shall be disregarded.

History: Subsec. 8500(8) added by P.C. 2001-153, s. 5, January 30, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 14, 2001, applicable after 1988, except that before 1997, para. (c) shall be read without reference to the words "pension adjustment reversal".

8501. Prescribed conditions for registration and other conditions applicable to registered pension plans — (1) Conditions for registration — For the purposes of section 147.1 of the Act, and subject to sections 8509 and 8510, the prescribed conditions for the registration of a pension plan are

(a) the conditions in paragraphs 8502(a), (c), (e), (f) and (l),

(b) if the plan contains a defined benefit provision, the conditions in paragraphs 8503(4)(a) and (c), and

(c) if the plan contains a money purchase provision, the conditions in paragraphs 8506(2)(a) and (d), and the following conditions:

(d) there is no reason to expect, on the basis of the documents that constitute the plan and establish the funding arrangements, that

(i) the plan may become a revocable plan pursuant to subsection (2), or

(ii) the conditions in subsection 147.1(10) of the Act may not be complied with, and

(e) there is no reason to expect that the plan may become a revocable plan pursuant to subsection 147.1(8) or (9) of the Act or subsection 8503(15).

Proposed Amendment — 8501(1)(e)

(e) there is no reason to expect that the plan may become a revocable plan pursuant to subsection 147.1(8) or (9) of the Act or subsection 8503(15) or 8506(4).

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 13(1), will amend para. 8501(1)(e) to read as above, applicable after 2003.

Technical Notes: Subsection 8501(1) lists the prescribed conditions for the registration of a pension plan. The prescribed conditions include, in paragraph 8501(1)(e), a condition that enables the Minister to refuse to register a plan where it is apparent that there may, immediately or at a future date, be non-compliance with certain specified conditions that are not prescribed conditions for registration.

Paragraph 8501(1)(e) is amended to add a reference to new subsection 8506(4), which provides a minimum payment rule applicable to money purchase RPPs that offer the new RRIF-like benefit option to its members. To comply with this prescribed condition as it relates to subsection 8506(4), such a plan would have to include a term requiring that the amount of variable benefits to be paid each year in respect of a member's account not be less than the minimum amount specified for the purpose of that subsection. For more details, refer to the commentary on subsections 8506(4) to (6).

Related Provisions: Reg. 8501(3) — Conditions inapplicable where inconsistent with 8503(6) and (8) and 8505(3) and (4); Reg. 8501(6) — Rule where contributions made through employer association or trade union from employer or individual.

(2) Conditions applicable to registered pension plans — For the purposes of paragraph 147.1(11)(c) of the Act, and subject to sections 8509 and 8510, a registered pension plan becomes a revocable plan at any time that it fails to comply with

(a) a condition set out in any of paragraphs 8502(b), (d), (g) to (k) and (m);

(b) where the plan contains a defined benefit provision, a condition set out in paragraph 8503(3)(a), (b), (d), (j), (k) or (l) or (4)(b), (d), (e) or (f); or

(c) where the plan contains a money purchase provision, a condition set out in any of paragraphs 8506(2)(b) to (c) and (e) to (h).

Proposed Amendment — 8501(2)(c)

(c) where the plan contains a money purchase provision, a condition set out in any of paragraphs 8506(2)(b) to (c.1) and (e) to (i).

Application: The February 27, 2004 draft regulations (pensions and QLPs), subsec. 13(2), will amend para. 8501(2)(c) to read as above, applicable after 2003.

Technical Notes: Subsection 8501(2) lists conditions that apply to a pension plan that has been registered. If an RPP fails to comply with any of these conditions, it becomes a revocable plan and, pursuant to subsections 147.1(11) to (13) of the Act, its registration may be revoked.

Paragraph 8501(2)(c) is amended, effective after 2003, to add a reference to the conditions in new paragraphs 8506(2)(c.1) and (i) relating to money purchase provisions. For details, refer to the commentary on those paragraphs.

Related Provisions: Reg. 8501(3) — Conditions inapplicable where inconsistent with 8503(6) and (8) and 8505(3) and (4); Reg. 8501(6) — Rule where contributions made through employer association or trade union from employer or individual.

History: Para. 8501(2)(a) amended by P.C. 1996-911, s. 14, June 20, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, July 10, 1996, applicable after 1993.

Para. 8501(2)(c) amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 9(1), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable after April 5, 1994.

Registered Plans Directorate Newsletters: 91-4R (registration rules for money purchase provisions).

(3) Permissive rules — The conditions in this Part do not apply in respect of a pension plan to the extent that they are inconsistent with the provisions of subsections 8503(6) and (8) and 8505(3) and (4).

History: Subsec. 8501(3) amended by P.C. 1995-17, subsec. 9(2), January 11, 1995, Canada Gazette, Part II, January 25, 1995, applicable after 1988.

(4) Supplemental plans — Where

(a) the benefits provided under a pension plan (in this subsection referred to as the "supplemental plan") that contains one defined benefit provision and no money purchase provisions may reasonably be considered to be supplemental to the benefits provided under a defined benefit provision (in this subsection referred to as the "base provision") of another pension plan,

(b) the supplemental plan does not otherwise comply with the condition set out in paragraph 8502(a) or the condition in paragraph 8502(c), and

(c) the Minister has approved the application of this subsection, which approval has not been withdrawn, for the purpose of determining whether the supplemental plan complies with the conditions in paragraphs 8502(a) and (c), the benefits provided under the base provision shall be considered to be provided under the supplemental plan.

(5) Benefits payable after the breakdown of the marriage or common-law partnership — Where

(a) an individual who is a spouse or common-law partner or former spouse or common-law partner of a member of a registered pension plan is entitled to receive all or a portion of the benefits that would otherwise be payable under the plan to the member, and

(b) the entitlement was created

(i) by assignment of benefits by the member, on or after the breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, in settlement of rights arising out of their marriage or common-law partnership, or

(ii) by a provision of the law of Canada or a province applicable in respect of the division of property between the member and the individual, on or after the breakdown of their marriage or common-law partnership, in settlement of rights arising out of their marriage or common-law partnership,

the following rules apply:

(c) except where paragraph (d) applies, the benefits to which the individual is entitled are, for the purposes of this Part, deemed to be benefits provided and payable to the member, and

(d) the benefits to which the individual is entitled are, for the purposes of this Part, deemed to be benefits provided and payable to the individual and not provided or payable to the member where

(i) the entitlement of the individual was created by a provision of the law of Canada or a province described in subparagraph (b)(ii), and

(ii) that provision

(A) requires that benefits commence to be paid to the individual at a time that may be different from the time benefits commence to be paid to the member, or

(B) gives the individual any rights in respect of the benefits to which the individual is entitled in addition to the rights that the individual would have as a consequence of an assignment by the member, in whole or in part, of the member's right to benefits under the plan.

History: Subsec. 8501(5) amended by P.C. 2001-957, s. 9, May 31, 2001, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 20, 2001, applicable to 2001 et seq., except that if a taxpayer and a person have jointly elected pursuant to s. 144 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act (S.C. 2000, c. 12), in respect of the 1998, 1999 or 2000 taxation year, the amendment applies to the taxpayer and the person in respect of the applicable taxation year et seq.

(6) Indirect contributions — Where an employer or an individual makes payments to a trade union or an association of employers (in this subsection referred to as the

"contributing entity") to enable the contributing entity to make contributions to a pension plan, such portion of a contribution made by the contributing entity to the plan as is reasonably attributable to a payment made to the contributing entity by an employer or individual shall, for the purposes of the conditions in this Part, be considered to be a contribution made by the employer or individual, as the case may be, and not by the contributing entity.
